

Exchange Students View Salem

by Crissy Brooks

This year Salem High School welcomes two new foreign exchange students Freddy Barahona, from Costa Rica and Jukka Jaamaa, from Finland. Although hailing from contrasting regions, both students think comparably.

Freddy, 18, states that Costa Rica is a small Spanish-speaking country with an approximate population of 2 million. He lives on the beach and is enrolled in college at C.R.U. (Costa Rica University) majoring in business administration. Freddy enjoys all sports. His favorite activities are basketball, soccer, water skiing, scuba diving, and eating pizza. Fred feels that the organization of American people is confusing. One thing he dislikes about the U.S. is that there are no servants. He states that he does not enjoy making his bed, setting the table, or helping in the kitchen.

When confronted with the question: if you could take back to your country anything from this country what would it be? Fred's eyes grew wide, and with a smile on his face, he said, "I'd take with me American girls — I like American girls!" Fred is staying with the Bryants.

Jukka is staying with the Pattersons. He is 17, and his country is in Scandinavia. The language is Finnish. Helsinki, Finland's capital, is his home. His personal interests include sailing, squash, tennis, and skiing. Jukka is puzzled by the excessive use of automobiles by American people. He is also surprised by the difference in school systems. When Jukka was asked what one thing from the U.S. would he take back to his country if he could, he said, "I would take back a very nice car — a Corvette for example!"

Both students agree that the high school football team is excellent this year. Neither of them care too much for the school cafeteria food, however. They are both enjoying their stay in the U.S.

Fred and Jukka, Salem High School welcomes you!

NFL Strike Follows Baseball Strike

by Sharon Fryman

A National Football League strike was called by a unanimous vote on September 20 to start immediately after Monday night's game of the New York Giants and the Green Bay Packers. It is the first strike of the sixty-three year old National Football League, held in season, after the basic agreement expired in July.

The players went on strike when they were refused the original fifty-five percent, which was later reduced to fifty percent, of the owners' gross income from television contracts over a period of four years. This fifty percent would equal $1.6 billion. Also, increased medical insurance and other benefits are included in the proposal.

In talking to many people around the school about how they felt about the strike and if they missed seeing

Lisa Crosser Wins Royal Title

by Sheila Toothman

This year's football homecoming queen is Lisa Crosser escorted by Jake Sell. Lisa Crosser is the daughter of Mrs. Edna Crosser of Southeast Blvd. and Mr. Richard Crosser of Florida. She has been a Varsity cheerleader for two years in a row. Also, she has served on the prom committee. Her hobbies include cheerleading and track. Lisa was also a Buckeye Girls' State delegate. The other six candidates were Janell Ferguson, Heather Roberts, Karla George, Kelly Finch, Diane Gordon, and Laura Hutton.

Salem High Gets A Revised Set Of Rules

Through the efforts of students, parents, teachers, administrators and Board of Education members, a new discipline code was adopted for the 1982-83 school year.

"Although the old code was adequate to deal with the problem of discipline within the schools, it lacked the 'scope and depth' that the new code is able to cover," Mr. Delane, High School Principal stated. Rather than place the entire issue of discipline in the lap of the students, Mr. Delane stated, "School discipline must be developed, and shared by the home, student, community and the school. In that light, a set of expectations were developed not only for the students, but also for the home, staff and community."

Is the new code working? Mr. Delane mentioned that it appears the vast majority of students take pride in their school, and are, by and large, "willing to cooperate with reasonable rules and regulations in order to make their school a better place in which to learn." "Our student body," he stated, "can be ranked with the best of student bodies anywhere, and the discipline code is in effect to assure that it continues to remain one of the best."

the games on television here are some of the responses.

Cindy Chaffin — "I don't miss it . . . hope they take it off the air all together."

Joan Masters — "I don't miss it at all . . . hope they cancel season."

Steve Kornbau — "The players should get what they want."

Kim Frye — "It's ridiculous . . . It's only a game."

Molly Galchick — "I don't watch football, so I don't care."

Dave Fisher — "They don't need any more money."

Ann Reed — "I'm glad they're having a strike, I hate football."

Dawna Earl — "It's pretty bad when they make more than the President."

Mary Lewis — "The football players are right. The U.S. can't get by without football. I miss it."

Tammy Kornbau — "They don't need any more money . . . don't give in to the players."

James Johnson — "The players are being selfish. I miss it."

Salem High Gets New Faces

by David Dunn

Each year a new list of names is added to the enrollment files in the office. We at the "Quaker" would like to welcome the new students to the high school. The following is a list of the new students according to grade.

