SALEM SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL - SALE TO OHIO 44460

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1982

Mrs. Coy, the High School's Assistant Librarian, demonstrates the OCIS computer.

Computer Provides College Data

by John Price

Located in the library is the new OCIS (Ohio Career Information System) computer terminal. This new piece of equipment purchased through a grant can get information on two year colleges, four year colleges, graduate school files, state financial aid files, national scholarship files, armed services files, career resources, information on the world of work, and regional economic information. This information was all updated in August and will soon be updated again.

Mrs. Ward, who has given some information to the sophomores stated, "We do encourage any students to use it, grades nine through twelve. They can do so by leaving a request in the library. It has been busy; Seniors are using it more than anyone else. As more students become familiar with it more will use it. The printout is theirs to keep. They can share it with their parents. Basically right now more kids are using it for career information." She also stated that some graduates are using it.

Drama Club Plans Trip

by Frank Zamarelli

Ever wonder what goes on in a college drama department? Well, the Salem High School Drama Club will find out on Friday, February 26, when they will visit the drama department of Youngstown State University. The workshop will start at 8:15 A.M. and will continue until 3:30 that afternoon. Classes on improvisational acting, lighting and costume, makeup, Shakespeare without tears, and several other areas of the theatre will be held. Earle Hyman, guest professional actor from New York, will be on hand to answer questions and to offer any advice to the students. A special afternoon performance of OTHELLO will be presented to the students. "I think it will be an interesting experience for all the students. It will give them an opportunity to see what the real theatre is like, and to see where mistakes can be made. We hope to have a good turnout and expect the kids to enjoy themselves while they are learning at the same time, commented Mr. Viencek, Drama students are very exact. After getting a college readout the student will know the tuition, the type of entrance exam needed, if the college has exactly what he wants, and even the population and location of the town. With career information it can be so exact that it might say the employee may have to lift up to ten pounds occasionally.

Mrs. Ward hopes for a lot of use with the computer because it might not be around next year. Even though it was purchased through grants there is still a fee that has to be paid for services of the telephone lines. If it is used a lot there is a good chance it will be around next year.

To get information stop by the library and write down your request. If Mrs. Coy isn't there other people who can help are Vicki Gilbey, Jon Ziegler, and James Johnson. Feel free to stop by the library to get any information you might need.

North Central Coming

by Bruce Walter The North Central Association of Colleges and Schools comes around once every seven years and will be coming to the Salem Senior High on Wednesday, March 3 and Thursday, March 4. This committee is an accreditation agency which evaluates your high school courses, Student Activities Programs, School Facilities, School Staff and Administration, Emerging and Unique Programs and will suggest changes to improve these educational programs. The committee will be talking with people around the community, teachers, Administrative personnel, and students. If our courses and programs get the accreditation from the committee our school will become a member of the North Central Association of Colleges and School. Being a member of this association lets other schools and colleges know that students at Salem are taking good courses and getting a proper education. Since many colleges will not accept a student if he or she is not from a school that has been accredited, it is definitely to our advantage to be a member of this group. This all starts off on Tuesday, March 2 with a dinner held at the Salem High School Cafeteria consisting of the High School Staff and the members of the committee. The committee is composed of 28 members divided into teams each being specialized in the area that they will be accrediting. Mr. Delane said, "I would appreciate the students being of any help they can to these people and to be on good

King Crowned

by Noreen France

John Hutton, a Salem High School senior, was crowned the new 1982 King of Hearts on Saturday. February 13 during the middle session of the dance on Saturday. Instead of having the crowning ceremonies like that of a homecoming tradition, last year's King of Hearts, Rick Montford, also nominated for "Mr. Legs," didn't crown the new King. Instead, the name was just announced and the winner of the seven senior candidates was crowned. In order to get the nominees for the seven lucky senior guys, student council members gave up their lunch period on Thursday and Friday of that week, to have the students (during their lunch periods) write on a piece of paper their favorite senior

To add an extra classy touch to the honorable King of Hearts, the dance was hosted by one of the hottest bands around, "SOJOURN." The band "SOJOURN," is relatively known for recently competing in Warren's Bonnie and Clydes "Battle of the Bands." They are now one of the hottest bands around and are tied in third place in the competition.

Some of the students were asked how they liked the idea of a guy being crowned instead of a girl (mainly the freshmen were asked) and some of the reactions were: "I think the idea of a guy being crowned is kindda cute!" "I really liked the band, and I think the new king of hearts is really cute." "I think the band was super terrific and I hope they come back up to the High School again." Those were some of the reactions given in response to that question, and the reaction of some true music lovers. As far as the dance was concerned, the behavior at the dance went surprisingly well, considering the crowd it had drawn. Another aspect reviewed on the dance was how much the admission to get in. Some people thought that the price was extremely high, but considering who the hosts were, not too many people minded. Now let's get a look at the seven candidates, (in alphabetical order) and their female companion escorts:

Chris Firestone; his escort -Becky Vuksta.

