Things Have Changed

by Lisa Buchanan

Things have changed this year. Since teachers believed there was no discipline in the past, they set out to do something about it. Because of the antics of last year's graduating class, lunchroom rules were changed. Previously if you wanted to brave the smoke-filled restrooms, you could without any problems. Before, if you forgot a book that you needed in your locker, you went and got it. Now, all this has changed. Teachers surround the lunchroom looking like sentries on guard. In the beginning of the year when everything was new and disagreeable to us, we nicknamed old SHS "The Prison." We were speaking the truth — we weren't joking. Now we have to sign out to go to the restroom one at a time. I think the administration is beginning to realize this is ridiculous. In the lunchroom we have over four hundred students. If each person takes three minutes or less, only fourteen students can use the bathroom. Fourteen out of over four hundred? In my studyhall of thirty people, ten usually go to the restroom! The unlucky people are the ones without an accommodating studyhall. Although Mr. Rottenborn believes the time between classes is sufficient, I disagree. When a student is trotting from one end of the school to another, he doesn't have time to duck into the bathroom and still make it to class on time. Mr. Rottenborn is under the impression that because we have a longer lunch period than other schools, we should consider ourselves fortunate. The problem, however, is using the restroom has become near to impossible, especially if a student doesn't have any convenient studyhalls. I believe the administration should take a closer look as to how this stance has affected the student body and make some radical changes in the lunchroom regulations.

Someone To Turn To

by Bill Dunn

Starting a new organization? Trying to keep an old one going? If so, financial aid may be needed. One place to turn to is the Salem Community Foundation. This Foundation helps by supplying money for worthwhile community projects which would be impossible for the individual organizations to pay for on their own.

Many groups have benefited from the help of the Foundation. The Salem Community Theater and both the Salem Stars and Little Quakers are just a few organizations that the Foundation has helped. The Salem Senior High School has also benefited by approximately $50,000. The school has used this money to help purchase new musical equipment such as new timpani and marching brass instruments. Also, 10 Commodore computer units for the Accounting Program, Laser equipment for the Physics Lab, new cheerleading uniforms, and a new foundry process for the Metal Shop have all been bought by the school with the Foundation's help. The Foundation also paid half of the installation of the new elevator put in last year for the use of the handicapped for which the total cost was $30,000.

Many people ask, "Where do they get the money to give to others?" Most of the money is earned on the interest gained through donations to the Foundation.

Each organization requesting financial aid from the foundation must first fill out an application. The requests are then generally approved by the Board of Trustees. The President of the Foundation is Walter Null, co-owner of Null's Sporting Goods. In January, a meeting is held to approve any of the requests that they feel are worthwhile. After receiving full information on an organization, consideration may be given at any regular meeting should the need be particularly urgent.

The application is composed of several uniform questions that are necessary to answer. Of course, the person filling it out must put the name and address of the organization. Also, he must list the officers or trustees; or if it is part of a national organization, the names of the local personnel should be given. Next, a brief summary on the purposes or objectives of the organization is required as are the amount of financial aid needed, a statement on what the funds will be used for, and if the group is receiving any other financial support. If available, a financial statement must be attached to the application, and if not available, the areas and amounts of major expenditures in a brief statement are to be given. It also asks if the group is tax-exempt and if the personnel are paid or are volunteer.

So, if any group is trying to get started or keep going, the Salem Community Foundation may be able to help.

Spirit Week At S.H.S.

by Lori Tasker

The week of October 28, Salem High School was busy with activities for the game against our rival, the West Branch Warriors. The week started with Farmer Day. Flannel shirts, boots, etc. were worn to carry out the theme for that day. Tuesday was Quaker Sam Day when pins, t-shirts, or anything with the Quaker Sam emblem on it were worn. Wednesday was Beat West Branch Day. Most wore t-shirts and stickers that said beat West Branch. The last day of Spirit Week was Red and Black Day. Students and faculty could use their imagination to carry out the theme for the day. Thursday afternoon the school had a Pep Assembly. Some of the male faculty dressed up as cheerleaders. Skits were performed by Quaker Sam, our own Jeff Lynn, and all of the cheerleaders. Mr. Rottenborn said, "I thought Spirit Week was a fantastic show of spirit by students and faculty alike. Quaker spirit is certainly alive at S.H.S. We had the best Pep Assembly ever." The Junior Class was awarded most spirited because they had the most participaters during Spirit Week. Thursday night the bon-fire was held at Reilly Stadium where the Quaker Spirit came through again. When asked what they thought of the week's activities, various students said:

Lee Good, S.H.S.'s offensive guard, said, "It all got me psyched for the game."

