EX-LIBRIS
Foreword

In publishing this 1932 Quaker Annual, the staff has endeavored to please every student and faculty member of Salem High. The aim of the staff has been to recreate in this book the happenings of our high school days and to embody in this Annual the most modern and up-to-date principles. We have done these things with the hope that, at some time in the days to come, this book may bring back fond memories and that, at present, it may allow Salem High to be in step with the march of time.

Every member of the staff has done his best in trying to make this Annual better than any other. We hope we have succeeded in fulfilling our aim.
In Memoriam

JOHN SILL ALAN was superintendent of Salem Public Schools for eighteen years. During that time his influence as an educator of lofty and progressive ideals was felt not only in Salem, where it reached every child and parent, but also throughout the entire state. He established the socialized recitation in the local system. The present Salem High School building, Reilly School, Reilly Field, and Reilly Stadium stand as tangible monuments to his efforts as an administrator. He was an eminent citizen, a man of noble character, and a friend to every student in Salem.
To Mr. Earl S. Kerr, our superintendent and friend, who has met each trouble with a smile and each day with hearty good cheer, and who has won a place in the hearts of all Salem High students, we, the class of 1932, respectfully dedicate this, the twenty-sixth issue of the Quaker Annual.

Theme: "YOUTH"

Because the true spirit of youth exemplifies everything that is fine and unsullied, because the best type of youth is progressive and idealistic, and because the students of Salem High believe in worthy aims and values, the theme of this Annual is YOUTH.
"To you who are about to complete your high school careers I wish to extend my sincere good wishes. You may be faced with temporary discouragement and adversities. May your high ideals and youthful ambitions be kept steadfast before you. Strive to prepare yourself for a more useful citizenship and the better days which are destined to come. The wise use of time under these chaotic conditions is the unusual challenge to the class of 1932."

Senior Class History

Our years ago an eager and excited group of one hundred and ninety-seven students entered Salem High School as freshmen. This year the class of '32 began its high school career—four years of worth-while study, work and play.

Football was the first activity to receive particular attention. Leonard Yates, John French, and Ed. Beck were quite prominent in this sport. In basketball Gordon Scullion, Julius Julian, Ed Beck, and Leonard Yates represented their class, while the track team, too, included many fine freshmen athletes. Connie Tice was the only girl who made the girls' varsity basketball team.

Marye Louise Miller, who received all A's for both semesters, won second honor in the Latin I contest at Kent and third honor at Columbus.

Then on April nineteenth came the most important event of the year—the first class party. The party was an event that will never be forgotten by any member of the class.

Many members of the class belonged either to the high school orchestra or band. Among the band members were Richard Albright, Louis Snipes, and Paul Snyder. Camille Hoperick and Jean Olnhausen were members of the orchestra.

The sophomore year marked the beginning of class organization. The officers chosen were: president, Gordon Scullion; vice-president, Clarence Patten; secretary-treasurer, Lionel Smith.

As freshmen, the class of '32 had an envious reputation in its scholastic and athletic ability. In the second year, many were added to the list of scholars and athletes, while others improved greatly. Ten boys represented their class in football and helped Salem High win every game, while nine boys represented the class in basketball. Seven girls of the class turned out for basketball with Connie Tice capturing the honors.

The sophomore party was held with the freshmen and it certainly was big and good enough for the two classes.

Hockey and soccer found many good players among the girls, and the boys did excellent work during the track season.
The number of pupils whose scholastic work was very good the first year was greatly increased during the second year. As sophomores many of the pupils were members of the Latin or Biology clubs and a few were members of the Commerce and Spanish clubs.

The class of '32 was mighty proud of Louis Snipes, the drum major of the Salem High band.

In September, 1930, we began our work as juniors. The class officers chosen were: president, John French; vice-president, Gordon Scullion; secretary-treasurer, Mary Louise Scullion.

