DEDICATION

To Mr. Wilbur Springer, a true friend of Salem High School, who has given to his school the best he can, who has been a builder of men, who has met each trouble with a smile and each day with hearty good cheer, who has been a real friend to every student, ever willing to help, and who has proven himself a pal and a real man, we, the class of '28, respectfully and humbly dedicate this issue of "The Quaker."

FOREWORD

With the honest assurance that we have done our best and the hope that we have held aloft the spirit of cooperation in our school, we, the Quaker Staff, tender you this twenty-second "Quaker." We have attempted to embody in this annual the most modern and up-to-date principles so that Salem High may be in step with the march of time. We have installed these innovations with the hope that this "Quaker" may be different and with the hope that our efforts may not be in vain.

We sincerely desire that this annual meets with your approval. We hope you will approve of our modernistic trend. If we succeed in pleasing you then the "Quaker Staff" extends a glad hand and says "thank you and God bless you."

THE FACULTY

JOHN S. ALAN, SUPERINTENDENT

The man back of it all, the man who remains in the background is our loyal and willing friend, Mr. Alan. He has been responsible for much of the success of Salem High. Few of us will ever forget his winning smile, his twinkling eye and soft voice. He, too, has offered his time and worthy advice to any who may have been in trouble. In this, our last message as students to Mr. Alan, the class of '28 extends best wishes for continued success for Our Superintendent.

W. F. SIMPSON, PRINCIPAL

We are becoming more and more aware of the fact that teacher and student and principal and student have been meeting each other on a plane that is conducive to better and higher education. Mr. Simpson has welcomed any cooperation between faculty and student, he has been ever willing to help and advise. He has boosted Salem in all activities. For these and other reasons he has proved himself worthy of being admiral of our Ship. The senior class wishes to thank Mr. Simpson for his fine spirit.

SENIORS

Will you be glad when June is here?
Will you be glad to leave this year?
Will you be glad to enter life?
And bear the burdens and the strife?

Will you be glad to go away?
Will you be glad to go and stay?
Just stop and think a bit.
Just as I have thought of it!

Senior Class History

As Freshmen the Class enjoyed a successful year. Lowell Allen, Bertha Mae Hassey and Charles Herbert figured quite strongly in Athletics and a number of the class were on the permanent honor roll. Of course there was a party and to we Freshmen, it was a grand success.

The next year came the momentous question of whom we should elect as officers since being sophomores called for such dignitaries. Walter Deming, Peg Atkinson and Bob Phillips were elected president, vice president and secretary and treasurer respectively. Again Allen, Herbert and Hassey are prominent in Athletics with the addition of Harwood.

Two very successful parties were held and the Sophomores carried off several honors in the Brook's Contest.

Having passed two mile-stones in the high school the class was now ready to start the third mile race. We started off with a bang by re-electing the same officers.

The Juniors tries their hand at acting and the class play "Grumpy," directed by Mr. Drennan and starred by Charles Wilhelm and Bertha Mae Hassey, was a great success.

Charles Wilhelm was made Assistant Editor of the Quaker and Lowell Allen and Bertha Mae Hassey were made captains of next year's basketball teams—Charles Herbert was made captain of the next year's football team.

Two good parties were held and then came the supreme social event of the history of the class, the Junior-Senior Prom, well managed by the Juniors. It was voted by the Seniors, to have been the best ever staged.

The Seniors welcomed several new members to the class—and—wonder of all wonders—the same officers were re-elected but, sad to relate, we lost our treasurer through the bonds of matrimony and Deane Phillips was elected to take his place.

Then came the play, "The Whole Town's Talking," and the town surely did talk about the wonderful acting of Wayne Morron, Charles Wilhelm and Dorothy Cobb and the rest of the super-cast. The success of the play was largely due to Miss Stahl, who, though it was her first high school production, has certainly proved that she is one of no mediocre ability.

The Salemasquesters' Salem Highs new dramatic Club was organized at the request of the Senior play cast and Mr. Simpson.

The exams were next and Louise Smith, Wayne Morron and Edith Flickinger were named as honor graduates.

Besides these there were elected five other commencement speakers, Charles Wilhelm, Elizabeth McKee, Walter Deming and Anna Ruth Miller and George Ruggy.

Beside Allen and Herbert we see other Senior fellows prominent in athletics. These include Roessler, Christen, Talbot, Debnar, Jenkins, Harwood, Deming and Judge. Among the girls were Hassey, Beck, Zeller, and Atkinson. Allen and Roessler went to Chicago to enter the National Interscholastic Indoor Track-meet. Allen placed first in the pole vault. Once Roessler tied for second place with only two entries. Salem placed fifth in the enter meet.

Lila Kelly is supplying the world with beautiful paintings using Martha Bush and Alice Stallsmith as models. Her pictures inspire all to lower heights. Ruth Moff is also artistic and is securely putting the people out of their misery with her bird-like notes. She and Anna Ruth Miller are still inseparable, the latter standing by to receive any bouquets which the singer might be unlucky enough to receive. Alice Moser is busy keeping house and the same to Thelma O'Connel.

And Louise Smith, that precocious little girl, is educating the Zulu tribes of Alaska. So far, she has had marked success. They have learned to abstain from killing anyone one day out of a week. It's a wonder that she lived this long.

Mina Greenisen is very happy on her dairy and poultry farm. Joseph Hurray is her chicken caretaker and Margaret Stewart her milk-maid. Otherwise, she runs it herself and it surely is proving a success. We see Gladys Fults as another one of those great educators of the ignorant mass. Thelma Justice is in her school and teaches "personality plus."

Paul Fogg is still trying to get out of the fog that has always surrounded him, but he has only succeeded in enveloping another person, unseen as yet, in its folds.

Victoria Piticar and Gertrude Juhn are very talented musicians and play every Saturday night with the Washingtonville band in the largest house in Damascus. Lela and Martha Whinery are also entertainers. Margaret Mae Mullins and Alma Fleischer give classical dances.

Edith Fleckinger is bookkeeper for the "Good Housekeeping." Bertha Mae Hassey is in the movies. She lately appeared in "The Way of the Apaches" as Letty Lythe who vamped them all. Dorothy Cobb also appeared in the silent drama as the frail golden haired victim of all the vicious villains of the silver sheet. Dorothy Bodendorfer is their costume designer and Richard Harwood their publicity manager. We know why all the women try to copy their frocks, and all the men sneak out every time their films come to town.

William Bowers is a very zealous missionary who tries to lead the wicked into the paths of the righteous. The world has suddenly become better. Edgar Haworth has followed his father's footsteps. He is doing his best to try to persuade Hazel Beck and Ethel Bodo to attend church. Nellie Naragon is the organist for Ed. and Deane Phillips passes around the money box. He can't sneak any of this money. He uses mental hygiene.

