

Rich Karlis Returns To Salem . . . Talks To Students

by Kevin Beck

Who would have thought four years ago that a Salem High graduate, namely Rich Karlis, would be one of the premier kickers in the NFL? Monday, the 9th, he came back to Salem to talk to all the classes.

Rich, a 1977 SHS graduate, was a walk-on to the University of Cincinnati football team. There he worked hard until he kicked off and did field goals. After college he went to the Houston Oilers camp. He was there for three week and got cut. "It was probably the worst day in my life," Rich said, remembering the event.

After that he was invited to the Denver Broncos' invitational free agent camp. "There were about 75 kickers there. They told us to get in groups of 5." Rich continued, "They had us kick field goals without warm-ups. After that they told us to sit down. A couple hours later they had us punt 2 balls. We all had numbers, and they called mine, and I made the team."

Rich had this to say about

KSU Workshop

Several workshops which may interest college-bound students are coming up at KSU-Salem.

Preparing for Exams will be the topic on Tuesday, April 17. Students often need to spend a great deal of time preparing for exams and this workshop is designed to help students optimize their study time. Topics to be addressed include what, when, where and how to study. Students should bring one of their textbooks in the social or natural sciences to use for practice.

Taking Exams will be the topic on Tuesday, April 24. A test-wise student can often get a few more points on an exam simply because he or she knows how to test and this workshop is designed to help students become more test-wise. Topics to be addressed are general test-taking strategies, taking objective and essay tests, and coping with pre-exam jitters.

The workshops will be taught by Dr. Claudia May, Director of Developmental Education at the Salem Campus. Pre-registration is required for participants and more information may be obtained by calling the Kent State — Salem Continuing Education Office (332-0361).

MORP INFO.

by Ginda Woods

This evening the 1984 MORP will be held in the cafeteria from 10-12 P.M. This event is co-sponsored by the Student Council and Interact. Planned activities for the dance, which presents the theme "Jailhouse Rock," will be the crowning of king and queen and the unprofessional taking of portraits. The king will be selected by voting upon entering the dance; this procedure will also be used to select his court. The court will consist of a freshman, sophomore and junior boy and their escorts no matter what their status. Reigning over this court will be the top senior vote getter as king and his escort as queen. Hope to see you there.

himself, "I'm a pretty positive person. I work with a children's hospital in Denver. I thought that it would be something I wouldn't have to get emotionally involved with. In the past couple weeks two little girls have died and it is really sad." Rich talked on a personal level with the students. "I do care about you, and if you make something out of your lives. It's all up to you. Unless you're willing to sacrifice, you'll never make it. People who want to make it will push you aside. I've been in every major city in the United States, and it's tough. I've seen a lot of guys ruin their lives by drugs. You may take drugs or drink and your parents don't know. You know. You might say to yourself "Yea I'm cool and my buddies accept me." Well it's all going to catch up to you. Your life's going to pass you by before you know it, and you'll fail. There's nothing wrong with failing if you try. It's important to care about yourself, no one else will. If you think you're good enough to make it, you will. You have to care about yourself. No one else does."

When asked about the most important piece of advice he could give, he said, "Have a dream and make it a positive force on your life."

Rich Karlis

Rich is a wealthy man. Not just in money, but in his attitude toward life, Salem, and his high school.

AFS Students Visit Salem

If by chance, some unfamiliar faces were seen around school last Friday and were unexplained, perhaps it was unknown that it was the annual American Field Service Day. The annual event is designed with educational and promotional purposes in mind. It is hoped that students will learn about and understand cultures of other countries. With promotional purposes in mind, it is hoped that students will develop interest in the AFS program and get involved. In general terms, according to Mr. Monteleone, who is the AFS club advisor, the major goal of the program is to educate students about people from other countries. Exchange students involved in Friday's program represented Italy, Honduras, Belgium, Germany, Finland, Sweden, Spain and Sri Lanka. These students visited language, Family living and history classes throughout the day and shared information and experiences from their homelands. The AFS program is an easy way to get valuable and interesting information and it is hoped that others will be inspired to get involved. Involvement could prove to be interesting; the idea of meeting new people and traveling over seas is fascinating.

Student Council Election

by Kim Baugh

Many students have concerns about school, and Student Council is a great way to help deal with those concerns. To be on Student Council next year, there are a few rules that will go into effect. Members will be able to miss two meetings of excused absences; if more than two are missed, the right to be on Student Council will be forfeited. The student must be responsible for committee work and be willing to work for the good of Salem High. Also he/she must have an acceptable academic average. And if the student is suspended during their term on Student Council, he will be removed.

The meetings are held monthly, and they are announced beforehand. Meetings are also open to other students who may have concerns about school, and would like Student Council to know about them.

