Health officials plead for levy at meeting

By MARY ANN GREIER

Staff Writer

LISBON - The new chairman of the Columbiana County Health Board opened the meeting Wednesday with a plea to voters to support renewal of the .2-mill, 10-year cancer detection clinic levy on the ballot next week.

"There's not a better value for your tax dollar than this levy," chairman Shawn Apple said, noting the average cost of about $4.50 per year for many property owners.

Apple said he was personally involved last year when he had a free PSA screening for prostate cancer. He referred to the way Health Commissioner Wes Vins always stresses how the cancer clinic saves lives, adding that peace of mind is worth something, too.

He also said he didn't think residents realized that services are free.

"How can you beat that?" he asked.

COLUMBIANA COUNTY

"This clinic is here for all the residents," Vins said, regardless of income or insurance.

County Commissioner Penny Traina attended the meeting to thank the board for their efforts in everything they do, voice her support for the cancer clinic levy and reiterate the importance of the 1 percent sales tax, which is also up for renewal next

She told board members the 1 percent sales tax represents 44 percent of the general fund, which is the fund used to run county government from the sheriff's office to the treasurer to the courts. If it doesn't pass in May, there will be a funding gap created of about four months. The gap would likely grow the longer it takes to get vised the board there were 43 new patients in the first three months of the year in the cancer detection clinic, demonstrating the great need that exists for the clinic.

"I think it's absolutely critical," Vins said, outlining its importance to families for early detection.

Residents in the cities of East Liverpool, Salem and East Palestine don't vote on the cancer levy because they're not part of the general health district. They each have their own health districts, but their residents aren't turned away from the cancer clinics. Grant money helps pay for mammograms for women outside of the general health district. Donations help pay for some of the other services for people outside the district.

Board member Dave Rose mentioned the fact that a PSA screening for prostate cancer costs a lot more than $4.50 in a doctor's office.

Salem 911 hung up by power problem

By TOM GIAMBRONI

LISBON - A back-up generator at the Salem Police Department failed to generate consistent voltage to keep the 911 system operating for 97 minutes after power was knocked out during a recent thunder-

"The (911) calls were automatically rerouted to the Columbiana Police Department and not a single call was missed," said Bob Emmons, Columbiana County 911 director, speaking during Wednesday's 911 committee meet-Emmons said when electric service to the police department was knocked out by the March 21 thunderstorm, the generator automatically activated but produced power fluctuations that interfered with operation of the 911 system. Once the 911 back-up batteries were depleted, the system automatically began directing 911 calls to Columbiana dispatchers, who advised Salem police.

"The system worked exactly the way it was supposed to," Emmons said.

Salem lost 911 from 1:03 a.m. to 2:40 a.m. before temporary power was restored to the system until commercial electric service from Ohio Edison resumed at 4:38 a.m.

Emmons said the problem stemmed from power fluctuations coming from the generator, and Salem's maintenance workers determined it could be corrected by adding two voltage regulating systems. Emmons exercised emergency authority and ordered the purchase of the two systems for $2,840 using 911 funds.

"That's a much cheaper solution than purchasing a See 911, 5A

Wilson introduces bill to make bidding process fairer

By TOM GIAMBRONI

Staff Writer

LISBON - A local company's failed attempt to land a government contract has served as the impetus behind legislation designed to make the bidding process fairer for subcontractors.

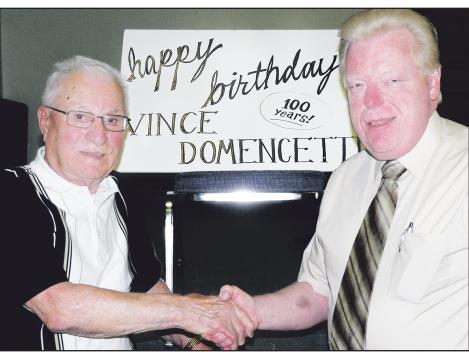

U.S. Rep. Charles Wilson Jr. announced Tuesday introduction of a House bill he says will improve transparency and accountability in the federal procurement process by requiring general contractors on government jobs to follow the same standards when hiring subcontractors.

The bill is named "Summitville Procurement Protection Act" after the Summitville Tiles Co., which lost out on a contract to supply exterior wall tile for an elementary school being built by the U.S. Army at Fort Bragg, N.C. The general contractor for the project selected a German tile manufacturer and wasn't required to explain why.

Summitville Tiles CEO David W. Johnson said the general contractor decided to award a no-bid contract to the German firm before his company could even submit a bid. Johnson said the $250,000 contract would have helped him retain 22 workers that were laid off afterward.

Wilson, in a news release issued by his staff, said Summitville Tiles was never allowed to submit a formal bid under the informal rules of the subcontracting process and

Kopachy staying put at Salem

Football coach discussed job at Louisville, but will remain a Quaker

By TONY MALUSO Stafff Writer

SALEM – After looking into the vacant head football coaching position at Louisville high school, Mike

Kopachy has decided to stay at Salem as head coach of the Quakers. Kopachy's name was released on Friday in the Canton Repository as one of six candidates for the job. He spoke with Louisville on Monday and quickly decided not to further pursue the position. Kopachy says he did not actively pursue the job but was asked to send in an application.

"After a candid discussion with Rich Venuto, athletic director of Louisville, we both determined it best that I remain a Salem Quaker," Kopachy said in a statement to the Salem News. "At this time, we are both in different places of what we would need to be good fit. I wanted to make it clear that I didn't go seek out this job or another job. It, namely some LHS boosters - who were not on the hiring committee - found me."

Kopachy will return for his second season with the Quakers. He guided the team last season, coming off an 0-10 year, to a 9-3 record and the school's first ever trip to the playoffs.

Louisville is a member of the Northeastern Buckeye Conference that Salem will also join starting in the Fall of 2011. They have won the league title in football the past two seasons.

Kopachy says he was not looking for jobs and only decided to put in for the position at Louisville after being asked by people close to the program. Kopachy has not applied or talked to anyone involved with any other coaching openings.

'When some influential people ask you to hear what they had to say you listen," Kopachy said. "You never

James puzzled by elbow injury

Numbness seemingly unexplainable

By TOM WITHERS

CLEVELAND — LeBron ambidexterity James' makes him special, perhaps the most skilled basketball player on the planet.

James can drive, dribble and create with either hand. It's not widely known that James writes with his left. He never shoots free throws that way. He did Tuesday.

Bothered by a puzzling injury that numbs his elbow, James curiously launched and missed a free throw left-handed in the closing seconds of Cleveland's 96-94 playoff win over Chicago, adding some unexpected late-night

someone had driven off without paying for $35 worth of fuel. A man came to the police station at 9:32 a.m. Sunday to report someone had ordered DSL service for his mother last fall without her consent.

• Teresa Hively, East Palestine, was cited for following too closely at 5:24 p.m. Friday on state Route 14 after her westbound vehicle struck the rear of a stopped vehicle driven by Michelle Pierce, Lisbon, pushing Pierce's vehicle into the rear of a stopped vehicle driven by Anita Cusick, East Palestine.

• A Dutch Haus employee reported at 7:38 p.m. Friday that people who were suspected for having shoplifted there in the past were in the restaurant. An officer stopped their vehicle on state Route 46, received consent to search the vehicle and found no Dutch Haus items. An officer warned the people for criminal trespassing for being at Das Dutch Haus and Rite Aid.

• A Save-A-Lot employee reported at 9:31 p.m. Friday that a woman may have been shoplifting.

 A caller reported at 9:27 p.m. Friday that a possibly intoxicated driver was heading south on state Route 46. Officers stopped the vehicle and found the driver was not intoxicated but warned him for reckless operation and a tail lights violation.

• A caller reported at 9:07 p.m. Saturday that a possibly intoxicated driver was driving east on state Route 14. Police located the vehicle on Stanton Avenue and determined the driver was tired but not intoxicated.

• Police at 7:40 p.m. Friday responded to a report of a man having a bonfire on South Main Street. Police spoke with the man, who was burning wood for a cooking fire with no excessive smoke, provided a copy of the burning ordinance and told him to keep the fire within the ordinance's limitations.

 A Tic-Toc employee at 6:52 a.m. Saturday responded to a report of a suspicious vehicle parked blocking the parking lot. Officers found a man in the vehicle was talking on his cell phone and was oblivious to his surroundings.

· A woman reported at 10 p.m. Saturday that her baby's father would not give their baby's possessions to her

• The Ohio State Highway Patrol reported at 3:06 a.m. Sunday that a man was walking on state Route 14. Police located the man, who was walking back to Enon Valley, Pa., from Salem, where friends had left him. A Highway Patrol officer transported the man to the state line.

 An officer at 10:44 p.m. Saturday found four people playing hide and seek at Firestone Funland and told them to leave.

 An officer at 7:21 p.m. Sunday located two people at Firestone Funland after hours. The people decided to leave.

• A caller reported at 2:17 p.m. Friday that vehicles were going too fast on North Middle Street. An officer spoke with a vehicle owner and informed him of the complaint.

 A man reported at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday that someone in a gray car was driving very slowly around The Links at Firestone Farms. Police checked the area and found the vehicle was gone and everything was fine.

NEW WATERFORD

• Tim Harrison, who operates Haps Bar, reported at 12:55 a.m. Sunday that an unruly man had been escorted from the bar and had left the scene. Upon investigation, police learned the identities of two men involved in a minor physical altercation in the bar. The officer contacted them and they said they had only been in a minor pushing match.

