Farewell To MBS

Dear fellow friends and followers: We are happy to announce that this will celebrate the last of the great MBS series. UN-fortunately the M-Bunny McGowan, the B-Becky Berger, and the S-Denise Sisler are finally going to pack up and leave good old Salem High.

As always and always and always this last article is once again tributed to the wonderful, Mighty, everloving Seniors. We first thought we would write about all the many wonderful deeds that our Senior class has done that everyone will remember for the rest of their lives, but we just didn't have enough space to write our autobiographies.

Before we get too involved, have you all noticed that we have finally made the front page. Guess we should tell that it is only because the other foot, six toes, we are a bit strange. M — nothing much.

We are now going to ask some of our fans what they thought of MBS these past years. Charlie-It was a very intelligent and well-written article, thought up by three beautiful girls. Milton — Reviewing the old articles in my office, Nena and I have often cracked up reading them and we have come to the conclusion that these articles were real gassers. Jim — I liked the B part the best. Kim —

I'm still thinking.

Bzzzzzzzzzzn' through the Halls . . Rumor has it MBS is going down into the Journalism Hall of Fame, along with Ann Landers ... We were a bit disappointed we didn't win the Brooks Contest ... Congratulations to ex-queenie Wendy and new queenie Kimmy, nice to keep it in the class . . . Attention Seniors: June 3, big picnic in Mill Creek park after practice . . . That a Baby . . . Frost Top has nice glasses . . . We like their T-Shirts . . . Let's play Jail tag . . . Graduation draws nearer still . . Charlie, one last time . . . Six operations for Bill, OUCH . . . Palmer beat Pup . . . All-Americans Jimmy, Paul, Richard and Andy ... Good Luck Paul, State Champ? ... Where are you going to college . . . $21,000 baby Ru . . . Thanks for helping, Kimmy . . . We'll really miss you Vinnie, and we want to say thanks ... One more week of work .. Parting is such sweet sorrow . . . Good luck Juniors.

A la Carte Line Success

- Heidi S: There is more a variety of stuff to get. Linda R: I like the french onion potato chips.
 - A.R.M.: I think it's great! Below is the a la carte line menu and the prices:
 - cookies 10c chips, etc. 20c
 - jello 20c cake 15c, 20c
 - orange juice 10c 8 oz.

fruit of the day 15c vegetable of the day 15c big B (Berger) is the page editor this last time and is desperate for space.

On the other hand, four fingers and a thumb.

Well, this is the end of our high school days (sob, sob). As the sun is setting in the West, we feel now that we should take the time to thank everyone who made the seniors high school years that much more memorable. All the underclassmen who treated us with such great respect this past year (Choke, gasp, gag, ha-ha, spit spatter, tee-hee, etc.)

Now we are going to share with you our feelings about this article. Stoo mature to be printed. B-This has been an outlet for my frustrations over the entire senior year. And if you believe that, try this one on for size. It will never fit anyway. Continuing, it has given me the experience and opportunity to use my rights given to me by the first article of the UnitedStates Constitution. I learned this in POD class — Thanks Mr. Morris. On the Ending on a serious note-hum — Forever and ever, you'll stay in our hearts.

As the tears really flow, so do our emotions, and we will always keep a place in our hearts and fondest memories of SHS and the people in it.

> Love Forever, MBS

by Kim Bork

As you all know, something new was added to the high school cafeteria on Monday, May 16. The a la carte line was added for those who don't want to buy the whole lunch or just want something different.

Menus and the prices of the items were given to all teachers and were posted around the school. The menu includes salads, sandwiches, vegetable and fruit of the day, pudding, pies, cakes, and cookies.

The head dietician, Mrs. Hary, feels that the a la carte line has been working out fine. "It's a lot more work for all of us but it's what the kids wanted and they got it," said Mrs. Hary.

Some of the opinions of the a la carte line are:

Julie L.: I think it's a great idea but the line is too slow. The salads are great.

School Levy

In the last issue of the Bi-Weekly the School Issue was explained. Now we are urging everyone 18 and older to vote for the school issue. The school issue is a way to keep the schools functioning even during hard times such as the energy crisis.

If this year's school issue doesn't pass, our schools may possibly have to close sometime next year.

We would like all of the students who are 18 to please vote "yes" for the school issue. For those who are not 18, you can persuade your parents, relatives, friends and neighbors to vote "yes" also. We hope that everyone will cooperate in helping to get this year's school issue passed. If it doesn't pass then we will be going to school in the summer. Please help support the school issue — We need your "yes" vote! 8:00. This banquet is sponsored by Key Club and Kiwanis and is held for Sophomores, Juniors, and Senior students who have made the honor roll 4 out of 5 times. The name is in honor of John C. Callahan, who once was Assistant Principal at S.H.S.