In athletics we found Merle Whitcomb, Gordon Scullion, Ed Beck, John French, Jack Carpenter, Norman Earley, and Lorin Battin on the football team. In basketball we were represented by Ed Beck, Norman Earley, Gordon Scullion, Merle Whitcomb, and Lorin Battin. Connie Tice, Mary Louise Scullion, Margaret Fritzman, Bessie Mileusnic, and Thelma Matthews are the girls who made the basketball team. The class was represented in track by Ed Beck, William Miller, Gordon Scullion, Norman Earley, Jack Carpenter, Merle Whitcomb, Raymond Moff, Clarence Walker, Russell Thompson, and Harold Horstman.

The class play "The Patsy" was presented very successfully. The cast included: Charles Snyder, La Verda Capel, Selma Liebschner, Mary Louise Miller, Lorin Battin, William Miller, Mary Andrei, John French, and Jack Carpenter.

The class party was held just before Christmas vacation. The decorations of the gym were in keeping with the season. The junior-senior prom was an outstanding event of the year. The banquet was at the Methodist Church and the dance was in the gym which was decorated with cherry blossoms and lanterns. These decorations produced a lovely Japanese effect.

Three years of our career passed and we now resumed our duties as Seniors. For class officers the seniors elected the following: president, Lionel Smith; vice-president, Gordon Scullion; secretary-treasurer, Mary Louise Scullion. One thousand dollars was the goal set by the class for its treasury. Part of this money will be spent for the gift to the school and for the senior farwell party. The remainder will be presented to the Alumni Scholarship Fund.

lion, and Paul Snyder, together with Charles Paxson and Jack Ballantine, team managers, represented the class in football. Walter Linder, Adam Pukalski, Gordon Scullion, Edgar Wilms, and Charles Paxson represented the class in basketball. Bessie Mileusnic, Mary Louise Scullion, and Anna Skowran were on the girls’ team. Harold Horstman, Bruce Shasteen, and Irwin Beck ran in the state cross-country meet and helped Salem to win. Harold Horstman took first place and set a new state record.

There are several new students in the class this year. They are James Fisher, Russell Fogel, Dorothy Schettine, Anne Sinsley, Andrew Visker, and Theodore Visker. The honor students are Virginia Grama, Marye Louise Miller, and Selma Liebschner. Lewis Brisken is the only three year student. The class is represented in the band by Richard Albright, Donald Althouse, Robert Bryan, George Gottschling, Dan Holloway, Hilles Linton, Charles Meek, John Paul Olloman, Louis Snipes, and Paul Snyder. Theodore Visker, Dan Holloway, Richard Albright, Paul Snyder, Donald Althouse, Hilles Linton and Louis Snipes represented the class in the orchestra.

The class play “The Goose Hangs High” was presented. The characters were: Raymond Reich, Camille Hoperich, Lionel Smith, Clarence Walker, Mary Campbell, La Verda Capel, Marye Louise Miller, Russell Fitzpatrick, John Paul Olloman, Mary Louise Scullion Lorin Battin, Selma Liebschner, Jack Carpenter and John French. The class numbers over 155 graduating members.

As we look back over the four years of our high school career we realize that they have been pleasant years filled with both work and play. Although we leave these years behind with many regrets, we must now look forward to whatever the future may bring.
Senior Class Prophecy

SITTING in the dusk of the evening, knowing that tomorrow will end my days in the glorious school which has cared for me for four long years, I feel saddened and lonely. A soft breeze touches my brow, closing my eyes and bringing with it a vision of things to be. As in a dream I watch scene by scene go drifting by.

What is this? The one and only White House. Seated at a desk in one of the rooms is our great president, Gordon Scullion.

Waiting respectfully for his orders is a suave attendant, Andy Herbert. In another room is the first lady of the land. She is none other than the former Catherine Blythe. Her sweet personal maid is our own Anne Sinsley.