GRADE NINE

GRADE TEN

GRADE ELEVEN

Mark Cusick, Darrin Stewart, David Dunn, Ginda Woods.

GRADE TWELVE

Curt Kelly, Ardith Stratton, Fred Barahona, Jukka Jaamaa, Jamey Cable, David Cox, Tonya Moore.

The "Quaker" was able to get an interview with one of the students, Bill Dunn. He seemed very enthusiastic about the school.

Q: What do you like about your classes?

BD: "My best classes are French I, English, and the study halls. The best thing I like about my French is the way it sounds. My favorite study hall is second period with Mr. Viencek; he is in my French class. We sometimes team up on projects and study for tests."

Q: What are your dislikes about your classes?

BD: "The homework and taking notes."

Q: What do you like about the school's cafeteria?

BD: "The snack bar is much better than Canfield's. There is a vast selection of cakes, cookies, chips, and other goodies. There is also a wider choice of food in the lunch line."

Q: What do you like about the whole school?

BD: "To sum it up in one word, everything (including the girls)."

We hope that all the new students feel the same way that Bill did. So next Monday let's give the new students a big welcome.

Semi-Finalists Are Named

By Lori Peppel

This year the Salem High School has five semi-finalists and three commended students for the National Merit Scholarship Award. The semi-finalists are Jeanine Huzyak, Bill Jelen, Reana Johnston, Mike Mozina, and Jon Ziegler. The three commended students are Ted Campbell, Jim Kay, and Tom Power. The five semi-finalists are waiting to be named in the spring for scholarships.

Academic Challenge Squad Sharpens Up Skills

by Cathy Finch

Again this year our Academic Challenge team is preparing for another year of competition. This year our team will not be seen on television due to the fact that too many schools are competing.

Salem is the host school this year for the county bowl in April. Jon Zeigler, Jay Soriano, Bob Abrams, and Mike Mozina won the county bowl last year. The team may be participating in the biology olympics held at Slippery Rock College in Pennsylvania.

The team prepares by a regular question and answer program for an hour every week. Each member is required to write one hundred questions and to attend all meetings. If you would like to know more about joining the Academic Challenge team, contact Mrs. May in room 161.

Band Looks Toward New York

by Tina Izenour

As many of you probably know, our high school band is taking a trip to New York. While there, the band will perform in the St. Patrick's Day Parade.

In New York, St. Patrick's Day is a very big event. All of the shops, factories, and stores close down. Almost all of New York goes to see the St. Patrick's Day Parade.

The band trip is set for March 16-20. The band will also be doing some sightseeing in New York. They will see Middle and Lower Manhattan featuring: Wall Street, The Battery, Bowery, Chinatown, Times Square, Herald Square, Madison Square Garden, St. Patrick's Cathedral and Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts. There are many more places the band is to see, but I couldn't begin to list them all.

I asked Mr. Jeckavitch if he thought that this trip was going to be educational, fun, or a trip just for the parade. His reply was, "It is a combination of all three. It is a social event, and it is educational because they will see things they cannot see in Salem. Also, in the parade they get the chance to compete nationally."

On behalf of the Quaker Staff, I would like to wish the band good luck and a safe trip to New York.

New Teachers Have Arrived

by Ken Schramm

This year there will be four new faces in the faculty of the Salem Senior High. Three of the new members will be teaching, and the fourth will be taking care of the food service.

Miss Carmello will be teaching home economics, which includes foods and interior decorating. She graduated from Youngstown State University majoring in education and minoring in business. She formerly taught at the junior high for five years teaching home economics. While teaching at the junior high she also coached girls' track. Here at the high school she is the Student Council Advisor. Miss Carmello went to high school in Ursuline.

Miss Henderson will be teaching the Orthopedically Handicapped. She graduated at Ohio State University majoring in EMR (educable mentally retarded and O.H.) This is her first time being a teacher in a high school. She graduated from Salem High School and was a cheerleader in Salem. Miss Henderson will be cheerleader advisor for the high school.

Mr. Shivers will be teaching math. He graduated from Kent State University majoring in biology and minoring in math. Mr. Shivers went to Salem High School and played basketball. He formerly taught at Alliance for two years teaching math. While teaching in Alliance, he coached basketball and track. Here at Salem he will coach freshman basketball.

Mr. Baker will be taking care of the food service in Salem Schools. He graduated from Muskingum College majoring in accounting and minoring in political science and math computer. He went to high school in Strasburg, Ohio. He formerly worked at Cleercreek School in Springsboro, Ohio for two years.