Julie Paumier, one of S.H.S.'s varsity cheerleaders, said, "The school spirit was great. The students really got involved and the pep assembly was a big improvement. The football team was ready to kill the Warriors. (Which we did!)"

Thanksgiving At Nursing Home

by Michelle L. Yarwood

Ever since the first grade we all have heard the traditional story of how Thanksgiving came about; how the pilgrims sailed across the Atlantic Ocean on the Mayflower from England and landed at Plymouth Rock. There they were taught by the Indians how to grow and harvest corn. This is where the first Thanksgiving was held in North America. It was the autumn of 1621 when Governor William Bradford of the Plymouth Colony made the proclamation in gratitude for the colonists' first harvest in the New World. There was song and merriment as the pilgrims and Indians sat together and celebrated with a big feast and gave many thanks to God. They were to have had wild turkey and other wild animals such as deer and elk.

Sarah Josepha Hale, an author and editor, greatly influenced the establishment of Thanksgiving Day as a national festival, when she first urged it in 1827. On October 3, 1863, she finally won the support of President Abraham Lincoln, who issued a national Thanksgiving proclamation setting the date as the fourth and last Thursday of November. Henceforth, every United States President has similarly proclaimed the holiday. In 1939 Franklin D. Roosevelt set Thanksgiving on the third Thursday thus increasing the number of shopping days between Thanksgiving and Christmas. Congress did not quite agree with this decision and voted by joint resolution in 1941 to establish the fourth Thursday in November as the date for Thanksgiving Day.

The Quaker went to Hutton's Nursing Home in Salem to ask a few of the residents if Thanksgiving for them has changed traditionally over the years. They were also asked about the big snowstorm that happened in the 50's on Thanksgiving Day as well as what they are particularly thankful for:

Ed Luxeuil — "We get the family together and have a great feast. We watch the game. I go to the parade every year.

"Oh! I remember the snowstorm! There was a lot of wreckage. It was a bad blizzard. Winds were blowing houses down!

"I'm thankful I've got my health. I'm feeling good. I hope everybody else will be the same and have their health all year long."

Rev. Doris Madison — "Traditions have changed, I think. It used to be family and relatives. Now it's just mostly friends. I think immediate families are too busy. We used to have turkey and pumpkin pie with lots of whipped cream. No football though. I didn't allow it! I had Thanksgiving Eve service for about seven or eight years. I can't remember. I haven't preached in about six years. I used to be in a bugle and drum corps. We were called the 'Army and Navy Girls.' I was a sergeant bugler in Buffalo, New York. We always marched in the parade every year.

Doug White, S.H.S.'s fullback and inside linebacker, said, "Spirit Week was a necessity. I was surprised at really how much school spirit we have. The students and fans were a major element in our victory over West Branch."

Kim Ricker said, "The school spirit was great and that was the best pep assembly since my freshman year."

Tarry Pidgeon, S.H.S.'s guard, said, "Being the toughest one on the football team has not been an easy task for me this year. Spirit Week inspired the whole team for the stupendous, yet expected, victory over the Warriors."

Rich Elias, S.H.S.'s split end, said, "It was funny seeing how fired up Rich Huffman was. I never saw him with so much school spirit."

Teresa Fisher said, "I thought it was excellent. There was a lot of spirit, but of course Juniors took the rule by being named most spirited during Spirit Week."

Friday night the Quaker Spirit was better than ever. The stands were filled and the fans cheered our team to a victory. We had the main ingredients for defeating our rival: a great football team and the best school spirit!