Ah, a caller! It is the star reporter of the Zoonerville Weekly, Lionel Smith. He is anxious to obtain the first lady's opinion of the play she attended the night before in which Marye Miller of national fame, and Lorin Battin of equal popularity, starred. Jack Carpenter made a very natural parson, while Molly Campbell was an excellent cook. Kenneth Herbert was the electrician and gave everybody a shock. Mary Andrei dashed in and out as a very excitable maid while Lena Nonno was the Spanish senorita. The name of the play was "The Gathering of the Nuts."

This scene fades away and is replaced immediately by another—By Jove! John Reeves is living in a Greenwich village apartment being very Bohemian and artistic. In the apartment below Selma is giving piano lessons so she can be close to Johnny. She is afraid that a dashing blonde, the Moocher, is vamping Johnny and the tears fall as she keeps time for her pupil, Tom Snyder. Outside the window is heard the cry of "Bananas, onions, apples," as John P. Olloman peddles his wares. At the corner there appears to be a mass meeting and the speaker waving his arms and talking so oratorically about the chain stores, is none other than Lewis Brisken.

Treva Hack is among the crowd. She appears to be someone's efficient little wife. (We don't know who the lucky fellow is, but we have a suspicion).

In the apartment below Selma's, Dorothy Schettine serves tea and cakes in her "Tea for Two" shop. Two wealthy widows are in the shop, "just slumming, of course." They are Peggy Roth and Margaret Starbuck.
Again the scene changes. This time the setting is a very notorious night club in Bingville. Dick Fisher, who seems to have taken on quite a bit of weight, but who still has that charming smile for the opposite sex, is the owner. “Savage” and his “Savages” supply the music. Charles Meeks is the vocal soloist, and is a second Vallee. Mary Lou Scullion, Sara Spiker, Ada McKenzie, Dorothy Thurow, La Verda Capel, Rhoda Miller, Ruth Whinery and Helen Kuniewicz are the night club dancers.

The waitress is Mary Edith Gilson. Anna Ruth Kerr is her demure assistant; she spills the coffee. Louise Grove, Jean Olhausen, Betty Hinkle and Frances Markovich are cigarette girls and make lots of money.

In one corner is a familiar couple—Ray and Marcella. Most say they are celebrating their fifth marriage anniversary by eating somebody else’s cooking.

Jack Ballatine and Melvin Heston are porters but they won’t last long because they argue with the guests.

As we pass through the door of the night club we emerge into a college town.

Ralph Everstine is professor of Latin and John French is football coach at the “Total Loss College.” Russell Fitzpatrick teaches civics and is madly in love with Connie Tice, dean of girls, who prefers Harold Horstman, the track coach. Virginia Marie is Connie’s secretary and is a great help. Ray Moff is running the college cafeteria and Marie Helmick and Mary Burke are the hired girls. Louis Snipes is the drum-major of the “Bing-Bang” band and various former seniors play in this band.

Once more the picture changes. We are consulting a very learned lawyer, Norm Earley, in his office. As we pass out into the outer office, we find Dorothea Allen and Minnie Unetich working busily as stenographers. Joe Harrington is office boy and Carl McQuilkin, janitor.

The taxi waiting to take us home is driven by Dick Keller and the cop yelling at him is Karl Ulicny.

When we arrive home, a small rear bedroom in a cheap boarding house, we find just me writing this kind of fiction and being sued for damages.

The gentle breeze changes to a strong wind and the rain begins to fall in torrents. The pictures are gone in a flash of lighting. Nothing remains but the memory of an hour’s time whileed away in dreams.
Senior Class Will

"If all the heirs are present, we shall proceed to read the will," called out the administrator.

We, the undersigned, members of the class of '32, hereby bequeath and will the below mentioned articles to the stated persons, as follows:

Don Althouse wills his daily trip to each home-room to next year's workman. Jack Ballantine leaves his oratorical ability to Dick Strain. Johnny Barnes cheerfully donates a tooth to Reilly Field. "Swede" Battin bestows his curly eyelashes on Billy Holloway. "Becky" Blythe passes on to Dorothy Whitcomb her sunny disposition. Mary Burke has a scorebook that goes to Jean Harwood. La Verda Capel is willing to give her blue eyes to Jean Scott. Jack Carpenter leaves his proficiency in football to Bill Corso. Cliff Cesna donates a cheer to the school in general. Mike Corso leaves fear trembling in the hearts of freshmen. Norm Earley leaves about four feet of height to Earl Zelle.

