Smith's original work opens Paralympic Winter Games

Versatile composer, conductor's interest ranges from rock to symphonic

By Lois Firestone ('50)

When the brassy fanfare erupted, heralding the opening ceremony of the VIII Paralympic Winter Games March 7 in Salt Lake City, the music's composer was following every nuance of tone and meaning of his original concepts from his seat in the Olympics stadium.

Greg Smith's theme, "The Spirit Within," underlining the athletes' discipline, determination and triumph, began the two-hour extravaganza which opened the Paralympics competition for 430 athletes from 36 countries with a functional physical disability.

Competition is heavy, because many of the people vying in the games were athletic competitors in various sports before they were disabled. An elite, world class and well-trained group of challenged athletes take part.

Greg's composition was a musical panorama of the west, telling the story of its mountains, valleys and streams and its animal inhabitants and people.

The Utah Symphony performed the music, along with a 150-voice choir comprised of Utah college students. Greg composed an arrangement of the national anthem for the choir, which is heralded by trumpets. Utah resident Donny Osmond sang Greg's centerpiece song, "Inspire the Spirit" which was written with lyricist Sarah Weeks. Among the musical presentations was an ice skating ballet choreographed by Jo Jo Starbuck.

Greg composes his music in a quiet, isolated studio in Iron Canyon in the Santa Clarita Valley - "the only sounds are the computer and the birds," he says.

Greg Smith performs "Mr. Smith's Composition" with the Baltimore Symphony in April 2001.

Greg and his wife, the former Betty Migliarini, have lived in California for nearly 10 years, and are pleased they made the move from Manhattan where they lived for 11 years. The couple has three boys, Derrick, 16; Brian, 14; and Kevin, 7. "We were discouraged by the day-to-day crimes in New York; then we came out here to LA and it's been a good move. This is one of the three major cities for film and television work; the other two are New York and Nashville."

Because he's versatile and can do a variety of composing work, Greg is a busy man. A self-described "severely eclectic" composer, he is as comfortable with rock and roll as he is with symphonic music. His professional experience covers the entire range of the musical world from serious chamber music to Broadway to movie scores. His television music can be heard on all the major networks as well as stations around the world.

His current television credits include the regal ESPN College Football Theme, the edgy theme to "On the Inside" for the Discovery Channel and the newsy theme for "Market Week" on CNBS. Greg has scored episodes of the various "Star Trek" television series and arranged and conducted the theme for "Seven Days" on the Paramount Network. He has arranged and conducted songs for the Disney animated features, "Pooh's Grand Adventure" and "Pocohantas II, Journey to a New Land." Enjoying a long association with the Walt Disney company, he has served as composer and arranger for numerous productions at Disney theme parks around the world.

For Warner Brothers, he composed and orchestrated animation music for "Animaniacs," "Tweety and Sylvester Mysteries," "Pinky and the Brain" and "Road Rovers." His broadcast music credits include promotional music for WCBS, Headline News, Showtime, HBO, RTL in Germany, Sky TV in the United Kingdom and jingles and underscores for Kodak, AT & T, American Express, Mattel, Disney and others.

As a conductor, Greg has recorded with the London Symphony Orchestra, San Francisco Ballet, Utah Symphony and Seattle Symphony, as well as numerous studio orchestras in New York and Los Angeles.

His concert works include orchestral, orchestral with narrator, choral and pops works. His Young People's Concert-Educational Works have been performed by the Boston Symphony, Pittsburgh Symphony, Atlanta Symphony, Cincinnati Symphony, Rochester Philharmonic, the Minnesota Orchestra and numerous others. His "A Major-Minor Mystery" is an exploration of music's major and minor tonalities disguised as a "whodunnit;" "Zoo Song" is the adventure of a young girl's first trip to the zoo; "The Orchestra Games" has audiences cheering their favorite musical instruments in competitions, illustrating music's basic elements. Often, perhaps half a dozen times a year, Greg personally attends the concerts.

A 1976 Salem High School graduate, Greg is an honors graduate of the Dana School of Music. He is the son of Jeanine and Dan Smith of Salem, and Betty Smith is the daughter of Elsie and Enio Migliarini of Bowling Green.

Dr. William E. Ward III is named Alumnus of the Year

Dr. William E. "Bill" Ward III '46 has been named Alumnus of the Year by the association and was honored at the annual alumni scholarship awards dinner at Timberlanes on June 1.

Association President Jeffrey M. Zimmerman was the master of ceremonies, and the Class of 1952 was honored on its 50th year.

