Rock Muzik

by Phil Somgynari

This Rock Muzik Column is devoted to a conversation my brother Mark had with his friends, Chrysalis recording artists, The Babys. They were at the Youngstown Agora on February 10, and are sceduled to play in Pittsburgh on May 10 and Cleveland on May 11.

The Babys are on a national tour promoting their new album, Union Jacks. The English quintet's new disc has a more raw feel than their lasat three albums, and Back on My Feet Again, the single from the album, is quickly rising the charts. The groups new emphasis is on guitar, and this emphasis makes keyboard player Jonathan Cain very happy. "It used to be very hard to do keyboard work for our songs live, since we relied so heavily on strings in the studio. I would have to pick just the major parts to do since it's impossible to perfectly recreate a symphony with only a few boards --and only two hands!"

For Babys' guitar wizard/songwriter Wally Stocker, the extra load is fine. "We've always tried to be faithful to the record, and now it will than keyboards. Besides, I'm better than Jon anyway!" After the fight, Wally began to talk about his collection of guitars, which is 75 and still climbing. Drummer Tony Brock had his own comment on Wally's "collection." "I want everyone to know that he pinched (Ripped Off) every one of those. He's wanted by Scotland Yard this minute." Actually, Tony is sort of right. Wally didn't pay for any of his guitars - they are all hand made, custom finished Gibsons given to him as a promotional stunt by Gibson. How lucky can you get?

The newest member of the band is an extremely foxy lady by the name of Anne Marie Le Clerc, who adds vocals and percussion. Rounding out the line-up is blonde bassist Ricky Philips and lead singer John given the opportunity to participate in Project MOVE (Mobile Occupational and Vocational Education Program) during the weeks of April 21-25 and April 28-May 2. The program funded by the U.S. Dept. of Labor is designed to supplement current occupational or vocational programming in local secondary schools. The mobile units are equipped with video and multimedia units. The equipment will be used to present 1) Career Sound Brief Systems 2) Sound on Slide presentation 3) Video tapes and 4) Printed "take home" materials. Each student will spend two class periods of his time participating in the program. One period will be used taking a Career Preference Inventory. This inventory will show the student some of his interest areas. The other period will be used actually using the equipment and finding out information about careers of interest.

I want to thank my brother Mark for getting me this fine interview and those killer back stage photos. Also, thanks to Agora Productions, Kid Leo, and of course, The Babys. (And Alan, for "getting Mark backstage"). Auf Wiedersehen.

2. The Co-operative extension of Columbiana County is again sponsoring a scholarship of $100 for a student who plans a career of Home Economics. The applications are available in the Guidance office and are due to the Cooperative extension by May 1.

3. The Electric Furnace Co. is sponsoring two scholarships of $3,000 each, one in the field of Heat Processing Technology, the other in Drafting and Design at Hocking Technical College in Nelsonville,

Boys, Girls Staters Are Chosen

by Steve Pridon

Eleven SHS students have been selected to represent Salem at the 43rd annual American Legion Buckeye Boys and Girls State this summer.

Mike Cerneck, Tim Murphy, Steve Pridon, Scott Ryser, and Jeff Zimmerman were named as representatives of their school and community who will attend the American Legion Buckeye Boys State, June 21-29 at Bowling Green State University. Tom Scullion was chosen as an alternate delegate.

Guidelines for the selection of the candidates includes good citizenship, better than average high school grades, the ability to compete with others, and qualities of leadership, self-reliance and personality.

Buckeye Boys State is set up as a mock government convention, in which the young men learn more about the governmental system. Later in the session, they also run for government positions in the city to which they are assigned.

Each of the five representatives is required to attend a Boys State orientation program conducted in the surrounding area. All fees and expenses will be paid for by the American Legion of Salem.

Chosen to represent Salem at Girls State were Angela Kaufman, Marci Keeler, Diana Kelly, Cindy Roessler, Diane Stoffer, and Ann Vaughn. Mary Zocolo was chosen for the first alternate. These six girls will attend the mock government session at Ashland College from June 14-21. They will be sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary of the American Legion.