• Police at 8:30 p.m. April 21 responded to a report of a fight at the Eagles Club and witnessed two men arguing. An officer identified one man as a trustee of the Eagles, who was telling the other man to leave. The man agreed to leave after gathering some of his property. While outside, he told the officer they were having a bi-monthly meeting and he had questioned how much of an insurance claim the Eagles reported as a result of a former bartender's suspected theft of money from the club, which upset some people and they asked him to leave. He said they accused him of profanity but he did not swear at all. The officer spoke with people inside the club, who said during the meeting that the man brought up a problem with his ex-girlfriend, who has a restraining order against him, and how he is always forced to leave if he shows up and she is already there. They said the discussion then became more heated and he started using vulgarities. They also told an officer the man's son is dating the former bartender who is accused of stealing from the club's safe. The trustee said the man will most likely be suspended from the club for 60 days.

 A Pinewood Drive woman reported at 7:01 p.m. April 19 that a man she knows had been sending her numerous text messages because he was trying to use up all her texting minutes on her pre-paid cell phone. She said some texts were blank, some contained vulgar names or threats that he would harm himself and some came from his brother's phone. As an officer spoke with her, her phone was constantly going off with only a few seconds between each text message. An officer spoke with the man over a land-line telephone and he said he had bought the minutes for her and she had stolen his possessions. The officer told him because she is in possession of the phone and he was clearly harassing her, he would have to cease communication with her or face criminal charges.

 A caller reported at 12:33 a.m. Sunday that there was a possible domestic dispute with loud noises in a Pinewood Drive apartment. Upon investigation, an officer learned the noise was just from a couple being intimate.

Cleanup crews to set fire to massive oil spill in Gulf

OVER THE GULF OF MEXICO (AP) - It's a hellish scene: Giant sheets of flame racing across the Gulf of Mexico as thick, black smoke billows high into sky.

This, though, is no Hollywood acion movie. It's the real-life plan to be deployed just 20 miles from the Gulf Coast in a last-ditch effort to burn up an oil spill before it could wash ashore and wreak environmental hav-

The Coast Guard planned to use hand-held flares to set fire to sections of the massive spill. Crews turned to the technique after failing to stop a 1,000-barrel-a-day leak at the spot where a deepwater oil platform exploded and sank.

A 500-foot boom was to be used to corral several thousand gallons of the thickest oil on the surface, which will then be towed to a more remote area, set on fire, and allowed to burn for about an hour.

The Coast Guard initially said the fires would be started by midday, but officials later postponed the operation until late afternoon or early evening.

About 42,000 gallons of oil a day are leaking into the Gulf from the blown-out well drilled by the Deepwater Horizon oil rig. Eleven workers are missing and presumed dead. The cause of the explosion has not been determined.

UK's Brown calls voter a 'bigoted woman'

LONDON (AP) – Britain's Prime Minister blundered into the first major gaffe in his country's short campaign season Wednesday when an open microphone captured him slamming a voter he'd just been trying to win over. Brown, apparently forgetting that he'd left a television microphone pinned to his chest, called 66-year-old Gillian Duffy a "bigoted woman" as he was being driven from a public meeting where she had needled him on immigration.

Within minutes the bad-tempered aside had exploded across the British media, and within a couple of hours Brown was rushing back to her home to beg Duffy's forgiveness and writing to his supporters to make clear he'd apologized.

All the rest of the country could do was look on as the cringe-inducing drama played out over television and radio. The debacle dealt Brown a big setback on the eve of the last TV debate ahead of the May 6 vote.

Duffy, a retired widow and a selfdescribed supporter of Brown's Labour party, met with the prime minister at a campaign stop in the northern town of Rochdale and questioned him about the influx of eastern European immigrants who have come to Britain.

High court suggests greater lenience for religious symbols on public land

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court's conservative majority signaled a greater willingness to allow religious symbols on public land Wednesday, a stance that could have important implications for future church-state disputes.

By a 5-4 vote, the court refused to order the removal of a congressionally endorsed war memorial cross from its longtime home atop a remote rocky outcropping in California's Mohave Desert.

NATION/WORLD

The court directed a federal judge to look again at Congress' plan to transfer the patch of U.S. land beneath the 7-foot-tall cross made of metal pipe to private ownership.

While the holding Wednesday was narrow, the language of the justices in the majority, and particularly the opinion of Anthony Kennedy, suggested a more permissive view of religious symbols on public land in future cases.

NY wants man who spread HIV to at least 13 locked up indefinitely

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) - A sex offender who infected at least 13 women with the AIDS virus should be locked up indefinitely under a civil law meant to keep the most dangerous offenders out of communities even after they complete prison sentences, the state said Wednesday.

Under a 3-year-old statute, the state can lock up a sex offender indefinitely if it proves the person has a mental abnormality and is likely to offend again. Williams, whose criminal sentence ended April 13, would be held at a medium-security psychiatric facility, with his case reviewed yearly.

Crist poised to drop out of GOP Senate primary, run as independent

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) -Florida Gov. Charlie Crist, headed for defeat in the Republican Senate primary, intends to bolt the party and run as an independent, three confidants said Wednesday, setting up an unpredictable three-way race for a seat that once seemed his to lose.

Crist told The Associated Press that he has told no one of his decision, but three Crist confidants say he told them in phone calls that he plans to pursue the Senate seat as an independent.

Crist's expected announcement would clear the way for conservative Marco Rubio, once a distant long shot, to claim the GOP nomination in the state's Aug. 24 primary. Democratic Rep. Kendrick Meek is all but certain to win his party's nomination.

Crist, considered a rising Republican star not long ago, will announce his plans at 5 p.m. Thursday in his hometown of St. Petersburg. The confidants who conveyed word of his decision spoke on condition of anonymity because the announcement has not been made, but both said they had spoken directly with Crist. One cautioned, however, that the governor can be unpredictable.

Hewlett-Packard to be Palm's new pilot; pays $1 billion in cash

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Palm Inc. a pioneer in the smart phone business that couldn't quite make the comeback it needed, has agreed to be bought out by Hewlett-Packard Co. for about $1 billion in cash.

The two Silicon Valley companies announced Wednesday that the deal will see HP pay $5.70 for every Palm common share. Palm had closed trading Wednesday at $4.63 but traded as high as $18.09 in the past 52 weeks.

In after-hours trading, Palm shares jumped to $5.88 - meaning some investors were willing to bet another suitor will step forward.

Palm was founded in 1992 by Donna Dubinsky and Jeff Hawkins and helped originate the handheld computing market with its Palm Pilots in the 1990s. But after Palm reshuffled itself repeatedly - it was bought by U.S. Robotics, a modem maker that itself was bought by 3Com Corp. in 1997, and then spun off again as its own company in 2000 – other companies took control of the market. In recent years Palm struggled to turn around its smart phone business as consumers flocked to such devices as Apple Inc.'s iPhone and Research In Motion Ltd.'s Black-Berry. More recently, phones that use Google Inc.'s Android operating software added new competition.

Sandra Bullock says she's divorcing Jesse James

NEW YORK (AP) - Sandra Bullock is dumping her two-timing husband and welcoming a new guy into her life - a baby boy she is adopting as a single mother.

Divorce papers were filed Friday in Austin, Texas, where the 45-year-old Oscar-winning actress has a home. The impending end of her five-year marriage to Jesse James came as no surprise on the heels of reports that the motorcycle mogul had been cheating on her and that the couple had already separated.

Instead, the bombshell, set off by Bullock in an interview with People magazine, published online Wednesday, was the news that she brought a newborn son home to California earlier this year and has been raising him unbeknownst to almost anyone.

South Range inching closer to winning Tier 1 title

By MICHAEL S. BURICH Associated Press

EAST PALESTINE - A day after an 11-inning one-run victory over East Palestine, South Range's softball team was in the mood to even be more stingy.

Carly DeRose pitched a two-hit shutout and Madison Yanek had three hits as the Raiders toppled East Palestine 6-0 on Wednesday to pull within one win of locking up a share of the Inter-Tri County League upper tier title.

DeRose struck out 12, walked none and never let an East Palestine runner advance past first base. It was quite the departure from the series opener on Tuesday when Yanek had to gut out a 2-1 victory in 11 innings on the mound.

"It was a totally different ball game," South Range coach Donee Ferren said. "I don't know what to attribute that too, but I think having different pitchers helped us. They were seeing someone new today and we faced (Karly Pence) again. I think our batters were a little more used to her."

The Raiders (17-1, 11-0) jumped on the board in the second when Julia Coburn scored on an error and DeRose came in on a wild pitch. Down by two against a team who has given up only 14 runs in 18 games, East Palestine (12-3, 8-2) knew it had to produce something offensively if it were to stick around in the league chase.

The Raiders, however, made sure that was not going to hap-

"We knew today's game was more important and we wanted to make sure we had a better start," Yanek said.

Julia Coburn added a sac fly RBI in the third scoring Yanek and Emily Seman had an RBI double in the fourth to make it 4-0. In the seventh with Pence tiring, Yanek scored on an error and Julia Coburn added an RBI single to round out the scoring.

In all the Raiders had 10

"We knew this game was very important and we knew that we should have went 11 innings yesterday," Seman said. "We wanted to come out early and I think everyone did a great job.'

The Raiders can lock up a share of the league title today at Columbiana.

"I told the girls right after the game that it's important that we don't have a letdown in (today's) game Columbiana after playing East Palestine tough two games in a row." Ferren said.

For East Palestine, the season no becomes a test of staying the course and continuing to fight according to coach Dan McKinstry.

"The better team won today," McKinstry said. "You know, they were in a similar spot last year like we are this year. They finished with 10 wins in the league and were in second place behind Lisbon. We only won four games in the league last year and this year we already have eight. We're young, so if we can keep fighting I think we'll be OK.

East Palestine hosts Springfield on Tuesday.