"Shine" Everstine leaves a patent on hair tonic to Martha Jane Leonard. James Fisher gives his heart-crushing ability to Arthur J. Fronius, Jr. John French leaves a "horse laugh" floating around the halls. Virginia Grama endows the sophomore class with a revised dictionary. Treva Hack leaves to be with Howard. Joe Harrington has a pair of golf sticks that go to Mr. Springer. Kenny Herbert wills his bashfulness to Bob Clunan. Mary Louise Scullion leaves a foul shot to Mary Weigand. Gordy Scullion gives his powerful personality to Frank Culler. Dorothy Thurow passes on a memory of Oscar Oswald. Connie Tice leaves a golden football to next year's football girl.

Bruce Shasteen sets a new style of haircut for Clair King. To the orchestra, Theodore Visker presents a broken violin string. Lionel Smith hereby gives up the presidency to next year's leading man. Selma Liebenschner gives her good record to anyone who can beat it. Marye Miller leaves her acting ability to Mary Koenreich. "Fat" Paxson leaves his managership to Willard Crowl. Marcella Moffett gives a date to Ray. Irwin Beck leaves a collection of track medals to his successor. Camille Hoperick has a penny (her life savings) which goes to the Salem High School Athletic Association. Kathryn Knepper wills her "gift of gab" to Kenny Koontz. Jean Olhhausen gives a solo to the Junior Music Club. Joe Bush provides a microbe that will destroy all spelling books, for the whole school. Sally Spiker leaves a ray of sunshine to the study hall on gloomy days.
Tom Snyder forfeits his collegiate appearance to Duane Dilworth. Paul Snyder has a musical alarm clock which he cheerfully gives to the football camp. Ray leaves Rena for a while. Walter Linder gives twelve baskets to Gordy Keyes. Ray Moff leaves for places unknown. Ann Skowran and Ruth Whinery sigh and leaves a shoestring to the basketball reserves.

Mary Baltorinic and Rosamond Burcaw “leaves us with a smile.” Bob Bryan passes his sotto voice on to B. J. Cope. Edgar Wilms leaves a vacancy on the basketball squad. Karl Ulicny leaves a lot of friends. Bessie Mileusnic presents Mr. Williams with a book entitled “Appropriate Remarks For All Occasions.” John Paul Olloman gives up in despair and leaves some Salesman dues to the Credit Clearing House.

Adam Pukalski and Ed Raymond leave places on the football team to whom it may concern. Loren Pim has an antique cud of gum to give to Dorothy Rogers. Kate Flick leaves money in the Hi-Tri treasury. Judy Julian gives three curls to Frank Theriault. Andy Ulrich gives his expressive eyes to Margaret Kirkbride.

That famous trio, Dick Albright, Charles Meek, Dan Holloway, leave their arrangement of “Just Friends” to Rudy Vallee. Margaret Roth, Vivian Callahan, Molly Campbell leave an example of friendship to the school. Anne Sinsley bestows a crown on next year’s Association Queen. Harold Horstman leaves the dust from his flying heels to his closest competitors. Viola Loutzenhiser has a recipe for “depression doughnuts” for home economic students. Louise Grove passes on a few A’s to whom it may concern.

Carl McQuilkin and Ed McClosky leaves a “Treatise on Chemistry.” Cecil Bennett willingly gives his ability to blush to Wayne Sidinger. Raymond Weigand bestows on Kathryn Cessna his retiring manner. Louis Snipes leaves a “feather in his cap” to next year’s drum major, Vesta Mohr and Lena Nonno leave the Spanish Club stranded. Harriett Izenour gladly passes on a golden shoe to who knows whom? Melvin Heston leaves an argument for the debate team. Mary Andrei leaves a special brand of lipstick to Mary Bender. Evelyn Alexander wills some of her “blondness” to Ruth Jones. Rose Janicky and Minnie Unetich leave their names on the honor roll.

