Choirs Will Make Beautiful Music Together

by Linda Martens

Salem High School Choir Night is being hosted by the concert choir on November 20 at 8:00 p.m. in the auditorium. It is open to the public and admission is free.

Mrs. Jeckavitch, in her third year as choir director, organized the night herself. She feels that it is educationally important for Salem students to see what goes on in other schools and for them to meet others with similar interests.

Mrs. J., as she is affectionately called by her students, explained that each choir invited, including the men's, will sing 13 minutes of music. It can be any type of music, though most will be Christmas music due to the fact that the choirs are now working on upcoming Christmas concerts.

The five participating choirs are: Mountaintown Fitch with 200 members, Hickory High School in Iron, Pa. with 115, Sharpsville High School in Sharpville, Pa. with 100, West Branch with 65, and Salem with 90.

The SHS choir will perform 5 songs: "Break Forth, O Beauteous Heavenly Light" by Bach, "Adoramus Te, Christe" by G. P. da Palestrina, "Good Christian Men, Rejoice," a traditional German Christmas Carol, "All On a Christmas Morning," from a set of carols arranged by Alfred Burt, and "Every Valley" by John N. Beck.

The 19-member SHS Chamber Choir will act as guides for the schools and each choir will receive a participation plaque.

Salem choirs are looking forward to the choir night and hope it will become an annual event.

AFS Students Chosen

by Roseanne Allison

Dawn VanSickle and Sue Stoops were chosen to represent our country through the AFS program. The girls, picked from approximately twelve girls, were notified about three weeks ago of the news.

AFS is short for American Field Service. To be eligible, a person must be a Junior or Senior at the time of application. Applications can be picked up from Mrs. Ward at

Teacher Spotlight

by Rob Chaffin

In every Quaker issue the journalism class has somebody write an article on a teacher they want. Last week Lisa Raymond did it on Mrs. Eckstein. This issue I chose to do it on Mr. Oana. For you people who do not know Mr. Oana here is your chance to find out who he is and what he likes to do in his spare time.

Mr. Oana has been a school teacher for about 21 years. His last 16 years have been at Salem. Right now he is teaching the O.W.E. Program, which he feels is a lot different than regular teaching. When I asked him about the O.W.E. Program, here was his reply. "The O.W.E. program is different because it not only deals with the school, but it also deals with your home, job, and public relations." Before coming to Salem he taught at two other schools, those being Clinton near Barberton and Leetonia. At Clinton he taught Industrial Arts for one year. Then he moved over to Leetonia. While teaching Industrial arts at Leetonia he also enjoyed coaching the Freshmen Football team. He spent four years at Leetonia before coming to Salem.

He also has an interest in horses. About 26 years ago he started getting involved with horses when he bought his first horse off one of his friends. Now he has two horses. One is an American Saddle, and the other one is a Quarter horse.

He lives outside of Salem on a six acre farm. At his home he also owns a business. His business is manufacturing and retail in furniture. He converts things from the Horse Era and makes them into usable items for today's life. This process is called Implement Furniture.

Another hobby he enjoys is trail riding. He does some of his riding in Pennsylvania at Allegheny Park, but he rides most of the time in Beaver Park. If you have not yet met Mr. Oana I urge you to do so in the very near future.

the beginning of each school year. The forms should be filled out and returned promptly.

Mrs. Ward then returns the applications to the AFS Salem Adult Board Chapter. The Adult Board then sets up interviews with each student. After a series of interviews, the Board will notify the chosen candidates.

Dawn is the president of the AFS High School Program. This is her second term as president. Dawn says her reactions when she was told were: excitement, and unexpectedness. She had four interviews. Three were held in the school library and the last one was at her home with her family.

Sue's reactions were: excitement, screaming and she says "I jumped up and down like a jelly bean."

The girls will be going to Burton, Ohio on November 2, for a comprehensive interview. After this interview, all the information that has been collected will be sent to the New York Headquarters where the girls will be matched up with a family and a country.

Gibby: From Cop to Repairman

by Wendi Browne

One of the many who work at keeping our school grounds in the good condition in which they're in is Mr. Gilbert Bartha, known to all of us as "Gibby."

Gibby attended a high school in Pennsylvania and then came to Salem where he began to pursue his life-long ambition of becoming a police officer. He served as an officer for twenty-five years with the Salem Police Department.

After retiring from the police force, Gibby realized he needed something to occupy his spare time and to keep him busy. Since he enjoys being around children and young adults, he thought the janitorial job at the high school would be the answer.