Game notes

South Range will hold its inaugural Raider Softball Classic on Friday and Saturday at the field on Green Beaver Road. South Range will play Western Reserve at 4:30 p.m. and Warren JFK at 6 p.m. on Friday. South Range will return to play Warren JFK at 9 a.m. and Jefferson Area at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday, Warren JFK and Western Reserve will face off at noon and Western Reserve and Jefferson Area will conclude the Classic at

With the tournament seeding meeting coming up on Sunday, South Range is crossing its fingers for the top seed. With only one loss, South Range is hoping it gets through the next few days without any more losses. If they do, they'll likely be a frontrunner for the top seed for the Lisbon Div. III sectional. The only team which might pose a challenge is Cardinal Mooney who has two losses and plays a better sched-

"We were going to play Mooney earlier in the season, but it got rained out," Ferren said. "Now that we're so close to tournament time, we're obviously not going to reschedule it."

East Palestine is hoping for a third seed in the sectional, but that might only be windowdressing as Lisbon, United and Springfield all pose a significant challenge as well.

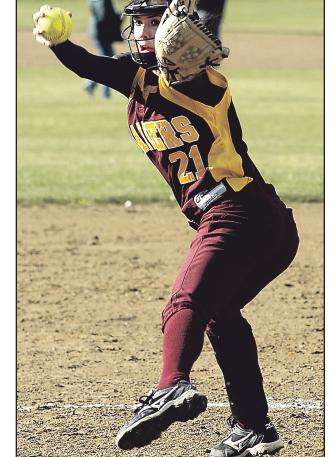

"All of those teams are capable of beating us or South Range," McKinstry said. "They're all good."

Man gets 17 years for putting kids in trash

DAYTON (AP) - An Ohio man has been sentenced to 17 years in prison for leaving an infant and toddler in a plastic trash bin where they were found about 13 hours later on a hot July day. Thirty-nine-year-old Tommie Johnson Jr. cried and apologized Wednesday before his sentencing in Montgomery County Common Pleas Court in Dayton. Authorities say Johnson put the 8-month-old boy and 2-year-old girl in the trash after a dispute with their mother, and that he told officers he had intended to retrieve them. Two electricians rescued the thirsty, hungry children after one heard them crying. Johnson pleaded no contest about two weeks ago to attempted murder, kidnapping, domestic violence and tampering with evidence. The children are in the custody of children services.

Judge: Handgun remains in evidence against woman

LISBON - A handgun will remain part of the evidence against a Pennsylvania woman after a judge overruled her motion to suppress the search which yielded the weapon last fall.

Michelle Coratto, 23, of Industry, Pa., remains charged with trafficking in drugs, a third-degree felony, and carrying a concealed weapon, a fourth-degree felony, with a hearing set for this afternoon. A jury trial was scheduled for next month.

Court documents alleged Coratto sold crack cocaine on March 1, 2009 and had a handgun in her possession on Nov. 6, 2009.

Judge David Tobin of Columbiana County Common Pleas Court ruled the search of Coratto permissable. She was seated in a pickup at a property on Huston Road, East Liverpool on Nov. 6 when Sheriff's Office deputies, police, members of the Drug Task Force and U.S. Marshal's Office showed up to serve a felony warrant on Standard procedure calls for officers to identify all persons at a property when a warrant is being served, especially a felony warrant of a serious nature. Documents said she was asked to empty her pockets and removed a phone and other items, but kept looking away. The deputy asked again if anything was in her pocket. She eventually said she had a gun and removed a loaded gun from her pants pocket, resulting in the weapons charge. Also in Common Pleas Court:

• Danielle Taormina, 21, of 3403 Court St., New Waterford, pleaded guilty to receiving stolen property, a fourth-degree felony, with sentencing May 28. Documents said Taormina and a co-defendant had a 1998 GMC Jimmy belonging to the R&M Auto Group in their possession on Aug. 27. A document said the two test drove the vehicle at a car lot in New Philadelphia and then a set of keys was noticed missing. The vehicle was reported stolen on Aug. 19. Upon investigation, it was discovered an SUV in Taormina's driveway had a different vin number placed over the original vin number, the grill was altered and the Jimmy logo was was replaced matched the SUV.

Tiger takes game to public tourney

Quail Hollow Championship starts today

By DOUG FERGUSON Associated Press

CHARLOTTE, N.C. -Tiger Woods entered the room with little fanfare, and without the constant clicking of camera shutters.

His press conference lasted only 16 minutes. The PGA Tour required an admission ticket for the media, although that wasn't necessary. There were 76 seats in the interview room, and 24 of them were

On the golf course, Woods received warm applause when he was introduced on the first tee. The loudest cheer came at the end of his pro-am round Wednesday at Quail Hollow when he knocked in a 25-foot birdie putt before thousands of fans soaking up warm sun-

"I have to say, this feels a heck of a lot more normal than the Masters did," Woods said. The Quail Hollow Championship is another step toward Woods trying to get back to normal, at least with his golf.

Everything about this tournament was going to be different from Augusta National, where the world's No. 1 player made his celebrated return to competition after five months of fallout from his extramarital affairs. Quail Hollow doesn't have the magnitude of the stage, the size of the gallery or the level of media interest.

Even so, this is the first PGA Tour event Woods is playing where tickets were sold to the general public. The behavior was not much different from three weeks ago at the Masters, and Woods wasn't surprised.

"I'll tell you what, the people here have always been very gracious, very excited about this event,'

Woods said. "These fans here really get into the event, and again, with a great field like this, I think it'll be another great week."

He caught a couple of jeers upon leaving the 18th green when he walked past fans wanting his autograph, but it was a claustrophobic walkway toward the clubhouse, and Woods stopped about 30 yards away and signed for 20 minutes. He went out of his way to make eye contact with the fans, as he did at the Masters. Woods even posed for a picture with a kindergarten student on his way to the second tee.

Perhaps that will change when the tournament begins on a world-class course with another strong field that includes four of the top five players in the world ranking. Phil Mickelson is making his first start since winning the Masters, although his week got off to a rough start when he withdrew from the pro-am with a stomach illness.

Woods is to start Thursday morning with Stewart Cink and Angel Cabrera, and he will play Friday afternoon when the gallery typically is at its most vocal. If there are fans wanting to heckle him, that might be the time. "Whether they do or not, it's happened before, and it happened before any of this ever happened," Woods said. "I've dealt with that before. But as far as the fans here over the years, they've been great. There's no reason why that shouldn't continue.'

One change Woods wants to see is with his golf.

He sounded bitter in his interview with CBS Sports after his final round at the Masters, more angry at a missed opportunity than pleased with a tie for fourth having not played a tournament in five months.

"But given a little time to reflect on it, it was an incredible week," Woods said. "I think it went as well as it could have possibly gone, and obviously I didn't do what I needed to do on the weekend, but after not playing for that long and coming back and finishing fourth, I think that's pretty reasonable."

Woods wasn't terribly crisp during his pro-am round, hitting his first two drives deep into the trees. Then again, he didn't look all that sharp during practice at Augusta National,

Mickelson is also trying to work off some rust, although the layoff was far more brief and a break worth celebrating. Of his four majors, none was quite like this — a Masters victory after a year of turmoil at home as his wife battles breast cancer, and Amy coming to the golf course to greet him when he walked off the 18th hole.

Mickelson slipped on the green jacket the next morning while fulfilling a promise to his three kids — a visit to Krispy Kreme for some glazed dough-- and spent the entire week going to their after-school activities and taking in a San Diego Padres game.

"When I take two weeks off, the first week I usually don't touch a club, which was the case this past time off," Mickelson said. "But for the last five, six days I've been practicing pretty hard. I feel like my game is starting to come around. I see the improvement each day, and I feel like it's back to a level close to where it was at Augusta, so I certainly have high expectations this week and next.

Mickelson already has one distinction as the only player to win three straight tournaments with Woods in the field. They are playing in the same event the next two weeks, both hopeful of building some momen-

Keselowski docked 50 points by NASCAR

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — NASCAR docked Brad Keselowski 50 points in the Nationwide Series because his car failed inspection following his win at Talladega Superspeedway.

Keselowski's lead in the Nationwide standings dropped from 60 points to 10 after Wednesday's penalty.

The penalties were 25 points each for an unapproved left-front spring and an unapproved right-front shock when Keselowski's Dodge was inspected following the victory Sunday. His win stands.

Crew chief Paul Wolfe was fined $20,000 for the two infractions, and Jodi Geschickterm, who is listed as the car owner because of a points swap he made with Penske Racing, was docked 50 points in the owner standings.

Penske Racing president Tim Cindric said the team will not appeal the penalties, but believes part failures contributed to the failed inspection. 'We are confident that there was no intent on behalf of Paul Wolfe, or any other member of the No. 22 team, to circumvent NASCAR's rules," Cindric said in a statement.

NASCAR confiscated the shock and spring after the race.

Browns claim DB off waivers

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns claimed defensive back DeAngelo Smith off waivers from the Detroit Lions.

Smith appeared in seven games last season with the Lions, who signed him on Nov. 18, two months after the Browns waived him. A fifth-round pick by Dallas in 2009, Smith was released by the Cowboys in September.

He signed with Cleveland but was inactive for the season opener against finnesota and waived on Sept. 16.

Smith made 28 career starts at Cincinnati, where he recorded 126 tackles and 12 interceptions for the Bearcats.

The Browns also waived defensive back Matterral Richardson.

Penguins eager to embark on 2nd round

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh Penguins coach Dan Bylsma recognizes how a team performs in the upcoming round will be the only measure of whether having a week off between playoff series was an advantage.

"The best way to talk about a break is after a break is done," Bylsma said. 'I've been part of breaks that were long and good for the team, and I've been part of breaks that were long and didn't turn out the right result for the play-

Four days into what ultimately will be a week or so between playoff games. the Penguins practiced for the second consecutive day Wednesday. They didn't know who they will face in the Eastern Conference semifinals — or when they will start.