Marty Hergenrother - Cathy

Grant Hiner - Lisa Crosser. John Hutton — Janell Ferguson. Jim Lehwald — Kea Fediaczko. Eric Sarginger - Gigi Sonagere. Dan Schaffer - Laura Hutton.

We want to extend our best of congratulations to you JOHN, and the rest of the seven candidates for being such good sports!!!

Popcorn —

New Snack Available

by Mark Barrette

The Salem High concession stand brings forth a new taste for after school snacking! Popcorn! Yes, popcorn is now available for fifty cents after school everyday. Both the Student Council and the Key Club purchased the popcorn machine to raise money for the two organizations. "It's the best popcorn in the world," says Bill Jelen, who is in charge of the new machine. Popcorn will also be sold during the basketball

King of Hearts

Concert Review

by Lisa Loudon

If anyone attended the concert at Richfield Coliseum Jan. 26, then I think they will agree that the performers put on a terrific show. The Police were the main concert attraction, but the Go-Go's, who opened the show are becoming famous nationwide from their hit "Our Lips Are Sealed."

The Go-Go's started their show at 8:15 P.M. Many of those at the concert who may not have heard of the all-girl group before, witnessed a show they will not soon forget. They dazzled the audience with songs from their album "Beauty and the Beat" such as "Our Lips Are Sealed," "How Much More Can I Take," "We Got the Beat," "Tonight," "Automatic," and "This Town." They were encouraged to come out for an encore performance, when they played 'Skidmarks on my Heart.

At 9:45 P.M., the Police ran on stage anxious to get started, with the crowd immediately joining in to their first song "Voices in My Head." Many of the songs were performed from their current hit album "Ghost in the Machine." Most songs were easily recognizable, for they are played on radio stations all over the world. Their main songs were "Every Little Thing She Does Is Magic," "Spirits in the Material World," "One World," "Da Doo Doo Doo, Da Da Da," "Don't Stand So Close To Me," "Demolition Man," and "Roxanne." I talked to Mary Martino, who also attended the concert, and when asked for a comment on what she considered the best part of the show to be, she replied, "The best part of the show, was the singing of my favorite song "Don't Stand So Close To Me." The Police did not play as long as was expected, but the time they did play, made the trip well worth it.

Students Tie Knot

by Mary Martino

Do you want to have children? Can I have a career as well as you? Who is going to manage the money? These are all questions the brides of Mrs. Cozza's Family Living class will be discussing with their newlywed husbands. On February 12, Salem High School was the setting when 142 seniors decided to "tie the knot." (Until graduation that is.)

Every Friday the newlyweds will get together and solve some problems such as difference of religion, how many children (if any), whose money it is (hers, his, theirs?) and every other problem marriages can create. Mrs. Cozza said the main purpose of the mock marriages is "To learn to communicate with another person." She wants them to experience the "reality" of marriage.

Art Winners

by Juanita Handwork

In January the students at the Salem Senior High School participated in the National Scholastic Art Competition. The annual competition was sponsored this year by the Peoples Bank. There were over 1,300 entries in the competition; 30 awards were given to the art students of Salem High.

The New York Finalists are Sandy Borders, Jim Eidel, Toby Franks, Bob Magyaros, Matt McDonald, Betsy Moffett, and Leigh Pierce.

Gold Key winners are Jane Close, Ariel Dailey, Jim Eidel, Molly Galchick, Juanita Handwork, Darin Hartman, John Hoffmaster, Dana Johnson, Missy Magyaros, Lisa Martens, and Betsy Moffett.

Five entries are selected as the winning Hallmark entry from our region. An award of $100 will be given to the winner of the five.

I asked Mrs. Polshaw and Ms. Yereb how they felt when they found out their students won so many

"I'm really pleased with my students, they're doing a good job," said Mrs. Polshaw.

Ms. Yereb replied, "I'm not surprised and very pleased. This is just the beginning, we have two or three more contests in this semester and we'll have a lot more winnings. We have a terrific group of students that deserve everything they get and

It is a wonderful feeling when one just finds out they've won an award, or anything else for that matter. I asked a few winners how they reacted at the moment they opened their letters announcing their winnings. Jim Eidel, who won four awards said, "I was screaming at my mom and jumping up and down. It was like I was in a deep state of Sandy Borders who also won four awards exclaimed, "I freaked out! I went nuts, I was so happy that I jumped up and down hugging my sister, and that doesn't happen very Moga Galchick said, "I was so happy, I mean how many people expect to win? I wanted to win so

The students did a very good job, and I'm sure they will continue to put their all into their work. Keep up the good work!