These scenes all disappear and in their places appear circus tents. Martin Debnar is the big "bally-hoo" man. James Cooper is a lion-tamer and Cecilia Williams is the cook. Lowell Brown is yelling: "Just ten cents to see the biggest and strongest man in the Utopian world! Come one, come all, and view this marvel of the age." We are pleasantly surprised to see Lee Christen occupying this honorable position. Steve Tarzen is the venerable sword swallower, and Earl Orshan, the tatooed giant. Elizabeth Collier is a great tight rope walker, and gets across it just in the nick of time, just as she always got into 206 before the bell. Jean Binsley is the longest haired woman in the world. She can wrap her raven-black locks completely around her. Hazel Baker is the snake charmer and Edward Dunn the great contortionist who can throw all his links out of socket and then back again.

The ball becomes dark again, all the scenes fade away, the curtain falls, and the dust settles once more.

Class Prophecy

A particular custom (and one which seems very unnecessary and bothersome to the writer, at least) is that of giving a prophecy of the great things to be done in the near or far future by the brilliant graduating class and so I will wipe the dust off the crystal sphere of time and will try to rob it of its secrets.

As the curtain lifts, a bed appears, a hospital bed. A doctor and nurse stand with anxious frowns on their brows gazing despondently upon a patient in the bed who is wildly waving his arms this way and that. Bill Chalfant has finally succumbed to the strain of leading yells for the "Mule" and "Goat" games and is carefully tended by Chick Herbert, a very broad-minded doctor, and Moynelle Giffin who makes an exceedingly capable and sweet looking nurse. And, oh yes, lest we forget the longest of it, Wayne Morron, the dignified and portly prosecuting attorney, is also present ready to pounce upon any words that might fall from the patient's lips. Francis Janick and Raymond Fawcett are internes here.

The scene shifts and reveals a vast panorama of desert land. In the distance is a ranch-house. As one goes closer, a great deal of bustling and hurrying and scurrying is perceived. The annual roundup is just over and a large dance and entertainment is being held here for all the vicinity. Bob Talbot is the general foreman or manager, as usual, and is busy "bossing" the cowboys, Raymond Votaw, Edward Sanor, John King, Harry Ulicny, and Lawrence Ratcher. But wait a moment, that isn't all. We mustn't leave out Thornton DeJane, still the shiek of Washingtonville and Charles Grimm, who still steps along at fifty miles an hour.

As I gaze steadfastly into the ball, I see "Rib" Allen and Keith Roesler soaring over the clouds. The gods of the air had better watch out or their places will be usurped.

But now, we get into the industrial world. Evan Jenkins now owns the filling station and daily supplies Charles Wilhelm with gas for his travels around the country selling patented buttons for buttonless shirts. No need to say that he sells them. We all know of Charlie's forensic ability. Also needless to say that Phebe Ellen travels with him to keep idle fingers out of mischief. Theda Justice and Mary O'Keefe are the stenographers for the company and daily rid it of many dollars. They say it is a shame for the directors such as John Cosgrove and Willard Edgerton to have any monetary worries. Willie declares that it would not worry him at all as he needs it for Helen Kloos. Ralph Knepper has decided that he is going to be a shoe salesman and Glenn Jones has agreed to help him. We are all well shod now.

Geraldine Clay and Margaret Atkinson have opened a "Go Ye Wrinkles" shop and are ably assisted by Geneva Dillon and Vivian Dilworth. We have noticed how much better the world has been looking. But what they haven't succeeded in doing is restoring the health of Blanche Anglemeyer and Winifred Bailey. (Just whisper this).

George Ruggy has a drug store (not at a corner) and he supplies the city of Winona with drugs, toothpicks, canned heat, powder and what nots. Charles Bennett has one of those things and there is keen competition between Winona and Hanoverton as to which can buy the most. Louelva Hoopes is Charlie's very willing assistant while Norman Kennedy shakes sodas for Albert Fernengel and Lawrence Fisher who are both eternally thirsty.

Junior Class History

As Freshmen we started out with a bang! and oh, how we have keut up that spirit! We started out with due modesty and with only twelve people in extra-curricular activities and all of these featured in athletics.

The next year we had a great many more to prove that we were climbing the ladder to class fame. We furnished the football squad with George Konnert, Ed Sidinger, and Jim Scullion.

All this has been indeed praiseworthy, but this year has far surpassed the two preceding years and has told what we are capable of doing. When the call came, everyone was ready, and here's what we have done.

The officers this year are James Scullion, President; James Wingard, Vice President, and Helen Williams, Secretary-Treasurer.

ATHLETICS

These Juniors wore the red and black on the basketball squads: Ed Sidinger, Jim Scullion, Herman Litty, Ed Shilling, Fred Guilford, James Wingard, Robert Cope, George Konnert, Melba Barnes, Captain elect, Bertha Kent, Betty Moss, Maude Buck, Adelaide Dyball, Elizabeth Riddle, Margaret Carnes, Ruth Eakin, Mary Older, Lorene Jones, Wade Loop, Florence Davis and Helen Shelton, Junior managers.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

Dorothy Fuller, Ada Lottman, Nathan Harris and Virginia Callahan are tooting and sawing their way in the orchestra and we are surely proud of having them there.

These people are partially responsible for the revived interest in debate: Florence Davis, Elvira Roessler, and Virginia Callahan.

Helen Williams claimed second place in both the essay contest on Life Insurance and the Oratorical Contest on the Constitution of the United States.

Then there is the social life. The first class party was a masquerade. Ray Finneran, the dear little flapper girl, was the most comical; the colonial lady, Adele Treat, wore the most beautiful costume; and Nathan Harris's idea for a Chinese mandarin netted him first place for the most original.

Our second class party was an equal success, the main feature being square dancing.

The big event of the year was the prom. We hope sincerely that the Seniors enjoyed this, our parting token of esteem and regret.

Three-fourths of the sand has dropped and in one more year we shall have to tip the hour-glass ready for the next hour, for after all, life is but a day, and now in the morning is when we are most fitted for the work to be done.

Sophomore Class History

The Sophomore class of this year can be proud of its reputation. During our Freshmen year we were successful in class football, Glen Whinnery and Joe Pasco being the stars in this line of sport. Following came debating. Even though our team, featuring Nathan Caplan, Mary Roth, Bertha Marsilio and Virginia Harris, was defeated it can be recommended for its faithful workers. In regard to the Brook's contest, one of our members, Walter Theiss, was a participant.

This year the Sophomores have accomplished a great deal. Glen Whinnery again proved his skill in basketball, and as a result he became a member of the varsity. Anna Zelle, an enthusiastic basketball player, also became a member of the girl's team. Other Sophomores who were prominent in athletic activities are Mary Roth, Zella Krepps, Thelma Cain, Emily Mullett, Charles Greiner, Ted Van Campen, and George Schmid.