The requirements are not that difficult and we would like to see more students get involved. Candidacy forms, stating your intention to run, will be available the week of April 23. The students with the intent forms are put on a ballot, and voting is done by classes. Elections will be held in May.

Salem Run By Students!

by Linda Elias

On May 1, twenty-three students from Salem Senior High School will be chosen to participate on "Youth In Government Day," sponsored by the Salem Jaycees. The students will assume the offices of city officials such as the mayor, treasurer, etc. In the morning, students will meet at City Hall and tour the Police and Fire Departments. They will then go through a typical few hours on the job with their real-life counterpart. At 1:30 they will return to the Council Chambers to practice the upcoming council meeting that night. During that night students will sit with their counterparts and both will actually participate in the meeting. "Youth In Government Day" is designed to give students an idea on how our government works. To be eligible, students must have taken P.O.D. class in the summer or be currently enrolled in P.O.D. class. One City Council meeting must be attended before May 1. Mr. Morris, Miss Rafferty, and Mr. Delane will decide on which student gets to participate and which occupation they will get. Imagine the town of Salem being run by students. Will it work?

Senior Interview

by Brian Metz

If you're driving around Salem and happen to spot a blue jeep with a cracked windshield, it's probably Tod Bosel's, a senior who can be seen daily wandering Salem High School's corridors.

Tod is a very diverse person, with many hobbies and interests to his credit. He was a member of the football team for four years and is currently on the tennis team. His favorite activities include egg juggling, duff chunking, Trek trivia, moon swimming, and of course, hair coloring.

Tod Bosel also uses his head for something more than an ear separator. He has developed a formula to sum up his thoughts on life. This is the first time that this formula has been published, and it will probably be the last, so be sure to pay attention. His formula is: "Duffs + Busch = Duff's Chunks." What wisdom!

Unknown to many people is that Tod is also an expert on fine food. His favorite food, without a doubt, is pork ribs at Hog Heaven in Daytona Beach. Tod enjoys getting a few ribs and an ice cold root beer, then kicking back and listening to some Van Halen.

Tod has big plans for the future. After graduating from Salem (hopefully), he will attend college at Ohio University, where he will study to become a millionaire by the age of 35.

Mr. Bosel also has some good advice for us. "Get into sports," he said, "and don't drink and drive." Truly wise words from an all-American, baseball, hot dog, apple pie and Toyota boy.

Prom Details Completed

by Deri Kelly and Kim Baugh

One of the biggest events of the school year, the Junior-Senior Prom, will be held May 4th from 9:00 P.M. until midnight in the high school cafeteria. The murals and decorating committee will transform the cafeteria into a setting for this year's theme, "Tropical Paradise." Music will be by "Quick" from Cleveland. There is no charge for attending the prom. If you plan to bring a date from another school, or someone out of school, there are visitor request forms which must be picked up in the office. The form is to verify that they are of junior or senior status. All juniors and seniors will be excused from school May 4 at 11:00 A.M. to get ready for the prom and to go to dinner if they choose. The attire for the evening is to be formal. Pictures will be taken at the prom. The cost of the picture will be due when taken.

The After-Prom is to take place at Akron University. There will be bowling, pool tables, a movie, electronic games, and dancing available. Dress for the After-Prom is casual. Busses will leave school at 1:00 A.M. and will return to Salem around 7:00 A.M. Tickets will be on sale at the high school from 11:00 A.M. to 12:30 P.M. April 17 through April 19. The tickets must be purchased by April 19 so a final count can be made for the busses. Hope to see you there.

Congratulations Guys!

by Kevin Beck

Many times in our search for athletic excellence, academic achievements are forgotten. Recently, many people have received recognition. For instance, Mike Madison has been selected as one of the National Merit Scholarship finalists. This is an honor, and he should be commended.

were selected. They are Dave Edling, Brad Jones, Steve Julian, Jon McCracken, and Scott Smith. The alternates are Nick Watkins, Dave Milheim, Bob Magyaros, Matt Brooks, and Kevin Beck. They are chosen for their sportsmanship, leadership, and patriotic qualities.

The Youngstown State University English Festival competition was recently held. Four Salem High students placed in the festival. They are Whitney Browne, Teresa Moyer, Jennifer Schlueter, and Deb Swartz.

The third 9 weeks honor roll has just been released. Thirty-two people made the all A honor roll, and many others made the 3.2 and all B honor roll.

All these people have done a fine job, and they have all shown excellent qualities of academic excellence.

Scholarships & More Scholarships!

by Kevin Beck

Are you planning to further your education, but you need money? Well, there are plenty of scholarships available.

There are two $500 scholarships given by the Quota Club of Salem. They are offered to someone planning to enroll in audiology, speech pathology, or deaf education.