Bill served as chair of the Southern Group on Student Affairs, a consortium of 40 medical schools, retiring after 21 years. Following his retirement he was appointed associate dean emeritus at the College of Medicine at Texas A & M University where he was a professor of physiology and associate dean of student affairs.

Since his retirement, Bill has supported a local medical clinic whose mission is to provide free health care to people and families who can't afford health insurance.

Born in Salem, he received his early education at McKinley School, the Fourth Street Junior High School, and the "old" high school. He lettered in football and track and was captain of the track team his senior year. Bill received a bachelor's degree in zoology from Ohio University and a master's degree in marine ecology from Duke University. He taught and coached at West Georgia College in Carrollton, Georgia and served as dean of men there.

He entered the Air Force in 1955, and during his career with the Air Force, he was a site physiologist at Cape Canaveral for the chimpanzee flights of the Project Mercury Astronaut Program. Assigned as an instructor at the U. S. Air Force Academy, he was selected for PhD training in physiology which he received from Kent State University in 1967.

For seven years, he was the pre-medical advisor at the Air Force Academy, and retired as a lieutenant colonel with the academic rank of tenure professor.

A volunteer for the American Diabetes Association, Bill held several positions in the organization, including chair of the Texas Affiliate to membership on the national board of directors.

Locally he served as president of the Opera and Performing Arts Society, a group dedicated to providing subscription concerts of world class musicians and actors for the university and surrounding community. He also served as president of the Bryan Rotary Club and was a certified track and field official for Texas A & M University.

Bill and his wife, Elizabeth, reside in Bryan, Texas, where they have been active members of the St. Andrews Episcopal Church for 27 years. The couple are the parents of five children, six grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Dr Jim Hurlburt retires after 37 years as physician

Dr. Jim Hurlburt '51 who has practiced internal medicine/cardiology in Winter Park, Florida for 37 years, retired in December. One of his colleagues, Dr. Richard J. Bagby paid tribute to Jim in his column, "My Word" in the Winter Park newspaper on Dec. 27.

Referring to him as "one of the finest physicians in Central Florida," Bagby writes that "no longer will his quick and gentle smile be there to comfort the thousands upon thousands of us patients he has cared for these 37 years. No longer will he call us, after our physicals are completed, and discuss, in detail, the results of this year's exam. No longer will he provide us with complete medicine, assessing not only our laboratory data and our physical exams but also our emotional psyches and unhealthy life practices."

"His patients have been a privileged lot. In many ways, we have felt like part of a large family. We have been treated by him, nourished by him, made healthier by him and loved by him. There is simply no finer physician around."

Hobby Airport and Ellington Field.

Richard Vacar '64

Prior to his early 1998 appointment, Rick served three months as acting director of the Houston Airport System, after nearly two and a half years as the department's deputy director of aviation/chief operating officer. He has served as executive director of Florida's Sarasota Manatee Airport Authority and as deputy director of operations and noise/environmental manager of the Burbank-

Over 300 aviation-related businesses are also members of the association.

Tribute to a beloved music teacher

Veteran music teacher Betty Hofmeister died in January at the age of 83, and John E. Fitch has scribed a poetic tribute.

By John E. Fitch

It's time for music class at McKinley Elementary School and my fifth grade class is seated, waiting for the music to begin.

I don't remember that morning, having breakfast with Mom and Dad and sister and brothers up at 1544 East Third Street - all cozy in our loving 1950 serenity, but I probably did.

I don't remember whether I rode my maroon and cream Schwinn bike down Third to Highland to Cleveland and to the waiting bicycle rack, but no doubt I did.

I don't remember which coat I hung up on the ornate protruding wrought iron hook in the separate cloak room.

And I don't remember specifically who was sitting to my right or left in music class, although fondness fills me now for all there that day.

We were waiting, I remember, for the music to begin. You don't have real music, you know, until it arrives. Sometimes, these days, alas, it's slow in coming, and sometimes it doesn't come at all.

But that day in 1950 at McKinley grade school in the fifth grade, the music came as we sat waiting.

Lovely, she swept through the door, gleaming red hair and flowing flowery dress, grand entry graciously accomplished. Cosmic sparks of radiant musicality flashed from her contagious, vivacious smile. Joy flowed from her every happy gesture as she approached her piano with such inviting anticipation that we were all instantly captured by the great, gentle, splendid net with which the music would combine us.

She played on while we sang and never since has anyone else quite rolled out the notes just so and caused them to fall with that unmistakable bouquet unique to Betty Hofmeister at the piano. She could turn a machine made of wood and ivory and metal strings into a living thing that made our hearts dance in tune with all goodness and joy.

