New Faces From Different Places

by Julie Sebo

This year Salem has the privilege of being host to four foreign exchange students. Becca Blake is from Maitland, Australia, which is north of Sydney. She has a brother, 19, and a sister, 15. She will be staying with the Clark family for her entire stay here. In Australia she says the schools are much more academic and there is not as much social life in the school. They follow a schedule much like the ones here. Her favorite classes are photography, psychology, and painting.

New Students

by Nancy Strojek

Some students thought that Henning Pangels was an exchange student from Germany, but he actually moved here.

Henning Pangels plans to stay here in the United States for a few years. Henning lived in Mettlach, Germany, which is close to the French border.

At his school in Germany, Henning had eleven courses and had school from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Henning did not have all his classes everyday, and they didn't eat lunch at school. Some courses he has taken are five years of English, which were required, and six years of Latin. At Henning's school they did not have lockers, what books they needed they had to carry with them.

In Germany, he participated in volleyball and track. Henning also played drums in a band called "Nothing Else."

The students of Salem High and The Quaker staff would like to welcome Henning Pangels and the following new students to Salem High:

9th Grade

Darrid Ackerman, Lee Blackburn, Jim Bukholder, Kathy Earl, Jim Hall, Timmi Hendricks, Sandra Kellog, Sherry Settle, and James Somen.

10th Grade

Michael Garziosi, Dorothy Henline, Mary Martino, Charles Pence, Mark Pence, Timothy Smith, and Bryn Zellers.

11th Grade

Barb Fredericks, Donald Stanley and Pam Solmen.

12th Grade

Trudy Hendricks, and Paul Taylor.

We would also like to welcome these returning students to Salem High.

10th Grade

Thomas Dimos and Russ Miller.

11th Grade

Tina R. Miller and Robert Perdw.

12th Grade

Brooke Anderson, Jeri Chandler, Leslie Losick, John Mosher, Dawn Randolph and Robert Swartz.

We acquired these names from the office. If there are any names omitted we are very sorry.

Since she has been here she has become involved in Pep Club, Drama Club, and AFS. Her hobbies include listening to good bands and dancing. Becca feels that Salem is a little behind in clothes fashions. She also says that here many things are over-stressed, such as curfew time and drinking.

The other girl exchange student is Margaret Soderberg. She is a Rotary exchange student. Margaret is from Wellington, New Zealand. She has been in the United States since last January. The first part of her stay was at West Branch. She is staying with the Alesi family until January when she will return home. Maragaret is involved in the Drama Club. She finds the classes here very interesting but different from classes in New Zealand. They wear uniforms everyday, which she prefers. Their day starts at 9 and ends at 3 with five periods, one hour each. Her interests include theater, soccer, and traveling.

Ola Handberg is an AFS exchange student. He is from Stockholm, Sweden. He has a brother and a sister. Ola is staying with the Pool family. He arrived here in August and will be leaving sometime in June. Ola is a member of the football team and the Drama Club. In Sweden he was on the soccer team. He finds the classes here easier than in Sweden. He says in Sweden the schools are very informal and the teachers do not have as much status as they do here. His favorite class is phys ed.

Fred Hansson is a Rotary exchange student. He is from Linkoping, Sweden, which has a population of 120,000. He is presently staying with the Sell family. Fred will be here until June. He is a member of the golf team and the German Club. His hobbies include music and down hill skiing. He finds our school system completely different from Sweden's. In Sweden you can gain points on your point average by working for several months. The schedules are different every day. After they finish school they are required to join the military for 9-15 months.

Conferences Coming

by Greg Warner

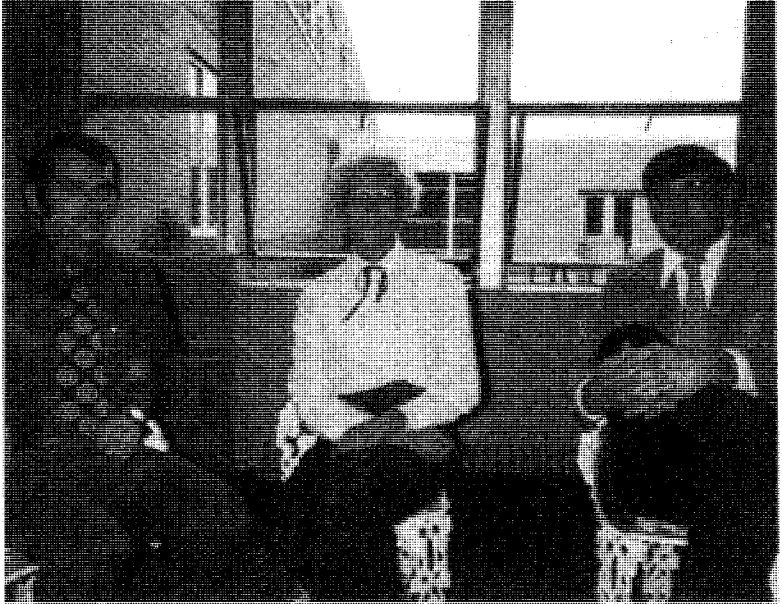

Students at Salem High will be enjoying a day off from school due to the scheduled Parent-Teacher Conferences, which will take place on October 16 and 17. The conference times are as follows: October 16 from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. and Oct. 17 from 8 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

The main purpose of having conferences is that they enable the parent and teacher to sit down and discuss a student's attitude, performance and working ability in the classroom. They also give the parent time to discuss with the teacher their course plans for the remainder of the year.