Museum

by Jeff Lynn

The Old Stone House Museum in Lisbon is the oldest stone cabin in Ohio. It will be the sight for an old fashioned Christmas which will take place on Nov. 30, Dec. 1, Dec. 7, and Dec. 8 from 12 to 9 P.M.

The Lisbon Historical Society is inviting everyone to join them at the museum which contains a variety of interesting artifacts from Ohio. The entire museum will be decorated for Christmas. Admission is free, and refreshments will be served. The museum is located at 115 East Washington Street, Lisbon, Ohio.

Salem's New Board Members

by Arron Wolford

On Nov. 5 the two seats on the Board of Education were filled by Dr. Richard Fawcett and Mrs. Sharon Medford. Dr. Fawcett lives at 402 Highland Ave. and is a physician with the Family Practice of Salem. He missed a seat on the board in 1983. When asked why he decided to run this time, he said, "I hope to make an influence on the schools." When he was asked if he felt the high school had any problems, he stated, "I've heard there are some problems with discipline and I plan to visit the school." He was asked if he went to any board meetings and he replied, "I went to two meetings and I feel there should be more responsiveness to the public."

Mrs. Medford lives at 595 North Union Ave. She made her first try for a public office. She was asked why she decided to run and she said, "I've been thinking about it for a long time and felt the time was right." Mrs. Medford was asked if she felt the high school had any problems and she said, "The problems are not overwhelming and I feel the situation is being handled." When she was asked if she went to any board meetings this year she replied, "I did during the negotiations, and I would like to see the public feel free to speak out."

Mr. Spack Whompin it up.

Senior Spotlight

by Anne Williams

If you don't know who Jeff Lynn is, search your memory back to the previous football season to our Quaker Sam. Dancing about on the field and raising the student body's spirit, Jeff, 17, is president of the Pep

Club this year. When asked about why he liked being Quaker Sam, he commented, "I have a good time." Jeff's feeling on school spirit is, "The overall spirit isn't horrible, but it could be better." Jeff is also involved in Interact and his main hobby is running. Plans after high school are "to go to college and to study psychology."

John Piontowski, 17, may be seen at any sporting event either "spectating or participating." He was on the cross country team as the captain. He noted that "It was a lot of fun and hard work, but I am glad the season is over for a break." John also is a photographer for the yearbook staff. He plans on going to college to enter a career of biomedical engineering because he "likes to help people to make their lives more comfortable."

she is an English aide for Mrs. Esposito because she likes "to grade other people's papers." Her favorite hobby is reading which will help her next year in studying marketing at YSU.

Sylvia Torti keeps herself busy with student council, AFS, working at Perkins (in Canfield), riding and taking care of her horses, reading, and playing tennis. Most of her free time is spent at Perkins waiting on people. She commented that she likes "talking to and meeting new people." She's very interested in meeting new people as she indicated that she will be going away next year as an AFS student. She hopes to be located in Italy so she can "learn about (my) heritage from (my) relatives." After her return, she wants "to attend college and study pre-medicine or journalism."

Seventeen-year old Pam Untch is busy these days working at Burger Chef after school. She enjoys working because she "likes to handle money." She is also involved in activities such as the Spanish Club, Pep Club, White Christmas Committee, and colorguard. Also, have my son and daughter. I have eight grandchildren and one great grandchild. He's just one month old. I'm grateful for everything.

Nellie Nace — "We're (the family) scattered now, not like we were. We always give thanks and have the traditional dinner. We used to drive the horse and buggy. Now we have automobiles.

"Oh, the snowstorm! There was 36 inches of snow! My daughter was an editor for the Journal, and all I could see were her head and shoulders as she walked up the street!

"I'm thankful for my family and a nice place to stay. I'm thankful I live in a God-fearing country and just thankful for everything."

Charlie Hannah — "I celebrate it the same. Turkey was a rare thing when I was a boy. Only the rich had it then. We didn't have television, so there weren't any games to watch then. I always celebrate it in a religious way. The family always got together and we had turkey, ham, everything.