Roundballers Still In Race

by D. E. Cook

Three seniors will be playing their last home game for the mighty Quakers tonight against Struthers. Tri-captains Dave Yeagley, Marty Hergenrother and Grant Hiner will be stepping on Salem's hardwood for the last time in a final MVC tilt. The Wildcats coming in with a disappointing 1-16 record, a far cry from last year's 20-0 season, face Salem's 10-8 record and 7-4 in the MVC.

The Quakers are still not mathematically eliminated from a chance at winning the MVC race or at least a tie for it. But the story isn't so simple, take a look at this. Campbell must lose its next two games, 1 to Girard (who beat them in their last meeting) and I to Warren JFK. Poland must lose its game with Canfield and Salem must win its last game with Struthers tonight. Sound impossible, well stranger things have happened. We can all pray, can't we?

Since the last issue of the Bi-Weekly the men in Red and Black have handed Girard a 76-63 setback, lost to state-ranked Alliance 60-47, beaten Campbell with a shot at the buzzer 64-63, squeaked by JFK 74-73, and lost heart-breakers to Canfield and Poland 57-55 and 47-45 respectively.

In the Quakers' up and down season they have had many bright spots. One of which is 6' 6" sophomore John Breckenridge, who in the last 31/2 games has averaged 10 points, 7 rebounds, and 4, count 4 blocked shots a game.

He is something to watch out for in the future. Marty Hergenrother and Dave Yeagley have been averaging 16 and 18 points a game. Grant Hiner is also a key player for the Quakers.

The Quakers will begin tournament play on Monday, March 1 at Struthers Field House. They will play in the first round against Youngstown Woodrow Wilson, who was 1-17 this season. If they win they will play the winner of the Niles (14-5) and 3rd seeded team Howland (15-4). Other seeded teams are Warren Western Reserve 1st. Youngstown South 2nd, and Poland

In tonight's game Coach Hackett says "We want to go after Struthers, put pressure on them and press a lot." He says, "Everyone on the team has been contributing" and hopes tonight will be no exception. He also adds, "A win tonight will help give us momentum for the tournament. I hope maybe we will surprise some people in the tournament this year."

So tonight as Marty, Dave, and Grant say farewell we all hope the Salem fans will give their best support as always. Coach Hackett comments "The fans have been super. All year the adult fans, cheerleaders, Pepettes, student body, all the way down the line they have been our 6th man."

The Bi-Weekly would just like to wish the team, and especially the Seniors the best of luck tonight and the rest of the season.

New Looks On The Screen

by Frank Zamarelli

Well, hello again movie buffs. It has been quite a while since we talked, but I am sure you are going to enjoy this month's review. I made way to our local Salem Community Cinema and viewed one of the most exciting pictures that I have ever seen on the silver screen. The movie is called "Raiders of the Lost Ark", and it featured that actor that we all know and love, Harrison Ford. Yes, he jumped right from the galaxies of "Star Wars" into the adventure of "Raiders of the Lost Ark." This movie is the best I have seen this year for several reasons. One, it had some of the most spectacular special effects I have ever seen on film. Second, it had some of the most interesting dialogue that I have ever heard. It did not put you to sleep half of the evening. And third, it had some of the best acting ever put to the motion picture industry.

The name is derived from the Lost Ark of the Covenant, the final resting place for the original stone tablets bearing the Ten Commandments. Harrison Ford, or Indiana Jones, as he was referred to in the movie, was appointed by the U.S. government to find the Ark. He had a very interesting trip filled with much excitement and glory. There was never a dull moment in this picture. You couldn't fall asleep even if you wanted to. It would be impossible to lose your interest even once. The producers of this flick knew what it took to keep the audience's attention for one hour and fifty-five minutes.

Wrestlers Head Toward Tournaments

by Mark Barrette

The Salem High School wrestling team has had a season with varying results. After speaking with head coach Moncheck, and leading wrestler Brian Davidson, these opinions came forth. Coach Moncheck said, "As far as record wise it's been a disappointing season, but on an individual basis it has probably been the best we could have done." The team has experienced many injuries and even so, has performed well

Brian Davidson faces quite a few challenges these next few weeks, with several important matches to compete in. First he must participate in and place at least fourth in the sectionals on Friday, in order to qualify for the district meet. If Brian places first through fourth in the district, he then qualifies for the State Championship. With an impressive record of 27 wins, 4 losses, Brian might well be the next champion. When asked for his opinion on the team's overall performance. Brian stated, "We have a young team, with many new wrestlers on the squad. I feel that next year we will be in better condition."