Principal Robert Delane noted that the reason for having evening conferences is so that parents who work during the day will have an opportunity to talk with teachers. He also noted that any parent who cannot make an appointment for the dates scheduled can arrange to talk with any teacher during his or her planning period on any school day.

When asked about the average attendance during conferences, Mr. Delane commented, "It would be nice to see more participation in the high school level than in the past, because that is what we are here for."

The upcoming dates for conferences scheduled during the second semester are March 5 and 6, 1981.

School Welcomes New Staff Members

by Amy Cope

This year there are six new staff members at SHS. Among these are Mr. Trough, a math teacher, Mrs. Balentine, teacher for the handicapped, Mr. Steffan, the athletic director, Mrs. Coy, the assistant librarian, Mrs. McBride, teacher for the hearing impaired, and Ms. Dearth, Mr. Steffan's secretary.

Mr. Trough got his bachelors degree from KSU and he got his masters from YSU. He previously taught 7th and 8th grade math at the Junior High for eight years. He says he likes it here and the attitude of the students is, "On the whole, quite good." By the way, Mr. Trough's favorite singer is Willie Nelson.

Mrs. Balentine previously taught at Warren, working with learning disabilities. She worked with the autistic in Trumbull County, and with the orthopedic primary in Ravenna. She attended KSU. Mrs.

Balentine says that the students in her class have a lot of courage and willingness to learn. Also, the aides are a big help.

Mr. Steffan is the new athletic director. He attended Edinboro College. He formerly was the head basketball coach at United Local High School. When asked about the attitude of the students at Salem he replied, "I'm not in direct contact with them, but over all great."

The new assistant librarian is Mrs. Coy. She formerly was the librarian at Reilly elementary school for eight years. Mrs. Coy loves it here and thinks the kids are great.

Mrs. McBride is the new teacher for the hearing impaired. She attended college at KSU. She formerly was employed by Columbiana Village. When asked what she thought of Salem students, Mrs. McBride said, "Everyone is very polite and cooperative."

Students Challenged Academically

by Linda Martens

Recently three SHS students competed on the Scholastic Challenge television show in Cleveland. Margot Medford, team captain of the Academic Challenge team here at school, Jim Harrington, and Jon Ziegler were chosen by advisors Mrs. Eckstein and Mrs. May to participate in the event. Pete Apicella, Bonnie Bowker, and Lloyd Martin served as alternates. Even though the team came in third, "We put in a decent showing," Margot said. The taped show will be aired either October 18 or 23.

To qualify for the show, these three answered the most questions at the group's weekly Wednesday practices. They also had previous experience in competition.

When the group of about 20 first started meeting this year, all were required to write 100 questions on any subject; trivia, math, science, or even religion. At the practices Mrs. Eckstein and Mrs. May use these questions to quiz the participants. Whatever questions go unanswered are to be looked up by all for the following week.

Blackout

by Lori Barker

Due to the lack of space, the dark room has been moved to an old boys restroom in the vocational wing. It was formerly located in a closet in one of the science rooms.

The dark room has no new equipment, but both photography teachers, Mr. Conser and Miss Yereb expressed the desire to have a new enlarger. Salem has had a photography course for the past three years and the course is open to seniors only. Mr. Conser said, especially those working on the yearbook staff and for the "Quaker." Miss Yereb shares his viewpoint.

As part of the Student Body and as members of the Quaker staff, we have had the problem of the display of affection in public halls brought to our attention.

Displaying affections isn't really a big problem, but it is big enough to write about. Since we have been small children, we have felt the need to give and receive affection, and we have learned to do so in many ways. Affection is a major part of our life, but school is not the place to be showing signs of deep affection. If affection must be shown, then walking through halls, holding hands, is how it should be done.

Taking a look from the students' point of view, many feel school is neither the place nor the time for this type of action to be expressed. As a student walks through the halls of Salem Senior High, he or she shouldn't have to see couples against the lockers or in the corners.

During lunch, the gym is open for means of entertainment. Some students like to make their own entertainment. To be blunt about it, it's disgusting.

Also during lunch, some students feel the need to be affectionate in the cafeteria. Have courtesy for others and have a nice talk instead.

School is a place to learn by listening, not by watching!

Yearbook Staff Thinks Big

by Heidi Knoedler

The 1980-81 Yearbook staff has been named. Mark Willis is the editor of the yearbook with Linda Martens as co-editor. Mr. Mucci is the new advisor this year.