We are proud to mention as permanent honor roll students the following people: Florence Binsley, Arlene Davis, Laura Mae Hovermale, Nila Hofman, Lois Greenisen, Mary Frances Roessler, Bertha Ryser, Kathryn Winter, Anna Zelle, Philip Leider, Ernest Naragon and Newell Pottorf.

Ted Van Campen, a newcomer to our class, is the only sophomore who belonged to the debate team.

Three parties were held during our high school career. All of them were a success, and were attended by a large number of students. Our last social entertainment was held Friday, the thirteenth, and despite superstition, a good time was had by all.

Lets keep up our splendid record, Sophs, so that when the time arrives to leave the old Salem High, we may do so with a feeling that our four years have been a success.

History of the Class of "31"

Could you have read the thoughts of each freshman as he began his career, in high school, you would have found a strange and probably a highly amusing conflict of emotions going on within this diminutive person. For predominant in the minds of each pupil were the thoughts of what the new life would be like, what changes it would bring, whether they would be for better or for worse, or whether he looked as uneasy as he felt, or whether those older students over there in the corner were secretly laughing at him, as though they glorified in his secret apprehension. Few realized that in later years they could look back and laugh at the fears of their childish fancy, which were constructed and enlarged upon by a lively imagination. They did not until later realize their importance in the routine of school life. This importance was proved by the number of freshmen who vied with each other for both academic and athletic honors. After once getting started there was no doubt about the enthusiasm and earnestness with which the freshmen plunged into the midst of the various activities.

First in the line of sports we must mention that well-known game of football, which with its tenseness of battle, joy of conflict, and enthusiasm of loyal rooters combined with the brisk October air, has made many an old man wish he were young again.

Heading the list for football honors are Paul ("Bulldog") Sartick, William (Bill) Smith and August (Augie) Corso, all of whom contributed largely to the team's success. Other Freshmen who deserve notice for their football ability are Wilford Smith, Gustave Herman, Eugene Harwood, George Ballantine, Louis Benedict, Leo Affolter, Hugh Bailey, Serafin Buta, Gerald Harshman and Weber.

On the debating team Susan Lutsch was a very efficient alternate on the negative side. We are all proud to think at least one freshman succeeded in making this team.

On turning the next leaf of the calendar of sports, we find that it is entitled, "Basketball." The Freshmen who contended for honors in this particular line of athletics are, Paul Sartick who made the first team, while August Corso, William Smith, Albert Baltarinic and Walter Leasch helped compose the "Black" team.

We are proud to have the Freshman girls represented in the squad by Sophia Adams. Although she was the only one to make the team we have good prospects for the years to come.

Heading the list of track men is Harold Walker. And he certainly is a walker for he steps away from everyone, as other one-half milers can testify, especially those of "Sigma Nu" fraternity of Mt. Union College. Harold came in a close second in his first race of the season. Other coming attractions as tracksters are Wilford Smith, William Smith, Henry Reese, Wilbert Weber, Homer Ewing, Ed Paulini, Jack Perkins, Russel Thompson, Eugene Yarwood, August Corso and Lawrence Weigand.

And last but not least came the most captivating event of the whole year. The only social activity that was strictly made up of Freshmen, was held on April the twentieth. It was the Freshman Party.

Another Freshman class has come and gone and we sigh regretfully as we leave the old and take up the new, but we also sigh with satisfaction as we look back over the Freshman year and see the progress that we have made.

Cheerleaders

Hip, Hip, Hurray!
Rah, rah, rah, rah, Salem, Salem
Rah, rah, rah, rah, Salem, Salem
Rah, rah, rah, rah, Salem, Salem
Rah!

For the first time in ages, the cheer leaders have found space in the Quaker annual. And they deserve it. They've earned their pay. Let's go, altogether with nine rahs for Bill, Peg and Huss, Cheerleaders Supreme.

When Salem High lost the peerless Schmid, Caplan, Tuffy combination, everyone believed Salem would be obsolete as far as cheer leading was concerned. But the three pictured here, stepped neatly and deftly into vacant shoes and showed that they could stand out with the best.

As everyone knows, cheerleaders play an important part in any sort of contest. Without them enthusiasm would dwindle and a lot of the pep and vim of the game would be missing. They add that touch of color and atmosphere so necessary to scholastic competition. They arouse enthusiasm and urge their representatives on to victory. When spirits are low and defeat stands facing the school, the cheerleaders fan the dying embers and a new spark of hope springs alive.

For all these things and more, the students of Salem High School extend hearty thanks to our cheerleaders. They have proved capable as well as worthy leaders. They have fulfilled a rather thankless job with the spirit of true sportsmen. They have helped to make our season in athletics the success it has been.

Football

The sport year of 1928 represents mainly one of building and preparing for a task to come. Even the rejuvenated field was made into a real stadium, and seems now only to await the arrival of a grandstand. We certainly appreciated the field. The Red and Black cannot brag of her victories, for they were limited. However, we did accomplish something well worth while. Starting off the schedule with but five letter men, a complete team was filled with new material. Not much was expected or could be expected with only a remnant of the mighty machine of last year. However, determined as they were, four opponents were too anxious to mow down the name of Salem. And now the point—at the height of our defeat, the largest crowd of the season stood and cheered for Salem, when the boys in Red turned defeat to victory, from Wellsville, in a wonderful ten minute rally. That tribute from the town people was well worth any cost.

The team met two of the undefeated teams of the year in Louisville and Youngstown South. The first game was lost to a plucky little team which almost won at Salem last year. It was a hard luck but only stirred the boys to a greater effort and they held Youngstown's best team to a lone touchdown. Struthers and then Warren rated the Red down a notch and then the county contests started.

Wellsville came with Irons and Calhoun as their greatest threats in Top Row—Schmid, Kent, Buda, Herron, Webber, Affolder, Terry, Rogers, Shriver, Smith, Quinn, Volpe, Harshman, Bailey.

Second Row—Smith, Meiter, Griener, Ballantine, Linton, Whinnery, Debnar, Lobsher, Herman, Shilling, Benedict.
Third Row—Manager Filler, Roessler and Jenkins, Allen Pasco, Talbot, Corso, Guilford, Van Blaricom, Sartick, Neverdusky, Yarwood, Coaches Henning and Springer.

years, and scored in the first half. Then imbibed with greater spirit; Salem tightened, and shoved Allen and Seeds through for three consecutive scores. That game alone proved the real metal of the team. All praise must be given Leetonia's small team. They came with a "do or die" spirit and were a fine bunch of heady players in defeat. Palestine, bad for first time in years, was soundly trimmed, and Liverpool remained as an obstacle to the county championship. Salem had won the crown the preceding year, so a tie game would not wrest away the title. In a foot of mud at Liverpool, four scoreless periods were played, and Salem remained champ. In a like field, Alliance battered the defence in the first half, so that no retaliation could be made the second period. The best that was seen at Reilly Stadium, was the Red and Blue.