Gibby has now been working at the high school for three years. His duties range from unlocking doors and turning on lights in the morning to repairing anything that needs fixed around the school.

Gibby commented that his most unfavorable duty is cleaning up the jello and other debris that is thrown during the lunch periods. Gibby also said that when he comes to work at the school, he feels like it's his home, and he takes care of it the way he does his own home. Gibby stated that he wished the students shared his feelings about the school and not cause destruction.

For relaxation Gibby enjoys working with wood. He builds birdhouses and also makes wooden spoons.

ROCK AROUND THE CLOCK

by Charlotte Barcey

Get out your dancing shoes and rock to the sounds of today's music. On November 15, 1980, the Salem Drama Club will sponsor a dance marathon. The marathon can be for anyone who likes to dance and wants to win a total of $315. It can be for couples and stags. The prizes are broken down into first prize $200, second prize $100 and third prize $50. Then there are dance contests within the dance marathon itself. They are for the best in Polka dancing, disco dancing and jitterbugging. The prizes awarded to each of these contests are $20. Another contribution to the winning of $315 is sponsor sheets (which can be picked up at the ticket booth when you purchase your ticket). They are only optional. If you get the most sponsors you will pick up another $50. So this sums up to $310. But if you get $25 in money from sponsors or more you will get your entrance fee of $5 back which brings the total to $315. The marathon will last from 7 a.m. to Midnight.

Some of the basic rules are — 1. There will be an entrance fee of $5. 2. One person (if couple must be going to the Salem High School). 3. The high school will open at 6 a.m. for contestants to get checked in the cloak room and get their numbers. 4. The marathon will start at 7 a.m. 5. Every couple will receive an odd or even number which will help determine when they have breaks. Even numbers will have green tags and odd numbers will be red tags. 6. There will be one break every 4 hours for 10 minutes. 7. You may not change partners once the dance has begun. 8. Parents family, and friends may come and watch the dance, entering through the side door by the cafeteria. 9. Suggested attire wear comfortable shoes. if you take your shoes off you must wear socks. Wear comfortable slacks. Shorts are permitted so are jeans. Bring a knapsack to put a towel and dinners in (optional). Candy, chips, and drinks will be available to all contestants during the course of the day. 11. There will be three policemen, a nurse and a doctor, one custodian on duty all day. There also will be six adult chaperones on at all times. They will be on three hour shifts. 13. In event there is a tie for prize money it will be equally divided among the couples.

When asked, the drama club officers said the reason for having the marathon, they replied, "That they wanted to have some fund raising event that would involve the whole student body." This they hoped would be more spectacular than the White Christmas, and the Junior-Senior Prom.

There will be even more excitement during the day with the Disc Jockeys. There will be six of them, they are: Tim "Dash" Murphy; Mary Kopec, Steve "Snapper" Shear, Homecoming Queen, Diana Kelly, Johnny Applesseed Queen Jean Walter, Tom Scullion, and there will be a mystery disc jockey. You will be able to recognize him by the paper sack over his head and he will have a tuxedo on.

To make the day more enticing they have arranged to have door prizes with the help of local businesses and they are as follows:

- A five dollar gift certificate from MODE O'DAY.
- Five dollars worth of gas from FINCHE'S GAS.
- Stationery and coasters from

Vocational Guys: Learning A Trade

by Jackle Romeo

The vocational department of Salem Sr. High consists of: Drafting, Machine shop, Steno, and Electrical. These are all two year courses offered to any student with a standing in credits. The Board has decided to do a two-part series on this part of our school's education will focus on Machine Shop and Drafting.

Mr. Citino, the machine shop teacher, said that his major goal is to teach his students as much about the machinist trade as possible with the least number of credits. When asked how this program will benefit his students, Mr. Citino said: "It will provide my students with a life-long trade with steady employment and above-average wages." He also stated that one of the roughest students make the best machinists.

There are ten required projects to be completed by the end of the school year for Juniors along with related class work. Each student will have the job of Foreman one week. While they have this job they are to watch their fellow students to be sure they are working, and more importantly, working safely. There seems to be a very close teacher-student relationship in the shop, one aspect Mr. Citino tries to maintain at all times.

Mr. Laughlin, a machine shop teacher, was asked why he chose machine shop rather than enrolling in the regular academic courses. His answer was: "To learn a trade and it's a valuable skill. It promises good income and after graduation I'll be able to go to trade school and receive my Journeyman's papers."

Journeyman's papers qualify you to start in a shop at regular wages and by-pass your apprenticeship.