The other members of the yearbook staff are: Julie Criehtfield, Dianna Zimmerman, Lisa Snyder, Beth McNichol, Roseanne Allison, Bill Jelen, Missy Maygaros, Kathy Gorenc, Joanna Totani, Barb Wolfgang, Shelly Weikart, Todd Olson, Rick Zubaty, Scott Ryser, Beth Hippley, Debbie Culp, Keith Schrode, Laura McCabe, Pam Moore, Karen Citino, Julie Gibson and Gary Goddard.

On October 7, 4 to 5 area school yearbook staffs met in the library for a workshop in which layouts, covers, printing, and how to put yearbooks together were discussed.

"I think the yearbook will be a good book this year," commented Linda Martens in an interview. "We have a good staff this year, it will be a lot of fun to prepare the yearbook."

For a fund raising project, the yearbook staff are selling Parent Patronage for $3.00. Help support your yearbook staff.

Teachers have the right to give some form of discipline when the problem occurs, and many do. Disciplinary measures, such as detention, should be given to all those contributing to this problem. Perhaps on the second offense parents should be notified. After a school punishment, some parents may give a home punishment also. Teachers and administrators have stopped some students for this behavior, but they can't be everywhere at once. Besides, they shouldn't have to do this. You should be adult enough to control yourselves.

Salem Senior High is a school to be proud of. Let's all do our best to put an end to this annoyance.

A Levy Is Needed!

The Salem Board of Education is placing a 3.5 mill levy on the ballot in November and this is an operating levy; a levy for the daily operations of the school.

Educating students and operating schools is somewhat like a business and like all businesses, the schools need additional financial resources to meet the rising costs of doing business.

The products of the school business are many, but the best sellers are students prepared for adulthood and maintaining our country's prestige as a nation.

The levy on November 4 is needed to simply maintain programs and operations that we already have. The levy is not to add anything new or additional to the system and program.

According to Superintendent Pond, "This levy will enable us to continue the programs that we now have and at the level they exist. The passage of the levy will enable us to continue to offer a full program in our school system."

The school system and the student body of Salem City Schools urge the residents to continue to support the schools and the youth of the community by passing the levy. I think it is realized that costs of operating the schools increase just the same as costs for operating a store, industry and businesses of any nature increase.

The Quaker Staff urges that you support the school levy. The cost factor is really not that much. Example: A house with a market value of $44,000 is assessed at 35% for tax purposes. The property would go on the tax duplicate at a value of 15,400. The taxes would be paid on only $15,000 and would cost only $26.95 per six months.

Please support the levy!

Drew Goes Traveling

by Julie Gibson
and Leslie Lossick

After traveling to San Diego this summer, Drew E. Santee came back with the honor of being International Trustee of Key Club. This honor places Drew in the fifth highest position of the club. Along with this honor Drew has been on the Board of Directors, twice elected the Lieutenant Governor, and last year's Key Club President.

During his three years in Key Club he has visited many places such as: Washington D.C., San Diego, Valley Forge, Cleveland, Dayton, Columbus, and Toledo. Throughout the course of his senior year, Drew will be traveling to Kentucky, Illinois, Maryland, and Colorado.

"Since I've been in Key Club I've learned to be a better person and to be able to do things on my own such as traveling," quoted Drew. When asked what he would like to see changed in Key Club, Drew replied, "I'd like to see the status of girls increased."

Drew wishes to attend college at Arizona State University and go into the field of economics. After graduating from high school he wishes to advance his standing by joining Kiwanis Club.

In a rare case when he has spare time Drew can be found working on computers, cruising the Burger Chef, or planning more ventures for Key Club.

Mrs. Eckstein, Dancer?

by Lisa Raymond

Each month the Quaker will be featuring a profile on a member of the Salem High School faculty. This month's feature is on Mrs. Jane Eckstein, a familiar face within the Salem school system. Mrs. Eckstein has taught at all various educational levels, beginning her Salem teaching career at Reilly Elementary School where she taught fifth grade for two and a half years. She then advanced to the Junior High School where she taught English at the eighth grade level for three years. After privately tutoring some high school students with their algebra, Mrs. Eckstein realized just how much she enjoyed working with mathematics. That realization prompted her move to the high school level as a mathematics teacher.

Not only is Mrs. Eckstein well versed in mathematics and English, but she is also certified to teach biological science and social studies. She earned her various degrees at the universities of Illinois, Akron, Youngstown, Kent State, and Mount Union. Mrs. Eckstein fondly remembers her college and high school days when she earned some extra money as a professional dancer and singer.

Mrs. Eckstein is a dedicated teacher who surpasses what is expected of her as a faculty member by generously lending her own time to many extra curricular activities. She currently is advisor for Student Council, co-advisor for Academic Challenge, and Mu Alpha Theta and for many years served as the freshman class advisor.

"I truly love teaching and enjoy the constant association with the students," Mrs. Eckstein says, "or I wouldn't have stayed with it this long."

Lost? Ask The "Frosh"

by Vicky Borkowski

Finding classrooms, the cafeteria, the gym, the restrooms, and even the front and back doors of the school were just a few of the problems faced by the freshmen during their first month of school.

In recent interviews with four of the "frosh," I asked them the following questions about their first month in high school: Did you get lost? Do you like 9 periods instead of 7? Who is your favorite teacher? And what do you like and dislike about the high school?