"Yep, I remember the snowstorm. I was to have a sale, and I had to put it off. I had cattle, horses, swine. Do you know where Rogers is? Well, I lived between Rogers and Lisbon. You couldn't get through there for a week.

"I thank God for everything. I thank God every day for my health that he gave me. He's a good man... God."

The Quaker would like to thank Ed, Doris, Pauline, Nellie and Charlie for their time and would like to wish everyone at Hutton's Nursing Home a happy Thanksgiving.

S.H.S. Clubs Active

by Allisa Campbell

The school year is a time for joining numerous student organizations. With the variety of clubs offered at Salem, certainly everyone can find one that holds interest for him. Here is a sampling of the activities held by the clubs at SHS.

The fastest growing club is Computer Club, advised by Mr. Bevington. The members participate in area competitions and are active mostly during the second semester.

AFS (American Field Service), advised by Mr. Monteleone and Mrs. Roberts, invited American exchange students back from foreign countries to speak to the language classes. The president is Sylvia Torti, vice-president is Sharon Bakondy, secretary is Missy Knauf, and treasurer is Eric Stephens. Upcoming activities include a Christmas party and a basketball concession stand.

Advised by Mr. Bennett, the Key Club's president is Brian Staudt, vice-president is Diana Reese, secretary is Jennifer Schlueter, treasurer is Kathy Allison, and sergeant-at-arms is Colleen Hutton. The members are active during basketball season by running a stand, giving baskets at Thanksgiving and Christmas, and setting up the blood bank. In the spring, they sponsor the John Callahan Scholarship Banquet.

The Pep Club is led by president Jeff Lynn, vice-president Amy Paxson, secretary Sue Bailey, and treasurer Gina Knight. The club is advised by Mrs. Winters and Mrs. Thomas. During football season, they were responsible for selling Quaker key chains, making the hoops for the players to run through, decorating store windows for the West Branch game, and decorating the Super Senior Hall. But, they need more members to help cheer their classmates to victory. The club is open to everyone, and freshmen are invited to join.

The Physics Unit, advised by Mr. Kibler, will be electing its officers soon. Composed of senior physics students, they possibly will take a field trip to the hospital lab and watch for the upcoming Halley's Comet.

Interact members, advised by Mr. and Mrs. Kendall, have had a hayride and helped serve at the Rotary Pancake Day. The president is Valerie Davis, vice-president is Mary Schehl, secretary is Kathleen Schmid, and treasurer is Eric Stephens. The club is planning to see the Cleveland Cavaliers play.

Headed by president Dave Schuster, vice-president Eric Stephens, secretary Gloria Buritica, and treasurer Patty Lopez, the Spanish Club has had its Halloween party. Mr. Monteleone, the club's advisor, is checking out a Mexican song and dance at Stambaugh Auditorium. The club also has a Christmas party and a Spring Banquet.

The German Club, advised by Mrs. Reed, has already had an Oktoberfest party. Its president is Willi Colbert, vice-president is Eric Grieb, secretary is Kim Evans, and treasurer is Joan Burchfield. Upcoming events include a Christmas party with caroling.

I.O.E.

The students in Steno II have just completed a telephone communications unit, and the seniors are now preparing their personal folders which include resumes, letters of application, and preparation for job interviews.

On November 20, 1985, the Intensive Office Education classes are going to Nationwide Insurance Agency to be familiarized with its business functions. The classes will leave at 9:00 A.M. and will return at 1:30 P.M. The department will eat at McDonald's for lunch.

In preparation for the Thanksgiving holiday, we are collecting canned goods, boxed goods, and donations for families who are in need.

The I.O.E. Department is having a business luncheon at the Lee Win Restaurant on December 11, 1985 at 11:30. The business luncheon will also include the installation of officers. The Accounting I class is responsible for the installation, and the Steno II class is in charge of the arrangements.