Now that you know some background to the four new faculty members, I asked the four some questions. I asked Miss Carmello, "What is it like to teach in the Salem Senior High instead of the junior high?" Miss Carmello replied, "It's real different than the junior high because you're looking up at the students instead of looking down. Also, it's a calmer atmosphere and it's a lot of hard work."

I asked Mr. Baker, "What is it like to take care of the food servicing?" Mr. Baker said, "There is a lot of responsibility in taking care of the food service in all the schools in Salem." If you have any questions about the food, ask him. He's the guy who wears a three piece suit without the coat, just a vest.

I asked Miss Henderson, "What is it like to be a teacher instead of a student?" She said, "More challenging because you're trying to help people learn instead of being in school doing the bookwork."

I asked Mr. Shivers if school has changed any since you've been in school? Mr. Shivers said, "There are a lot of things different, but now there is no dress code and the facilities are more advanced." An example is the Nautilus (the weightlifting machines). The whole school wants to wish you four good luck in your new jobs.

fourth day includes a walking tour of the Wooden Chapel Bridge. On the fifth day they travel to Paris. The sixth day is a tour of Paris, which includes a tour of the Notre Dame Cathedral and the Eiffel Tower, and the seventh day they leave Paris, and pass through the battlefields of France, and then into Brussels. On their eighth day they continue their trip through Germany and into Frankfurt Airport and return to New York.

At this time there is not a certain number of people going. The cost is $825.00 which includes dining, lodging and touring while in Germany. This tour price does not include a passport fee. There is one condition on going, and that is they need a significant number of people.

When asked why they wanted to go, two students gave me their reasons — Pam Evans: to meet different people who have lifestyles that differ from ours.

Paul Bryant: I have wanted to see Germany for a long time and a friend is over there.

I.O.E.

The Beginning Of A Lifetime And Career

Busy! Busy! Busy! This year's I.O.E. Department is really busy! We've elected class officers: Steno II has Shawna Seddon back as president with Lori Throne as vice-president, Lisa Phillips as secretary, Glenna McAfee as treasurer, Mary Ann Clunen as assistant-treasurer, Carla Bryan as historian, and Rhonda Weingart as parliamentarian.

Accounting II officers have Tina Walter as president, Wanda Smith as vice-president, Shery McNeal as secretary, Hope Singer as treasurer, Bev Kemats as assistant-treasurer, Carol Barrett as historian, and Cathy Coy as Parliamentarian

September 28 was the date for Open House this year. Parents could come and see what their kids were doing this year. Open House for the IOE Department went very well. During the tour, parents saw office machines, adding machines, the new TRS-80 computer, the electronic typewriter, and how the transcriber machine works, and we also showed a film.

We've had two guest speakers this year. Mr. Long, of Radio Shack, talked to the Accounting Department about the Micro Computer and we also had Mr. Bozick of Bozick's Office Machines come in and talk to the seniors in the I.O.E. Department.

I.O.E. stands for Intensive Office Education. It prepares you for a job right out of high school. Even if you don't want to be a secretary, it is something good that you can always fall back on. Another good thing is that you can still go to college too. So all freshmen and sophomores remember that when you are planning for your future. It is a lot of hard work, but in the end it is all worthwhile.

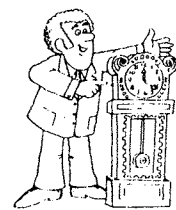

Quaker Computers

by David Fisher

Mr. Bevington's computer course is very challenging to students. The name of the course is called Advanced Algebra with Computer Lab. Mr. Bevington commented that since economically, society is not in good condition, computers are not in good use, but when times become better they will be used more often.

The computer center has five computers and are used almost all the time. Salem High was the first in the area to work with computers, since 1967. Mr. Bevington has classes after school for teachers wanting to work with the computers. The class is for one hour and on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Mr. Bevington said, "I might add that computers are becoming very useful in the homes of today. They are especially useful for income tax papers and budgeting a family's expenses. They have changed throughout the years. First a computer was so big that it took up a good-sized room. Now in the 1980's they can sit on a small table. There are also accessories that you can buy such as recorders, printers and they are capable of using a soft wear disc. The brand of computers that the computer center has is the Radio Shack's TRS-80's. The basic unit to start with comes with screen and keyboard. The components in a TRS-80 computer are small, compared to the ones years ago that had large tubes, heavy components and a lot of wires in them, and are a little more accurate."