Randy Miller, another machine shop student, answered the same question by saying: "To get a good job after graduation. It's good experience. I have two brothers who took the course and they are working on good jobs with good incomes."

The Drafting Department is another facet of the Vocational Dept. at Salem Senior High School. The Junior Drafting teacher is Mr. Newton. In talking with Mr. Newton, he expressed his goal as "to prepare students for life so they won't make the same mistakes I did." He feels that people fail due to their lack of knowledge. He wants his students to have the necessary knowledge about drafting so that they understand their trade and avoid unnecessary mistakes. Mr. Newton feels that in order for students to learn, they must respect themselves, other people, and the wisdom they obtain. He stressed the concept, of being happy and fulfilled in their job. In order for students to accomplish this fulfillment, they have to be knowledgeable in their skills in drafting and know their job and its responsibilities quite well. In order to accomplish the above, students check each other's drawings which in turn are checked by Mr. Newton. By students checking each other's work, they learn to be responsible for their own learning as well as their fellow students by being honest in grading their work. Mr. Newton also feels that the grade a student earns is not as important as their aptitude and attitude toward the skill of drafting. Summing up, Mr. Newton stresses the following important points on success in Drafting:

1. Be open and honest
2. To apply themselves in their work
3. Attitude — positive about their skill

Nick Paparodis, a student in junior drafting and also the vice-president of drafting club was asked why he chose drafting and his answer was: "I like to draw and work with my hands. It pays good money, and I can go into a wide variety of fields with Drafting." Nick also has plans of continuing his training after high school, possibly in the Engineering field.

A few of the businesses around the Salem area that offer employment in both the Machinist trade and Drafting are as follows: E. W. Bliss, Hunt Valve Co., Demings Division of Crane Co.

Diane Ward: Involved Senior

by Julie Gibson

Many people have wondered just who is that person running around the football games raising school spirit in a specially made costume? It's senior Diane Ward as this year's football Quaker Sam mascot.

Hard work and dedication have brought many honors and awards to Diane. Athletically Diane has out done herself. She has been a four year member of Varsity "S." The letters were earned by playing girls basketball and girls volleyball. Most improved, most valuable player, best rebounder, first all county team, and co-captain are just a few of the awards she has received through basketball and volleyball.

Along with being very athletic, Diane is also musically talented. Diane plays the trombone and the electric bass. She was a band member her freshman year and a stage band member for two consecutive years.

The position of treasurer of Mu Alpha Theta has been held by Diane for two straight years. The requirement for this club is a 3.5 average or better. Having held that average she was also on last years Academic Honor Society.

After high school, Diane plans on attending college. Her decision on which college is still undecided. The field of athletic training is what she plans to study. Diane also hopes to play on the college volleyball team.

When asked by the Quaker, "Who in the high school has taught you the most?" Diane replied, "Mrs. Esposito. "Being my freshman basketball coach she taught me how to get along with others and to always show good sportsmanship."

The Salem Bi-Weekly is very proud of what Diane has accomplished during her four years in high school and wishes her the best of luck in the future.

Senior standout, Diane Ward.

Looking Back

by Kelly Bush

The year 1929 brought glory to Salem when SHS's band made its debut; the football team was undefeated, and Reilly Stadium became the first lighted football field in Ohio.

The band was made up of 26 members. Any student in junior or senior high school who could play reasonably well was eligible.

The band members furnished their own uniforms — black capes lined with red satin, overseas caps, white duck pants, shirts and bow ties.

Louis Snipes was the first drum major and wore a regulation band uniform — no fuzzy hat in those days.

Sam Krauss organized and directed the band.

The Salem High School band grew and in 1941, the SHS band was the first to perform under black light. The black light was used in a half time show on October 10, 1941.

The band members used fluorescent stripes to line their Band uniforms and hats.

VOTE

The Salem Board of Education will have a 3.5 mill operating levy on the ballot on November 4. This is a very vital levy to the continuing operation of the Salem Schools.

We encourage each of you to read the material that is being published and passed out throughout the community.

If you desire more information about the levy or if you have questions, please contact the schools.

On November 4, we urge each of you to exercise your guaranteed right to vote. The residents, and only the residents, can provide what is needed to enable the Board of Education to continue the program in the schools as they now exist.

This can be done by the residents voting in support of the levy.

We want to thank you for the support you have given the schools in the past and we urge you to vote for the school levy on November 4.

As the Pepettes and Pep Club lead up to the final football game of the season between West Branch and Salem they have worked very hard each week. There is a Pep Club meeting every Monday after school.