Yes, the music came to school that day, when God's Good News Angel arrived to turn a forgettable day away from oblivion. We sang and laughed and stopped the hands on the big clock of time just a moment - never to be forgotten when Betty brought the music.

Former band members create scholarship for Howard Pardee

By Mary Mercer Krogness '56

Howard "Doc" Pardee was quite a guy, a one-in-a-million teacher and band director; he was a stellar person with a presence. And along with all that, he was really, really cute!

If we, his students weren't strong or earnest musicians at the start, Doc supported us in doing some serious "wood-shedding" (his word) at home. When Doc Pardee picked up his baton at precisely 7 p.m. at our weekly Wednesday night band rehearsals, our horns were already warmed up and at our lips, poised ready to play. But, oh, horrors. If someone dared to straggle in even a few minutes late, Doc brought down his baton without a sound and waited. None of us even considered laughing or rolling our eyes during those few tense moments. Not even sizzling romances between band members stood in the way of band practice. It was no accident, then, that Doc's concert bands customarily received a rating of one at state band contests.

Doc Pardee's students and their parents loved and respected him; so did his colleagues on the national scene who acknowledged Doc as one of America's Ten Most Outstanding Music Directors.

More than a year ago I talked with Doc about my dream: To create this band scholarship in his name, and then I kept him posted every inch of the way. Doc's scholarship fund, which has been gaining momentum, currently stands at $27,000 even before pledge cards have been mailed. May we join together in keeping Howard "Doc" Pardee's spirit alive and well by reaching deep in our pockets and contributing generously. Awards, of course, will be given to graduating Salem High seniors who intend to make music their career, while it also supports freshmen, sophomores and juniors who would benefit from attending summer music camp or taking private music lessons.

On Friday, October 11, the kick-off party for the Howard "Doc" Pardee Band Scholarship Fund will take place at an after-game celebration at Karen and Bob Sebo's home immediately following the homecoming game. On Saturday, October 12, lunch will be served at noon in the high school cafeteria.

Jerry Wolford and Richard Theiss will present their documentary of Doc on Saturday, while his daughter, Lorraine Pardee Bell will make available a CD she's been working on. Readers can tune in to her web site www.pardeefund.org.

Thanks for the helping hand with addresses

A big thanks one more time for all of you who let this office know of address changes. Whether you send it via email, or call, or use "snail" mail, every correct address saves us money in newsletter returns. We spend about $1200 sending out the newsletters twice a year, and another $300 or $400 on returns.

And funds for our scholarships is our only purpose! Whether you help us provide those funds by giving a memorial for a close friend, family member or classmate, or make a contribution to offset the newsletter and office costs, it all furthers our mission of raising scholarship money for our Salem High School graduating seniors.

Gifts can be given that not only further the mission of the Alumni Association but also help you with year-end tax breaks. The government allows unlimited gifts to non-profit organizations such as the Salem High School Alumni Association. More and more charitable gifts are made with non-cash assets, such as stocks of publicly traded companies or shares of mutual funds. The appreciated value of a stock that may be paying low dividends can be "unlocked" through the use of various charitable gift techniques. Remember that appreciated property such as stock or mutual fund shares makes an ideal way to fund the scholarship awards made by the Salem High School Alumni Association. Gifts must be made by December 31 in the tax year for which you plan to take the deduction.

'63 class seeks addresses

Class of 1966 promotes drive to endow scholarship

The Class of 1966 recently kicked off an ambitious fundraising drive to endow a scholarship in the name of the class through the alumni association.

Each association scholarship requires a $100,000 endowment to support an annual award of $5,000 in perpetuity. The class goal is to raise the $100,000 via pledges over the next five years, culminating with a celebration at their 40th class reunion in 2006.

Commenting on the early results, Class President Joe Shivers says, "I am delighted with the level of enthusiasm shown by the early responses. One classmate has offered to match other gifts, and to match at a $2 for $1 rate if 100 or more classmates participate.

"Twenty two classmates have responded so far, and, with gifts and five-year pledges, we have an early total of $13,400. We are well on our way to our goal! I want to extend my thanks to everyone who has contributed; this is a remarkable start that should rally the rest of our classmates to help make this fund drive a total success."

Graystar benefits association, clients

The Alumni of the Salem High School Alumni Association have joined together to support our long distance calling program to produce profit for our Association in the amount of about $50 per month. Graystar Communications refunds 5% per month once the non-profit group billing reaches $1000 a month. For the first time, our billing reached the magic number in August of 2001 and we received a check from Graystar every month since then. A big thank you to all of you who have already joined with us and an invitation to those of you who have not yet "taken the plunge", to give it a try.