Red Cross Telethon A Success

by Kristi Franklin

The telethon of Friday, March 28 provided. The entertainmemt through Sunday, March 30 reaped $11,196 for the North Columbiana County Red Cross Chapter. The Benefit Radio Marathon and Cable Telethon, a 3day event held at the old Strouss furniture store at the corner of Lundy and Pershing Street, fell short of the goal, but there is enough money to provide for the program in Donations and pledges ranging from 50¢ to $500 contributed to the total amount earned by the program co-ordinated by Tom Elrod and Frank Zamarelli, co-chairmen; and Mrs. Mary Maloy and Jack Murphy.

The event was covered by WSOM and Quaker CATV Channel 2. Roger Luscombe, the program director for WSOM, was master of ceremonies at the headquarters. Assisting Luscombe were Ford Joseph and WSOM disc jockeys Evelyn St. Clair, Jim Evans and Rick Savors.

There was continuous entertainment, and refreshments were included bands, solo performers, dancers and magicians. Prizes were awarded by area merchants. There was a dance contest held, judged by the WSOM disc jockeys and Peggy O'Hearn. The winners of the contest were Julia Kelly of Kensington and John Hoffmaster, a freshman here at Salem High School. The runnersup were Bob and Debbie Birtalan, also of Salem. There was also a marathon Relay run Saturday.

A special donation was given by the Salem State Theater, who staged shows for children Saturday and Sunday, and gave all proceeds from the tickets sold to Red Cross.

Special guests at the telethon included Mayor and Mrs. Robert Sell, Mayor Franklin Rudibaugh of Lisbon and his wife, and Kenneth Gorby of Sugar Creek, who made a special donation in memory of his wife, Arelen, who formerly worked as a first aid instructor.

There may be another marathon next year if the United Fund, of which Red Cross is a part, does not reach its goal.

The girls under the guidance of Mr. Craig Readshaw had a nineteen game winning streak going before dropping their season final to a hungry Struthers Wildcat squad 64-36. Coach Readshaw felt the loss helped prepare the girls for tournaments. Indeed it must have, as the girls swept sectionals, districts, and a regional semi-final win before bowing out to an

While most of the area girls teams a wesome Cleveland Shaw unit, 73-53. Even though they got beat by a twenty point margin the girls put on a fine hustling show that seemed to make the final score a misprint. "We were one of the last eight teams left in the state, and that is quite an accomplishment that both our school and community should be proud of," stated Coach Readshaw. 'A lot of players and coaches dream of trying to reach this goal," commented the smiling Coach. The girls were rated seventh in the last UPI AAA state poll which came out shortly before the tournaments

Cindermen Begin Season With Competitive Attitude

by Tim Bergman

Under the watchful eye of Coach Newton, the 1980 varsity boys track team begins its upcoming track schedule with much promise and anticipation. Once again, Salem High School is well represented by many promising athletes that include many underclassmen who show much enthusiasm as the new season starts.

Although Mother Nature is still trying to decide on whether it should be winter or spring, the trackmen have been busily training through the elements since the beginning of march. The track squad, which mainly consists of underclassmen, shows much talent and will be led by senior tri-captains Scott Morrison, Bruce Smith and Gene Calai. Along with these tri-captains, a strong nucelus of lettermen will lead the young Quakers into the various track meets. The Quaker lettermen who will provide leadership and experience for the underclassmen include: Bruce Smith, Bill Spanbauer, Scott Morrison, Joe Vuksta, Greg Pshsniak, Dave John Tinsley, John Zornick, Scott Roessler, and Eric Sarginger. When asked if inexperience would hurt this year's squad Coach Newton replied, "No, the lettermen along with the seniors help give the experience needed by the underclassmen and also give vital leadership for the younger

The Salem cindermen opened the season with a disappointment as the opening track meet with Blackhawk was canceled half way through the meet because of rain and cold weather. The next meet was a success as the Salem squad posted an impressive victory over the Indians of Girard with a score of 99-28. Coach Newton stated, "The a good team effort by the squad resulted in the impressive win. "The track team will be invading Struthers on Tuesday and New Philadelphia on Friday. This talented but young track squad will be after its tenth consecutive county title and hopes to keep up the tradition of having a great track team in the upcoming season. Baseball Season