The method of this year's team was like that of other years, and seemed all doped by the opponents. The writer claims the best backfields were in Salem. It contained two kickers, two passers, two speed merchants and open field runner, three line buckers and a heady field general. This shows that possibly the line was weak. That fact was noted, for the three center men were light, and the tacklers and ends small and uncertain. At times, a more ferocious attack could not be seen, and again, that very point of the line seemed weakest.

The team as a whole, was well built, and the best of everything was represented. Captain Chick Herbert was a steady player anywhere; Sidinger, a sure-fire, and Seeds and Allen were lightning. Earley, a late developer, took Schuller's place at defensive fullback. Talbot, the weight man, held one side with Christen, while two small boys, Debnar and Judge kept the other. Captain-elect Scullion, played a flashy game at center. Harwood, the only end to graduate, was a heady player. Other Senior letter men to graduate, were: Backs, Day and Roessler, and Lineman Hurray and Deming and Manager Jenkins. All in all the boys who leave, will be missed greatly.

Too bright a light cannot be turned to next year's camp. Even now, we see a complete team! For Salem High they did! Next years is your! Look toward next October and just see Captain Scullion lead out the team. They are forming. A heady bunch for Louisville to open with. Look 'em over! The ten letter men ought to make an unbeatable combination.

Basketball

Although a late duel open, the 1928 Basketball squad ended the year in a blaze of glory. No honors were toted off at the Akron tournament, but a string of six victories marked the culmination of the year. In that final spurt the county championship was again brought to Salem and three of our oldest rivals defeated. Truly this should act as a proper stimulus for next year's Red and Black.

With but two varsity members left from last year, Coach Springer builded around these a team which found itself at the close of the season. Throughout the initial part of the year something seemed to be lacking in the makeup. This seemed to be found in the placing of Whinnery, a sophomore, at center. This player had been on the second squad up to this time but his insertion as pivot man had the right effect.

Starting the season with new four piece suits a defeat was swallowed hard from Kent state last year's B. State Champs. The next team was made of Salem High Stars of two years. With a week of practice last year's team was invincible. Later they even defeated the local pro-team. Cleveland West Commerce was easily defeated and then came a string of three defeats by Alliance, Akron East and Liverpool. The team was at its lowest ebb here but was revived by a victory in a very close game from last year's A champs. Akron South conquered the Red by four points and two were won in quick succession.

Then came the spurt. The team at last was made. Palestine, a county team was heavily pasted and Lisbon and Wellsville given the same treatment. The fact was then noticed that if the next three games were won a successful season would be had. Which we did! Next Kent State B Champs, possessor of two all-State men and former victor over Salem were completely smothered. Alliance, our big rival and former victor was beaten in her own gym.

Last of all comes Satan. The Liverpool game certainly was Satanic. It may be termed better than Youngstown South game in the fact that we won. We hereby call it the best game ever played in the Salem gym. Maybe, just maybe, Liverpool was a better team but determination won that game. Starting out as the championship game it was, the fans were hoarse before the half. Liverpool jumped off the last period. It was score and score all the way. The game seemed won for the Blue with eight points and three minutes to play but six scores were counted out to the Blue's one. Salem were the county Champs in three sports for three consecutive playing seasons.

That game alone would have marked a successful season. But further we defeated closest rival Alliance. Our season record compared with Canton McKinley's and Liverpool another State title contender was defeated. The best in the district was met and the schedule was really the hardest yet understaken.

With the rounding out of the team a picture is shown. Whinnery a not large pivot man jumps the ball to Sidinger who passes the ball to Jenkins who throws the ball to Litty who dribbles to Capt. Allen who sinks a short one. Subs Scullion, Harwood, Guilford, Sartick, Shilling and Wingard are ably backing them at the side line. A fine picture and a little broken by the turning of the year.

Or course, we shall miss Capt. Allen, a sure shot player and leader. Likewise we will never see "Jup" Fogg a fast forward and Jenkins a sure guard and Harwood a heady player. But we shall have an experienced team and one to reflect more glory on Salem High next December when the dust is removed from the gummy shoes.

Girl's Basketball

An expectant pause, a murmur and then a burst of applause. Twelve white-clad figures pass down the crowded gym. Who are they? Why, they're our team—our girls.

The little one who carried the ball? That's Hassey, the Captain. Kent, the curly haired one, and Bertha Zellar are the other regular forwards. Then there are "Slats" Riddle, the skinny one and little "Honey" Bodo. Zelle is good too.

Guards? Well, there are Beck, Barnes and Moss, you know them. Bailey is one with the grin. The other two are juniors, A. Dyball and M. Beck.

Pretty good crowd, what? They won, too, only lost three games out of eleven that they played. Course two of those were county games. Wellsville and Palestine. Palestine got the county championship. Salem tied Wellsville for second. Struthers and Warren were the only other teams which beat Salem.

The varsity sure walloped the Alumnae. They beat Liverpool both here and there. Wellsville won once but Salem beat them once. Damascus lost to Salem as did Lisbon. Not such a bad record.

Did you see that Palestine game here? Say, that was some game. They played like—well, the boy's game seemed slow by comparison. Sure, it was a great game. There were five seniors on the first team this year. They were Winifrey Bailey, Hazey Beck, Ethyl Bodo, Bertha Mae Hassey and Bertha Zellars.

Top Row—Coach Margaret Tinsley, Bertha Zellers, Winifred Bailey, Adelaide Dyball, Elizabeth Riddle, Melba Barnes, Maude Buck.

Bottom Row—Ethel Bodo, Hazel Beck, Captain Bertha Mae Hassey, Betty Moss, Anna Zelle, Bertha Kent.

Eleven Juniors made the squad; Melba Barnes, Maude Buck, Margaret Carns, Adelaide Dyball, Ruth Eakin, Lorene Jones, Bertha Kent, Dorothy Leider, Betty Moss, Mary Older and Betty Riddle.

Two Sophomores, Reich and Zelle got suits while Sophia Adams represented the Freshmen.

Seven of last year's first team were left. They were "Bones" Barns, Hazel Beck, Maude Buck, "Hus" Hassey, Bertha Kent, "Moot" and Bertha Zellars. About six of the others who made squad this year had had varsity training last year.

From this material, Coach Tinsley evolved a team which was hard to beat.