Ada McKenzie, Rhoda Miller, and Amelia Mitchell leave with the intention of being “stenogs.” Betty Hinkle and Alice Jones give to the freshmen class a book on “Etiquette.” Ann Altomare and Mable Bowman leave a nickel to the Home for Blind Mice. Don Coppock has a farming bulletin for Carroll Mohr. Russ Fitzpatrick leaves his love-making ability to Dale Leipper.

The rest of us leave with a sigh, with a cheer, or with relief.

“You have all heard of the disposition of the above mentioned property. Kindly collect your share from the donor,” and the solemn voice droned on to a close.

Reilly Stadium

The Reilly Field stadium is now one of the finest in the state of Ohio. It is equipped for night use in any athletic program. Its huge floodlights towering above the edge of the field turn the night into day. The lights were paid for from a portion of the receipts of the football season. The school officials hope to complete the walls on the west side in the near future.

Just a few years ago the field was poorly equipped for the rapidly increasing scholastic programs. Later at a considerable cost the field was improved. The old wooden grandstand was torn down and modern concrete bleachers with a seating capacity of fifteen hundred persons were erected on both sides of the field. The track was enlarged from a fifth of a mile to a quarter of a mile. The new Reilly grade school at the south end of the stadium is equipped with dressing rooms, showers, and lockers which are available to the athletes.

Salem High School students are proud of the fact that they have one of the largest, finest and best equipped stadiums and athletic fields in the state. They have the city of Salem to thank for their fine athletic opportunities.
1931 Track Team

The 1931 track team was the greatest Quaker team ever turned out up to that year. This Salem team swept through the season without any defeats until the state meet. The county meet need not be considered because the entire Salem team was not present at the meet.

The first meet for the Quakers was the triangular meet with Canton and Akron Central. The Salemites tallied 75 2/3 points, McKinley collected 46 1/2 points, and Central trailed with 38 5/6 points.

The Quakers won the Mansfield relays in which 33 schools competed. The Salem team collected 45 points, and their nearest rival, Sandusky, scored 35. The Salem High Night Relays were won also. The Quakers tallied 67 1/2 points, and Canton, with 34 3/4 points, was runner-up.

The Quakers swept through the Big Ten meet with 88 3/4 points, and the next day the team was split up, part going to Cleveland and part to Lisbon for the county meet. Palestine won the county meet by a slim margin. The Salem runners at Cleveland brought home two more trophies of victory.

The State meet was very closely contested. Lakewood of Cleveland nosed out the Salem team by a score of 27 to 26 6/10 points. This meet clearly showed the strength of the Quaker machine.

The Salem team entered the National Meet, and came in among the leaders, scoring 18 points. This closed the season for one of the greatest track teams that Salem High will ever assemble.
SALEM High's 1931 gridders completed another successful season under the direction of Coach Floyd W. Stone and Assistant Coach Franklin P. Lewis. A record of seven out of eleven games was compiled, and one tie game was played.

Salem scored 119 points to their opponents' 61 points. The individual scoring was as follows: Ed Beck 50, Jack Carpenter 25, John French 14, Purn Sidinger 8, Norm Early 12, Gordon Keyes 7, and Ray Moff 1.

The first game, which was with Canton, was an unfortunate affair for the Quakers, as the game ended 12 to 0. The Salemites played their greatest game of the season against Niles the next weekend. Niles scored six points the first half and Salem came back strong to take the game with seven points. Then Warren, who was rated to beat Salem by four touch-downs, was knocked off by a score of 13 to 7.