Turn Your Clocks Back October 30th

Music Review

by Steve Strabala

Bruce Springsteen's new LP entitled "Nebraska" has been the most talked about album of this year. The album is Springsteen's first solo album. He recorded it at his New Jersey home without the assistance of the E Street Band. The mood of the new album is very personal and darkly ruminative about America as a whole. Many of the songs feature only guitar, harmonica and a vocal, though Springsteen does play synthesizer on a cut or two. The album includes ten songs which were all written by Springsteen.

Titles of the songs are "Mansions on the Hill," "State Trooper," "Used Cars," "Open All Night," "My Father's House," "Atlantic City," "Highway Patrolman," about two brothers with different ideas about law and order, "Johnny 99," which is about an unemployed man who goes on a killing rampage; and "Nebraska," which is about mass murderer Charlie Starkweather, whose deeds were depicted in the film Badlands.

The album's final cut, "Reason to Believe," offers a ray of hope amid all this sadness: "At the end of every hard-earned day, people find some reason to believe." The album is a big change for Springsteen, who is considered to be the greatest American rocker ever. All but two or three songs are slow and very mellow. For this reason, radio stations are hesitating to play music from the album. Even though the album is not getting much air-play, it is quickly moving up the charts and according to WMMS is already the number one album in Cleveland after just three weeks.

Super Seniors

by Rick Davis

Each week the Quaker will feature seniors and their activities in and out of school.

Dawn Kelly is a member of Student Council, Key Club, and Petiteens. She is also co-captain of the Pepettes. Dawn attends the First Friends Church of Salem and is an active member of its youth group.

Dawn has been a member of the volleyball team for three years and has played varsity for two. At the Salem Volleyball Invitational on October 9, she was selected on the All-Star Selection with five other girls from Salem. She says that Coach Conser has been a big help to her. She plans to carry her volleyball career into college and will try to become an X-ray technician.

Todd Lepley plays tuba for the band and is president of the band this year. He has played for the "Pride of Salem" for four years and also plays in the Pep Band.

Todd has excellent acting abilities and has been in three school plays. Last year he was a dance captain for the play "Funny Girl." He played Leroy in "The Bad Seed" and played the lead role in "Aladdin."

New members of Salem High's faculty are Mr. James Shivers and Miss Marena Carmello. Not pictured are Mr. Baker and Miss Henderson. The Quaker hopes all the best for our new staff members.

Freshmen Speak Out

by Ken Schramm

Recently I went around asking some of the Freshman Class in the high school the question, "What is it like to be in the high school instead of the junior high?"

Sue Allis — It's better than the junior high.

Cindy Hutton — It's more fun, and the people are nicer.

Sue Bailey — Same as Cindy.

Chuck Amrhein — It's better than the junior high; also I like the shorter periods.

Richard Cole — It's easier to get lost in and the classes are better.

Marcia Flickenger — Everything.

Tina Knight — You're allowed to chew gum, but other than that not much.

Dave Holbert — Mrs. Miller Sharon Ewing — The boys.

Paul Schlueter — I like everything except History.

Carol Seese — No Comment. Valerie Julian — It's better than the junior high and the boys are cuter.

Julie Paumier — The boys are cute, but especially the Madison's.

Parton And Reynolds Whoop It Up In Texas

by Terri Leyman

"It's just a piddly squattin' old time country place, ain't nothing too high tone, just lots of good will and maybe one small thrill, but there's nothing dirty going on!"*

"The Best Little Whorehouse In Texas"

This vivacious musical comedy starring everyone's favorite bandit, Burt Reynolds as Sheriff Ed Earl Dodd and Polyester Princess-turned-Closet Queen, Dolly Parton as Miss Mona — the madam of the little brothel, turned out to be one of the summer's most fun movies. The brothel got its nickname, the Chicken Ranch, when the girls long ago started accepting poultry as trade from clientel who could not afford to pay. The casting of Dolly as Miss Mona was no less than perfect. The script writers altered the original story a little bit so Miss Mona's character could have Dolly's personality. They also fit Burt Reynolds' personality into the character of Sheriff Ed Earl Dodd. The results were wonderful! Dolly, who co-starred with Jane Fonda and Lily Tomlin in her first movie role in "Nine to Five," feels that she was more comfortable playing the madam of the Chicken Ranch than a secretary in "Nine to Five." Dolly believes that she and Miss Mona have similar personalities and she proclaims that she makes a better madam than a secretary. The movie includes the original musical score written by Carol Hall and, also, two songs composed by Dolly.

Miss Mona is very much respected in the community and is very charitable with her money. Every year she tops the Little League Fund Drive with her personal contributions. The story basically centers around the romance between Miss Mona and Sheriff Ed Earl. However, Miss Mona has to compete for the affections of Sheriff Ed Earl with Dulcie May, who owns a little cafe in the town. Dulcie May is more or less like an in-town wife to Ed Earl.