The season started off well with a defeat for the Alumnae. But the next week Struthers beat Salem at Struthers. However, the girls went to Liverpool and won in spite of the fact that nearly the whole team was out on fouts. Anyone who saw that game will agree that we have a fine bunch of subs.

Again they went to defeat, this time at the hands of Warren. But they retrieved Salem's fortunes the next night by beating Wellsville.

Then on February 4 came the high point of the season—the Palestine-Salem game here. That is surely a game which will stand out in the minds of all those who saw it. It will be remembered not only for the fine playing but for the fighting spirit, which the team displayed.

Certainly, that was the best game of the schedule in spite of the fact that they lost.

The next week Salem won from Lisbon but lost to Wellsville when they went there. The season wound up with two victories for Salem; Lisbon and East Liverpool.

The red team, too, deserves credit. They did their bit, practicing faithfully and helping the first team to perfect its play. They had only two games Warren and Damascus. They lost to Warren and won at Damascus.

All in all the season was very successful. In all the games, Salem scored 278 points while their opponents chalked up a total score of 262. The game averages were 25 for Salem against their opponents 192.

The varsity had a star performer in its captain, Bertha Mae Hassey. As leader of the Salem sextette she set a splendid example for her worthy team mates. She has enviable form while in action and no doubt is the pattern player for most of the lowly aspirants who love the game. She was a flash on the floor and her style of play was a smooth rythmical offensive that put to shame the guards who tried to stop her.

Speaking of guards, Hazel Beck was easily the best that Salem has put out as yet. It was pure pleasure to watch her play. Primed with fighting spirit she out-jumped, out-ran and out-witted the forwards who were unlucky enough to have her as opponent. Zellars, Bailey and Bodo were other seniors who played excellent ball all season. They will be missed—these seniors, but things look extraordinarily bright for a good showing next year. We have Riddle, Kent, Barnes, Buck, Moss, Jones, Dyball and Zelle ready to hop into first place. The reserves are in trim and there is a raft of talent in the Soph and Frosh crowd. The Freshman invaded the squad this year with Adams forward, and predictions are that many others of the class of '31 will win posts before another season rolls by.

Anyway—here's to the team that played so well for us this year and to the one that will represent us next.

Track

Running through the most difficult track schedule ever encountered by a Salem team, the Red and Black once more retired in a manner satisfactory to everyone. Undaunted by any meet, large or small, the colors led onward to victory. In many ways it was also the most spectacular of years. We were wanted everywhere and Salem teams sometimes fought on different fields. We must here number Lowell Allen's feat of holding the scholastic world record as the first High school lad to clear thirteen feet in the pole vault. That must be enlarged at the top of the book of Salem High athletic feats. With him must go his ever presser and friend, Keith Roessler, who himself, cleared over twelve feet.

After various meets were entered and passed, the county meet dedicated our field and new stand in victory. Although it was thought to be one of the hardest encounters, Salem athletes flashed in with 64 points, just as much as the next three together. Two records, the pole vault and javelin throw were broken and a record set for the high hurdler. Nine firsts were chalked up for Salem, four of which were spectacular. Both Allen and Seeds beat English in the hundred; Allen set a new vault record at 12 ft. 9 in. Terry threw the shot over 40 feet, and Van Campen ran a nice half in 2 minutes, 7 seconds.

Top Row—Herbert, Seeds and Siding.

Second Row—Orashan, Paulini, Walker, Neverdusky, Whinery, Allen, Roessler, Shilling, Coy

Third Row—Ewing, Horstman, Brantingham, Perkins, Guilford, Phillips, Terry, Windram, Reese, Windle.

Reserve Page

We in all respect dedicate this page to all Reserves and Sub-Reserves who played for Salem. We include within all managers and class teams who did their duty more for fun than glory. Realizing that we all cannot be varsity timber, we thing the reserve strength of the major sports should be represented here.

On any team it is hard to find one man who gained a position on the varsity without playing on the Reserve Team. Here and there we may pick one out; as Allen, Sidinger, Whinnery and Sartick, but the rule is close. Hence the importance of that team can not be over-stressed.

BASKETBALL

The two-varsity team idea instituted by Coach Springer last year seems rather to be abused. The idea was made so this year's varsity would be helped. The result was that about seven former Black-men acquired Red-men suits. The situation now is somewhat different, for it seems too many will remain for next year's varsity. And so the let-down. Not enough practice was had for the Black sweated boys. Still, most were underclassmen and will have a chance next year. So many were out that two Black teams were made, all with equal chance next year. Sartick Smith, Schmid, Baltorinic, Pasco, Fernangel and Konnera were the first while Cope, Quinn, Corso, Floyd and Gregg constituted the second. Their chance mainly depended on their ability, for now they did not lack experience. Managers Talbot, Loop and Greiner worked hard this year and deserve all due praise, while Intramural Manager Debnar has done some fine work.

ORGANIZATIONS

The Hi-Y

The Hi-Y this year goes on record as having taken the initiative in several big movements in this High school.

It was through the club that the present school-boy patrol system, in force at the grade schools, was installed.

On Friday night, April 16, 1928, came the crowning event in the career of the club—the Hi-Y Nite. This party was voted a magnificent success by all who attended, and it is earnestly hoped by all members that the future Hi-Y will make the “Fun-Nite” a permanent social institution in Salem High.

The club sent representatives to the Hi-Y conference and discussions were held on material brought back from there. These discussions were very interesting and instructive.

The president was Dick Harwood, and the leader, Coach Springer, was forced to leave the club. A Freshman was appointed to take his place and Mr. Fley guided the club successfully through the rest of the term.

An agreeable and profitable year has been enjoyed by all the members, and those of us who are leaving Salem High and the Hi-Y, wish it the best success in all its undertakings in future years.

Debate

This year marked the debut of another coach—Mr. Fley, debate coach. This was Mr. Fley's first year at Salem, and he has done mighty well with team.

The affirmative team was captained by a veteran, Charles Wilhelm, who proved a most capable leader. Walter Coy, Elvira Ressler, Ted Van Campen and Louise Smith, completed the affirmative side. Although they lost both debates—Ravenna and Niles—they were not disgraced and went down fighting.

The negative, composed of Virginia Callahan, Florence Davis, Susie Lutsch, and Captain Walter Deming, succeeded in winning both of their debates. The season stood two wins, two defeats.

Wilhelm, Deming, Coy and Smith are seniors. That leaves a good team for next year; 1928 should see more victories for Salem.

Top Row—Walter Deming, Virginia Callahan, Walter Coy, Florence Davis, Susie Lutsch and Ted Van Campen.

Science Club

The Science Club, an established Club of Salem High began the year with Charles Bennett, president; Wade Loop vice president and Adelaide Dyball, secretary. In the past few years the club has done some interesting work among the students of the whole school as well as among the members of the club.