The banquet opened with Jeff Saltsman welcoming the 110 persons who attended. Following the opening ceremony was an invocation by Father Zapp.

The highlight of the night was when guest speaker Attorney Geoff Goll spoke on "That Ole A.B.C." (ability, breaks, and courage). He told the students that he once had polio and was a "guinea pig" for Jonas Salk. Attorney Goll was then cured of polio. Although he spoke for only 20 minutes his speech was right to the point.

At the conclusion of the banquet Alan Guchemand, President of Key Club, was awarded a special gavel for his year's service to Key Club.

Endorse Marriage

President Carter and today's outstanding teens have something in common. They think everybody should be legally married.

In the latest nationwide survey of 23,900 top teens listed in "Who's Who Among American High School students," eight out of 10 polled prefer a traditional marriage arrangement.

Marriage really is a convention not to be flaunted according to these students. Living together before taking the vows is just not in the cards for 61 per cent of the teens. Another 21 per cent say they think living together without the benefit of the official paper is dangerous and can lead to emotional crises.

If anyone has a doubt about this move toward a more stringent moral code, a look at the statistics of little more than a year ago confirms a definite turn. Almost half of the students surveyed in 1975 opted for living together before marriage.

The double standard seems to be alive and well among these kids, too. Although only 40 per cent of the young men surveyed plan to be a virgin when they marry, 64 per cent will want their prospective wives to be virgins.

The guys will get their wish, because 67 per cent of the girls indicate they intend to abstain from sex until marriage. In all, more than half of the teens agree that they will save themselves for their prospective mate.

Given choices, however, about circumstances when premarital sex is acceptable, the issues cloud a little for these young people. It's okay for others perhaps, but not for themselves. For example, 37 per cent agree that sex is all right before marriage where there is mutual consent on the part of both parties. But 36 per cent stand fast — premarital sex just isn't acceptable under any circumstances.

These numbers tend to bear out the fact that three-quarters of the teens have never had sexual intercourse. Sixty-six per cent of this figure say their abstention results from their own moral standards, not from parental and religious pressure. And, that's probably true because almost half (48 per cent) say they can't discuss sex freely with their parents. Fifty-eight per cent say their sex education has come from school and friends. So, if free love is out and marriage is in, where does the group stand on offspring? Curiously enough, 39 per cent want more than two children; 48 per cent want only two and on the other end of the spectrum, six per cent don't plan to have any kids. This is a significant jump from a year ago, when only two per cent indicated they would not have children. If these students are any kind of a barometer, the wedding business should be big business in the next decade.

Remember When?

football their junior year to top off their high school careers. The famous words of that year was "I want that."

As strange as it seems, twelve years of school has come to an end. For most people, it has been a great time with lots of good memories. It may have been in sports, with your girl friend, or out with your friends. Anyway you had your fun it probably stands as one of your great memories.

One can only remember the endless summer nights, sleeping out every night of the week in the hut constructed by a couple of energetic young boys. Bill Gibson and Jamie Kennedy can remember only too well the trees that timbered down at 3:00 in the morning.

MR. ENGLE REVIEWS YEAR

periods in order for them to have lab periods. Study Halls maybe spent in class rooms next year rather than in the cafeteria as it has been done in the past. By doing this there will not be as many students in the study halls, and only one teacher will be required to stay in the rooms. Hopefully by doing this it will also eliminate students standing up in the study halls if they are caught talking or getting in trouble. Mr. Engle said that "study halls being spent in the classrooms are not one hundred per cent sure yet, but we are thinking of alternative changes for next year."

This year has gone very smoothly for Mr. Engle. Mr. Engle said that he "liked it here very much. The teachers and students cooperated very well" and he "hopes next year runs as smoothly as this year has."

by Norma Daniels

Mr. Engle has brought in a lot of new changes at Salem Senior High School since he began his first year here in September. One of those changes was the smoking lounge. In the past students have used the restrooms as a place to smoke their cigarettes. This had caused a lot of conflict to the students who do not smoke. With the smoking lounge students are permitted to smoke freely without worry of getting detention. Mr. Engle feels "the smoking lounge has gone well most of the time" and "would like to see more cooperation from the students."

Some of the problems with the smoking lounge have been with students who smoke outside of the smoking lounge area and don't use the containers for their cigarette butts.

Another new change for the high school has been the a la carte line in the cafeteria. So far it has been a success and it will be back next year. Mr. Engle says that he would like to get a drink or milk shake machine for use in the future.