Salem captured two of three dual meets on Saturday. They outscored Alliance, Beaver Local and Canton South. The Quakers will end their regular season with a triangular meet against Warren Harding and Louisville, Saturday, 6 P.M. at home. Fan support for the wrestlers would be greatly appreciated.

I would recommend this movie to anyone who enjoys excitement to the max and can really get into the hero-type story. It is a very good movie to see when you are really feeling down because it really lifts your spirits when you leave. You feel real good inside and can't wait until you can go and see it again. It does contain some rather gruesome scenes though, and I wouldn't take the little ones to see this one. As I said before, wait until "The Fox and the Hound" is playing.

The movie is rated "PG" by the Motion Picture Association of America and is among one of the year's three best pictures. I think it is worth your time and money to see this picture. You may not get to view a picture as good as this for a long

Well, that's all for this month. I hope to be back next month with another review. Until then . . . HAPPY MOVIE-GOING!!!

Fans Help Team Greatly

by Terry Rosenberg

Recently the Salem High roundballers have been involved in a difficult struggle with many teams for the Mahoning Valley Conference lead. Although the Quakers held first place for a while they are now down a couple games, but the fans have played a very important role in the Quakers success. When the fans in the student section of the bleachers start to show their rowdy support, it seems to get the entire gymnasium cheering. Even at away games the Salem fans are showing their support, which makes playing somewhat easier for the Quakers. The Quakers supporters yell cheers, use megaphones, paint their faces, wear headbands, wear colored T-shirts, and some even paint their hair. I asked some of the fans why they do this. Here are some of their responses:

Doug Cook — "It helps the team a lot, it lets them know the school and town are behind them." Joe Popa — "It's great charging the court after a thrilling victory.'

I also asked some of the players what it does for the team: Rich Wilk — "I have a great time watching the fans go nuts." Jake Sell — "It gets the whole team pumped up."

Marty Hergenrother — "It helps the team a lot. It's a lot easier to play at the away games. Keep it up, we're not out of the MVC race vet."

So, if everyone keeps up the yelling and cheering I'm sure the Quakers will represent our school with many victories.

Track Team Hopes To Continue Success

by Toby Franks

Track season is just around the corner and Salem athletes have been training all winter. Head Coach Bing Newton expects about 60 young men to join Salem's fine track program this year. Last year Salem captured the MVC championship as well as the county meet which we have won 10 out of 11 years.

Coach Newton, when interviewed by the Quaker staff, mentioned a new more advanced method of training for sprinters. All the other programs will remain basically the same.

I asked which runners to watch for this season. Coach Newton stated that he preferred to look at the team as a whole rather than single out individuals.

Baseball Team Looks Toward MVC

by Chuck DelVichio

Well, spring's almost here and it's time for the baseball season to begin. "I'm looking forward to the season," said Coach Lantz.

This season, the team will mostly be inexperienced. The varsity has only three starters back from last year: Senior Nick Paparodis, Senior Dave Burkett, and Sophomore Rocco Mango. Salem also has one of the toughest schedules it has had in recent years. The teams Salem plays not in the MVC include teams from Austintown Fitch, Louisville, Canton McKinley, East Palestine and Hubbard.

"I think we'll be very competitive in the MVC, but the league is really tough. It all depends on how fast the team will mature and improve together," said Coach Lantz on the MVC conference. Indeed the MVC is tough. Top teams include Canfield, Struthers, Poland, and Warren JFK, featuring Senior Bruce Timko.

Salem is very inexperienced in the pitching department. The only pitchers they have back from last year are Senior Dave Burkett and Sophomore Tony Petrucci. "The pitching staff is where we are really inexperienced," says Coach Lantz, "If the pitching staff does a great job then the season should be a good

This season should help a lot as a rebuilding year for next year.

Adults Shape Up

April

Front Row

- Gordon Lightfoot

by Greg Parks

"Physical fitness," Mr. Ross said, "is a total commitment."

Mr. Ross is the teacher of the new adult education class on nautilus weight training. This class is held from seven-thirty to nineo'clock at night on Monday and Wednesday. The course runs for six weeks and costs twenty dollars. Currently Mr. Ross has 18 people ranging from twenty-five to forty in age.

"Not everyone comes every night for different reasons," said Mr.

The class does only the nautilus machines located in the gym. The instructor, Mr. Ross, explains how to do each machine then watches and gives individual help where needed. The old saying goes you get what you put into it, well Mr. Ross says he won't force the adults into doing anything.

"A lot of people get enthusiastic, then they realize that it's work."

Mr. Ross asked a few of the adults if he had another class would they come back. Some answered yes, they would come back but others said that they had become interested in other ways of getting in shape. Mr. Ross believes that weight lifting is a sport that you must have self discipline.

"Work long enough so you get committed," stressed the instructor.