Many Pittsburgh players said they were planning to watch the Washington-Montreal Game 7 that will determine whom the Penguins will host to begin the second round this weekend.

'It's starting to feel a little bit long now," goalie Marc-Andre Fleury said of a layoff that began Sunday. "It'll be fun to get back into it."

The defending champion Penguins were completely off Sunday and Monday, but have been back on the Mellon Arena ice the past two days, emphasizing 5-on-5 scrimmages and other drills that most closely simulate game

Perhaps Bylsma said it best when he channeled his inner-Yogi Berra. "Rest is no good if you don't work," he said.

Since the Penguins last played, the field of potential second-round opponents has shrunk to two, eighth-seeded Montreal or No. 6 Boston. If the Canadiens beat Washington on Wednesday night, they would be the team.

Despite the long layoff mostly spent in limbo — the consensus was Game 1 would be Friday, though nothing was official — if the players were getting antsy waiting, they didn't let on.

"I don't think we're in a rush," captain Sidney Crosby said. "We're getting ready and making the most of our practice time and preparing accordingly. When it's time, it's time. We'll be ready. Until then, you try to make the most of the time we have." Pittsburgh's workouts have focused more on ways to improve and refine internally rather than game-planning. Some players insisted that opponentspecific practice wouldn't occur until the day before a game anyway. Bylsma added that the specialized nature of the power-play or penalty-killing dictates the Penguins have largely stayed away from strategies on special teams. "I don't think anyone's anxious," veteran defenseman Jay McKee said.

"We believe in what we have in this room. We can't control what happens outside what we do, so we'll just sit back and wait for the other teams. Preparation and focus are the main two words now. "We're ready to get going. You like to have a break to heal some bumps and bruises, but you also like to get back at it pretty quick and stay fresh."

Notes: Wingers Chris Kunitz (undisclosed) and Tyler Kennedy (lower body) did not practice again Wednesday. Kennedy has not played since Game 4 of the Ottawa series. Bylsma termed Kunitz "day to day." ... D Jordan Leopold practiced for the first time since a hard check to the head knocked him out of Game 2 — although he did wear a "no-contact" jersey.

FROM 1B that the elbow has been troubling him for weeks. He underwent treatment Wednesday and is expected to have further testing done before Saturday's Game 1.

X-rays and an MRI taken on Monday showed no obvious structural damage, but clearly something is wrong with James' elbow, which he has covered recently with a padded, protective sleeve.

"I don't know, honestly, what's going on with it," James said after finishing one assist shy of a triple-double in Game 5. "I've done tests to try and figure this thing out, but it almost feels like you hit your funny bone and it kind of numbs up for a little bit.

"It bothers me more because I don't actually know what it is. We'll figure it out. I've never had a problem with my elbow before.'

Austin Kearns, who homered and drove in five runs during the Indians' 9-2 win Tuesday night, led off the second inning with a double for his 10th hit in a span of 20 at-advanced Travis Hafner's groundout and scored the game's first run on Jhonny Peralta's sacrifice fly.

Indians No. 9 hitter Lou Marson doubled off the top of the 18-foot wall in right-center leading off the Indians' tworun sixth. Manager Manny Acta came out to ask the umpires to look a replay to determine whether it was a home run, but the call by second base ump Paul Schrieber stood following a short trip to the video room. Marson scored on an RBI single by Sizemore that snapped an 0-for-13 drought. Shin-Soo Choo beat out a badhop single before Santana walked Kearns and hit Hafner on the foot with an 0-2 pitch with the bases loaded to give the Indians a 3-0 lead.

Angels manager Mike Scioscia was ejected by third base umpire Rob Drake in the second inning.

Drake ruled on an appeal that Matsui's bat had inadvertently crossed the plane of home plate as he skipped out of the way of an 0-1 pitch at his feet and tried to brace his fall with his left hand.

NOTES: Kearns finished the Indians' 3-6 road trip at 12 for 29 with two homers and nine RBIs.

Poorly. The shot clanged off the right side of the rim, missing so badly some thought he may have been trying to miss intentionally. But James later said he chose to shoot lefthanded because his right arm was numb and he felt the Cavs were in control with a fourpoint lead.

"If I had to make it, I'd have tried it with my right hand," he explained.

It's hard to imagine a player like James, who prides himself on his knowledge of the game, believing a four-point lead was safe. There was still plenty of time for the Bulls to push the ball up the floor, score, foul and extend the game by putting the Cavs at the line.

It didn't work out that way. It could have.

James has a flair for the dramatic. Whether accentuating a dunk with a dance move or overplaying a minor injury, he's always putting on a show. He is, after all, an entertainer.

"I do my job," he said when asked about always drawing the spotlight. "I show up to work and I try to do my job at a high level individually and be the leader I am on and off court. As far as the dramatics, I guess it comes with how I do my job at a high level. Am I apologizing for that? No."

enough to worry about as they prepare for their second series in three years against the Celtics. Throw in James' injury, which flared up in Games 4 and 5 against the Bulls, and there could be cause for some legitimate concern.

Improvements will continue with levy passage To the editor:

In the upcoming ballot on Tuesday, May 4, 2010, voters have a chance to continue to make a change in our society. The Salem City Schools' levy is up for a renewal. The levy was originally passed in 2000 and passed again in 2005. Our school district has made much improvement in the past 10 years, and if you vote "yes" in favor of the levy, these improvements can continue.

Some improvements we've made are that two of our schools are now rated "Excellent" by Ohio's standards, and the others aren't far behind. We are no longer in a fiscal watch, which means that the state is now not watching our district because of financial problems. Also, the academic performance of students in the districts has increased 5.6 in rating to a high of 97.7 in only one year. In addition, new programs, such as nine advanced placement classes, the highest amount of any in the county; Seniors to Sophomores, which lets high school seniors receive college credits from Kent State University for free; Summer Learning Opportunities, which gives learning options in math, writing, and reading along with many others, are making our district better as a whole.

You may be saying to yourself, why does this situation matter to me? In fact, this levy will affect the future of our community. If not passed, the upcoming students will miss opportunities vital to their futures. The most important point we can make is that this levy will not raise your taxes. The levy is a renewal and will aid in daily costs for the 2,200 students in the district.

Overall, the money from this levy will only help in improving our school district and the students in it to be better than they ever have been. We urge you to vote "yes" on Tuesday to help the students in your area!

LINDSAY WINN, OLIVIA MITCHLEY, Members, Salem High School, Student Council Executive Board

To the editor:

As the proud and involved parent of a third grader at Reilly Elementary School in Salem, I personally witness firsthand the daily challenges and demands that confront our administrators, faculty, parents and students, respectively. Due to continuous needs essential for affording our children the best academic programs available in obtaining a quality education, our school board members developed a comprehensive proposal of district-wide goals in 2009 that have fundamentally served as a defining blueprint regarding performance indices, financial stability and solvency, open dialogue and reporting with the general public, and student-focused practices that have all culminated into the Salem Schools rapidly moving towards attaining an "excellent" performance rating overall.

The District Report Card made available through the Ohio Department of Education reflects that our schools have made tremendous academic progress throughout the previous three years, and we continue to improve upon various factions involved with the daily operations of the district as a whole. Salem High School and Reilly Elementary have achieved the prestigious standing of "Excellent," while the junior high and Southeast Elementary continue on the verge of achieving this same status. Buckeye Elementary does not receive specific state ratings due to it housing kindergarten through second graders, but is directly responsible for the "developmental learning foundations and building blocks" which contribute to Reilly's annual successes

Additionally, various program improvements have been added to expand and further challenge our students. Kinder Camp Readiness, Summer Learning, Camp and associated advanced placement courses, coupled with the Quaker Tech Academy and school intervention enhancements collectively provide the added incentives necessary in providing all our students with the skills for graduation and future aspirations.

Superintendent Tom Bratten, Treasurer Jill Rowe, and elected board members Steve Bailey, Brad Myers, Nick Bush, Jeff Cushman, and Andrew Null have selflessly and cohesively worked at monitoring all financial transactions, expenditures, and generated revenue, enabling the district to emerge from fiscal watch. This due diligence has further allowed our schools to move forward and remain a premiere learning environment for our future leaders of tomorrow.

This continuum of progress and success would not be possible without dedicated and caring administrators, teachers, parents, community leaders, and a general support structure that enhances the learning experiences available to our children. Recently, I had the distinct pleasure of watching several longtime educators, clerical and maintenance staff, and ancillary personnel receive longevity recognitions for their years of service to our school district. These individuals represent a small percentage of the professional and talented instructors employed by the Salem City Schools who reach out and positively impact our students and subsequent career choices.

Our district has produced a multitude of alumni who have become entrepreneurs, clergy, professional athletes, local, national and international business owners and executives, and influential leaders in our local area who attribute the foundation for their acclaims and successes to the baseline education acquired through the Salem City Schools. Current economic fluctuations reinforce that:

- a strong school district helps attract business to the local community;
- a strong school district attracts new home buyers to the community;
  - a strong school district brings pride to the community;
- a strong school district helps our children compete and prosper nationally;
- a strong school district attracts former students back to the community.

Please join me in supporting all of the continuous efforts put forth by our school administrators and faculty by helping pass the Salem Schools Levy Renewal on May 4. Your vote is not merely for an issue — it's for our children and our future.

GREGG WARNER, Chairman, Salem City Schools Levy Committee

Proding Feds to finally act

President Obama is right that Arizona's tough immigration law is "misguided." And Arizona Gov. Jan Brewer is right that her state has been "more than patient waiting for Washington to act." The two are not unrelated.

Enforcing our immigration laws is a federal responsibility, which Washington has failed to meet. It's too bad that the Arizona law comes just as the Obama administration had started doing what must be done — and a plan for effective immigration reform has some Senate support.