Next year the high school will be on the nine period day. Some of the new classes that will be offered are: advanced physical education,

Woods III and IV, Advanced painting, advanced sculpture, and electricity II. The Biology and Home Economic classes will have doubled

by Mary Ann Faieta

The 1977 - 78 Pep Club officers were elected on May 9. The girls elected were President, Janice Masters, vice president, Amy Nancy Varkonda, secretary Yuhaniak, treasurer, Bonni Baker.

On May 16, the new Pepettes were chosen. The juniors who signed up for Pepettes were put on a ballot and the paid Pep Club members voted on 12 girls on the ballot. Mrs. Simcox and the 1976-77 pep club officers counted the votes twice.

The following girls were chosen: Kim Bork, Boni Miller, Anne McQuilkin, Pam Meals, Kellv Myers, Barb Harrington, Barb Richards, Julie Landwert, Elaine Husser, Chris Schaefer, Patty Francisco, Becky Omweg. The alternates are Arlene Fitch, Karen Erhart, Barb Wendel, Jo Anne Lewis. The co-captains are Anne McQuilkin for football and Patty Francisco for basketball.

During the seasons the Pepettes will be expected to show up at all the games, attend all the meetings, make goodie bags for all sports. They are also responsible for the sweetheart dance and the crowning at halftime.

Anyone who wants to become a Pep Club member can come next year to the meetings and back SHS teams.

The 1977-78 Quaker Yearbook Staff will be as followed: Editor -Sharon Weber, Activities Editor — Nancy Yuhaniak, Boni Miller, Asst., Teachers Editor — Marilyn Wilson, Asst., Carla Whinnery, Classes Editor — Heidi Hayes, Sharon Goughenour, Asst., Achievements Editor — Barb Wooding, Terri Walsh, Asst., Sports Editor – Patty Borkowski, Pat Murphy, asst., Index Editor — Brenda Juillerat, Business Managers - Ann Liggett, Julie Loudon, Copy Editors ---Arlene Fitch, Norma Daniels, Annette Jermolenko, Asst. Good luck to these students for a successful year!

However you look at your school years, everyone has something to remember. From being a little kid in grade school, and now graduating from high school. Now that it's all over you can only look behind you and go on in life. Special thanks should also be handed to Mr. Mentis, who made playing football fun. We wish him good luck.

Remember when in Junior High going steady was an everyday thing. And during the course of a year, it was not unusual to go steady with ten or twelve girls (or guys). And remember when everyone would sit on the rail at the football games, and then everyone would go to Reilly School at halftime!!

Most of those silly Junior High games are past us and now we are into bigger and better things. Like going steady with only one girl, or instead of going to Reilly School at halftime, everyone waits and goes to Reeds Hill after the game!

This portion of remember back when, deals with the old sports teams from fifth grade on up to our senior year. The big names in fifth grade football were Southeast and McKinley which won the flag football championships. Jim Kennedy led Southeast while Bill Baker led McKinley. Southeast won the track championship with Bill Southern as high point man. McKinley, led by big Bill Thorne, white washed every team in basketball.

was the thing in basketball as St. Paul, led by Rick Fithian, who was injured in the game with Southeast, struggled to maintain .500. McKinley again walked away with the basketball championship and Southeast and Prospect took track titles. Such names as Jamie Roelen, Nick Whitacre, Bill Southern, Jay Linder, Randy Mellinger, John Carlariello, Jeff Saltsman and Dave Sabatino led the Salem Little Quakers to successful seasons under the watchful eye of Al Leash. Don Kubas and Tim Tamati led the seventh and eighth grade basketball teams with balanced attacks.

In Sixth Grade, Southeast won the football championship. Violence

The football teams of Junior High was led by the running of Sam Cleamens and the body weight of Terry Hill. No one can forget the two unbeaten years of track in seventh and eighth grade.

The Freshmen football team under Mr. Prederi and Mr, Ramunno compiled a 4-3 record. Tim "Wildman" Tamati led the Quakers in rushing that year. The 77 frosh basketball team didn't fare too well, but the fun of playing and the coaching of Mr. Tetlow made it worthwhile.'

The highlight of the reserve team of 75 was that of Jamie Roelen and Jay Linder doing gut drills or other called "army drills" for missing practice. Many seniors lettered in

by Heidi Hayes

On Friday, May 13, with a successful Spring Concert, the band tied its season into a tidy knot. Along with the pride of the band members on their great concert was the pride Dave Bennett felt when he received Bandsman of the Year. In his own words, Dave's immediate reaction when he heard his name announced was "SURPRISE!"