Next East Liverpool was downed, 19 to 0. The game with Akron Kenmore was a walk away, 38 to 6. The Wellsville game was a thriller. A county championship was at stake. The Salemites were greatly outweighed, but they fought to a 6 to 0 victory for Salem High.

The Quaker had an off night, but were able to hold a mighty Youngstown South team, 6 to 6. Salem and Boardman played a game for charity and Salem won, 8 to 0. Lisbon was downed next by a score of 20 to 0.

There seems to have been some dissension in the squad for Alliance won both games by scores of 12 to 2 and 12 to 0.

Graduation takes a heavy toll, for such players will be missing as: Ed Beck, John French, Jack Carpenter, Paul Snyder, Gordon Scullion, Norm Earley, Judy Julian, Lorin Battin, Ray Moff, and Dick Fisher.
Boy's Varsity Basketball

The 1931-32 Quaker basketball season was one that will be remembered as a "hard luck" season. A strong team represented the Red and Black, but only 6 out of 14 games were won in the regular playing season. In tournament games the team was successful in 4, and lost 1.

The varsity squad was as follows: Purn Sidinger, Wayne Sidinger, Merle Whitcomb, Frank Culler, Gordon Scullion, Walter Linder, Ed Wilms, Bill Pauline, William Holloway, Gordon Keyes, and Norman Earley. Of these, Keyes, Holloway, Pauline, P. Sidinger, Culler, and W. Sidinger are eligible for the next season. Norman Earley played only part of the season.

The chief claim to distinction for the team was the winning of the sectional tournament at Warren. The strength of the team was shown when it held Akron East to a 26-25 decision at Akron.

The Quakers finishing fifth in the Big Ten League standing. Alliance and Barberton tied for first in the league standing. The county title was lost when East Liverpool cagers defeated the Salemites twice. The second defeat at the hands of Liverpool was the worst defeat sustained by the Quakers all season. The score of this game was 30 to 23.
ALTHOUGH fans rated the Salem High Reserve Squad as only fair, coaches Stone and Lewis and players dubbed it as one of the most successful scrub teams in the history of the school.

Some of the outstanding members of the squad were John Pukalski, Bill Holloway, Gordon Keyes, Mike Fromm, Paul Baltorinic and Lawrence Kaercher.

John Pukalski was not interested in basketball at the start of the season; however, he went out for the exercise and turned out to be one of the best players on the squad.

Bill Holloway and Gordon Keyes, juniors, will without doubt, be two of next year's foremost players. Mike Fromm, the all round freshman athlete, showed promising form.

Paul Baltorinic and Lawrence Kaercher, sophomores, played heads up ball to bring the team through many tight places. Kaercher broke into the line up about mid-season and showed very good form.

Girls Basketball

With a shorter schedule than that of last year, and in spite of the fact that there were only a few veterans back, Miss Petersen's sextet had a more successful season than the preceding one.

At first the team seemed to lack good material and height. After the first two games the team was better organized and won its first victory in a game with Fairfield. The greatest victory of the season was won in the second Liverpool game. The battle was hard fought and both the forwards and the guards did splendid work. This year the team defeated Struthers for the first time in several years.

If a girls' team is organized next year, it will be minus four seniors: Anne Skowran, Mary Lou Scullion, Ruth Whinery and Bessie Mileusnic.

Mary Koenreich led the scoring list with 49 points, Bessie Mileusnic second, with 37 points; and Mary Weigand third, with 32 points. Helen Moffett is entitled to a one-point honor in only a few minutes of play.

Salem scored 211 points to 211 points by visitors. They won 4 games out of 9.
Coach Clarke, Paul Wiggers, Stanley Kamasky, Frank Theriault, Keith Harris, Bruce Shasteen, Harold Hortsman.

Cross Country

SALEM High's cross-country team successfully defended the state title which it had won last year. Horstman finished fifty yards ahead of the nearest opponent, taking first place. Shasteen came in fourth. Irwin Beck knocked off fifth. Harris, who took forty-ninth in the district meet, surprised everybody by taking eighth at Columbus. Kamasky, the sophomore flash, placed eleventh.