After eight years of passivity under the Bush administration, Immigration and Customs Enforcement is actively going after companies found to be employing illegal workers. That and a weak economy are credited with having slowed the surge of illegal immigrants into this country. (Note that ICE is managed by Homeland Security Secretary Janet Napolitano, a former Arizona governor.)

But as Brewer said, patience is gone. Border states like Arizona have long served as highways and convenient havens for illegal immigrants. Meanwhile, locals fear with good reason that the drug war in Mexico is unleashing a new wave of entrants and violence. The recent murder of rancher Robert Krentz, presumably by an illegal immigrant, pushed many Arizonans over the edge.

The result is a policy that is disturbingly unfair to Latino populations. The law makes it a crime to move around without immigration documents and lets police demand such papers from anyone suspected of being in the United States illegally.

You know who that means: people from Mexico or who look like they could be from Mexico. And although the governor has promised to train officers against racial profiling, how could there not be? What would make an Arizona law enforcer suspect that someone is here illegally other than that person's ethnic appearance?

Stopping brown people in the street is not the way to address the problem. The great majority of illegal immigrants come for work. Though they shouldn't be here, these are mostly good people supporting their families. These poor folk deserve to be treated humanely.

Arizona doesn't need a new law to capture and deport the criminal element. As in many other states, police already check the immigration status of anyone charged with a crime. Those here illegally are referred to ICE.

Harassing countless innocents alongside illegal immigrants is a callous and futile way to stop massive flows of undocumented workers. The more successful approach is to remove the job magnet by fining and possibly jailing their employers.

It is already against the law to hire illegal aliens, but the giant loophole is the lack of a counterfeit-proof form of identification. If the job-seeker presents a reasonably good-looking document, a company can't be held liable if that person is found to be working illegally.

An immigration reform proposal put together by Sens. Charles Schumer, D-N.Y., and Lindsay Graham, R-S.C., would end that dodge by creating a Social Security card that contains fingerprints, eye scans or other biometric markers unique to every individual. Employers would check the information against a national database for all new hires, be they immigrant or native born.

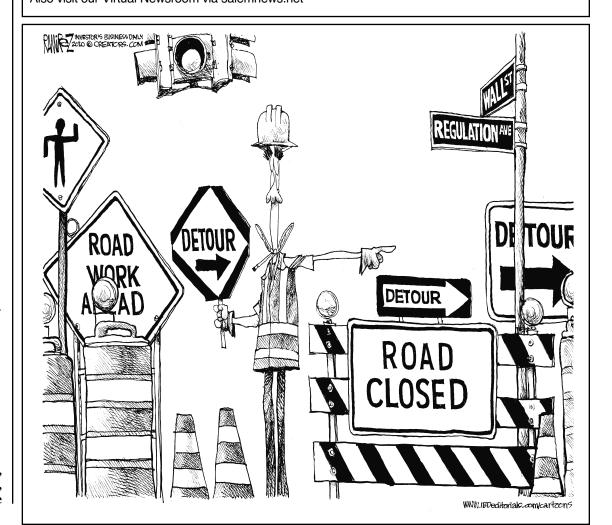

No, Arizona is not going about this the right way. But its radical law may spur overdue action. Now is the best time for it, when a slow economy has deflated the cheap-labor argument that only illegal immigrants will wash dishes or mop floors.

Effective immigration controls are not impossible. Canada has a large immigration program and virtually no illegal workers. Until the federal government creates a rational system, states are going to pass laws out of anger and panic. It's time for Washington to do its duty.

new generator," said Salem Police Chief Robert Floor who was at the meeting.

Emmons doesn't anticipate that the problem with the Salem generator extends to any of the other generators at the the other local police departments that serve as dispatching centers under the county's 911 system.

In other news, Emmons reported Verizon is in the process of selling its land-line phone business to Frontier Communications Corp., which has him concerned since Verizon supplied the county's 911 land-line system and none of the repair technicians who installed and worked on the system are going to remain with the company.

"That, in my opinion, is a big handicap. We just signed a five-year maintenance agreement with them," he said.

The next 911 committee meeting is scheduled for 1 p.m. July 28 at the county commissioners meeting room in the county courthouse.

"Tell your friends, your neighbors. Please support our renewal levy," Apple said.

In other business, environmental director Lori Barnes reported 15 of the 31 septic systems funded with federal stimulus dollars have been installed. She said numbers of permits for septic systems and wells remain down, although there seems to be a pickup in construction in older developments. Plumbing inspector Joe Csonka reported some steady numbers for permits, noting they seem to be picking up.

The board approved the following variances from the rules regarding wells and septic systems:

- Jack Shaffer, Echo Dell Road, Rogers, a hardship case allowing two dwellings on one septic system to care for a relative in a separate residence.
- · Michael Emmons, Main Street, Homeworth, approval to locate aeration septic system less than 10 feet from dwelling and property line, due to site restrictions.
- James Hill Jr., Howell Road, East Palestine, approval for repairs to existing well less than 10 feet from structure.
- Fanalla Lang, Camp Boulevard, Hanoverton, approval for new well located less than 10 feet from property line (currently sharing a well with neighbor).

then was denied an explanation. His bill is designed to change all of that by creating new subcontractor rules for general contractors to follow, including hiring subcontractors based on a full and open bidding process.

"This is a complete lack of oversight and needs to change," Wilson said.

Johnson, when contacted Tuesday, praised Wilson's bill saying if the regulations had been in place last year, "Summitville Tiles might have gotten the contract."

"We're fighting a Titanic battle to save a hundred-yearold company. Trying to compete with the rest of the world and have your own government working against you can be mighty discouraging," he added.

Wilson, who is a Democrat, and other members of the Ohio congressional delegation were asked to intervene by Johnson, chairman of the Columbiana County Republican learned that there is no such about farm animals includ-Party. They wrote to the Secretary of the Army, and Wilson also met with Army officials.

Wilson said the bill is for Summitville Tiles "and all of the companies like them that have been left out of the loop in federal contracting procedures in the past."

Salem parks spruced up for spring

By LARRY SHIELDS

Staff Writer

SALEM - Baseball fields have been prepped, the Salem Lake is open and the parks are preparing for Saturday's plant exchange at Waterworth Memorial Park.

Foreman Jim Grimm is organizing this second annual event and Director Steve Faber he didn't have a feel for how many people will participate, but it has been publicized around the area in churches and with the Damascus Garden Club.

He said if the weather is bad it will be moved inside the maintenance

Grimm said crews have worked on the nature trail, preparing the fields, courts and having a light fixture and plumbing work done in the Centennial Park restroom.

Faber said the restroom dispenses 1.5 liters per flush and they want it to be changed to a "standard flush," adding it's not a big issue.

Grimm said they have been weed spraying, performing maintenance, cleaning and tree planting which has included one Japanese Maple donated by Commissioner Ken Schrom, 12 day lilies and five Buckeye trees, also Grimm said he has two pounds of wildflower seeds that will cover about 9,000 square feet.

'We need to get that into the ground," he said.

Commission President John Panezott asked about the greenhouse project and Grimm said despite getting an early start they were unable to get hot water heat into it during the last cold

"Next spring it should be up and running," he said.

Faber said, "I'm pleased where we're at with the greenhouse. Jim's expectations were more ... we'll get some benefit from it this years and we'll start seeing more benefit next

Commissioner Terry Hoopes said he has received "compliments on the conditions of the ballfields" considering the alternating wet and dry weath-

Grimm said, "Dave (Adams) work real hard on that. He's real particular."

Recreation Director Delores Rogucki said corn hole and horse shoe leagues have been planned and some baseball leagues have started. There will be and 18 and under girls fast pitch season this year beginning in

She said the arts and craft show will be June 26, the same weekend as the Quaker City Weekend Cruise.

Faber said the classic car show will be held at Centennial Park on June 25.

"Plans are coming along well," Faber said, adding promotional flyers can be picked up at the Memorial

In other business, Faber said he spoke with Mayor Jerry Wolford regarding the fireworks for July 3.

He also advised commissioners that a parks' vehicle was backed into on Wednesday. There were no injuries and the other driver was cited for improper backing.

He also noted that pavilions have been cleaned by community service workers and last year that accounted for 5,000-plus hours in work, not including the Ohio Works First people on public assistance and other volun-

Faber mentioned it in response to a suggestion during a recent city council meeting. He explained there are all kinds of projects in which volunteers, like Eagle Scouts, have worked to the benefit of the parks.

Panezott noted that community service workers are usually made available on Saturday mornings and Faber and Grimm "are there on their own time ... there's a lot that people don't realize."

Commissioners took time at to ask voters to support the 1-mill levy renewal on the May 4 ballot.

Panezott emphasized it was "nothing new, just renew" and pointed out that 40 percent of the parks department's annual budget was at

If renewed the operational levy will expire in five years.

The department receives no money from the city's general fund is solely supported by two levies.

Faber said the levy nets about $196,000 a year.

Panezott said, "It's very important that it passes.'

He explained the library and school issues were also important and he was voting for them, but the parks are important because they are "one of the first things people see" when they come into the city."

Hoopes said there is so much that occurs under the surface that people don't see and that is "one of many, many reasons to renew the levy.

"They are all very important," Hoopes said about the three city

"I hope they all pass and hope voters vote their conscious ... I hope everyone will support the levy."

City council President Mickey Cope Weaver and Councilwoman Rita Joseph O'Leary attended the meet-

Man wants to go barefoot in Ohio Statehouse

COLUMBUS (AP) - A man is battling the Ohio Statehouse over the right to bare feet.