The Pepettes and Pep Club members have decorated lockers, made goodie bags, baked cookies, made cakes, and help lead the cheers to support our team.

The Pepettes and Pep Club decorated the cafeteria and halls for the West Branch game. The Pepettes and cheerleaders set up the special days such as, Hat Day, Farmers Day and Red and Black Day.

The Pepettes performed a skit with the cheerleader at the pep assembly. Everyone is welcome to come to the Pep Club meetings.

Beat West Branch

by Kim Gerber

Well Salem, it's time to put the old farmers to shame once again. The rivalry between West Branch High School and Salem High School has long since been around. Tonight, these two fine teams are fighting for the Warrior-Sam Trophy No. 2. The Warriors already have the Warrior-

Sam Trophy No. 1 in their tee-pee. The Quakers are really working for this one. We have already beaten West Branch twice and if we are victorious tonight, we will have trophy No. 2 in our oat can. The Salem players are really worked up for their main rival. This is going to be a spine tingling game. We hope to see all Salem fans in the stands ready for a win! Since the rivalry between these two schools is so immense, each school does extra things that they do not do for other games. For instance, we have as West Branch Week, in which we wear certain things to raise the spirit of the Salem students. We also have a bonfire for the special event. We throw a Warrior doll into the fire to symbolize how bad we want to beat them. West Branch also does these same things to arouse their school for the big game. They wear Quaker Oat cans to school on the day of the game which say, "Creamed oats are what Quakers will be!" But, we know better than that, don't we gang!! The team that wins the game gets to attend a Cleveland Browns game, absolutely free of charge to the team members. Wow! That's worth a win! Go for it!

Come on team, you're lookin' great, so get your rears in gear and scalp those Warriors!!!

What Do You Think?

by Amy Cope

With the cost of traveling increasing constantly we can't always travel to the places we would like. Because of this, the Quaker decided to take some students on an imaginary trip anywhere they would like.

The question asked was "If you had the choice of visiting any country in the world, where would you go and why?"

Julie Gibson — "Phillipine Islands, because my fiancee is going to be stationed there for 18 months."

Leslie Lossick — "I'm happy here."

Pat Collins — "Iran, to shoot the Ayatollah."

Mr. Ross — "French Riviera because of the beach, ocean, and resort atmosphere.

Mark Berger — "Canada, because they are more like us than any other country."

Tim Oriole — "Guam, because that's where my great grandmother is from."

Ray Conser — "I would prefer the exquisite experience of visiting a fine country such as France. Mainly because of the fine french women."

Scott Slocum — "Italy, so I could visit some relatives."

Sue Pugh — "Spain, because that is the only place I could understand what anyone said."

Mr. Viencek — "England, because of the history and heritage of this beautiful country."

What's Happenin'?

by Vicky Borkowski and Joyce Long

The FRESHMEN class had a football concession stand for their first money-making project of the year. The Freshmen are also planning to have a basketball concession stand and a dance after a basketball game.

The SOPHOMORE class is planning to have a concession stand during basketball season. One of the Sophomores larger money-making projects of the year will be a candy sale. They will be selling M&M's and Reeces.Cups. Prizes will be awarded to the top candy sellers. The Sophs have just finished ordering their class rings. Anyone who missed out on the ordering may still do so by contacting Mr. Kunar.

The JUNIOR class started the year off with a concession stand and a dance. The main project this year will be the Junior-Senior Prom. The class officers have been busy thinking of many new ideas for the prom. Future money-raising projects will include at least two more concession stands and possibly two more dances. The Juniors will also be selling candy within the next month or two.

The SENIOR class began their final year with a concession stand. The class officers have selected three graduation announcements that will be voted on before Christmas. No further class projects have been scheduled for the remainder of the year.

Fire Drills Can Save Your Life

by Laura McCabe

"I think that our students and teachers are very cooperative in performing this necessary duty," remarked Assistant Principal Cabas last Friday when the Quaker asked his opinion of the fire drills.

The purpose of these drills is to familiarize both students and faculty with the procedure of how to leave the building safely and quickly in case of a fire.

State regulations advise that all schools have two drills a month if the weather permits. These are to be supervised by a member of the fire department if possible.

Problems with false alarms, especially in recent years, have become more than a trifling disturbance. Aside from the extra, unnecessary commotion, these incidents are potentially more dangerous than they seem to be. One troublesome result is that students and faculty who are called out of class could catch cold needlessly. Another is that it can produce serious health problems for the orthopedically handicapped and blind students of our school.