The state-to-state rates are 4.9 cents per minute for both long distance and toll-free number calls, 5.9 cents within Ohio, calling card calls are 12.9 cents per minute with no access charges, and still six second billing increments on all calls (30 second minimum). We really feel that this six second billing increment is what produces the tremendous savings on our phone bills. However, there is a $2.95 monthly fee, which is waived in any month your monthly usage is $25 or more. You can receive the lowest long distance rates available and every call you make supports the Salem High School Alumni Association. Call us here at the office on our toll-free number, 1-877-332-1427 for more information or an application. Many grads tell us that this program has really helped their bottom line!!!

This and that from the Alumni

Janet Pierce of Bay Village writes to inform readers of the death of her mother, Beatrice Elizabeth Hersman Pierce '40 at the age of 80, on December 12, 2001. Her mother enjoyed getting together with former classmates during the reunions she attended, and Janet says she attended every reunion the Class of 1940 held. Beatrice's husband, Huntley Pierce resides at 1498 Saunders Drive, Wooster Ohio 44691.

Former Salem High School coach Earle Bruce has been named to the College Football Hall of Fame and will be inducted at a dinner Dec. 10 at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York City.

Andrew J. Parlantieri Sr. '47 is an admirer of Helen Hayes, alumni office coordinator and the volunteers who assist Helen in the operation. Because of their help and the help of his cousin, Rebecca Guappone in California, he has downloaded the newsletter in its entirety.

Donald F. Milligan '42 of Coronado,

California writes that he's saddened to hear of the death of Bob Dixon: "I can remember him in our high school days as a strong advocate for sports. Although physically slight, he was still able to participate in all the intramural sports the school had. He was a tough competitor no matter what."

Mary Lou Wiggers Jackson '37 enjoyed a long friendship with Bob Dixon: "I met Bob in 1958 when I worked at the soda fountain at Lease's Drug Store. He came in for a daily cherry coke. I left to go to nurse's training. Bob took over my job shortly after until he went to Utah. I had the pleasure of corresponding with him in January 1995 and brought up to date on his life. A great guy."

Lou Slaby, the association Outstanding Alumnus for 2000, was presented the Distinguished American Award by the Passaic County Chapter of the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame at the 27th annual scholar-athlete awards dinner on May 1.

African American slave stories published in book

Research on the African Americans who settled in Salem during the 19th and 20th centuries began on February 26, 1994, and the compilation of this study resulted in a book, completed in July 2001. "People of Courage, African Americans in Salem, Ohio" was written by the African American History Project Research Committee.

Stories and photographs of over 30 families are contained in the book which relates the true tales of escapees from bondage, freed slaves or freed men and their families settled in Salem and the surrounding areas during the 19th and 20th centuries.

The committee is comprised of Margaret Nace Starbuck, Carmelia Hardy Alexander, Mary Alice Nace Alexander, Wilma S. Bingham Carter, Frances Stallings Davidson, Minnie Huddleston Kirksey, Vivian Ormes Jackson Mason, Ardora Huddleston Montford and Louise Bingham Proctor

To purchase the book, send a check or money order for $14.95 to the Institute of African American Affairs, Department of Pan-African Studies, Attn. Jacqueline F. Rowser, Kent State University, Kent Ohio 44242-0001.

Salem officials lauded for excellence in financial reporting

Three Salem High School graduates are instrumental in attaining for the city of Salem an Auditor's Award for Excellence in Financial Reporting from Ohio State Auditor Jim Petro. City Auditor Jim Armeni '78 was recognized in February by local officials and residents in an informal presentation and get together in City Council chambers. Armeni's office which includes Deputy Auditor Barb Hasson '65 and Assistant Sue Laughlin received the Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting from the Government Finance Officers Association of the United States and Canada. The award was the first-ever comprehensive annual financial report for the fiscal year ending Dec. 31, 2000. Salem is the first government entity in Columbiana County to receive the award and was the first to file the financial report. The GFOA certificate is awarded to local governments that publish a comprehensive annual financial report, meeting its high standards. The GFOA, a non-profit organization, serves government finance professional groups throughout North America.

"I am very pleased," Petro said, "that the city of Salem has attained the highest standards possible in the area of government accounting and financial reporting. Jim Armeni, his staff and all city officials are to be commended for their fine work in presenting a clear view of city financial affairs."

Another Salem High graduate, Mayor Larry DeJane '60 is active in community affairs in Salem.

Shones ministry work takes them around the world

Robert Shone '59 and his wife, Carol Ann Burfield '60 Shone operate Robert Shone Ministries International based in Dallas, Texas. Bob was vice president of Quaker Castings in Salem and the couple resided in a home on Quaker Lane in the early 1990s when they believed God was leading them into full time ministry. They left Salem and went to the Christ for the Nations Institute in Dallas in 1993.