Bob Neinast says his feet hurt when he wears shoes, so he goes barefoot nearly everywhere, even in winter. The man from the Columbus suburb of Pickerington calls it a healthy lifestyle that makes him feel closer to places he visits.

When he tried to go shoeless in the Ohio capitol recently, he was stopped by an officer who said Neinast was violating the rules.

Officials have since rule against bare feet in the Statehouse. Spokesman Gregg Dodd says the Statehouse board is now considering a ban and plans to hold a public hearing.

Neinast previously lost a lawsuit against the Columbus public library's no-barefeet policy.

4-H Field Day planned at fairgrounds

LISBON – Columbiana eye Dairy Boosters in pro-County 4-H and the County Fair Board are hosting the first "Field Day at the Fairgrounds" from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. May 21. The event is intended to educate children and youth about the benefits of 4-H and the county fair.

All county schools are invited, and more than 300 students primarily from Leetonia and Beaver Local Schools will be attending the free event.

Various stations will walk participants through the fair grounds. Demonstrations will be given ing dairy cattle, horses, goats, pigs, chicken and sheep. Small animals, known affectionately as pocket pets, will be shown. In addition, stations will include an arts and crafts display, 4-H club displays, a petting zoo and a bike safety demonstration.

Ice cream for the children will be served in the dairy barn, donated by the Columbiana County Buck-housed Columbiana County Extension Ofice and is a nonfor-profit organization. The 4-H is a nationally known organization that serves youth ages 5 through 18. Members are part of clubs and take projects that are then judged and displayed at the county fair. More than 200 projects are available for members to participate in, ranging from cooking, sewing, photography, woodworking and gardening to small animals such as rabbits and guinea pigs and large animals such as horses, cows and pigs.

"4-H gives young people an opportunity to learn life skills, become responsible, and grow as an individual through participation in our many projects," said Extension Educator Julie Herron. "We strive to empower young people to help them become leaders, volunteers and productive citizens. builds character in our children."

Herron explained that the OSU Extension program includes youth programming, agricultural education, family programs and good nutrition education along with community development. The OSU Extension Columbiana County, focuses primarily on youth programming. These services are funded through a 1 percent sales tax, which is currently up for renewal. "This is a tax renewal, there will not be a tax increase, and it will greatly benefit our area youth," she said. For more information on the OSU Extension Office and the 4-H program, contact Herron at 330-424-7291.

A South Lincoln Avenue woman reported Tuesday afternoon there were two 10year-old boys sitting on her neighbor's porch yelling sexual vulgarities at her and calling her names. She said her young child was outside and could hear them. Officer Shar Daub found the boys at their friend's house, and the one boy said it was the other who was making the comments The boy admitted saying these things because it was something to do. Daub took the boys with her, dropping one off at his home and speaking with his mother, and taking the other back to the police station, where she called his father. Daub advised the father she planned to file disorderly conduct charges against his son for his vulgar comments, and Children Services would be contacted as well. The mother arrived later and she was advised what was going on.

Reckless driver A caller reported following a motorist driving recklessly south into Lisbon on state Route 45 at 8:15 a.m. Tuesday. ### Man found dead after long standoff

CUYAHOGA (AP) - Police in Ohio say a man who had held a woman hostage has been found dead at the end of a nearly 12hour standoff. Cuyahoga Falls Police Chief John Conley says SWAT officers who entered a home at 1:30 a.m. Wednesday found the man dead of a self-inflicted gunshot wound. Conley says the body of 33-year-old Michael Craft of nearby Akron was in an upstairs bedroom. Police say Craft let the woman go a little over an hour earlier after holding her since before 2 p.m. Tuesday. Police say she and Craft knew each other, but they did not immediately release her name. She was taken to a hospital to be evaluated. Police had said they did not believe she'd been physically harmed.

Leetonia school board handles personnel actions

By KEVIN HOWELL

Staff Writer The LEETONIA school board handled several personnel actions at its regular meeting Wednesday night. The board accepted the retirements of long-time faculty members Anna-Marie Francisco, Vicki Moore and Gloria Rubbo, all effective at the end of the school year on May 30.

Francisco, the kindergarten through eighthgrade music teacher and high school choir director, has been with the school for 30 years.

Moore, most recently a eighth-grade social studies and seventh-grade reading teacher, has been with the school for 29 years.

Rubbo, a third-grade teacher, has been with the school for 33 years.

"These are three very good teachers, very good people, who have served this district well, and we wish them the best of luck," said Board Vice President John Rydarowicz.

In addition to the retirements, the board approved a two-year contract extension through July 31, 2012, for Dennis Lappert as building, grounds and transportation supervisor; and a five-year extension through July 31, 2015, for Larry Syverson as treasurer. Neither position received an increase in base

The board also approved one-year supplemental contracts for the 2010-2011 school year for current athletic coaches Matt Altomare, varsity football head; Jim DeJane, varsity golf head; Kelly Paxson, varsity girls basketball head; and Dawn Tittle, high school cheerleading advisor; as well as Athletic Director Marcia Duko and Assistant Athletic Director John McIlduff.

In other business, the board discussed possibly eliminating both athletic and academic fees following the school year.

According to school Superintendent Rob Mehno, Leetonia is the only district in Columbiana County with athletic fees, although he noted that only Southern Local has none for academ-

The school has collected around $4,000 less in academic fees this year compared to 2008-2009, he said. The athletic fees were instated this year.

Board members seemed receptive to the idea, too.

"We need to look to remove anything with a negative connotation to the district, so I'm all in favor of it," said Michael Rulli.

The board agreed to explore the possibility in greater detail and make a decision at a later date.

Also at the meeting, the board approved new board policies, most notably waiving the two required physical education credits for students who successfully complete two years of either band, cheerleading or an athletic program.

Rydarowicz apologized for comments at the Feb. 24 meeting regarding the hire of Cleone Smith as varsity volleyball head coach that may have been misinterpreted as derogatory toward the previous coach.

Mehno reminded residents to vote on the school's 8.8-mill, four-year emergency levy on Tues-

The next regular board meeting is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. May 26 in the K-12 campus Room 20.

Lisbon mayor criticized over cemetery board replacement

By TOM GIAMBRONI

Staff Writer

LISBON - Mayor Mike Lewis' decision to replace a member of the cemetery board drew criticism from a council mem-

Lewis recommended at this week's council meeting that Wendell Cole replace Al Fitch on the board, which prompted council member Willis Coleman to question the move. He said Fitch was told he wasn't being reappointed because the cemetery board wanted "to go in another direction.'

Coleman thought this was a shabby way to treat a man like Fitch, who has served the village in one "And now the village can't take him along because they're going in another direction," he said. The vote to appoint Cole was 4-0, with Coleman abstaining and Council President Roger Gallo absent. Cemetery board members are paid $100 per month.

Membership on the three-member cemetery board is by appointment of the mayor, with the consent of council. Lewis said he sent Fitch a letter earlier in the year advising him he didn't plan to reappoint him and thanking him for his service. The other board members are Gene Krotky and Barry James.

Although Lewis declined to elaborate on his decision, the mayor was the driving force behind last year's shakeup in cemetery operations, which entailed eliminating the cemetery supervisor position and placing the street foreman in charge of cemetery maintenance workers as a way to save money. The move met with little enthusiasm at first from existing board members, some of whom eventually warmed to the

In other action, Wilfred Carlisle voiced his opposition to a request from the school district to consider making a section of East Chestnut Street one way to help with traffic flow around McKinley Elementary School and make it safer for students being dropped off and picked up.

Carlisle said it is already a mess down there, and making Chestnut Street one way from Harrison Street to Pritchard Avenue would only make matters worse.

He suggested stationing a police officer here for a half hour in the morning and in the afternoon when the students are coming and going. Carlisle was told the police already do that.

"He doesn't get out of his cruiser ... People aren't going to respect them sitting in the cruiser," he said.

Carlisle also complained about the potholes on Lincoln Way, but a street department worker in attendance said they filled the potholes with limestone just that day.

"What good is stone? That's like throwing money away," Carlisle said.

Lincoln Way is scheduled to be resurfaced its entire length sometime this year. tgiambroni@mojonews.com

Judge asks feds to show militia did more than talk

DETROIT (AP) - A federal judge challenged prosecutors Wednesday to show that nine members of a Michigan militia accused of plotting war against the government had done more than just talk and should remain locked up.

U.S. District Judge Victoria Roberts heard nearly 10 hours of testimony and arguments over two days. She did not make a decision about whether the nine will remain in custody, saying only that a ruling would come soon.

The members of a southern Michigan group called Hutaree have been in custody for a month. An indictment accuses them of weapons violations and a rare crime: conspiring to commit sedition, or rebellion, against the government by first killing police offi-

Prosecutors say the public would be at risk if the nine are released. But defense lawyers claim the government has overreached with a criminal case based mostly on hateful speech. An undercover agent incretly made recordings that have been played in court. While there is talk about killing police, it's not specific. In one conversation, there are many people talking over each other and laughing.

Roberts pressed that point more than once as Assistant U.S. Attorney Ronald Waterstreet argued in favor of keeping the nine in jail. The judge suggested she didn't hear or read in the transcripts any indication that violence was imminent.

"Mere presence where a crime may be planned is not a crime. ... How does this add up to seditious conspiracy?" Roberts said.

Waterstreet said the government is not required to show all its evidence at this early stage of the case. He referred to the words of militia leader David Stone, 44, of Clayton, Mich., who was recorded by the undercover agent while they drove to Kentucky earlier this year.

Spain downgraded, Europe crisis widens

BERLIN (AP) - Europe's debt crisis mushroomed Wednesday as Spain saw its credit rating lowered, just as Germany sought to reassure nervous investors that Greece would not be allowed to go under, saying Berlin's share of a key aid package could be approved in the next few days.