Here are the reactions to the questions I asked.

Les R. — I had problems finding my classes and, as a matter of fact, for a while I couldn't find any of them. I like 9 periods better because the periods are shorter and you can take more subjects allowing you to learn more in one year. I like all of my teachers, but my favorite teacher is Mr. Zimmerman.

Monica C. — I did not have a problem finding my classes. Nine periods enabled me to take more classes than I could in the junior high. As far as my teachers go I would have to say my favorite is Mrs. Calesi. I like being able to go to my locker every period, the longer lunch periods, and having more freedom. I dislike the smoking lounges and I feel the halls are too crowded.

Ted B. — I got lost twice. Once I found myself in the wrong studyhall. I like 9 periods because the classes aren't as long. My favorite teacher is Mr. Powers because he always keeps your attention by kidding around. I like not having as many stairs to climb and I also like the better selection we have with lunches. The one thing I dislike the most is all the homework.

Kristen H. — I did get lost once. While I was looking for the gym, I took a wrong hall and found myself by machine shop. I like all of my teachers but Mrs. Calesi is my favorite because she makes class fun. I like all the activities that are offered to us at the high school. I also like the different sports that we can participate in such as the tennis team. "There is just more to do at the high school."

The Master Plan

by Wendi Browne

The Salem Parks and Recreation Department has consulted Design Enterprise Inc. about devising a Master Plan for our parks and recreational facilities in Salem and Perry Township. This Master Plan includes improvements to the Centennial Park tennis courts, the use of the gymnasium facilities at the Kent State University-Salem Campus for winter sports activities, proper and adequate restroom facilities at all parks, and the development of a park for the west side of the city. Other priorities are renovations to both Centennial pool and to the Memorial Building, walkways and improved vehicle and pedestrian circulation through all of the parks, and also renovation to Waterworth Memorial Park.

The Salem High School which was listed as the proposed site for the indoor swimming pool is still being considered. Within one or two months Design Enterprise will present a proposal to the parks Commission as to the best site for the pool. An alternate plan to the indoor pool is the enclosure of the Centennial Park pool.

A joint use agreement was recently signed between the parks and Recreation Department and the Salem Campus of Kent State University. This will allow the public to use the recently completed KSU facilities for winter sports activities. One of the main attractions is the racquetball courts which may be rented by the hour.

The Salem Community Recreation Committee encourages the involvement of every citizen in the implementation of a meaningful Parks and Recreation Program. The park and recreation facilities within the community exist for the purpose of providing recreational opportunities for the citizens of Salem and Perry Township.

The Squad Takes All

by Sue Pugh

This football season has been extremely good so far this year for the Majorettes and band. They have worked very hard during the summer and the first couple of weeks of school. The majorettes that were chosen for this year's squad are: Barb Wolfgang, Deb Walter (head), Brenda Williams, and Sue Pugh. The new additions to this year's squad are: Tina Grandolfo, Marcie Sox, Karen Lipp, Lori Barrick and Kelly Finch. Tina Miller was selected by Mr. Jeckavitch as Salem's feature twirler, also known as Salem's Silvergirl. She will be the main performer in all of the bands shows this year. Deb Walter was chosen as the head majorette for this year.

The majorettes will be performing to 4 major shows this year. They are: Theme from Broadway, Sound of Music, and Script Ohio and Patriotic Theme. The majorettes were featured in The Theme from Broadway. They performed a hat and cane routine that was made up by Debbie Walter and Tina Miller.

During the summer, the squad attended Clarion State Majorette Clinic in Clarion, Pennsylvania. They did very well at camp bringing back a total of three trophies, and three ribbons. Tina Miller won individual solo honors and Deb Walter took a second place in solo and two first place ribbons in the time-toss competition.

In April, the band is taking a trip to Florida to march in a parade and perform in competition. They will leave on April 2 and return on April 6. While there, they will visit Disney World. In all, thanks to much hard work and dedication, this year promises to be a very good one for the Salem Majorettes.

Diana Kelly Homecoming Queen

by Laura McCabe

The crowning of Diana Kelly as Homecoming Queen, escorted by Rick Stapleton, accompanied Salem's victory over Girard, 10-0, on September 19.

Diana has been very active in her high school years. Being an honor student and a member of student council for the last four years, and secretary of her class the last three has kept her on her toes. She was also elected to Girls' State last year.

Quaker — What were your first thoughts when they announced you as the winner?

Diana — "I was totally shocked. I didn't believe it for a while."

Last year's queen, Patty Ward bestowed Diana with her crown as this year's court looked on. It consisted of Brenda Alesi, escorted by Jeff Rogers; Linda Hart, escorted by John Sekely; Lisa Hart, escorted by Dave Fitch; Kellee Karlis, escorted by Dave Barrett; Lisa Snyder, escorted by Dan Boehm; and Joan Stephenson, escorted by Tom Scullion.