As part of their work, the Shones take students on short-term summer mission trips every year - this year, they traveled to Brazil for 12 days and left May 12 for the British Isles for a summer mission outreach.

More alumni notes

Cathy McKinley '68 writes that a coordinator is needed to plan for the 35th reunion of the Class of 1968 in 2003. "After serving several years as chairman of this event," Cathy says "we are in need of someone to step up and take over coordinating this event. Materials are available to aid whoever decides to take on this responsibility and I will be willing to help from the sidelines. If you are interested call the alumni office or contact me directly, Cathy McCaffrey McKinley, 330-332-8412, or e-mail me cmck1232@raex.com."

Patricia Ross French '56 of Chevy Chase, Maryland is enjoying the newsletter: "Thanks to Lois Firestone for so ably and faithfully writing the newsletter, which reminds so many of us of our roots and our gratitude for Salem memories!"

Dorothy Pozniko Beam '52 of Mithersville, Pa. writes that "the alum newsletter means a great deal to me and renews my ties to my roots in Salem. I appreciated the SHS alumni scholarship in 1952, and the Alumnus of the Year Award in 1981."

Credit Card Contributions

For all our grads who have inquired about making contributions via a credit card, we should have in place by July 1, 2002 the ability to take contributions via a credit card both here in the office or over the phone. Check with us at 1-330-332-1427.

Bob wrote about their experiences in war-torn and flood-ravaged Mozambique in 2001 in an article entitled, "Three Weeks in the Bush" in the November issue of Christ for the Nations magazine.

When we announced the three-week mission trip to the student body, about 65 students told me they had a call to this land. During our preparatory meetings, we had about 55 students learning the language, making plans to raise money and seeking God's will in the matter. However, as they heard how difficult the trip would be and realized what modern conveniences would be lacking, the majority withdrew. Those who were left knew that we would have, at best, bush or pit toilets, bucket showers and roots and leaves to eat. Nevertheless, 15 brave students committed themselves to a soul-winning adventure for the Kingdom of God. There was much preparation...The preparation paid dividends - the team never grumbled or complained (that I heard). When tents were missing on the first night in Mozambique, we slept on the beach under the stars. Bless God it was not raining!

Another memorable incident occurred as a team member was spending quiet time along with God and

Steve Maenz retires from Marine Corps

Gunnery Sgt. Steve Maenz '81, of 112 Clore Drive, Strafford, Virginia 22554, recently retired from the Marine Corps following 20 years of service. Steve, who is currently working at Andrews Air Force Base, and his wife, Lori have three children, Kevin, Kelsie and Connor. He is the son of Kitty and Miles McDevitt of Salem and Ernie and Diane Maenz of Salem.

Following boot camp at Parris Island, South Carolina in 1982, Steve served at MCAS Kopeake Bay, Hawaii and in 1983 was sent to Beruit with HMM165. He was in Okinawa, Japan with HMM268 in 1986 and was then transferred to HMX-1 Presidential Helicopter Squadron at Quantico, Virginia, serving Presidents Ronald Reagan, George Bush, Bill Clinton and George W. Bush.

her guitar. Before she knew it, about 50 villagers, fascinated by the instrument, gathered around her, watching and listening. When she ran out of songs and realized the people were not going away, she called for help. I started to sing a song in the Shona language that I had learned about 20 years ago. The people were amazed and joined in, singing the song over and over until one of the villagers indicated she wanted to learn the song in English. We must have sung that song 50 more times in English! A barrier was brought down through the music and the team won the confidence of the villagers. For days following, we could hear the villagers singing the song in English. These events and many like them indelibly imprinted Mozambique on our hearts.

Class Ring collection

We are working on a collection of class rings...it began with a couple of lost class rings. Trying as hard as we could, we never were able to find the owners...the early rings are beautiful, and easy to think of as a collection because there was just one for the whole class. The later ones are more difficult because the students individualize them. Just last year we got a call saying they had found a 1940 class ring...had these initials they thought...BLB or BRB or BKB...it was really worn...so we looked in the '40 annual, thought it might be these possibilities...several '40's grads are still trying to find the owner. And the year before that, someone brought in a ring, we checked the annual, called the only possibility, and he was at the office inside the hour...delighted to have his ring back. At the moment we have rings from 29, 32, 39, 41, 43, 44, 45, 65, 72, 74, 79, and 90, some of which have been sent in to bolster our collection, and several are lost and have not yet found their way home. If your ring needs a permanent home away from home, let us know. We are going to need to find some kind of display case soon!!