Stock and bond markets had begun to regain their composure after stinging downgrades of Greece and Portugal the day before, when Standard & Poors delivered more bad news by cutting Spain's rating to AA from AA+ amid concerns about the country's growth prospects following the collapse of a construction bubble.

Fed keep rates low; upbeat on economy

WASHINGTON (AP) – The Federal Reserve sounded a more confident note Wednesday that the economy is strengthening but pledged to hold rates at record lows to make sure it gains trac-

Wrapping up a two-day meeting, the Fed in a 9-1 decision retained its pledge to hold rates at historic lows for an "extended period." Doing so will help energize the recovery.

The Fed offered a more upbeat view of the economy even as it noted that risks remain. It said the job market is "beginning to improve," an upgrade from its last meeting in mid-March. It observed then that the unemployment situation was merely "stabilizing."

Stocks climb on earnings; Fed rates

NEW YORK (AP) - Investors gave stocks a rebound after reassuring words from the Federal Reserve and another batch of upbeat earnings reports.

The Dow Jones industrials rose 53 points to 11,045.27, making back a quarter of the 213 they lost the previous day.

BUSINESS HIGHLIGHTS

Investors were able to shake off Standard & Poor's downgrade of Spain's debt, the third European country in two days to have its rating lowered. Instead, they focused on the domestic economy.

Earnings provided a boost to stocks throughout the day. Cable company Comcast Corp., defense contractor Northrop Grumman Corp. and Dow Chemical Co. were the latest companies to top earnings expectations.

Unemployment falls in a majority of US cities

WASHINGTON (AP) - Unemployment rates fell or remained level in three-quarters of the 372 largest metropolitan areas, a sign that the economic recovery is widespread.

The Labor Department said Wednesday the jobless rate dropped in 69 percent of metro areas last month from February. It rose in 24 percent of large cities and remained the same in the rest. That's an improvement from February, when the unemployment rate decreased in 51 percent of metro areas and increased in one-

The report follows other recent encouraging news about jobs. Employers added 162,000 jobs in March, the government said earlier this month, the most significant gain in three years.

Toyota to recall about 50,000 Sequoia SUVs

WASHINGTON (AP) Toyota Motor Corp. recalled about 50,000 Sequoia sport utility vehicles from the 2003 model year to fix an unexpected slowing of the vehicle in the latest recall issued by the Japanese automaker.

Toyota said Wednesday that the recall would address the vehicle's electronic stability control system, which helps maintain traction during turning. In some cases, the stability control could activate at low speed and prevent the SUV from accelerating as quickly as a driver expects, the company said.

The automaker said they had no reports of accidents or injuries connected to the issue and about half of the vehicles had already been repaired under warranty.

Dow IQ profit climbs as demand rebounds

DENVER (AP) - Dow Chemical Co. says consumers across much of the globe are starting to spend more on furniture, electronics and appliances. Even the housing market is looking better to the nation's largest chemical manu-

Dow said Wednesday the improving demand signals a stronger economy, although it remains concerned about high unemployment, potential inflation in some regions and debt problems in European countries.

Dow said stronger demand and price increases across most of its businesses bolstered its first-quarter results. Net income rose to $466 million, or 41 cents a share, after paying preferred dividends, A year ago, it earned just $24 million, or 3 cents a share.

Euro sinks again as S&P downgrades Spain debt

NEW YORK (AP) - The dollar surged to a 1-year high against the euro Wednesday as the debt crisis in Europe intensified, but gave back some of its gains after the Federal Reserve offered a more upbeat view of the economy and pledged to keep rates at record lows.

In late New York trading, the euro sank as low as $1.3116, its weakest point since April 2009, before edging back up to $1.3187. On Tuesday, it was worth $1.3184.

On Wednesday, credit ratings agency Standard & Poor's downgraded Spain's debt a day after cutting the ratings of Greece and Portugal. Budget deficits in several European countries and fears of prospective debt defaults have dragged down the euro from a level above $1.51 in early Novem-

MARKET SUMMARY

Feds OK 1st US offshore wind farm, off Cape Cod

BOSTON (AP) - A whole new way of generating electricity in the U.S. drew a big step closer to reality Wednesday, and it could look like this: 130 windmills, 440 feet tall, rising from the ocean a few miles off

After more than eight years of lawsuits and government reviews, the Obama administration cleared the way for the nation's first offshore wind

"We are beginning a new direction in our nation's energy future," U.S. Interior Secretary Ken Salazar declared in announcing his approval of the $2 billion Cape Wind project, which would finally allow the U.S. to join the list of major countries that are producing electricity from sea breezes.

The project has faced intense opposition from two Indian tribes and some environmentalists and residents, including the late Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, who warned that the windmills could mar the ocean view. They would be visible from the Kennedy compound at Hyannis Port.

Salazar said the project's developers can protect local culture and beauty while expanding the nation's supply of renewable energy.

The developers are hoping to begin construction this year and start generating power by late 2012 - provided the venture isn't stopped by further lawsuits.

Members of the Aquinnah Wampanoag Tribe of Martha's Vineyard have vowed to go to court, saying the project would interfere with sacred rituals and desecrate long-submerged tribal burial sites. Other groups said they would sue immediately.

"It's far from over," Cape Cod resident Audra Parker of the Alliance to Protect Nantucket Sound. "Nantucket Sound needs to be off limits to Cape Wind and any other industrial development."

Salazar said the project had been exhaustively analyzed and added: This is the final decision of the United States of America. We are very confident we will be able to uphold the decision against legal challenges."

The windmills would be about five miles off Cape Cod at their closest point to land and 14 miles off Nantucket at the greatest distance. According to simulations done for Cape Wind, on a clear day the turbines would look as if they were about a half-inch tall on the horizon at the nearest point and appear as specks from Nantucket.

The costs will be covered with private funding as well as potentially millions in federal stimulus money and tax credits. Cape Wind is negotiating to sell the electricity generated to a local utility.

Cape Wind eventually hopes to supply three-quarters of the power on Cape Cod, which has about 225,000 residents. Cape Wind officials say it will provide green jobs and a reliable domestic energy source.

The announcement came after a pair of deadly disasters earlier this month in West Virginia and the Gulf of Mexico illustrated the risks in extracting oil and coal to meet the country's energy needs.

Advocates are hoping Cape Wind can jump-start the entire U.S. offshore wind industry.

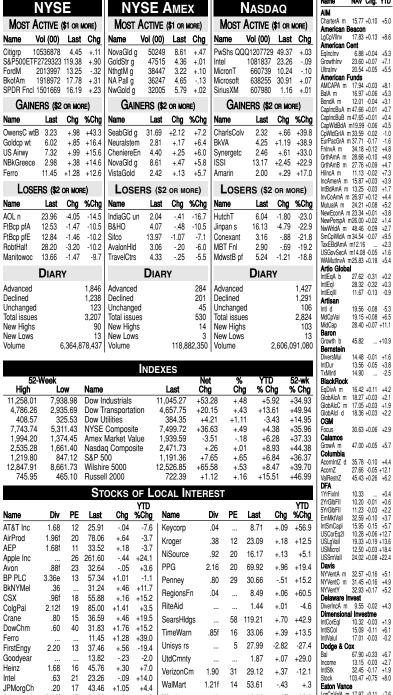

America has the world's largest onshore wind industry but lags behind other countries in offshore electric generation because of high upfront costs, heavy regulation and technological challenges.

Denmark installed the world's first offshore wind turbine 20 years ago, and there are offshore wind farms around Europe. China has built a commercial wind farm off Shanghai and plans several other projects.

HOROSCOPE

BY HOLIDAY MATHIS

THURSDAY, APRIL 29
The day after the full Scorpio moon has a distinct feeling to it. It's like looking back on something you ranted about in your diary in the heat of passion and then realizing in the light of day how melodramatic and maybe even immature it all sounded. At least you didn't post it in a blog or send it as an e-mail to your entire list. Oh, you did? Oops.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You will journey into the unknown. There's a certain kind of person you should take with you on this excursion -- someone who can go with an open mind and look at the challenge as an adventure.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). There's no need to put on airs or to know more than you know. Don't be afraid of sounding inelegant. People will connect with you on basic levels. Silly ideas will sell, both on a personal level and in GEMINI (May 21-June 21). You are not what your business card says you are -- not really and certainly not all of the time. You will defy narrow definitions and confining roles as you delight in one of your most playful days in weeks.

ČANCÉR (June 22-July 22). Your relationships will serve you well, efficiently bringing your dreams into reality. In a few instances, you'll be blown away by the speed at which your hopes are realized

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). There are still a few problems to solve. However, you've had enough of executive level action and high mindedness for one week. Break yourself out of a mental rut with intuitive, illogical or just plain dumb solutions. They'll work!

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). You'll be meeting with important people face to face. Visualize the outcome you desire before you even knock on the door. The intention you set will dictate the way it all shakes out. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). You relate to others with ease, but you still prefer to be alone today. There's something you're working on -- a feeling you want to process or an artistic impulse that needs to be sorted out in silence.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). If you respond to probwithout critical thought, you'll be wiser than you realize. Highly structured scenes could use a playful, disruptive force. Your childlike reactions and rule bending will make good things happen. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). You're in the mood for some risky business. It may be challenging to find anyone willing to take those risks with you. Many are trying to preserve what they have. You'll wind up with more because you took the risk.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). You'll banter with a conversational foil. This person can point out the faults in your logic, affording you the opportunity to fix the holes before you present the ideas to anyone

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You'll take measto increase your strength and stamina. There are many reasons to do so, the most important being that you have a long list of things you want to do and they all take energy. PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). You will be energized by spur-of-the-moment social happenings. enjoy the company of a variety of characters. Even those you normally don't favor will have something to offer vou. TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (April 29). You'll learn about new subjects and will find one so fascinating that you'll follow it through the entire year. You'll make a savvy investment in May. Believe in yourself and follow through -- that's key. A wound heals in July. August shows you either building or redesigning a home, or making a move. Cancer and Aries people adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 8, 25, 10, 22, 17 and

I can see clearly now...