During one of Miss Mona and Ed Earl's secret meetings, they sing a duet, "Sneakin' Around," which Dolly wrote especially for the movie. The movie also co-stars Jim Nabors as Deputy Fred. Deputy Fred seems to be a carbon-copy of Gomer Pyle and is always showing up and interrupting Ed Earl and Miss Mona at the darndest of times, like in the scene previously mentioned.

Business at the Chicken Ranch goes hummily along for years until a crazed, fanatical, watch dog reporter by the name of Melvin P. Thorpe swears to shut the place down. Thorpe, played by Dom DeLuise, and his associates go on an all out crusade against the house and Miss Mona. Sheriff Ed Earl desperately defends Miss Mona because of his love for her.

Sheriff Dodd takes his defensive case to the governor of Texas in Austin, played by Charles Durning. Charles Durning turns out to be quite a little song and dance man performing "The Sidestep." Like most political issues the governor does not know what his stand is concerning the allowance of the house to be operated.

Meanwhile, while Ed Earl is in Austin trying to persuade the governor to let the Chicken Ranch remain open, Miss Mona has supposedly shut down the place for two months at the request of the Sheriff (but not without an argument) to, maybe, help calm things over again. Well, when Miss Mona made that promise, she forgot all about the big college football game. Every year the winners of the Texas college game were treated to a night at the house. This was a bigger tradition than the game itself. So, Miss Mona went back on her word and held the party for the boys, anyhow. Melvin P. Thorpe and his crew had been waiting for this occasion and sneaked into the house during the night raiding it and feathers flew everywhere.

The governor decided to put the Chicken Ranch out of business. The sheriff goes back home, only to learn of Thorpe's raid on the Chicken Ranch. Ed Earl was upset with Miss Mona; however, the story has a happy ending with Ed Earl and Miss Mona deciding to get married. At the end of the movie Dolly sings "I Will Always Love You," which is now topping the country charts.

Teachers' Opinion Poll

by Dave Grams

I inquired various teachers and staff members throughout our high school, on the question, "If you had the opportunity to return to college and/or select a different occupation what would it be and why?"

Here are many of their responses: Miss Hasson: "I would take up historical research because I enjoy learning about the past."

Mrs. Coy: "A nurse. I would become an R.N. so I could help people. I also believe this would be a very rewarding profession."

Mrs. Miller: "Lawyer. Some of our laws in this country need to be changed. Also, I like debating situations."

Mrs. Cozza: "I would stay with what I'm doing. I am happy with my job."

Mr. Allen: "Go back to Miami of Ohio and major in business or veterinary medicine because I could make more money."

Miss Carmello: "Probably an architect because I want a house."

Mrs. Kendall: "A nutritionist. I would advise students to eat nutritious food instead of all that "junk" food."

Mr. Bartha: "Engineering or something where I could get into the 'big money'."

Mr. Trough: "Computer programming because I enjoy math and I would make a lot more money."

Mrs. Esposito: "Before going to Kent, I had planned to pursue an electrical engineering degree at the University of Cincinnati. I've always wondered how that would've worked out."

Miss Rafferty: "I would have still been drawn to teaching; however, I might have taken advanced degree work in law."

Mr. Delane: "Probably some kind of computer technology because it was just beginning to make it big when I was in school."

In conclusion, according to the poll taken, those interviewed are happy in their present positions, but it would seem that the teaching profession, and other occupations, are not fully meeting the expected needs as perhaps originally intended. If the opportunities had been available earlier in their careers, they could have possibly been pursued.

Yearbooks Finally Arrive

By Dayne Popa

The '81-82 yearbooks, which came in Thursday, were delayed because the yearbook staff was late turning in the pages to the printers. Then the publishers, Josten, topped off the delay with printing errors. They both are sorry for making everyone wait.

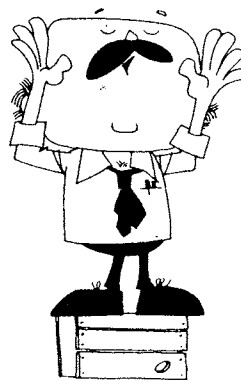

"The '82-83 yearbook staff consists of forty-five good workers," said Mrs. Dohar. Right now the staff is working on filling 196 pages with interesting pictures and articles for next year which will be the same price as last year.

The new yearbook will consist of colored pictures of the seniors and also eight color pages in the front. Mrs. Dohar says that the '82-83 yearbook will be a real surprise package! Hopefully, next year's books will be in by August, 1983. By the way, the deadline for Senior pictures is DECEMBER 9th. They must be colored, glossy and wallet size.