Drama Club Activities

by Charlotte Barcey

Eight years ago the Salem High School Drama Club was formed. This year's officers are President, Stoops; Publicity Chairmen, Pridon; Secretary/Treasurer, Culp; and Activities Chairman, Tim Murphy. The sponsor is Mr. Viencek. This year's club is different from previous years. In the past people just came to join and then they were selected by the officers and Mr. Viencek. There were 103 applications filled out and 53 were accepted. The club has several activities planned for this year. The biggest activity being a dance marathon for which only scheduled for Nov. 15. Other activities include going to the beach to see the Broadway musical "Sugar Babies"; a trip to Longwood to view "Hello Dolly" Halloween hayride party scheduled for the end of this month. Around Christmas time they will be traveling and following that there will be a party. Then at the end of the school year they will have a banquet. The club's fees are $5.00 a year. This covers a percentage of the activities (usually half). This is for club members only. The drama club is bigger this year than it ever has been in the past.

The Brooks Award

Brooks Writing Awards

Three prizes of $50 each will be awarded to the best writers in the freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior classes. To qualify, each participant must submit at least six papers that are assigned for an English class. Entries must be neatly retyped or written in ink, free of all teacher markings, and presented in correct manuscript form. The deadline for submitting entries will be the last school day in October. A panel of at least three English teachers will make the selections. Copies of all winning entries will be kept on file by the English Department.

Brooks Scholarship Award for Excellence in English

A $400 scholarship will be awarded to a senior who has demonstrated an excellence in English in four years of high school. To qualify, the candidate must meet these requirements: He must have been enrolled in at least eight semesters of English. The last six must have been in accelerated courses, including college English. He must have maintained at least a 3.50 average in these courses, based on semester averages. He must have displayed a superior proficiency in the language art skills of reading, writing, speaking, and listening. The English Department will be responsible for determining the recipient of the award. The money must be used to further the recipient's education for the next school year. The check will be made payable to the college of his choice or to the individual upon proof of final graduation. No scholarship will be awarded if a given year no student meets all the stipulated requirements. The English Department

Music that makes the Scene

by Jeff Soldo

Another drummer has left a famous band incomplete. John Bonham died Thursday, October 2, 1980. The cause of death, as of this writing, has been withheld.

Bonham's death leaves Led Zeppelin with an opening. Let's hope they take the same path as The Who did and find a competent replacement. Only time will tell.

Todd Rundgren headlines the good news with his current album: Deface the Music. The wizard found a new challenge which is in the field of recording.

Deface the Music brings out the studio technician in Todd Rundgren. He figured out the certain styles used in some of the Beatles' songs, then incorporated them into songs which he wrote. This attempt, to my knowledge, has not been tried by any other recording star.

For example, Everybody Else is Wrong, the only song on the album that surpasses three minutes, can be compared to the Beatles' I am the Walrus. The recording styles and minor effects were superficially duplicated and then combined with Rundgren's lyrics to produce a "Beatle-like" tune.

The ambitious musician is able to play many different instruments. With no interest in another instrument to dabble with, Todd Rundgren's curiosity raged in the field of studio recording. As a result, Rundgren has paved an alternate route to reproducing the sound of "dead" bands.

Overheard in the Halls

by Liz Gatchel, Kim Gerber, Sue Pugh, Julie Sebo

Welp, since school has started, it brings back the same old routine. The little freshman seem to be making it even though we see them falling down the steps and looking for someone to sell them an elevator ticket (haven't they learned yet?) The Sophs are now ready 'n raring' to get their licenses so they can cruise the B.C. They're happy now that they are no longer at the bottom of the barrel. Juniors have the new freedom of driving and are looking forward to the White Christmas and Prom. The Seniors are just working hard so they can move on to greener pastures. Yep, same ol' stuff. The boys are still teasing the girls about everything from who their latest boyfriend is to who is the better drivers — boys or girls?! Well, (girls), we all know who is the better drivers, don't we? Hey Mike! How's the ol' foot feel since George ran over it? As Mike said, "##%$ George, your on my ##%! foot!" Or what about the time, instead of

This new experiment will most likely produce a platinum album for Todd. The big hit thus far is Everybody else is Wrong. My favorite song, however, is Always late. Deface the Music is an album well worth buying.

Next week I will tell you about the Bruce Springsteen Concert on October 6. The Belkin Concert club has gotten me a floor seat 25 rows back. Because of deadlines, what is your past is now my future. So long for now; keep your ears open.

Visually Impaired Get New Equipment

by Kelly Karol

The new equipment and text books for the visually impaired students have arrived at Salem Senior High School, and are being put to use this week. These materials were purchased by Salem Senior High through a generous donation given by the Elks Club.

A visual-tech machine is located in Mr. McShane's old office, across from the nurses' office. It has a giant screen (similar to a television set), with a microscope that magnifies the students books and notes, 60 times their regular size for easier visibility. Mr. Delane estimated the cost of this machine to be $12,000. Also purchased were large print text books, that are valued at $75.00. The school received some of them from the American Printing Company for the Blind. The donation from the Elks Club helped to buy two 4-track tapes and recorders that are specially designed so that the blind students can use them without needing assistance. Two large print type writers and three hand held tape recorders were also purchased through the Elks. Mr. Delane says the donation came to around $1,108. Mrs. Hackett, tutor for the visually impaired students, said the equipment is being used this week for the first time.