United Fund

by Amy Luttmers

Donations totaling $105,000 made this year's United Fund Drive a success. The United Fund was started primarily to support organizations such as the Red Cross, Camp Fire, and the Salvation Army. Money is also used to help the senior citizens group in Lisbon, which is almost the same as our Memorial Building. This year's goal was $125,000. At the high school the freshmen donated $65.00, sophomores $82.92, juniors $252.91, seniors $86.91, and the staff $619.00 for a total of $1,106.74. When asked what was thought of our school's support, Mr. Delane replied, "It's good that our staff and students donated over $1,000 to a good cause." This year's junior class has donated the most money for the past three years. Let's see if they can hold the top position in the United Fund Drive next year.

HAPPY THANKSGIVING

Danceline To Perform

by Julie Paumier

Music fills the air as the Salem Danceline, under the instruction of Mrs. Madison, dances into its third successful season. Criss Allio (co-captain), Sharon Bakondy (co-captain), Colleen Lora, Diane Sweeney, and Marisa Torti will provide leadership this year as returning members. Among the new faces appearing on the line are Peggy Mathes, Chris Neidhardt, Hope Shauk, and Maria Zimmann. Presently, Jill Bonfert, Beth Haschen, and Tracy McClaughlin await auditioning.

The Danceline's first performance will be to the sound of "Jingle Bell Rock" on December 20. Although appearing only three times in the high school this year, the girls are involved in numerous outside performances. Mrs. Madison said, "The Danceline will compete at the Dance Olympus in Cleveland on the 18th of January." Former dance captain and present freshman dance major at O.S.U., Carla Burson will help the girls prepare for the competition over Christmas. Placing 1st or 2nd in Cleveland would qualify the Danceline to advance to the New York competition during July. The dancers will perform the routine that was taken to the competition at S.H.S. in January. In addition, Mrs. Madison commented, "The Danceline will appear in the Christmas Parade and provide entertainment for The Columbiana County Medical Auxiliary's Beauty Pageant in April." She also noted, "Heather Horstman, Danceline mascot, will perform during these community performances."

GOOD LUCK IN YOUR UPCOMING SEASON!!!

Chris Cosgrove and Amy Breckenridge await the serve in tournament action.

Vocational School

by Michael Ketchum

Interested in a vocational trade which will enhance your future? The Alliance, Marlinton, and Salem schools offer a chance to learn a trade which can be very beneficial in today's business world.

To enter into a vocational school, students must simply fill out an application. Depending on the number of applicants, attendance records and grades will be the criteria used to fill the allotted slots. After being accepted to the school, junior students will be bused to and from the Alliance vocational school. Although students are separated from Salem schools, students are encouraged to participate in extra-curricular activities.

Classes at the vocational school not only focus on the soon to be acquired trade, the curriculum also includes one year of English, one year of United States history, and one-half year of Problems of Democracy (POD).

Classes offered at Alliance vocational school consist of auto mechanics, electronics, welding, auto body, child care, telecommunications, commercial art, and cosmetology. There are currently ten seniors enrolled in the vocational program at Alliance. Below is a list of these seniors and their field of study.

Traci Bentley	cosmetology
Scott Erskine	commercial art
Ron Ganslein	auto mechanics
Tina Garver	cosmetology
Terry Johnson	auto mechanics
Roberta Joy	cosmetology
Scott Randolph	welding
Sherry Ross	electronics
Kerry Shea	cosmetology
Martin Yerkey	welding

If you have questions regarding the Alliance vocational school, please contact Mr. Warner.

Academic Challenge

Academic Challenge consists of approximately 20 people, including coaches Mrs. May and Miss Hasson. On November 24 at 12:15, Academic Challenge will be competing in Academic Challenge competition sponsored by Channel 5. The team and alternates for this competition are as follows: Kara Flannery, Rick Watkins, Brian Gilbey, John Casey and Gary Deland. Channel 5 came on Nov. 14 to get some filming of normal everyday activity around school.

Some other competitions Academic Challenge is planning to compete in are as follows: County Bowl, State Science Olympiad, and Slippery Rock Biology Olympics.

Thanksgiving Poll

by Marilyn Welsh

Thanksgiving is right around the corner so The Quaker asked the following people what they had to give thanks for this year. Their replies were:

MICHELLE WEIKART — "For my best friend, Fish, all the parties, my senior year, and my little brother Peach."

CAROLE HLAVCAK — "My boyfriend Dale."