THE PACK IS ON THE PROWL

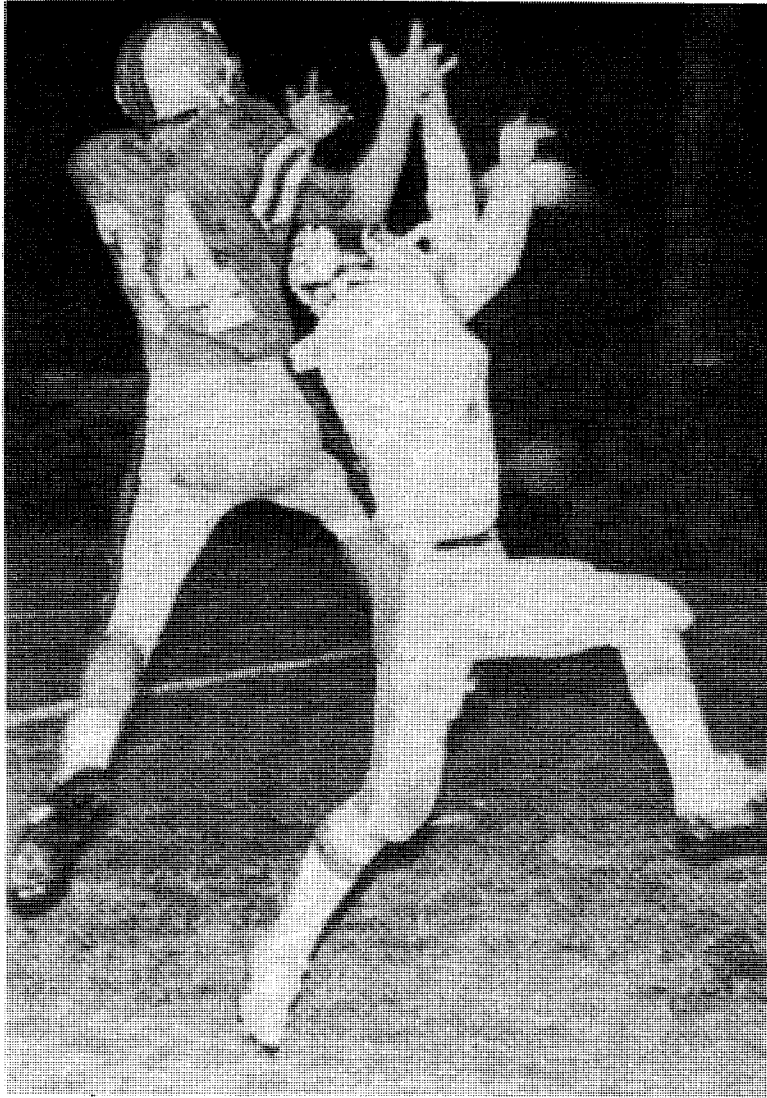

by Rob Mehno

The 1982 edition of the Salem Quakers are off to the best start since 1973. The Salem Wolfpack defense is the biggest reason in this year's fabulous showing. The staunch Wolfpack defense has held its opponents to twenty-five points in seven outings. The stalwarts of the Quaker defense are the down lineman consisting of John Panzotti, Sam Clark, Joe Bob Pupa, JD Janofa, and Rob Mehno. Janofa leads the team in sacks while Tony Petrucci leads the team in fumble recoveries (5).

The Quaker offense has been led by junior Brian Toothman and senior Steve Strabala. Toothman leads the Quaker passing attack with a fifty-four per cent completion ratio. Strabala has caught many passes and has been the leader of the Quaker running attack averaging 5.7 yards per carry.

The main reason for the Quaker 5-1-1 record is the togetherness of the team. The enthusiasm of the coaches has been evident in the excited and enthusiastic play of the spirited Ricker's Red Raiders. The student body and the community greatly aid the Quakers. Pictures of this year's Quakers can be seen throughout the community. So come out to Mollenkoph Stadium to see the talented Quakers take on Warren JFK tonight.

Strabe battles for the ball. Keep up the good work Steve.