Persons responsible for these false alarms are subject to a fine of not less than $20 and a varying period of suspension from school. Also, if injury or sickness of any student or faculty member results from the false alarm, the violator and his/her parents can be sued for being responsible for the incident.

The timing of two minutes is the basic goal for the evacuation of the building. Recent drills have produced times just seconds over two minutes, so in a true test of our ability to follow a set procedure, all occupants of our school should be able to make it out of danger without a hitch.

Keep Cheering

by Julie Sebo

This year's spirit leaders include members of the freshmen, reserve, varsity, and wrestling cheerleaders. The cheerleaders for varsity include two seniors and four juniors. Co-captains are Kellee Karlis and Ann Vaughn. Lori Galchick, Kim Gerber, Jenni Secrest, and Becky Swartz make up the rest of the varsity squad. The reserve cheerleaders include Gigi Calai, Lisa Crosser, Karla George, Laura Hutton, Darla Nolan, and Heather Roberts. This year's wrestling cheerleaders are Cathy Clark, Kea Fediazko, Sue Gusman, Beth Hippley and Julie Sebo. This is only the second year for wrestling cheerleaders. The freshman cheerleaders include Monica Clark, Mindy Fields, Marybeth Hutton, Lori Peppel, Lori Reed, and Jamie Southern.

They have a new advisor this year, Mrs. Lantz. She has many fund raising ideas for this year. One of the projects for this year was the sale of shakers and the sale of mums for the West Branch game.

The girls went to camp at Malone College this past summer. The varsity and reserve squads received various ribbons and awards.

They have had one pep assembly so far and are planning to have more for this year.

The cheerleaders wish the best of luck to everyone involved in sports this year. We're behind you all the way!

SMALL TALK

by L & K

Hi everybody! All fired up for tonight? We sure are! After a week like this week, who wouldn't be? What are you all doing this weekend? Going to the game, we hope! After the game, Monk will probably watch TV at Scull's house until around 3:00 again, right Monk? While on the subject of last weekend, Marcie, is there any song you DON'T like? Hey Slush, who were your early morning visitors last weekend? We are also looking for any information available on the brief kidnappings of Terry K. and Steve R. last Friday. They were returned unharmed, or so we hear!

Congrats to our grid guys on the great game they played last week against East Liverpool. It was as exciting as the Cleveland-Pittsburgh game. Better luck next time, Steeler fans! Ha Ha!!!! Ola and Fred, are hayride hangovers anything like the kind of hangovers in Sweden?

By the way, Dawn, who's your secret admirer? Is he still a secret?

Are you freshmen supporting your super guys? We hear that they're undefeated as of October 27. That's fantastic! Good luck on your final game of the season . . . Speaking of Freshmen guys . . . hey Kelly, who's that senior girl who grabbed your arm and took your picture? Maybe you should hire a body guard, she looked pretty dangerous!!

Jr. and Sr. guys, it's not too early to start thinking about dates for the White Christmas! It's comin' faster than you think! HINT HINT. To all of you who love to boogie, why not enter the dance marathon? It's on Nov. 15th. It'll be great fun! We're entering and we hope you will too.

Well, that's all for this issue. Oh, one last thing — GOOD LUCK to our favorite team tonight! Seniors, this is your last game. We hope it'll be one to remember.

P.S. If anyone sees J.J. please tell him to get the cat off his head!

Halloween Traditions

by Liz Gatchel

"Trick or treat, smell my feet, gimme something good to eat!" Sound familiar? It should, because when we were all little witches, ghosts and devils running around on October 31st we used to yell this. Of course nobody but our friends heard it or we'd have come home with an empty bag!

Halloween originated from pagan times. In earlier times people believed that Samhain, the god of death, got together all the souls of the unfortunate who had died within the year and tromped around the street the night of October 31st. So people, not wishing to be harmed, dressed in terrifying costumes and went truckin' around the streets with them. The ghosts, thinking they were one of them, didn't harm them.

Halloween is also a time for finding out who present or future lovers will be. A very superstitious girl would stand in front of a mirror on October 31st, and eat an apple. If she sees a boy's image in the glass that's who her lover will be. If a guy wants to find out what his love life has in store for him he should get three dishes. One filled with clean water, one with dirty water and one empty. He then blindfolds himself and dips his hand in one of the dishes. If it's the empty one, he will be a bachelor, if it's the dirty water his wife will be a widow, and if it's the clean water, he will be married to one who is pure.