At first the meetings consisted of talks given by the members of the club on scientific subjects. These talks proved interesting as well as instructive. Several trips were planned during the year. These trips are also a part of the Science Club's activities. These jaunts bring the students into close and actual contact with the scientific world. They may see exactly just how things are carried on, "how it is done." This is knowledge that can be gained no where else and in no other way.

Several movies were also secured this year. These are for the benefit of the entire student body, not alone the members of the Science Club. These movies proved more and more interesting and as a general rule were shown to a good attendance of students. Many vague and hazy ideas of science are cleared up with these pictures. Things are made so plain, everything is explained in detail so that even the most dense may understand. In this respect alone the Science Club has proved a real benefit.

Le Cercle Francais

Le Cercle Francais, one of Salem High's new clubs, was organized at the beginnig of the school year with Charles Wilhelm as president; Louise Smith, vice-president, and Richard Shaw, secretary. The purpose of the club, was to come into closer contact with French life and customs. The second year French students enthusiastically received the idea and enrolled to the number of about twenty-one.

The club launched into its work eagerly and with lots of pep. The meetings consisted of French current events, French songs, and poems, games and piano solos. Meetings were held twice a month, at which time these various programs were presented. The students willingly took part in the programs and all seemed to enjoy the topics.

At the end of the first semester, Le Cercle Francais held a dinner in the Domestic Science rooms. Delicious eats were on hand, and peppy entertainments followed. At this time, new officers were elected. Charles Wilhelm was retained as president; Gladys Fults became vice-president, and Richard Shaw remained secretary.

Another big undertaking was attempted in the form of a French play, "La Bete." The play was given in full stage setting and was a marked success. It was hard work, but enjoyable.

The club feels that its first year was highly successful, and well they might!

Top Row—Steve Tarzan, Betty Moss, Marian Cope, Bertha Mae Hassey, Margaret Stewart, Luelva Hoopes, Gladys Fults, Francis Cooper and Richard Shaw.

The Salemasquers

Among the various clubs which have been organized in Salem High this year, I will venture to say that one of the most prominent is the Salem dramatic club. This was first organized by Miss Stahl and members of the Senior play cast. After several meetings a course was worked out and work was begun. Only juniors and seniors were made eligible and each person must have been a successful tryout. Forty-four members were taken in, including the Senior play cast, all of whom were made charter members. At the first few meetings business was taken up, officers elected and a constitution formed. At later meetings plays were given in the most interesting manner and critics were appointed for each. Among those given are "The Robbery" "The Man With the Bowler Hat," "Twittle Dove," and "The Sequel." Remarkable talent has been displayed in all of these plays.

The Salemasquers will display their skill before the public sometime in May and the club will use the profits to a good advantage.

Let us all give a toast to the success of the Salemasquers!

"The Whole Town's Talking"

With the whole town keenly interested in the Senior play, due to the fine success of "Grumpy" their junior production, the senior play cast started work on "The Whole Town's Talking" by Emerson and Anita Loos. This was the advent of Miss Hilda Rose Stahl as director of dramatic productions; of course everyone was anxious to see what she could do.

The entire cast of the junior play, with a few exceptions, was given the job of upholding a fine reputation. And uphold it they did. The play was unqualified success. Credit goes to the cast and to Miss Stahl.

Henry Simmons, big paint manufacturer wants his daughter Ethel to marry Chester Benney, his partner. But Chester is a social blank and Mrs. Simmons has higher hopes for her daughter. A rich upstart from Chicago, Mr. Shields, falls in love with Ethel. He has Mrs. Simmons's approval. Ethel likes men of the world, men who have sowed their wild oats. So Mr. Simmons starts out to make Chester a man of the world and the fun begins. But it all ends happily, Chester finally winning Ethel.

Charles Wilhelm took the part of Mr. Simmons; Wayne Morron, Chester Binney; Margaret Atkinson, Mrs. Simmons; Dorothy Cobb, Ethel; Charles Herbert, Mr. Swift; Harold Hurst, Mr. Shields; Bertha Mae Hassey, Miss Lythe; Ruth Moff and Nellie Naragon, Miss Wilson and Miss Otis; Helen Koontz, Annie; Hazel Beck, Sadie Bloom and Walter Deming, taxi driver.

Junior Play "Charm"

The story concerns Ida May Harper a small town belle. Dazzled by the alluring pictures of city life painted by the Willetts, who are from New York, and by one of their guests, Mr. Lester, she decides to go New York to live.

Her father and mother and Joe Pond, who adores her, are trying to figure out some way to keep her at home when Mr. Klien, a Jewish book-agent appears. He sells Joe "The Book of Charm," which is guaranteed to make any one charming. They can keep Ida May at home, they study the book diligently and plan a "Buffet Souper" for her.

However, as the plot develops, Ida May finds that Joe is infinitely more interesting than Mr. Lester and that New York has no lure for her after all.

The cast consisted of:

Fred Guilford ----- Joe Pond
Ruth Eakin ----- Mrs. Harper
Bob McCauley ----- Mr. Harper
Meda Kelly ----- Ida May Harper
Glenn Broomall ----- Mr. Lester
Jim Wingard ----- Mr. Klein
Florence Davis ----- Belle Wilson

Melba Barnes ----- Miss Mildred
Helen Shelton ----- Babe
Elizabeth Riddle ----- Violet
Jim Scullion ----- Claude
Betty Moss ----- Mrs. Paxton
Alfred Brantingham ----- Rev. Paxton
Myron Bolta ----- Dr. Gardfield

Top Row—Myron Bolta, Glenn Broomall, Robert McCauley, Fred Guilford, James Scullion and Alfred Brantingham.

Bottom Row—Florence Davis, Ruth Akin, Helen Shelton, Betty Moss, Melba Barnes, Meda Kelly, Elizabeth Riddle and Miss Hilda Rose Stahl, coach.

Orchestra

Glancing back eight years ago, in the year 1920, we find that the first Salem High school orchestra originated in that year. Comparing the orchestra of that time, with all due credit to its members, to that of our own year, we find a contrast that is really remarkable, and very appropriate to the great advancement of our school since that time in all lines.

The first orchestra was small, instruments other than a violin or drum could not be bought in Salem. The director and originator of the orchestra idea, Miss Grace Orr, made arrangements with a Pittsburgh musical equipment concern for the appropriation of several instruments to increase the interest in the orchestra and make it larger.

During the year of its origination little progress was made, as students were learning to play the instruments, but sufficient progress was made the following year under Miss Orr's supervision that the orchestra was able to replace the city band at all school productions and won its first fame in the operetta, "Yokahama Maid," "Snow White," and "The Brownie Band."