Heloise

Dear Heloise: I read your column every day. My problem: EYEGLASS CLEAN-ER is too expensive! Do you have a more cost-effective solution? We are on a fixed income, with no raise for cost of living this year. We keep stretching, but the elastic is wearing thin. Ha! -C. and J. in Abilene, Texas

Good news! Here is an easy and cheap fix for you. A gentle dishwashing detergent squirted on each lens is all it takes. Rub in with your fingers, and rinse thoroughly. Dry with a soft cloth. You also can use a liquid hand sanitizer. The glasses will be bright and shiny.

A clever way to store your glasses? Take a potholder, fold it in half and stitch up the bottom and one side. Potholders come in a lot of colorful patterns and will protect the glasses. - Heloise

BREAKFAST PICNIC Dear Heloise: Recently, I had a breakfast picnic for a group of ladies when it was very windy. Rather than fight with a plastic tablecloth, I took a roll of self-sticking shelf paper, cut it into individual place mats, peeled the corners and stuck them to the table. They can be discarded after use without damage to the tables and with less hassle. -Houstine, via e-mail

VINYL ZIPPERED BAGS

Dear Heloise: I had some vinyl bags with zippers left over from linens I'd purchased. I am putting my nice purses in there to protect them from dust and for easy viewing. I keep mine on the top shelf of my closet, and it works really well. I did the same with the smaller bags and put my gloves away for next year. I also put a few of those silicon bags that come in new purses and coats (cedar balls would work, too). - Gloria A. Sadian, via e-mail

GALLON BUCKETS

Dear Heloise: In many grocery stores, the deli section usually is happy to give away 3- to 5-gallon buckets, although you need to ask ahead of time, especially if you want the lids. These buckets are great for storing large quantities of food, in the garden, for household chores, etc. - B.J.M., via e-mail

Sister fears inheritance dooms addict brother

DEAR ABBY: My brother is a lifelong drug addict who has spent the last two decades in and out of jail. He rarely works and has no permanent residence, finding shelter instead with various friends, girlfriends and sometimes sleeping in his brokendown vehicle. When he calls me, it's always with some creative story and a request to send him money. The money I have sent over the years has gone to pay for his new drug fix, not to resolve whatever problem his sob story was about.

Recently, our grandmother died and she left each of us some money. As her executor, I am responsible for making sure my brother gets his share. While I want him to benefit from this modest inheritance, I'm afraid he will use it to buy drugs - possibly enough drugs to harm himself, if unintentionally. Obviously, this is not what our grandmother would have wanted. How can I make sure this money goes to help, and not further enable, my drug-addicted sibling? – CONFLICTED SIS IN MARYLAND DEAR CONFLICTED: Consult an attorney preferably one who has experience with wills and trusts, and see if some arrangement can be made that ensures your brother has a roof over his head and won't starve. It may be possible that something can be worked out so his necessities would be paid for him, without his actually getting his hands on the money.

DEAR ABBY: I have been left confused and bitter over the loss of my best friend, "Sally." I expected to go to her children's weddings and be there for the birth of her grandchildren.

Sally had an affair, which I knew about. When her husband, "John," found out, he called me asking why I didn't tell him. After that horrible phone call, during which I lied to protect Sally, I never heard from them again.

Had I known this would happen I would have told John the truth. Instead of leaving her husband, Sally gave up her friendship with me. What did I do wrong? Should I be punished for listening to her? What would you advise your readers to do when someone starts telling them about an affair they're having? - THROWN UNDER THE BUS, BELLEVUE, WASH.

DEAR UNDER THE BUS: What you did "wrong" was allow yourself to be dragged into that mess as a co-conspirator. Silence implies agreement. Once John realized you knew all about her affair and lied, you became as guilty in his eyes as Sally and her lover. My advice to readers about what to do when someone starts telling them about an affair? Stay out of the line of fire by telling the person you don't want to hear it. DEAR ABBY: Like many parents, my husband and I would like our three children to read more. And they, like many children, would prefer to watch more television. We arrived at a compromise, and I would like to share it with your readers. Many television shows are also available with closed captioning. For those who don't know what closed captioning is — it is a service available on most TVs that shows what is being broadcast via audio. We mute the television and have the children read the words instead of listening. It works great! Their reading skills have soared, and I have noticed they are now reading more books than they used to. In addition, I really enjoy the quiet time while we're watching the TV. Please pass this strategy on. Some of our friends are also doing it and feel it has helped their children, too. - PROUD PARENTS

Pros, cons of PSA prostate cancer test

Dr. Donohue

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am 82. At this late stage, I am now being told that a PSA test (that I've always had and always passed well within limits) is no longer recommended. What is a guy to do? Early detection has always been encouraged, so how am

I to know if I will need treatment? - F.O. ANSWER: The value of the PSA (prostate specific antigen) for the detection of prostate cancer has aroused a great deal of discussion and debate. Your premise about the early detection of cancer is true for most cancers. It isn't always true for all the forms of prostate cancer.

PSA isn't a perfect test. It can vield normal results when a man has prostate cancer. It can yield abnormal results when a man's cancer requires no treatment or when no cancer is present. A high proportion of older men perhaps as many as 90 percent of men in their 80s – have areas of prostate cancer in their gland. Quite frequently, that cancer is the kind that grows slowly and doesn't lead to death. However, a high PSA almost always is followed by a prostate biopsy and often a form of treatment - surgery or radiation. The complications of treatment can be worse than having a low-grade prostate cancer. Loss of bladder control, erectile dysfunction and radiation burns are some of those complications.

Your doctor has advised against continued testing for the above reasons. Screening benefits younger men and men at great risk of developing prostate cancer. Black men are more likely to have it than are white men. Some authorities feel that only men with a life expectancy of 10 or more years ought to have regular PSA tests. All medical professionals encourage men to discuss the pros and cons of PSA testing with their doctor. If you feel anxious about not having the test, you can request that one be done.

The booklet on the prostate gland discusses prostate cancer and prostate enlargement in depth. To obtain a copy, write: Dr. Donohue - No. 1001, Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475. Enclose a check or money order (no cash) for $4.75 U.S./$6 Can. with the recipient's printed name and address.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Can a person get glasses if he has AIDS? How does it affect the eyes? - T.Y.

ANSWER: People with AIDS can get

In the days before effective AIDS treatment, a small number of patients experienced damage to the smallest blood vessels that feed the eye's retina. In those days, eye infections from germs difficult to treat were common. These complications are seldom seen these days.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Will you please remind everyone of the importance of covering one's mouth and nose during a sneeze and a cough? Most people do not bother to do so, and they spread their germs. An uncovered sneeze or cough disseminates droplets containing germs in the air. I remind co-workers to cover their coughs and sneezes. Most of them roll their eyes or have a smart comeback. Hand-washing is also important after blowing the nose, coughing or sneezing. We all would be much healthier if everyone practiced good hygiene. - P.H.

ANSWER: I'm with you, P.H.

If people don't have a tissue or handkerchief to cover their sneezes and coughs, they should cough or sneeze into their elbows. Better the germs stay on their clothes than in the air. President Barack Obama gave a great demonstration of this during the past flu season. Frequent hand-washing is important for coughers, sneezers and those who aren't doing either.

Self-centered cousin accepts no excuses

Annie's Mailbox

Dear Annie: My wife's 84-year-old mother lives with us. My wife's cousin, "Erma," lives two hours away and occasionally sends letters and newspaper clippings to Mom to keep her updated on happenings in the old hometown. Erma is also very punctual with cards on special occasions. Mom reciprocates by calling her often and sending cards of her own.

Recently, Mom lost her only sibling. Two weeks after the funeral, Erma celebrated her birthday. Mom sent a birthday card, but it was a week late. My wife, admittedly not a card person, called Erma to wish her a happy birthday and left a message inviting her to our home for dinner. There was no re-

A few days later, a letter arrived from Erma, saying she was very hurt not to receive a birthday card on time. My wife tried to explain that no one forgot her birthday, but circumstances were difficult and an effort was made to celebrate it later. Erma responded that she "doesn't believe in late birthday cards," and that even though she is busy, she always finds time to write to Mom.

Isn't this a petty and childish way to treat an 84-year-old who just lost a family member? - Shocked Hubby

Dear Shocked: You bet. Erma sounds very self-centered and unable to put herself in someone else's shoes. She thinks her prompt birthday greetings make her special and, as a result, expects others to put her first, regardless of their circumstances. She can't help who she is, however, so please let your wife and mother-in-law handle her as they choose. You should stay out of it.

Food Bank receives large contribution

YOUNGSTOWN – As part of its Nourishing People challenge which raised $382,000 for hunger relief organizations across Ohio, Cargill has donated $15,000 to Second Harvest Food Bank of the Mahoning Valley.

Cargill presented the Nourishing People challenge to its businesses on Oct. 16, 2009 (World Hunger Day), asking them to reach out to local hunger relief organizations to address immediate needs and provide long-term solutions to hunger. The grant program, which ended March 1, resulted in $3.3 million in food and money donations worldwide, with $382,000 directly supporting communities across Ohio. Cargill's $15,000 donation was presented to Mike Iberis, executive director of Second Harvest Food Bank of the Mahoning Valley at an event last week in Columbus that brought together 12 of the hunger relief organizations from across the state receiving donations from Cargill. All the organizations are members of Feeding America, the nation's leading hunger relief organization. For additional information or to find out how you can help, contact the food bank at 330-792-5522 Ext. 14.