TRACEY CRANMER — "A job at Taco Bell."

DAWN RANDA — "My friends and family (FISH)."

RENEA HANCOCK — "Moving to Salem from Lafayette because I hated Lafayette, but I like Salem."

LISA BEILING — "I am grateful that I made it to be a senior."

MR. MORRIS — "Mr. Rottenborn."

PAM UNTCH — "My friends and I'm grateful that I am a SENIOR!!"

The Quaker wishes you a Happy Thanksgiving this year!

Part II

by Jennifer Booth

... Then they heard a thud. "Who's there?" Tom said. Tom and Rick were shaking in their shoes. "If you don't come out, we are coming in!" Rick said at the darkness. "It's just me, Roland, remember?" a voice said. Roland stepped out of the darkness. Tom noticed Roland's WALKIE-TALKIE. "Can you get help?" Tom asked. "Sure, for what?" Roland asked. "For Rio," Rick said. He turned it on. "This is Little Mac calling America," said Roland. A voice cried out, "This is America speaking. If you got Rio, I'll send some troops for you." "Ten-Four and out," said Roland. He turned it off. They saw a gleam of light coming toward them.

Rio finds that she is not on the sands any longer. She hears two men talking. One is a doctor and the other is her love J.T. She is in the hospital. "NO, YOU CAN'T SEE HER!" shouts Doctor Franklin. "Well, it seems I can't do anything right," J.T. said. "No, stop your fighting," Rio cries. Then Rio discovers a Glass Apple by the bedstand. That night Rio was talking to Mistress Grace. She is called that because she is magic. She told Rio to get rid of the glass apple because it's bad magic.

Rio didn't know what to do with it, so she asked Mistress Grace to get rid of it. Mistress Grace threw it out of the window. There was no more trouble in paradise.

Classes Roundup

by Mike Schmid

The four classes this year have some interesting, fun, and important things to do this year. Already the Freshmen have completed the General Aptitude Test Battery, the GATB. Juniors and Seniors are making plans and learning more about many colleges.

The Sophomore class recently participated in the Rotary sponsored Career Day. On Tuesday, November 12, many members of the Sophomore class had the opportunity to speak with people who are in fields which they might be interested in pursuing. The students learned first-hand what businesses and various professions are like.

The Junior class recently took the PSAT, the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test. It also serves as a National Merit Scholarship qualification test. Through this test, many colleges learn about the student's abilities and interests for college. In the coming months, members of the Junior class will receive a lot of information about colleges. Many Juniors attended the College Fair on November 4. They had the chance to ask questions and learn about colleges which they might be considering.

Student Advisory

by Donna Zorik

A new committee of students is opening communication lines in S.H.S. There is a new Student Advisory Group consisting of Nan Emch, Mike O'Brien, Chris Cosgrove, Cathy Francisco, Sylvia Torti, Tressa Turvey, and Kim Ricker. These students share thoughts and ideas with Mr. Delane and other school officials. This group meets every other week to discuss new policies, ideas of the students, changes, concerns, and questions other students have.

The idea came about from Mr. Delane and is similar to other department head concepts he thought of. This new committee is to open communication lines between the students and the school officials. He (Mr. Delane) thinks everyone has valuable ideas and is willing to listen to any that anybody has.

The Senior class is busy preparing to send college applications and choosing which school to attend. Some Seniors also attended the College Fair as well as meeting with various college representatives. A few members of the Senior class completed the ASVAB, the Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Test Battery.

In conclusion, the Seniors should be preparing to send college applications or making that all-important choice as to which vocation to select. In only a few short months it will be time to graduate.

Yearbook Announcement

by Michelle L. Yarwood

Attention students: If you did not purchase your yearbook at the tremendously low price of $17, then you, my friends, must now pay $21. You only have until Dec. 1 to get your yearbook at this price. For you procrastinators who insist upon doing (buying) things at the last possible moment you will have to pay the astounding price of $24. Yearbooks may be purchased in the cafeteria through December during 5th and 6th period. After this date you may see Mrs. Dohar in room 201. She will be happy to answer any questions you might have.