Bandsman of the Year or the John Phillip Sousa Award is a distinction given to a worthy senior who qualifies in the areas of muscianship, co-operation and leadership. It has been a tradition at SHS since 1947. The winner of the award is determined by secret ballots cast by the bands people and will receive a plaque. His picture is placed in a frame for posterity.

Dave has been a member of the Salem Band during all of his 4 years at Salem. He is head percussionist and responsible for the organization of music, instruments and drummers in the section. He is the lead drummer in the stage band where he has been featured in such songs as "Theme from S.W.A.T. To sum up the admiration and respect felt by all the band members for Dave Bennett's loyalty and service to the band, is Steve Barrett's quote, "Dave's one helluva guy!"

lub Summary

by Teri Walsh

During the past year 1976 - 77, all the clubs have accomplished a lot of things. Here are some that should be recognized!

Pepettes and Pep Club - Pepettes and pep club have done an outstanding job of supporting SHS athletes. Their big accomplishments have been that they painted the trophy case, invented the Quaker Lady, and made a new Quaker Sam. During the past year, pepettes and pep club have shown the school spirit in many, many ways and should be thanked for their hard work and dedication.

Hi-Tri — For Thanksgiving and Christmas, the members of Hi-Tri fed a needy family and gave them gifts. For Easter they had an Easter egg hunt for needy kids. They had a Spring Banquet May 24. Also two $100 awards were given.

German Club - The goal for the members of German Club is "to promote German culture," states the advisor Mrs. Reed. Students went Christmas Carrolling and had a Christmas party. In February they had a fasching celebration. During Spring break, Heidi Hayes, Brian Hole, and Tim Williams went to Germany.

FHA -- Students in FHA went to Columbus, Ohio April 22 - 23 for a Convention. They had a banquet May 26 in Niles. Their main goal is to have community involvement and service activities included working at a home for the aged, selling, having a dance, and a concession stand.

The other clubs who have participated in activities are: Library Club, Varsity Club, Interact, Mu Alpha Theta, Key Club, French Club, Student Council who have accomplished very much this year, Art Club, OOEA, Masqueraders, and AFS.

SPORTS WRAPUP

Football

Quaker sports got off on the wrong foot in the fall with the 1-8-1 football record. The Quaker gridders were a much better team than the record shows, however. Most games the Quakers lost were by a touchdown or less.

The Quakers sole victory came against the Poland Bulldogs in the fourth game of the season. In the season's closer the Quakers tied Youngstown South 16 - 16. The season's losses consisted of: Canfield, Ravenna, West Branch, Youngstown Woodrow Wilson, Guchemand, Al Guchemand and East Liverpool, Youngstown East, Massillon Perry, and Alliance.

Wrestling

The Quaker Grapplers had a pretty rough time during the 1976-77 campaign, winning only three matches compared to 10 losses. Quaker grapplers placed only one wrestler in District tournaments, first-year heavyweight Tim Tamati. The Salem grapplers three wins came against Canton McKinley, Ursuline, and Alliance. A couple of losses, however, were very close, and with a few more individual wins, the season could very well have been close to 50 per cent.

Golf

The Salem Quaker Golf Team

finished its fall of '76 schedule with a winning season of 11 wins compared to 10 losses. The golf team consisted Rick Mattix.

Basketball

The Quaker Roundballers finished the 1976-77 basketball season with a record of 10 - 9, including tournament action. The season was the first under the helm of first year coach Al Bailey. Every Salem basketball game this year was a thriller and many went right down to the wire.

A couple of the highlights of the year were the exciting upsets over Cleveland John Adams and Austintown Fitch. The Quaker season ended the first game of tournament action against Canfield in a thrilling triple overtime loss.

Senior Athletes

by Len Niederhiser

Another year of sports is drawing to a close at Salem Senior High. Although this place will be sadly missed (Ha! Ha!) it has been a good one for many senior sport stars. In talking to many of these action players, their futures in sports are varied. Some are not even going to continue their activity in college. In several instances seniors have said how much they like playing sports but feel they don't have the talent to do so in college or anywhere. Also there are those that are receiving scholarships to schools because of their achievements. These individuals are extremely lucky as well as talented for college is overwhelmingly expensive.

When asked to sum up her sports career in high school Sue Riley said, "I enjoyed playing basketball, I enjoyed the kids I played with and the coach, probably be the last time I play in competition."

otherwords their foundation is made whole, the structure so as it will not collapse.