This year the orchestra is directed by Walter Regal, a noted musician himself. Officers were elected, through his suggestion, and another new idea worked into the school.

Top Row—Nick Nan, Calvin Filler, John Janecek, Nick Nedelka, Nate Caplan, Wayne Morron, Earl Orashan, Charles Bennett, Nate Harriss, Kenneth Culler, Victoria Piticar, Edward Dunn and Dorothy Fuller.

Commerce Club

The Commerce Students Club was organized this year by those students who had a sufficient interest in commercial subjects to want to delve further in the realms of business. The Club adopted a constitution and started the year with Melvin Ormes, president, Lourene Jones, vice president and Grace Dyball, secretary.

The meetings at first consisted of talks by Mr. Hilgendorf, the sponsor, and by the various members of the club. Then the programs broadened a little and talks by prominent business men were given. These were especially valuable as they came from men, experienced in the ways of business. A little idea of a practical business life and the business world is a valuable piece of knowledge. There is a world of difference between learning business in school and putting that knowledge into practical use later on. Therein lies one of the potential benefits to be derived from the Commerce Students Club. By coming more closely into contact with the commercial world and its doings the members can gain a fine insight as to its doings. Of course the Club takes up these things on a small scale, but every little bit helps.

With all these things in mind the Club feels that it has had a very successful year. The members have been repaid many times for signing its membership list. The seniors leave with the hope and assurance that the members will carry on and maintain those ideals for which the club was every ready to stand.

Top Row—Russel Pearson, Melvin Ormes, President; Mary O'Keefe, Katherine Hirtz, Lourene Jones, Walter Coy, Grace Dyball, Florence Davis, Edith Flickinger and Robert Hortsman.

Quaker Staff

It is with no little trepidation and fear that the Quaker Staff presents this annual to the student body. It is only natural—a few students trying to please a group of six hundred. But we offer it to you with the hope that you will realize our handicaps and, above all else, like it. That is of paramount importance. We want you to like it. Just think a moment, folks. Realize what the staff was up against. You can imagine only a few of the many difficulties. Be fair with us friends and give us a square deal. We are sure you will like this annual; if we didn't we wouldn't have offered it to you.

Above all else we have tried to make it as modern as circumstances and finances would permit. We felt that color pages added a touch of color and beauty to the book; we have placed photos toward the bottom of the page to be different and also to continue our original idea of ultra-modern architectural design.

We realize that our readers have many suggestions of their own which they would have liked in this annual. We cannot expect to please everyone. But this is our work, we are proud of it and we sincerely hope that this annual is in keeping with the spirit of progress in Salem High.

The Quaker staff, which is no more, wishes you success in the years to come. Good-by, friends, till we meet again.

Class Will

We, the seniors, seeing that we must pass through the doors of our dear old alma mater, and considering ourselves to be in our right mind, memories and understandings do make this our last will and testament to give something to some unlucky undergraduate by which we shall be remembered. Thus the following have been given and bequeathed:

Martin Debnar wills his aged pipe to Tommy Tice. Tom will appreciate this gift.

Alice Moser has a novel, yes written by Alice, "Wriggle with Wriggley" that goes to Marion Cope.

Wayne Morron, nationally known as J. Wayne Morron is giving all of his A's to Ralph Perkins.

Nellie Naragon leaves her patent on noisless soup spoon to Virginia Harris.

Lowell Allen wills a desk of chewing gum wrappers in 309 to Jim Pidgeon. Jim is saving them to get a vanity case.

Ruth Moff has a soprano voice that goes to Albert Brumenshenkel to use in singing duets.

Willard Edgerton is going to give a pair of tin foil false teeth to Skinny Weber.

Phebe Ellen Parsons leaves her ability as an opera singer to Ruth Auld.

Edgar Haworth, before passing away wills his cunningness to Robert White.

Thelma O'Connell leaves her intense interest in civics class to Robert Eddy.

Harold Hurst leaves his "Curly Locks" to Wade Loop.

Edward Dunn is going to let Ruth Miller have his collegiate glasses. Both are friends.

Helen Koontz has a record "Alabama Bound" that Montgomery will get.

Charles Wilhelm leaves the key to his "Chuv-or-lay" to Keith Harsh. Keith will enjoy the jolts.

Evan Jenkins leaves his famous "Hah! Hah! to our pal Fred Himmlerspach.

Hazel Beck wills her talking eyes to Marjorie Bell.

Anna Ruth Miller leaves the dimple in her chin to Willie Smith.

Charles Herbert has a speedy Ford that Galen Weaver gets to take Helen Walton coasting in.

Thelma Justice is going to let Mary Harrington have the patent on her human talking machine that never runs down.

Earl Orashan leaves the dust of the mile for his close competitor, Homer Ewing, "Winona."

Louise Smith has a Cicero Book written in English that goes to William O'Neil.

Walter Deming wills his gilt edged novel "How To Make Love" to Nathan Harris.

Alice Stallsmith is giving Nellie Beck her ability to get rid of chocolate bars.

Dick Harwood wills all of his seriousness to Raymond Finneran.

Thornton DeJane gives Washingtonville's town hall to Jim Scullion to hold class meetings.

Margaret Atkinson leaves her combination tooth-brush and vanity case to Lawrence Hanna.

I, being an absent-minded attorney, have a very poor memory, so you whose names I have forgotten meet out front the last day and maybe the rest will have something for you. And—oh, yes, Edith Flickinger wills the red flower she wears on her black dress to Fred Guilford, who said she must have cut it out of the A. & P. advertisement in the "Saturday Evening Postum."

I, in conclusion, shall will this column to some under-graduate who will get it next year.

Politically Inclined

Teacher: Can you compare loud?

Al: Right! Loud, louder, "Lowden."

Crawford: Gosh the wind is blowing.

Bowers: Get behind me, dear; I'll keep the wind off you.

Rub: What publication carries the most advertising?

Dub: The Congressional Record.

Inquirer: Is that your new public school over there?

Answer: Yes, that is our Chamber of Commas.

Gene Tunney says that prize fighting should be classed as an art. The great artists of the ring, of course, are those who can put their opponents on canvas.

Jinks: So Givvins is lazy?

Links: Yeah, he's so lazy he'd rather listen to a bedtime story than turn the dial.

Tunney: There is nothing I can say of Hamlet that has not already been said.

Forget Hamlet, Gene, and think of Heeney.

The real optimist is the Kansan who went to New York for a monkey gland operation to restore his youth, and bought only a one-way ticket so he could get the benefit of a child's fare ticket on the return trip.

"I understand that your wife thought of taking up law before she married you."

"That's so. Now she's content to lay it down."

First Roman (at Christian massacre): We've got a capacity crowd, but still we're losing money. The upkeep on the lions must be pretty heavy.