Nightmares

Part I

"It's one past 12:00," the clock said. Joe hits the clock to shut it up. Then he went back to sleep. As soon as his eyes closed, he heard digging of something. Well, he was dreaming it. The noise got louder. He saw a closed coffin. The hole was very deep. Joe thought he was dead. He saw his two best friends. His two friends were called Tom and Alannah.

He awoke to the sounds of the radio and the TV. Joe looked at his clock. It said 11:30. He yelled, "Hey, Tom and Alannah, I'm sick. So don't bother me." Tom said, "In the agreement, you pay part of the rent." Tom went in from the hall to the bedroom. "Now you get your body out of that bunkbed or else," Tom said. Joe didn't feel like eating that much. So he got out of bed and put his robe on. Then he went to the bathroom to take a shower. While Joe was getting ready for his shower, Alannah was getting the bath towels out of the dryer. Then she was making her way to the bathroom. Alannah asked, "Is there anyone in there?" "Yeah," Joe said. As the door slowly cracked open...

Varsity Football Wraps-Up

by Lee Good

Salem's varsity football team, headed by Coach Rottenborn, showed a lot of stamina during their last two games.

The Quakers ended their season at 5-5 and 3-3 in the M.V.C. The Quakers' and seniors' last home game against East Liverpool wasn't a happy farewell for the team or the seniors. Salem fell to East Liverpool 14-8. Coach Rottenborn said, "The team played well both ways: defensively, we thwarted their strong running attack; and offensively, we passed for 300 yards. We were one foot short of scoring to win the game." But this game didn't seem to worry the Quakers. The team's last game was their arch rival "WEST BRANCH." The whole week of practice was hard for the team because there was no contact allowed at all. This was so no injuries were able to pop up. The Quakers were all fired up for this game! The game's outcome was a major upset as Salem gave West Branch their first loss of the year. Coach Rottenborn said, "It was the team's finest game: defensively, we stifled their vaunted running and passing attack, while offensively we both passed and ran well." He also added, "It was certainly a memory for us — and all Salem fans — for a lifetime." "The crowd was definitely a major factor in the West Branch game, particularly when it exhorted our defense to stop West Branch in the fourth quarter. My thanks go to all the Quaker fans for that support."

The season wasn't a bad one overall. Coach Rottenborn said, "The team faced considerable adversity, but overcame it. There were many injuries, early on to key players, but we hung together and continued to improve and ultimately became a good football team." There were some high points to the season like the comeback victory in the Homecoming game vs. Canfield in overtime 26-23. But, of course, who could forget the great upset victory of previous undefeated and 5th ranked West Branch.

Wrestlers Preparing For Tough Season

by Rich Elias

The Salem Wrestlers started their 1985-86 season on Monday, November the 11th. The Quakers, under head coach Fred Kunar in his 13th year coaching, look for a much improved season over last year. The Quakers have been lifting and getting into shape to prepare for this season. The Quakers will be facing a very tough schedule this season.

I asked Coach Kunar what he felt about this coming season and he said, "The kids are working to prepare themselves for a tough season. We still have a very young team, but we will be much improved. We will be facing the toughest schedule in all of NEO."

The Quakers will be led by four seniors. They are Troy Iler, Dan Solmen, Leo Marple, and Scott Randolph. Returning lettermen will be Troy Iler, Dan Solmen, Leo Marple, Scott Randolph, Mike Lutz, Jeff Swartz, Chad Hayes, and Greg Marple.

The Quakers will have their first scrimmage on Nov. 23rd against Howland and East Liverpool here. So come out and support the Quakers as they face their tough schedule. We wish you luck.

Roundballers Off To Another Season

Boys' Basket

by Jim Bakondy

The Salem roundballers are off to another exciting season under the direction of head coach George Spack and assistant coach Jerry Allen. I recently caught up with Coach Spack and had a chance to interview him about his interesting coaching career and his thoughts on the upcoming season.