When it comes to athletes Salem has some of the smartest ones in the senior class. Many of our top athletes are honor students. For most athletes good grades are a must for they have to stay eligible.

In talking with other sports stars their futures are undecided yet most know that their sports careers in inter-team competition is probably over.

In closing on behalf of the Bi-Weekly staff I would like to congratulate all athletes especially seniors, for this is their finest hour. For seniors their high school follies are over, but their memories live forever. For underclassmen their athletics will continue the great Salem tradition for another year till another class graduates.

Fisher Resigns by Susan Riley

There have been many changes in the Salem High school this year. One of the big events was the departure of Mr. Fisher.

Districts.

Mr. Fisher will be teaching and coaching at a high school in Braidenton, Florida. Mr. Fisher was a graduate of Salem High in the class of '69. He then went to Bowling Green State University, where he majored in Physical Education. He also participated on the football team where he achieved the Mid-American football award. Mr. Fisher graduated from B.G.S.U. in 1973 and then in 1975-76 he began teaching here at SHS. Mr. Fisher has contributed much to the high school, through his coaching abilities. He was an assistant coach for football as well as a coach for track.

Student Council by Scott Messenger

The new 1977-78 class officers have been chosen by their respective classmates. They are seniors: President, Jim Blake; Vice President, Greg Crawford; Secretary, Dave Falk; and Treasurer Geoff Gordon. The Junior class officers are as follows: President, Bonnie Chandler; Vice President, Judy Stephenson; Secretary, Sherri Johns; and Treasurer, Georgia Mulhleman. The new Sophomore class officers are: President, Jack Zocolo; Vice President, Mark Shivers; Secretary, Wendy Ellis; and Treasurer, Jeff Strabala. The Freshman class officers have not been selected but will be selected at a later date.

We wish all the best of luck to their students and hope that they can contribute something good for the students. These students were also recognized at the recognition assembly which was held in the high school auditorium May 20.

Track

SAW IT

The Salem Cindermen has recently finished a highly successful season, finishing again as County Champs and losing only one dual meet. The Quaker trackmen also placed in every tournament meet they entered.

The Quakers also sent many men on to Districts: Paul Hoffman, mile run; Mike Murphy, Andy Baillie, John Brooks and Jim Palmer, mile relay; Rich Karlis, high jump; and Bob Allison, pole vault. The Quaker track team also set many new Quaker records.

Salem High School sports are over for the 1976-1977 season and now Salem Senior athletes will never again put on a Quaker uniform and play varsity athletics for the Quakers.

Intramural Softball

by Patty Borkowski

The first year for girls intramural softball has proved to be very successful. The girls meet every Tuesday and Thursday. Any girl interested in playing can go to practice as much as she likes. The first sign up was May 9, where enough girls for four teams signed up, but unfortunately only two teams showed up on game day. The girls had their first two games May 11 and 12. Approximately 20 - 24 girls appear at each practice, in which Mrs. Baillie, the girls gym teacher coaches them. Intramural softball is open to any high school girl, but mostly Freshmen and Sophomores appear. "I hope interest increases with upperclassmen," commented, Mrs. Baillie.

Mrs. Baillie expects to expand the girls intramural sports program next year. She hopes to be able to use the gym during lunch periods next year; also offering ping pong, basketball, and volleyball.

"Recreational softball gives every girl a chance to get involved that wants to," explained Mrs. Baillie.

Concerts by Tim Williams For a great entertainment value,

Besides being stars in their athletic fields of competition, these seniors also show great poise, cheerfulness and friendliness towards others. These characteristics and their abilities make them extraordinary individuals.

Track

by Carl Greathouse

The Salem Senior High School '76 '77 track team had a very impressive season this year, losing only two of their meets. Although the record was good the losses hurt. One of the losses was the first loss for Salem's track team on their home track in several years.

Another one of the losses was not a meet, but, the loss of Bobby Allison for the rest of the year in one of the more recent track meets.

go see a rock concert. Some of today's top rock artists are playing in this area during the summer.

A fee of usually $8 will bring all the excitement of a real concert and the sight of a top musician live and on stage.

The concerts are usually held in large arenas or stadiums where the many thousands of people make it twice as exciting. Most of the major concerts in this area are held in Pittsburgh or Cleveland.

Blossom Music Center, near Akron, also has some fairly good concerts. It has open-air seating and some of the groups that will be appearing there are Toggins & Messina, Pete Seeger and Arlo Guthrie and Chicago.

In late June, Peter (Frampton will be appearing at the Cleveland Stadium.

For tickets and information on where a band is playing go to the Ticketron or National Record Mart in the Southern Park Mall.