Underway

by Chuck Cushman

Well another Salem varsity Baseball season is just underway. And the whole team expects a fine season to come. The Varsity Coach is Mr. Jim Lantz. This is Coach Lantz's second season as Varsity Coach and he loves every minute of

When asked what Mr. Lantz's goal for the season was he said "to win as many games as possible. We won the Mahoning Conference title last year and would like to receive that title again." Coach Lantz said it will be a little more difficult this year since most of our team is Juniors and the kids are in experienced. There are only four seniors playing this year. The returning lettermen from last year are: Tom Wright, Scott Smith, Todd Bennet and Kirk Laudermilk. When asked if Coach Lantz enjoyed coaching for Salem he said "Yes, very much." He likes all of his kids very well and said the whole team is coachable. Despite the weather, which only gave the team two outside practices and the rest in the gym, the team has a very positive attitude. All the kids work hard at their positions. All of us at the Biweekly wish Coach Lantz and his team all the luck this season.

of the highlights against Niles, and coming back from a fourteen point deficit to upend Warren Harding by a mere point in the regular season. Mr. Readshaw was very pleased with the squads ability to keep their poise and come back in important contests, and noted "There were ten close games that were decided by three or more points, and the girls kept their poise and won them all." Coach Readshaw felt the low point of the season was half way through the schedule when the girls began to play poorly but still pulled away with victories. "We peaked half way through the season and after that we went down. We were still winning but we didn't play as good as we were capable of," commented Coach Readshaw. Speaking about the season as a whole Mr. Readshaw feels this year's outcome brought respectibility to girls' basketball and he hopes it will enhance a program with the younger players. Next year the girls will attempt to keep the winning tradition here at Salem but they will miss the services of seniors: Jeane Kennedy, Sue Maher, Denise Wood, Jill Zocolo, Ann Jones, and Linda Faieta very much. Zocolo, Wood, and Maher are all four year lettermen, besides being starters at their respectable positions this season. Coach Readshaw thinks the loss of the seniors will hurt the team, but feels the girls should still have a very respectable team. "I feel bench power will hurt us, but I still look for some good players coming up from the reserve squad," commented Coach Readshaw. Right now the girls will start preparing for next season by having open gyms once a week. The schedule of the girls will be somewhat the same with a few exceptions. Next year the girls will play Akron St. Vincent St. Mary who has won the state the past two

Our Quaker girls did not win the state championship but they came pretty close and who knows what will happen next year with a little hard work and dedication.

While the seniors are still recovering from Florida excursions there is more news in the sports world here at SHS.

Bingers Stingers are off to their usual great start as they won their first full track meet with the boys from Girard, after having one with Blackhawk, Pa. rained out. By the way, our guys were winning that one too, until it was stopped. Mr Hoopes' girl track team have had their troubles though, dropping a close one to Girard's squad. Both teams had meets Tuesday and Thursday, but results were pending at presstime.

The varsity baseball team is experiencing what would be called a major rebuilding year. With only four seniors returning and one juinior letterman, this season should prove to be a challenge. Inexperience will be the main drawback of the team. The team has an extra incentive though, being the defending MVC champs, and trying for two in a row. Two of the Quaker nine's twenty-seven games of this season will be played tomorrow with Columbiana at 11 at Centennial

Girls Track Club Looks Hopeful

by Kathy Lewis

The Salem girls' track team looks forward to a 1979-80 winning season. The girls have a long road ahead of them with 16 and 17 meets, including the Sectionals, District and State. Some of the bigger schools the club will play this year are Girard, Alliance, Blackhawk and they are trying to schedule Massillon and also Canton McKinley. The girls have one big invitational which is looking hopeful, which the girls won last year, is the Warren Invitational. Mr. Hoopes, the head girls' track coach said "need backup, experience, need depth, but a group of good girls." Mr. Hoopes has been coaching the girls team now for 13 years and he likes it very much. His assistant coach Miss Jane Cleveland helps him out. The team consists of about 50 girls, ranging from freshman to seniors. The seniors this year are: Bonnie Bailey, Janet Bettis, Kim Crosser, Beth Dunlap, Doreen Jackson, Ann Jones, Karen Keefer, Jeanne Kennedy, Wendy Stillwell, and Jill Zocolo.