Of course, all of these are just superstitions . . . or are they?

Make Sure You're Counted

by Lisa Raymond

Each election year presents to every American who is of legal voting age his opportunity to directly partake in our system of government. This unique right makes America, "America," a country based on the rights of the individual — his rights to initiate his own government, elect officials, and voice opinions. It is these rights and other pure democratic ideals that protect each American citizen and insure his right to a life in which he can pursue what motivates him as a free and independent person satisfied with his country and its government.

Unfortunately, today the American people seem disgusted and disappointed with government. However, the general voter populis seems to be doing nothing about the problems they see. In the 1976 presidential elections over 45 percent of the eligible voters chose not to cast a ballot and many do not even vote on the local level. How can the problems of the government ever be solved if the people refuse to become involved in the governmental process of the United States, which is based on the rights and consent of the governed?

The first step in improving the government is to claim the right to vote, become familiar with the issues involved in local government, investigate and choose a candidate on the national level during an election year, and become a registered voter. Anyone who is eighteen years of age and is an American citizen can become a registered voter. An eligible person can be registered as a Republican, Democrat, or Independent according to personal preference. However, to vote in the presidential primaries one has to be registered under one of the two major parties. In order to vote on the local level one also has to be registered.

Color Guard Marches With Pride

by Heidi Knoedler

At the West Branch game tonight as the band is performing, the Salem Colorguard will be working hard out there also. The captain of the color guard is Ruth Shasteen. Members of the flag corps or also formerly called the silk squad this year consists of: Roseanne Allison, Cindy Sabatino, Missy Magyaros, Tina Walter, Beth Willis, Cathy Gleckler, Terri Huffer, Sally Burrier, Cassandra Knight, Shelly Dees, Kelly Bush, Diane Madjarac, Joan Masters, and Shawna Seddon. The rifle brigade members are: Wendy Brown, Pam Schehl, Heidi Knoedler, Lani Curtis, Glenna McAfee, and Linda Walter.

The football season has gone well for the color guard. So far they have done routines to "Hits of Broadway," which was the majorettes feature, "Sound of Music," which featured the color guard, "A Patriotic Theme" and "Script Ohio."

Over the Summer, the color guard went to Clarion State College for color guard and majorette camp. At camp, the Salem Colorguard performed to the theme song "Star Wars" which won them the first place trophy for most outstanding corps. Lani Curtis won a blue ribbon for most valuable member of the color guard.

When asked of the color guard's performance this year, Ruth Shasteen commented, "I am very pleased with their achievements."

The football season went well for the Salem Colorguard. Good Luck in Florida, colorguard and band.

A Tribute To Woody Deitch

by Dave Higgins

Ex-Salem High basketball great Woody Deitch died on Wednesday, October 7. Woody died at age 39 after a two-year struggle with leukemia. The 6-1 senior was the shot guard on the 1959 state basketball runnersup. Led by Head Coach John Cabas, the team finished the season with 25-2 record, only losing to Cleveland East Tech, in the finals and regular season. Woody scored 461 points in his senior year.

Woody was also quick and led the Lakers in the fast break which was stand out by the Quakers. Woody and his team mates made up of one of the finest teams in Salem's history. Woody was selected first team in the conference and also state honors. After high school Woody went on to Chapman College in California after being offered a full ride at Ohio State University. He was Chapman's sporting director at the time of his death. He considered Salem his home, although not being born here. Woody was buried at Grandview Cemetery in Salem. Woody Deitch was a champion.

Did You Ride?

As around three hundred bike riders checked over their bikes on September 30, the warm sun shown brightly, and large white clouds rolled in the clear blue sky. It was the start of a perfect day of bike riding at Youngstown Air Force Base.

The Outspokin' Wheelmen of America organized this day of bicycling. They offered a 25 mile ride, a Metric Century (62 miles), a Century Ride (100 miles), and a 124 mile ride. Each rider had to pay $6.50, but the 25 mile ride only cost $3.50. A $1.00 additional fee was added for those sending their registrations in after September 1.

Scott Ryser and Dave Fitch went on the Century Ride, but Beth Stilwell and I went on the Metric Century. We started the ride at around 9:30 in shorts and a shirt.

After the first ten miles, a rider's legs begin to loosen up and riding becomes easier. Before we knew it, we went 26 miles and arrived at West Andover, our first pre-planned stop. These stops are equipped with Gatorade, fruit and every type of cookie imaginable. A refueling station, one might say.

Feeling able to carry on, we hopped on our bikes and continued to travel. Enjoying the incredible sights, made riding much easier. Never before did I feel so euphoric.