Golf Team Slightly Over Par

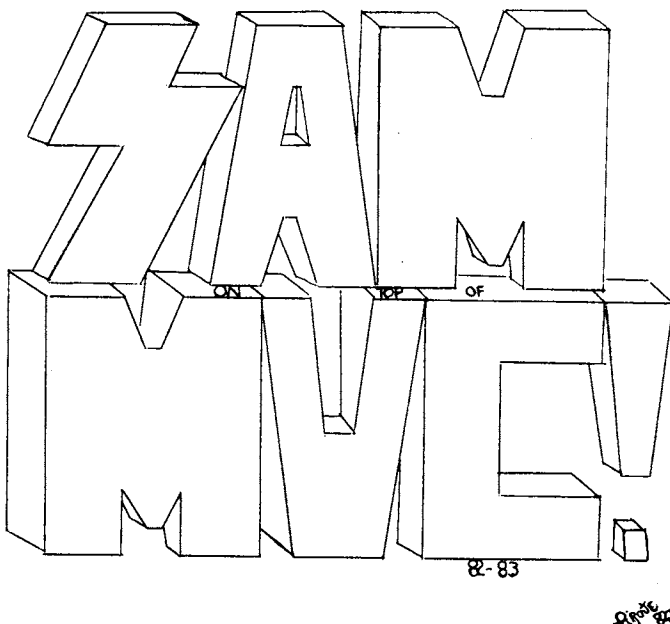

by Sarah Roblson

After getting a slow start and losing their first seven games the golf team made a come-back to end the season 9 and 11. Coach Ritchie, when asked if he was pleased with the way the season had gone replied, "I wasn't at first, but we came back to win seven straight. We lost a couple close ones and definitely could have done better, but all in all it wasn't a bad season."

This year we had four seniors on the team: Jay Soriano, Dave Borrelli, Steve Garofolo and Chip Rose. Two of them, Jay Soriano and Dave Borrelli battled it out with Tom Patterson, a junior, for the year's best stroke average. In the end, Tom ended up getting it with Jay and Dave not far behind. Other members of the team are juniors, Sam McKinney, Mike Garofolo, and Ted Burger and sophomores, Dave Edling, Steve Sommers, and Nan Webb.

The biggest surprise of the season was Nan Webb. Nan is Salem's first girl to ever make the team. According to some of the players, she is as any of the other members of the team. Her biggest problem is that she has to play the men's tees. The guys like to tease her, but they really respect her for her efforts.

All things considered, the golf team had a pretty good season. Hopefully, they'll do even better next year. "Having seven underclassmen on the team is really a big advantage for the coming year. If they continue to improve we should do all right next year," was Coach Ritchie's closing remark. Good luck next year guys, and you too, Nan.

J. V. Pigskinners Have Tough Season

by Brad Myers

The opening of the 1982 football season for the Salem Quakers showed much improvement from last year. Posting a 5-1-1 record with three games to play, the Quakers' Varsity football team looks to finish with a promising year. This is not the case for the Junior Varsity or Freshman football teams.

The JV football team opened its season against JFK in a home game. After their defeat to JFK, the following two games against Rayen and Campbell were canceled by Coach Ricker. They played Girard in an away game on October 4th. With a victory against Girard the following two games against Struthers and Canfield were again canceled by Coach Ricker. The players who did not play Varsity and look forward to playing in their Junior Varsity games felt they should get a chance to play their JV games and decided to have a meeting with head coach Ricker. It was decided that the last two games against Poland and West Branch would be played instead of being canceled like prior plans anticipated. With all the schedule problems with JV games, the Freshman football team was in full swing. After losing a hard fought opening game against West Branch, the Freshman footballers came out fighting and hoping their defense could carry them, but ended up short with a disappointing record of 1-3-2. With a game against Girard on Thursday, October 21, the Freshmen hope to end their season with a win. GOOD LUCK QUAKERS.