The county meet this year begins on April 28 at 4 with pre-times in running and finals in field events at East Palestine. Then on April 29 at 4 are the finish up finals. Mr. Hoopes must split his squad up because they have a meet with J.F.K., "not by choice." But Mr. Hoopes says the county still looks hopeful.

The reason the team only has a few home meets is because it is like flip flop from last year. They switch every year and last year they were almost all home.

The team practices a hard workout every night from 6 to 7 or 7:30 except Fridays. All the Good Luck and backing to the Salem Girls' track team. Good Luck Girls.

WBBZ

WBBZ sports column is back telling the school the sports scenes from behind those 45 key typewriter machines.

The girl's basketball team did not make it to the state tournament, but they put on a fine showing before bowing out in the regional championship game 73-53, to an awesome Cleveland Shaw team. Before losing to Shaw, the squad captured sectional and district crowns at Hubbard High School. Canton Central Catholic was a fierce battle, the Quakerettes came from a sixteen point deficit in the third quarter to squeak by the Crusaders by a mere 55-54. In the regional championship contest the girls put on a fine hustling show, but it was not enough to stop the determined Shaw team. Thus the season ended for the Quakers one win short of a trip to the state tournament and an incredible season of 24-2.

The boy's track team is runnin' up a storm this year defeating Girard, 99-23, in their first scheduled meet. Like every year, Bing Newton turns out a great team, and this year is no exception.

The girl's track squad lost their opener to Girard, but is ready to come back to keep that Quaker spirit going. Coach Hoopes has a fine team this year with some returning letterwomen and a good amount of rookies.

Coach Ritchie looks like he has a firm grip on tennis this year. With standouts like Scot Darling, Brian McQuilken, Chris Firestone, Jerry Rousseau, and Dave Yeagley the Salem tennis tradition is without a

Salem High baseball is battin' down their rivals this season under the management of Coach Lantz and reserve coach Beiling. Although baseball season is usually full of rain outs there are few strike outs when Salem is up to bat with no sacrifices

"We have a fairly young team, our first two players are sophomores. Overall, we are very talented, and we should do quite well," were Mr. Ritchie's views on the 1980 tennis

The Quaker netmen are coming off a 10-6 record from last season. They hope to improve their record and win the Mahoning Valley Conference. Twenty matches were scheduled for this season and in the first two they produced wins. The first came over Marlington, and the second was over United.

There are eleven members on this years team. Five of these members are returning letter winners. They will try to provide leadership on the court. Returning letter winners include: Dave Yeagley, Chris Firestone, Brian McQuilkin, Scott Ryser, and Scott Darling. The remaining members of the team include: Jeremy Rousseau, Dave Horning, Mark Johnson, Chip Rose, Marty Shone, and Drew

Many young Salem High athletes were honored with awaards at the 1980 Sports Banquet Wednesday night. Trophies and plaques were presented to the top athletes in basketball and wrestling.

In girls' basketball, Tammy Bailey received the most awards, having won honors for Most Valuable Player and Player of the Year, as well as recognition for foul shooting, and breaking records in foul shooting and number of points. She was also awarded a plaque and a trophy from the "Salem News." Other members of the girls' team who won awards included Linda Faieta, who won a coaches award. and Denise Wood who received a plaque. Diane Ward was honored for having the most rebounds. Sue Maher had the highest scholastic average and won a scholarship award. Also, she and Jill Zocolo won captains' awards.

In boys' basketball, John Madison won a scholarship award and an award for foul shooting.

Mark Shivers won the title of Most Valuable Player. John and Mark also won captains' awards. Other players honored were Brett Smith, Marty Hergenrother, and Tom Scullion, and Scott Smith was chosen as Quaker of the Year.

Wrestler Randy Miller was honored for the most takedowns and pins. He was also Most Valuable Player. Other wrestlers who won awards were Kirk Lowdermilk, Denny Ulrich, todd McCormick, and Dave Barrett.