The Salem Education Association is offering two $200 scholarships. You must have a 3.0 GPA for at least the last two years. There is one vocational and one academic scholarship. If you are planning to go to Kent State-Salem, you may apply for a full tuition scholarship for one class per/semester. There is also a $50 book scholarship.

"See your counselors for applications. Be listening for announcements for Alumni Association, Max Fisher, PTA, Bruce Herron, and Charles Burchfield Art Award scholarships. They will be offered soon," Mrs. Bosu added.

Happy Easter!

Band Underway

by Debbie Nichols

Tryouts for the Salem High School marching band, drum major, majorettes and color guard for the 1984-85 school year were held last week in the band room. Positions held are as follows: drum major, Roger Tullis; head majorette, Lisa Diamond; Silver Girl, Sherri Hite; color guard captain, Chris Good and rifle sergeant, Amy Stroka. There are a total of ten majorettes and thirty color guard members.

When choosing squad members, Mr. Jeckavitch, band director, looks for many things in those trying out. Among the qualities sought are the ability to put routines to music, basic coordination, and a good attitude. It also helps to be a quick learner.

As drum major, Roger Tullis holds a lot of responsibility with the marching band. His responsibilities range from conducting the band during game performances and parades to keeping the discipline of the band members and setting a good example for the upcoming freshmen. His main goal for next year is "to win the gold in Florida." Winning the "gold" seems to be a goal for just about everybody as also shown by the new rifle sergeant, Amy Stroka. She is looking forward to making up what will hopefully be winning routines. She is very excited about her new position and said that it "really hasn't sunk in yet."

Take Me Out To The Ball Game!

by Pat Roelen

The Quaker baseball season started with an exciting victory over Marlinton. Glenn Martin gave up three hits and two runs in a brilliant five innings of pitching. Pat Roelen came in the sixth inning to finish the game pitching to get a save. Rocco Mango hit in the winning run to beat Marlinton 2-1.

The next game at Beaver Local was called because of darkness at the end of the sixth inning. The game was in a 3-3 tie. Rocco Mango pitched four and two thirds innings, giving up three runs. Pat Roelen came in the fifth inning with two outs and bases loaded to get the Quakers out of the inning. Rocco Mango and Carl Apicella led the Quakers with two hits apiece. Glenn Martin also had one hit.

Coach Lantz commented, "I am very pleased with our performance against Marlinton because we executed well. In the Beaver Local game, I was not very pleased with some of the errors that we made."

On April 11 the Quakers scored a thrilling win over Canfield 6-5.

The Quakers next game will be against JFK, at home, on April 16.

Classroom Update

by Deri Kelly

Mr. Zimmerman's World History classes are now studying World War I, and soon will learn about the time between the two World Wars, as well as World War II. They are discussing some of the major causes for World War I and, also, reasons for the United States joining the war on the side of the Allies. Students have found that at the onset of the war, both sides thought it would be a short war — how wrong they were!

Ms. Carmello's Home Economics I and II Classes are studying child care (pregnancy, birth, how to raise kids).

The Foods class is working on Home Projects and, also, food demonstrations by students. Then they will move on to microwave cooking and then to Foreign/Ethnic Foods.

The Singles Living students are now studying foods, and then will study Money Management.

Army Reserve Essay Contest

Salem High School students are eligible to compete with students at more than 5,000 high schools across the country in the second annual U.S. Army Reserve National Essay Contest.

A winner will be selected from all of the entries at Salem High School, and will receive a certificate of achievement from the Chief, Army Reserve. His or her essay will then go on to compete with other winning essays from participating schools throughout the United States. The deadline for submission to the national competition is May 11, 1984. A panel of judges will select three national winners, who will receive U.S. Savings Bonds, courtesy of the Reserve Officers Association (ROA) — a $1,000 bond for first place and $500 bonds for the two runners-up. They will also receive etched-glass trophies. The top winner will be honored at the annual ROA convention in Chicago, Illinois, in June. Travel expenses will be covered for the winner and an escort.

The winner of the 1983 Army Reserve National Essay Contest was David Cohen of Burke High School in Omaha, Nebraska.

The theme of the essay contest is based on a quote by George Washington.

Track Season Going Well

by Joe Noll

The Salem boys' and girls' track teams are both 2-0 in the young '83-'84 season.

The Quaker boys have been led by Seniors Larry Sommers and Tony Petrucci. Junior Alan Snyder and sophomore Brad Capel have led the way in long distance running. Junior Delbert McCallister has won all of the 110 high hurdle events.

The girls have won 7 of 8 relay events. Individually seniors Linda Elias, Brenda Lipp, junior Tracy Esterly, sophomore Kim Ricker and freshman Dina Hartman all are undefeated.

Update: The girls lost to East Liverpool April 10 in a very close finish, 69-59.

Listed below is the remainder of the track season.