Second Roman: Yes sir. These lions sure do eat up the prophets.

Doctor: About nine patients out of ten live thru this operation. Is there anything I can do for you before we begin?

Patient: Yessah. Kindly hand me ma hat.

"I know a lot of things I do not not tell,"

He says, and we will grant him that; although
The one thing all his friends know plenty well
Is that he tells a lot he does not know.

Newsman: Beg pardon, sir, are you the deck steward?

Captain: S-A-Y! If I'b the deck steward what the dickens do you suppose the captain looks like?

"So you want a divorce, Rastus?"

"Yes, suh, jedge, yo' honah—Ah sho'ly does."

"What's the trouble?"

"Count ob ma wife makin' an ironical remark"

"An ironical remark?"

"Yes, suh—she says if you don't go to work, I'll hit you in the face wid dis flatiron."

Minister (on the links): I notice that the players who get the lowest scores never swear.

Gloomy Golfer (digging again): Why the heck should they?

Our idea of adding insult to injury will burst into full bloom when one of our modern young women kills her husband with a can opener.

"Truth is stranger than fiction."

"Yeah, but they're apt to sue you for printing it."

The Anti-Nickname Society which recently convened in South Squeedunk, has passed a resolution to abolish all nicknames from the English language. Should said resolution be adopted we may soon expect to hear of:

William-o-fares.

Roberted Hair.

Danieldruff.

Willard: I'm sorry but I just ran over your cat.

Lady: Was the cat in the road?

Willard: No, I was chasing it through the alley.

Loui: What makes that dog howl so?

Dale: Laziness——

Loui: Would that make a dog howl?

Dale: Sure, he's sitting on a thistle an dis too lazy to get off.

Soft: Are you the guy that gave my wife a lot of impudence?

Hard Boil: Maybe I am.

Soft: Shake ol' top, you're a hero.

Van Campen: Say if I got an A in this test wouldn't you be surprised?

George: And wouldn't you?

Sure: My husband is always full of life.

Gossip: How can he afford it?

Dot: How kind of you. These flowers are so beautiful and fresh. I think there is some dew on them yet.

Sim: Yes dear, but I'm saving my money and will have them paid for tomorrow.

The Poor Soul

Waiter: Have some hot tongue?

Man: Got t__hat this morning before I left home.

Waiter: How about cold shoulder?

Man: Will get that when I get home?

Waiter: What would you like? Something tasty?

Man: Yes! Give me a glass of water and a toothpick.

Customer: Do you have a reservation?

Clerk: Say brother what do you think I am—an Indian?

Jones: Why are your ankles between your knees and toes?

Tarzan: Don't know.

Jones: To keep your calves away from your corns.

What would happen

If there was more paint on old houses and less on young faces?

Mina: Every time my head aches I know it's gonna rain.

Chalfant: If that's so, there certainly would be a lot of Johnstown's floods.

The young lady put out her arm, indicating that she intended to make a left turn. Imagine our surprise when she turned to the left.

Montg: How did it happen? Such a wreck?

How: A truck driver came along with a sign of "Howdy, half the road's yours, and I found out he meant one-fourth of each side was mine.

Father: When Lincoln was your age he was very studious.

Son: Yes and when he was your age he was the President.

He who hits and runs away may land in jail some other day.

Talkative Dentist: Would you mind closing your mouth?

Thelma Justice: No, wouldn't you?

Dunn: In London a man is killed every ten minutes.

Hazel Baker: Poor soul.

Emmigration Agent: Married, single?

Applicant: Single.

Agent: How long single?

App: Don't know.

Agent: Don't know how long you've been single?

App: Oh I thought you asked why?

Clerk (hotel): How didja get here?

Customer: With a bunch of cattle from Montana.

Clerk: Where's the rest of 'em?

Customer: Down at the stock yard, I'm not as particular as the rest.

Coy: Do you know the population of Salem?

Shaw: Not all of them. I've only been here six months.

Prof: Why didn't you answer me?

Student: I shook my head.

Prof: Sorry ma'am but I didn't hear it rattle up here.

Man: Waiter please remove this fish.

Waiter: You brought'er here so do it yourself.

Helen: Why don't you love George?

Louise: I asked him to direct me to the Ball grounds and he took me to a Baby's Home.

Harris: Dad said, "keep a stiff upper lip."

Ed: Don't try it, a mustache on you would look terrible.

Age: It's nearly bedtime.

Youth: The night's young yet.

Teacher: If you made twenty dollars a week and gave your mother half how much would she have?

Johnny: Heart failure.

Bertha M.: Do you mean to say "Chick" is the strongest senior in High School.

Mutt: You're right. He takes two pianos, one in each hand and plays them like an accordin.

Try This

Druggist: Here's your package. 75c.

Man (deaf): Here's your nickel.

Druggist: 75 cents please, you only gave me a nickel.

Man: I gave you your nickel.

Druggist: Go on out. I don't care I made four cents anyway.

Bridged

Grace: Hey you're cheatin' on me.

Adelaide: I ain't cheatin' on no one.

Grace: Yes you are I never dealt you that ace.

1st Doc: I operated on him for appendicitis.

2nd Doc: What was the matter with me?

Phebe: The next time you contradict me I'm going to kiss you.

Charles: No, you're not.

A man never realizes how flabby his will power is until he tries to stop smoking or turn down a couple dates with a pretty dame.

Slutz: Did you hear who is in the hospital?

Smith: No. Who?

Slutz: Why, the patients.

Adele: It was very romantic. He proposed to her in the automobile.

Clara: Yes?

Adele: And she accepted him in the hospital.

Lila: I would like to devote my last drawing to some charitable purpose.

Wayne: How about giving it to an institution for the blind?

A modern murderer is supposed to be innocent until she is proven insane.

World's Champion

Due to the lateness of the season, it was impossible to place this page where it rightfully belongs; it has no connection with the humor section. The school and the staff wishes to render the boy you see below a last honor, and a last tribute for his wonderful achievements. The first High school athlete to ever clear 13 feet in a pole vault in actual competition—Lowell Allen—and through it all, Lowell has been the cheerful, fine level-headed chap whom everyone admires. Here is future luck to the world's scholastic pole vault champion—"Our Lowell."

There are two kinds of gas ranges. The other kind is Smoothtop.

Smoothtop is the household duplicate of the range used by famous chefs. The enclosed all-hot top and fast "breathing" burner gives cooking ease that rivals the old coal range. Five pots can cook around one burner! Smoothtop saves cooking-time and work.

Drop in and see Smoothtop's smart console lines. See how its graduated heat zones simplify top-cooking. At least be sure to call, phone or write for your free recipe booklet . . . "Famous Methods of Famous Chefs."