Horstman won the gold medal while Shasteen, Beck, and Harris received bronze medals. A large trophy was presented to the team. All the boys who made the trip to Columbus were presented with gold track shoes for their work during the season.

Quaker Editorial Staff

This year the Quaker staff has published thirty four-page weekly papers. Each contained about 6,000 words, making a total of 180,000 words for the year without counting those in this annual.

Mary Louise Miller, Dale Leipper, Sara Spiker, and Miss Workman represented the editorial staff at Columbus during the state convention of high school journalists on November 20 and 21. The delegation attended many instructive talks given by persons well-experienced in the business. The Quaker earned third class honor rating in the state contest.

Salem High's pioneer journalism class brought about many changes in the style and technique of the paper. A thorough study of newspapers, newspapermen, and newspaper work was made under the supervision of the faculty adviser. As a result the Quaker has become a modern weekly full of interesting incidents and stories.

In February a leap-year party held by the two staffs at Twee-Crest Inn was a very enjoyable affair.

The members of the staff have worked hard to make the weekly and annual something for the school to be proud of. If they have succeeded in this they feel amply repaid for their labors.
The financial status of the Quaker Weekly and Annual is dependent upon the efforts of the members of the business staff and the cooperation of the High School Association. This year the plan of issuing "The Quaker" every week was introduced. This plan proved to be successful; however, it brought additional work to the business staff. But although they were incapacitated by the economic depression and the preceding plan, the members of the staff worked diligently and issued successfully "The Quaker" weekly and annual.

Since there was no special staff selected this year to help the regular staff in soliciting for annual ads, the staff is to be commended highly for this extra effort.

A competitive method was adopted this year in selecting the assistant business manager. The staff member who turned in the largest number of column inches of ads for the first month of "Quaker" issues was awarded the position. After an exciting month a sophomore, Paul Strader, Jr., who headed the list with 50 column inches, was awarded the position by the manager.

The members of this staff sincerely hope that their efforts have succeeded in fulfilling their one ambition: to make this annual and the weekly an outstanding publication in the estimation of the readers.

Debate Team

DEBATERS of Salem High compiled a fairly good record for the 1932 debate season. By finishing on top in four out of six contests, the teams displayed their debating ability to good advantage. The speakers of the affirmative team were Viola Bodo, Melvin Heston, and Robert Bryan. Alternates for the team were Paul Strader and Alma Dick. Viola Bodo was the only experienced debater of the quintet.

Lewis Brisken, with two years' previous experience, led the negative team. Dan Holloway and Paul Smith were the other two speakers. The alternates for this group were Richard Harris and Robert Carey.

The Quaker negative team opened the season by defeating an inexperienced team at Columbiana High. The first contest for the affirmative team was held here. Its victory was a well-earned one, as East Liverpool debaters presented a strong case.

The Salem affirmative next encountered an old rival when it met East Palestine debaters at East Palestine. The decision was given to the latter team.

The next contest for a home team was held at the local Methodist Church. The Salem negative team came through with its second victory when it nosed out a strong Carrollton outfit. The team received its third victory on a forfeit from Cadiz.

A strong New Philadelphia trio administered the first real defeat of the season to the Quaker affirmative team here. This closed the debating season, leaving Paul Strader, Alma Dick, Robert Carey, and Richard Harris as candidates for the 1933 debate squad.
"Youth"