To eat or not to eat...

by Jackie Romeo

A recent poll was taken at Salem Sr. High School. The student's were asked their opinions of the cafeteria food. Here are a few of the replies.

Glenda Gudat... "For what it's worth, I've seen better and I've seen worse but (That's Incredible)."

Terry Rosenberg... "Some days it's really good, some days it's really bad."

Sonya Pandya... "Couldn't get any worse, they should have more food so they don't run out sixth period."

Mike Rogers... "Some days it's alright, some days it's pretty bad."

Jeff Hochadel... "It's improved greatly since I was a freshman."

Missy Cain... "The Food? What Food?"

Brian Gay... "I feel the dining facilities and the choice of cuisine is exquisite."

Ray Conser... "The cafeteria food is good, that's why I bring my lunch."

Steve Devan... "I don't eat it, some of its good but I don't think its very healthy."

Bruce Walter... "Too many leftovers, extra items are far too expensive."

Sam Adams... "The food is inadequate, I think we should have a government inspection."

Steve Spiker... "It's one experience I'll never forget."

Charlotte Messenger... "I used to eat it, but I don't like it now, so I don't eat it."

Quaker Clips

by Lahl Curtiss

Who is a bit on the plump side, has an oversized nose, a radiating smile, and a devilish twinkle in his eyes?

None other than the school mascot, "Quaker Sam." Sam has become the spirit of SHS. He exists in the hearts and minds of SHSers. He's what makes Salem High a first-rate school.

This is Sam's story. He began in Salem's ancient history, although his creation is a fairly recent one.

Salem was a Quaker town and naturally its school symbol should be a Quaker lady, but as usual, men had to step into the picture. Coach John Cabas decided that the Quaker lady wasn't something to be respected in a boy's athletic world and chose a Quaker caricature as a mascot.

In 1953 a sketch was made by Perry Calvin, and the Varsity S, led by Secretary Joe Hajcak, sold Quaker badges supporting Sam's picture.

Since then Sam has developed into a real emblem of Salem's school spirit.

I'll never get my homework done, It's midnight and I've just begun, Of course it had to be postponed When certain parties telephoned. Then, too I simply could not cope With ancient history and Bob Hope. And by the time that Bob was through,

I had my hair and nails to do. Oh, evening duties are so old, They make studyhalls seem like gold.

—Quaker 46...

Behavior Code Tightened

The revision of the behavior code may come as a surprise to those who make it a habit of cutting classes. The yearly evaluation of the code led to some changes made by the Administrative Board.

The code has now been separated into specific divisions with a description and the penalties written under each division. Some of the penalties have become more strict. One is the penalty for skipping classes. The Administrative Board felt it necessary to stiffen the punishment after seeing the large number of students frequently missing classes. They stated that this and general attendance were the largest problems they had to deal with.

The behavior code was written in 1975 when the U.S. Supreme Court made it mandatory for every school. The code had to be written with a responsible person of law present in order to be sure the wording was correct. Mr. Cabas firmly stated that the code was not written because of problems in our school, but because of the Court's decision to make it mandatory.

The code must always be placed in an area where students are free to read it and all students are made aware of the code before entering the high school. Any rules not written in the code shall be dealt with as the Board sees fit. The Administrative Board also believes the punishment fits the crime.

The majority of the students do follow the rules, but if they become excessively disobedient, this again may lead to new revisions.

... turnarounds. Unbeaten even! The Bills and the Lions lead their respective divisions with identical 4-0 records. Joe Cribbs paces the Bills with 289 yards and 5 touchdowns after 4 games.

The Lions, led by rookie-of-the-year candidate Billy Sims, are leading the N.F.C. Central division. Sims led the N.F.L. in rushing with 539 yards after 4 games.

The Steelers are off to another fine start as they are tied with the Oilers in the A.F.C. Central at 3-1. San Diego is tops in the West at 4-0.

In the N.F.C. Philadelphia and Dallas are pacing the way in the East at 3-1. San Francisco, another surprise, is in front in the West at 3-1.

In college football, last year's number 1 rated Alabama is picking up where they left off last year at 4-0 and number 1 in the country. The home state Buckeyes are looking good at 3-0 and ranked number 2.

Pro-baseball is swinging into the playoffs with the Kansas City Royals meeting the New York Yankees in the American League and Philadelphia playing either Houston or Los Angeles in the National League. The Royals clinched their division early with the other races going down to the wire. We predict the Royals to take New York in the American League and Philadelphia to take the National title. In the World Series, we like Kansas City over the Phillies in six games.

We would like to wish all the athletic teams around the school Good Luck in their seasons!

Arousing Salem Spirit

by Kim Gerber

Get out from under your rocks and quit sitting there like bumps on logs! The pep assembly spirit is really lacking at Salem High.