We never encountered any large hills because the northern part of Ohio is rather flat. This made riding more pleasurable. Beth and I did have to go on some terribly bumpy roads which can get very irritating.

We traveled eight more miles before we reached Dorset, Ohio, the farthest northern point of the ride. Here we made a U-turn and started heading south.

Girls Tennis Team Finishes Year

by Sue Pugh

The Salem girls tennis team concluded their season with an overall record of twelve wins and four losses. The team's only losses were to Poland, Niles, Howland, and Cardinal Mooney.

This year's team, once again coached by Mr. Mike Powers, consisted of only three juniors, two sophomores and five freshmen. This year's juniors were Becky Swartz, Becky Vuksta, and Lori Bosel. Sophomores were Sue McQuilkin and Melissa Conn. Freshmen were Deb Swartz, Alice Sarginger, Amy Love, Cathy Cain and Mary Mozina.

The team entered sectional action, which was held at Kent State-Trumbull Campus in Warren, with two players seeded in singles play. Becky Vuksta was the number two seed in the tournament and Deb Swartz was seeded at number four. Becky advanced rather easily to the finals, where she was defeated by Jill Sinclair of Cardinal Mooney, who was the tournament's number one seeded player. She advanced into district play in Canton but was however, unable to play because of an illness. Deb Swartz was defeated in quarter-final play of the sectional tournament. The team had an overall fine season and we wish them luck for next year and in years to come.

SPORTS SCOREBOARD

by Mark Berger and John Tinsley

Hello, again, sports fans! The NFL continues to change week by week. After seven games, the NFC leaders are Philadelphia, 6-1, in the East; Detroit, 5-2, in the Central and Los Angeles, 5-2, in the West.

In the AFC, the division leaders are New England, with a record of 6-1, in the East; Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Houston, with identical records of 4-3, in the Central and San Diego, at 5-2, in the West.

Billy Sims of Detroit continues to lead the NFC rushing campaign where as Earl Campbell of Houston leads the AFC in that department.

In the passing category Vince Ferrangamo of L.A. leads the NFC and New England's Steve Grogan leads the AFC.

In baseball, the Philadelphia Phillies captured the title of World Champs by defeating the Kansas City Royals in 6 games.

The Phillies won the first two games by scores of 7-6 and 6-4, respectively.

The Royals came back to win games 3 and 4 with scores of 4-3 in the third and 5-3 in the fourth.

With the series tied at 2 games a piece, the Phillies won game 5, 3-2 and game 6, 4-1.

Mike Schmidt, the third baseman of the Phillies, was given the nod as Series M.V.P.

The NBA season began in recent weeks with San Antonio, Phoenix and Los Angeles posing as the top teams so far.

Well, to conclude, here are a few notes: We pick Gerry Faust, who rolled up a 167 — 18-2 record in 18 years at Cincinnati Moeller High School to be named as next year's Notre Dame Coach. He will succeed Dan Devine if he is named.

Volleyballers Excel At Season's End

by Christy Pugh

The Salem girls volleyball team, under Head Coach Mr. Conser, is doing very well this season. Their record stands at 12 and 5.

At the beginning of the season, the team was very unconfident of their abilities. As a team, they just didn't quite have it all together. The desire to play was with them; however, the seriousness and concentration was lacking. After hard practices and losing a couple of games in a row, they decided to start playing volleyball. Ever since then, the team has worked together and every winning game was special because they wanted to win.

Coach Conser's comments about the team were; "This season is the worst I've ever had, but it is the best team. Why I say this is the worst season and the best team, is because of the tougher competition. The team hopes to do well in our upcoming sectional tournaments. Our opponents records that have beaten us so far have a combined record of 73-6. So you can see the competition is tougher." Of the five teams they have lost to, they've gotten to play all of them again except Glen Oak. McKinley and Glen Oak are the two teams they anxiously want to defeat.

The Salem Invitational was held here this year on Saturday, October 11. In this invitational, seven teams were involved. The first and second matches, Salem played East Palestine and Louisville, which qualified them for semi-finals. During finals, the team played exceptionally well, but they placed second.

Thursday, October 23, the team was in a triple match with Canton South and Canton Timken. The

by John Tinsley

The golf team, under the guidance of Coach Ritchie, compiled their finest season ever with a 14 - 6 record.

The team consisted of seniors Dan Boehm, Fred Hansson, Paul Hippely, and Scott Roessler; juniors Steve Roessler, Jeremy Rousseau and Steve Spiker; sophomore Chip Rose; and freshman Tom Patterson.