Volleyball Team Bumps Massillon Perry And Sets for Sectional Title

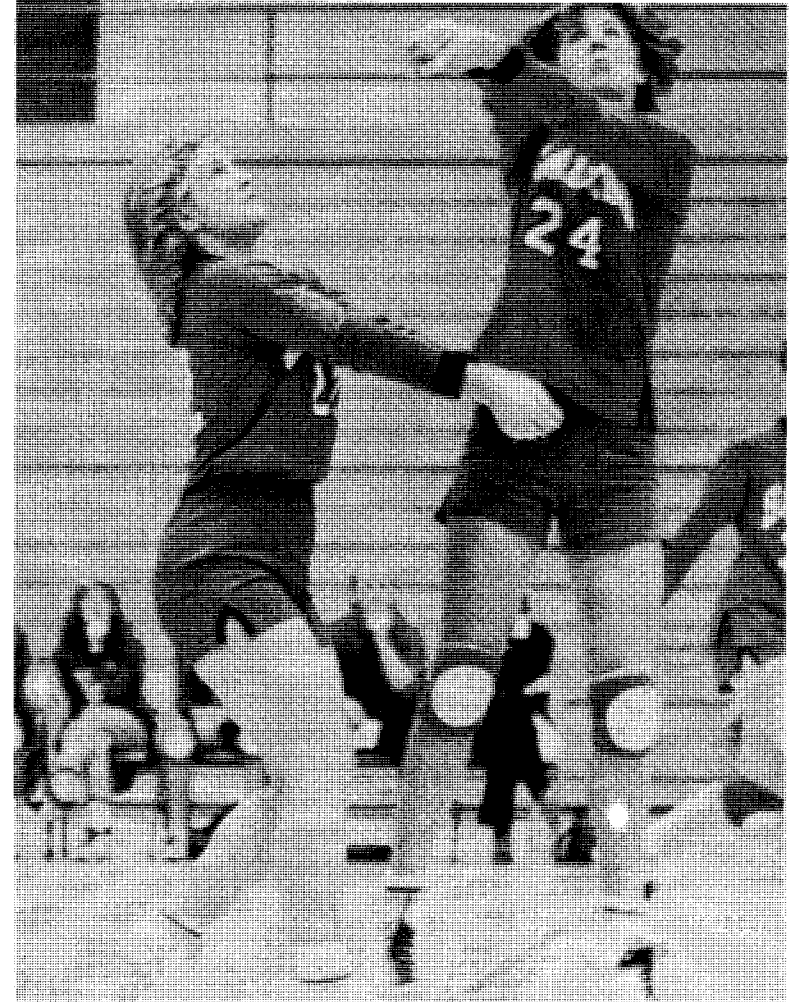

by Kim Wells

The '82 Varsity volleyball players have begun tournament play with high expectations. With the current record of 11-8, the team has been working hard at preparing for the sectional tournament, which kicked-off this past Monday at Massillon Jackson. The Quakers went up against Massillon Perry and won 16-14, 11-15, 15-7.

This year's team has revolved around team captains, Bianca Penick and Kris Talbot. According to Kris, the highlight of the season was beating previously undefeated East Palestine.

Coach Conser looked at the season from a different perspective. He remarked, "It's a team that is full of pride and tradition, but it is also a team that needs to learn a lot. Volleyball is not everything in life, but while the game is being played it is the only thing the players can have an effect upon. Therefore, game time is dedication time. If we learn this we will have won."

Kris and Diana show excellent team work. Good job girls.

Cross Country Off And Running

by Mike Senanefes

The Quaker Cross Country team, coached by veteran coach Mike Guappone, had a prosperous season this year. The Salemites, compiled a 16 - 16 record with losses coming at the hands of impressive teams such as Poland, Struthers, and Canfield Coach Guappone stated that he was very happy with the team's performance this year with only two returning lettermen from last year.

An overall team effort gave the team a ninth place finish at the Sim Earich Invitational out of twenty-two teams, and a fourth place finish in the Mahoning Valley Conference Championship. At the Columbiana County Meet the Quakers took a disappointing second, losing to East Liverpool. The Salemites came up a bit short in the Sectional Meet placing fourth, with only the first three teams advancing to the District Meet. Although the team did not qualify, Senior Mike Medford and Alan Snyder qualified as individuals to compete in the District Meet in Akron. Tracy Esterly, the only girl on the team, had a fine season. In the Sim Earich Invitational, Tracy finished fifteenth out of seventy-seven runners. Tracy also took a first place finish in the girls' County Meet. Our congratulations to the team on a fine season and GOOD LUCK to Mike Medford and Alan Snyder in District competition.

Round Ballers Aim High

by Todd Lopley

I took some time to talk to Salem's new head coach of the basketball team, Coach Spack. I asked the coach what he thinks of the upcoming schedule for the season.

"I would rate the upcoming schedule as a challenging one. The entire league is tough and there is going to be a strong battle for the top position. I feel that the Quakers have an excellent chance at the number one spot at the end of the season."

I then asked the coach what he thought of the team's enthusiasm at this point in open gyms as opposed to other years.

"I couldn't be more pleased with the attitudes so far. Especially the seniors. I feel very confident that this year's seniors will provide excellent leadership throughout the upcoming year."

I asked, as a closing question, what Mr. Spack thought of being Salem's new head coach after being assistant coach last year.

"I am delighted with the opportunity to return to my home town and coach. Salem has an excellent basketball tradition and I am hoping that I can, not only continue it, but build on it. Salem's had great fans for many years, and I hope I can pay the people of Salem back for their support when I was playing with continuous good, solid, winning teams."