The Salem athletic teams need the support of the whole school. The cheerleaders put forth all the support they can. Pep assemblies are put on to bring out the enthusiasm and support of everyone. The determination of all of the athletic teams would be much greater if everyone, not just the cheerleaders, got into it. The overall outlook of the situation seems that the people at Salem High just want pep assemblies so that they can get their classes cut a few minutes shorter. THAT'S NOT THE IDEA OF IT AT ALL! We got to S.H.S., and we should be proud of it. We should be able to support all of our teams with real enthusiasm.

Come on people, think of it this way, we only have four years of high school, and we should get involved in every possible thing that we can. Maybe you think that the athletes are just trying to act tough or show off. Well, in most cases, that's not the story. The majority of our athletes are fighting for Salem. They want to do their best for their school. Sure, they are happy with themselves for making a touchdown or a basket, but they are much happier that they have contributed to the efforts of the entire school.

Now, we're not scolding every single student at Salem. We really appreciate the people who do contribute. And we give special thanks to the support of the band. The main goal we are trying to accomplish, is to get everyone at Salem to realize what their school stands for and that we are all a part of this great system. So please, Salem students, perk up and show our young performers that we're behind them all the way.

Volleyball Team Establishes 5-2 Record

by Marcy Paster

The Salem girls' volleyball team under head coach Don Conser is off to a good start with an impressive record of 5-2.

The first match was away with United, on Sept. 8, and the Quakers came back victorious. Then on Sept. 11, the first home game was against arch rival West Branch, but it was a disappointing one as they went down for their first defeat. On Sept. 15, the Quakers were again defeated by a tough Southern Local. Then things started looking good as the girls came back and won five straight matches.

Mr. Conser had a few comments to say about the team and the upcoming tournaments and games. "I feel we have more talent this year than last year, but we're having a hard time putting it together. I feel we played our best match against West Branch, and it was the first time we played up to our potential. In upcoming tournaments, I feel if we play as well as we did against West Branch we'll be able to win a few games. For the rest of the season we'll be looking forward to a tough schedule." After getting a few comments from Coach Conser, I asked Senior Captain, Diane Ward what she felt was their best match so far. "When we pulled together as a team and beat West Branch."

Salem has 9 returnees back from last year, Nancy Maher, Diane Ward, May Zocolo, Dee Schafer, Marylou Perry, Linda and Lisa Hart, Christy Pugh and Sue Stepanic. The rest of the team consists of Pam Solman, Tina Miller, and Kris Talbot.

The reserves under the coaching of Mr. Doug Knopp are holding a record of 2-5. The team consists of Timmy Hendricks, Coleen Daughterty, Bianca Penick, Dawn Kelly, Lynetg Rob, Tania Pshniak, Lisa Martins, Debbie Janofa, Debbie Anderson, Diane Milheim, Anna Torti, and Pam Evans.

The matches of October 6 and 7 weren't put in because of deadline. GOOD LUCK GIRLS!

Cross Country Results

by Carol McKinley

Salem's Cross-Country team is off to a great running start with ten wins and four losses. Leading the team, in his fourteenth season as head coach of Salem Cross Country team is Mr. Guappone with Captains Rick Lutsch and Dave Mowery.

This year's varsity men are Rick Lutsch, Tim and Tom Nannah, Robert Kuhns, Dave Mowery, Matt Yerkey, Mark England and John Zornick. Running Reserves, are Paul Wendel, Darrin Fields, Steve Shears, Mike Medford, Mike Senanefes, Toby Franks, George Blackburn, Carol McKinley, Ross Spatz and Kevin Willard.

Two of Salem's high points so far this year is Malone College Invitational with Salem placing eighth out of twenty one teams. Reserves placed sixteen out of thirty-one teams. The County

Meet was also another climax in the season as the varsity team placed second and reserves winning first place. Four runners from Salem placed in the top five.

Coach Guappone said "The team has good leadership from Dave and Rick and has good team pride. Everyone tries hard and does their best." Mr. Guappone feels even with losing our seniors we will still have four returning lettermen as our outstanding runners next year.

Practices consists of meeting after school and at 10 a.m. on Saturday morning. The captains lead the team in exercises and then they run five to seven miles.

The Quaker staff wishes the team the best of luck at the Sim Earich Invitational tomorrow and the rest of the season.

Tennis Team Produce Winning Season

by Jeff Soldo

The Salem Girl's Tennis Team, coached by Mr. Powers, has produced a winning 1980 season. Their record, as of this writing, is 9-3. Debbie Swartz is the most successful player with a record of 10-1.

The team started the season's first two away games on a sour note. Their first meet was against Howland in which they lost four matches and won one. Then, two days later, on the fourth of September, Cardinal Mooney handed the girls a 1-3 loss. One of the matches was called because of rain.

The tennis team scored their first win when they hosted J.F.K. on September 11. Salem won three matches to J.F.K.'s two.

On September 13, the team went to Austintown Fitch for a triangular meet. Salem beat Ursuline 4-1; one of the matches was called because of illness. The girls also beat the tough Austintown Fitch 3-2 to boost their record to a winning edge.

Luck did not travel with the team on September 15 as they went to Poland. Here they posted a 1-4 loss. However, the girls put their record back on top when they traveled to Perry, September 18. The final result was 3-2.