All six of the team's losses came to M.V.C. teams, as they finished third in the league behind West Branch and Canfield.

Some of the highlights for the linksters this season were the two matches against West Branch. Even though they were defeated, the team played some of their best golf against the state qualifying Warriors. Another highlight was the sectional match in which the Quakers finished third. This was also the first time ever for a Salem golf team to qualify for the District Tournament.

Leading the Quakers in the Sectionals was Jeremy Rousseau who shot a 1 over par 73 on the 18 holes. This was good enough for a second place out of 120 golfers. In the District, Jeremy also shot a 1 over par 73 to place fourth overall.

Congratulations to the golf team and Coach Ritchie on the finest season ever for a Salem golf team.

team returned home with two more victories.

The volleyball team played their last two home games Monday and Tuesday, October 27 and 28.

Four Quakers Participate In Cross Country District Meet

by Carol McKinley

The cross-country team pulls through for the Quakers again in another successful season. The Salem Cross-Country team has a year-end record of seventeen wins and five losses. At the Sim Earich Invitational the team placed eighth out of twenty-one teams. In the Mahoning Valley Conference Salem placed second out of eight teams, with Tim Nannah receiving recognition of outstanding conference runner. During Sectionals Salem placed fifth out of sixteen teams.

This year we had the honor of sending four men from the Cross-Country team on to Districts. Representing Salem was Tim Nannah, Rick Lutsch, Robert Kuhns and Tom Nannah. Running in the cold and rainy weather, Tim Nannah placed thirty-fourth, Tom Nannah placed thirty-eighth, Robert Kuhns placed fifty-ninth and Rick Lutsch placed 60th. Coach Mr. Guappone said "All four men ran a very good race under extreme adverse weather conditions."

When Rick Lutsch was asked what he thought of his senior year of Cross-Country season he replied "I'm glad I made it to Districts my senior year. I am also glad that we don't have to break into the locker room in the morning anymore. Next year I hope the Cross-Country team gets more cooperation from faculty and office."

Mr. Guappone was asked by the Quaker what he thought of the overall season. He replied "We had a terrific season and it was great having four qualify for Districts. I'm looking forward to another Cross-Country season next year."

The Quaker staff would like to congratulate the team on a great and successful season.

Frosh Footballers Produce Dynamite Season

by Greg Warner

The Salem High Freshmen football team has combined teamwork and effort to reign victorious in their last six outings, and post an undefeated record of 6-0.

The Quaker Frosh, under the fine coaching abilities of Mr. Joe Rottenborn and Asst. Coach Mr. Bill Moncheck, have turned in an outstanding season.

Leading players for the Quakers this year were Carl Apicella, Rocco Mango, Tony Petrucci, Fritz Schleuter, Larry Sommers and Brian Toothman who each turned in a fine effort to lead the Quakers to their triumphant overall season.

In an interview with Carl Apicella, various questions concerning general areas on the season were asked.

Opinion on overall season —

"Our season has been really good. We won the Mahoning Valley Conference title."

Support of fans — "Fan support has been very good."

Rival Teams — "Our main rival was West Branch. We beat them 31-0 at home. Warren J.F.K. was probably our biggest game. We beat them 16-13."

Training and Practices — "Practices have been hard, but they have been worth it."

Coaching Staff — "Coach Rottenborn and Coach Moncheck have done a great job. Coach Rottenborn is in his first year of coaching for Salem."

Personal Experiences — "It has been a great season, and I'm glad I was a member of the team."

Outcome or expectations of the upcoming Campbell Memorial game — "Campbell Memorial should be a pretty good team, but we will be going for an undefeated season and will be playing at home."

Below is a composite schedule and scoring results of the last six games played by the frosh.

Good Luck to the Quaker Freshmen as they play host to Campbell Memorial in their final game of the 1980 season yesterday.

Miss Hasson Has Help

by Kelly Karol

You may have found a new face in Miss Hasson's room this year besides the freshmen. Mr. Solterbeck will be student teaching freshmen and sophomore Civics at Salem Senior High until December 19. He will also be a freshmen basketball coach, and an assistant varsity coach during his stay.

Mr. Solterbeck is a high school graduate from East Liverpool, where he was involved in basketball, football, and baseball. He is currently a student at Kent State University, working on a degree in secondary education. He was also a basketball player in college. He says his plans for the future are not definite, but he'll teach wherever he can. When asked how he likes his students, he said, "They're really great!"