As assistant coach for four years at William and Mary, Spack helped lead the team to a victory over second-ranked North Carolina. He then found himself at the fine Salem High School where he has served one year as assistant coach and the last four years as head coach. He has an outstanding total record of 45 wins and 21 losses. He has also led his boys to two MVC championships. When asked the highlight of his Salem coaching career, Spack replied, "I would have to say it was when we upset tenth-ranked Warren Reserve."

Coach Spack is confident about the '85-'86 basketball season. This is partly because of the numerous number of open gyms he held over the past summer. They had a five day work week which consisted of three days of running and lifting and two days of actual playing. Another advantage was attending basketball camp during the summer. Their first mandatory practice was Oct. 28. Since then, they have had three scrimmages. Coach Spack gave four keys which he feels will lead the Quakers to a winning season:

- no injuries
- the few players who just finished football will have to make a quick transaction to basketball
- last year's JV players must adjust to varsity with the exception of the only returning letterman, Brad Capel
- Seniors must provide leadership

In Spack's opinion, the team has great potential for contention of the MVC championship title. Coach Spack named this year's brutes of the team as the "Bruise Brothers." They are Rich Huffman, Rich Elias, Rafal Vargas, Mike Slanker and Brett Bezeredi.

We wish the team good luck and hope to see a big turn-out at their season opener against Austintown Fitch on Nov. 30.

Girls' Basketball

by Mark McCartney

The girls' varsity basketball team will enter the '85-'86 season under the leadership of 8th year head coach Craig Readshaw. Coach Readshaw said that he looks for a very successful and productive season, although the team is very young with only three seniors returning, Cathy Francisco, Jenny Gow and Sabrina Wilms. "The team really blends together. Everyone is excited about the upcoming season," said senior Cathy Francisco. Junior guard Chris Cosgrove said, "The team really gets along and it should show on the court."

One of this season's goals for Coach Readshaw and the girls is to win the M.V.C. title. Another of the goals Coach Readshaw has set is to defeat Canfield, which the girls have not done for the last five years. This year's major strength is the team's height and the major weakness is the team's depth off the bench. Members of the '85-'86 varsity squad include Seniors Cathy Francisco, Jenny Gow, and Sabrina Wilms; Juniors Dena Hartman, Chris Cosgrove, and Kim Evans; and Sophomores Michelle Baker and Amy Breckenridge.

Coach Shane Franks enters his 6th season as the head coach of the J.V.'s. Coach Franks feels that this will be a successful season with the young talent he has. He also feels that the team is deeper in all positions than in the past. "This year's team has good athletes that hopefully will develop into basketball players. Coach Franks' goal is to win the M.V.C. for the third consecutive year. This year's team includes Sophomores Melinda Wilms, Tara Zeigler, Gretchen Schlueter, Lisa Reed and Marcia Danklef; Freshmen Stephanie Headland, Julie Ehrhart, Beth Breckenridge, Andrea Engle, Jennifer Herron, Pam Cosgrove, Molly Crawford and Tiffany Tepsic. "This is the hardest working team I ever had," said Coach Franks.

The girls open with Beaver Local on Thursday, November 21 at home. Let's wish the Quakers GOOD LUCK! throughout the 1985-1986 season.

Quakers Are High

by Jeff Lynn

Just as SHS spirit seemed to be at an ebb tide, someone opened the flood gates and Quaker Pride flowed forth uncontrollably.

School spirit was somewhat like a bad roller coaster ride for most of the football season reaching small peaks one week and drifting to valleys the next. However, spirit week began a climb that took Quaker Pride higher than it had been all year. The week ended with a pep assembly in which student enthusiasm was nothing short of spectacular. The pep rally and bonfire were icing on the cake. By Friday, all of us going to the West Branch game had every intention of coming home winners, and that's what we did. The Quakers not only won the game on the field, but also in the stands where decibel levels soared throughout the game.

It was that sort of school spirit that Quaker fans took to last year's basketball games. One might recall that Salem had an incredible season last year which included winning the MVC title outright. Some coaches of opposing teams said that they didn't like to play Salem not only because of its talent on the court, but also because of its powerful crowd support.

SHS spirit hit a very high note at the end of the football season. It is up to us to see to it that we start basketball season on that same note.