When Canfield traveled to Salem on September 23, the spirited Salem team handed them a loss of 3-2. The identical final result occurred when Struthers came to Salem the next day. With the momentum flowing, the team beat Warren Harding 4-1 at home. This concluded three consecutive days of home wins.

The September meet against the Aviators in Alliance, was another successful evening. In the end the score was 4-1.

The latest meet, as of this writing, was last Thursday when they shut

Winter Sports' Preparation

by Dave Higgins

Although their first game or match may not be until late November or December, the winter sports have already started to prepare for the upcoming season.

The wrestling team has been working hard coming off a 7-5 season. They have eleven returning lettermen with Dave Barrett and Kirk Lowdermilk as co-captains as selected by the team last year. Lead by Head Coach Kunar, the Quakers face their toughest schedule in the school's history. So they have been working extra hard lifting and running to accomplish the two goals, one to be league champions and two to qualify a wrestler for state. Coach Kunar also plans a few scrimmages to get ready for the schedule. The wrestler needs lots of support as nine matches are away with only four at home. "The support was good last year," was Coach Kunar's comment. He also stated "This year's practices will be harder, longer, and more demanding, if that is possible." The first match is against Marlinton at home on November 22.

The boy's basketball team is doing extensive running in preparation for the upcoming season which starts November 21 against Marlinton here. With only five returning lettermen, the Quakers' goal is never to be out-hustled or out-conditioned. There will also be four scrimmages for preparation for the season. The only problem thus far for Coach Hackett is the lack of a big man.

The girl's basketball team coming off a great 24-2 and the regional finals, begins practice in two weeks. They will have four scrimmages in preparation for the season. Coach Readshaw said his main goals are to win MVC and to defend on district champs. The first game is against Louisville at home on December 1.

out Chaney; 5-0 at home. This meet establishes a six game winning streak for Salem.

If you have not yet attended a girl's tennis meet, then I urge you to be at Memorial Park at 4 this Monday. Salem will be hosting Niles in their last home game of the season.

The Salem Girl's Tennis Team consists of the following (the first seven are considered varsity);

Becky Vuksta, Debbie Swartz, Becky Swartz, Sue McQuilken, Mary Mozina, Cathy Cain, Melissa Conn, Amy Love, Alice Sarginger, Laurie Rosel.

Chaffin's Football Review

by Rob Chaffin

The first half of the 1980 Football season fell just short of the .500 mark with a 2-4 record. Coach Ricker, in his third year as head coach of the Gridiron team, said his biggest disappointment so far was the loss at the hands of the Struthers Wildcats 26-0.

The Quakers are now in a position where they can forget what has happened this far and still win the M.V.C. The Quakers stand at 1-2 in their conference trailing Struthers and Canfield by only 2 games with 4 games remaining. The M.V.C. is a very rough and tough Conference with teams like Warren J.F.K., Struthers and Canfield. Many fans feel that Salem has just as good a chance as any to win the Conference. The Quakers have already shown that they can play good productive football by shutting out state ranked Girard 10-0, and staying with powerhouse Ravenna.

The Quakers opened the season against a highly talented Rayen ball club. Rayen has one of the fastest backfields in the entire state. The Quakers did not play too badly against Rayen defensively only to give Rayen's explosive offense just two touchdowns. That proved to be enough since our offense just wasn't able to move the ball against the big and quick tigers. A few breaks our way and it might have been a different story.

Our next outing of the season came against a good Marlinton team who had yet another fine backfield. The key to winning this game was whether or not Salem could stop Marlinton's strong running game. The Quakers were out to get the Dukes from Marlinton, and they did just that. Not giving up the lead the entire game, Salem could do just about anything they wanted to offensively and won a very big game for head coach Gary Ricker 23-20.

Things were starting to look up until we had to play one of the best all around teams in the state, the Ravenna Ravens. The Quakers prepared very hard for this game only to come home with a 27-8 defeat. The score was 7-0 at the end of the first half in favor of Ravenna. The Quakers defense looked very good in the first half only to give up one touchdown. Not too many people expected Salem to give Ravenna a first half like they did. The Quakers were fired up coming out of the locker room for the second half. It had seemed that Salem was going to hold their ground against the bigger and quicker Ravens. In the first series of the third quarter Ravenna's speedy tailback, Jeff Brown, broke away for a 70 yard touchdown to take a big chunk out of the Salem defense. Ravenna went on to beat the hard hitting Quakers 27-8. "We did a lot of things right," replied Coach Ricker. "They were a good football team."

The Quakers, now following a lose one win one pattern, had to take on undefeated and state ranked Girard in a big M.V.C. opener for the Quakers. Girard was physically stuffed by the Quakers defense. Girard's running back was the leading rusher in the M.V.C. coming into the game carrying a 100 plus yard average on the ground, only to leave the game with 50 some odd yards. Coach Ricker said that he was glad that we have not had many injuries. With an exception to starting tailback Greg Pshniak, who will definitely be missed by his teammates.

Coach Rottenborn's freshman team is off to a beautiful start this season by beating its first three opponents. The varsity coaches will have some big choices to pick out of this freshman team next year. Good Luck Freshmen!