O frolic care free, always 'neath a dome of azure sky,
Though storm clouds brew
And aged wisdom sits with wrinkled face and sighs;
To drift away in thought to some enchanted land
Where night n'er comes
And flowers never cease to bloom,
Or dare to dream a thousand dreams
That never could come true;
To see life through a many-colored glass,
Not as it really is;
To stand upon a precipice
And see a far off paradise,
But overlook the gulf between,
To follow pleasure, seek adventure.
Like the butterflies of night
Softly wing their airy way,
To some fascinating light;
To fling all cares and worries to the very stars;
To hold the balance of justice in one hand
And laugh and make its very frame reverberate,
And yet not tilt its beam;
To listen to advice with 'tentive ear
And heed it, but not too well;
To feel a quickening pulse in every step,
To live,—to love,—to lose,
Then pause, for just a breath,
Then love again, is Youth.
It comes to each of us but once,
Then all too soon is fled, is but a memory.
And we look back with wonderment
To all the things we did and said,
And then a tear forms in our eye
And makes our vision;
And a little prayer goes upward,—
"Oh God, make me a youth again."

Freshman Difficulties

Sept. 14—School opens to the tune of laughing voices, cracking gum, and words of praise for the new trophy case.

Sept. 19—Met Canton McKinley in a grand and glorious grid battle. The “Gang” was all pepped up, but Canton was just a little peppier, as shown by the score.

Sept. 25—The formidable Niles team downed here in the first night game of the season. Incidentally, it was fine weather for ducks.

Oct. 2—Our reserves are defeated 19-0 a hard fought game with the Irondale reserves. Better luck next time, fellows!

Oct. 5—Flying high, wide, and handsome our cross-country team, coached by Mr. Clark, “brought home the bacon” from the Lincoln and West Tech meet in Cleveland.

Oct. 9—The football team is well on its way to a successful season. Edged a 13 to 7 victory over the Warren eleven—just another case of the under dog coming out on top.

Oct. 10—We learned today that it takes more than Wooster to out-step our cross-country team.

Oct. 14—Teachers visiting in Cleveland—everybody sad and lonesome, freshmen recuperating, general rush to public library.

Oct. 16—Illuminating demonstration of liquid air given in assembly by Mr. Eliot James. Heard several freshmen voice the desire to become chemists and make little aeroplanes work.

Oct. 16—More rain—more football—'nother victory for the Stonemen over the Potters.

Oct. 22—Real treat! Heard Congressman Frank B. Murphy in special assembly today—and we learned about Indians from him. Football team squelched Akron Kenmore 38 to 6 in a pre-season track meet.

Oct. 23—When our cross country team defeats a team they stay that way—for instance, the second victory over Wooster today.

Oct. 30—Brilliant line work and a trick play won the Wellsville game and the county championship for Salem. This is getting to be a habit.

Oct. 30—Just another dull day for S. H. S. students—all the teachers are visiting in Cleveland.
Oct. 31—Living up to all expectations our team won the district cross country meet in Cleveland. It’s practically all over now but the shouting.

Nov. 6—Game with Youngstown South—the yearly nemesis of the football team. Once more the old rivals tie for the honors. Try again Salem, third time’s the charm, you know.

Nov 7—Cross country team recaptures state title and sets new time. Quite hard on records, I should say.

Nov. 13—The Salem gridders meet a plucky, but doomed Lisbon team in a 20-0 game.

Nov. 14—The “Royal Rogues of Rhythm” jazz their ways into the hearts of each and every S. H. S. student at the annual Hi-Y dance held tonight.

Nov. 20—The seniors lose all their dignity, reserve, and every thing that goes to make up a good senior, and concentrate on lollypops and animal crackers. Just one last childish fling, to celebrate the last party of the class of ’32.

Dec. 4—The gym, all decorated to show real Christmas spirit—dancing couples—the band, a perfect chord of rhythm. Picture this and you have the first Association party.

Dec. 9-10—The senior class presents “The Goose Hangs High.” The play was quite a success and the class feels proud, as well it may.

Dec. 11—The junior party—a grand social success—refreshments ’n everything.

Dec. 19—Quaker tossers open the cage season with a bang by overwhelming Lisbon 41-24. Lisbon lassies, however, avenge the honor by downing our sextet 33-18.

Dec. 26—I’m so excited I can hardly write; the team lost first Big Ten game to Massillon tonight only after a most sensational fourth period rally.

Jan. 1—These last quarter rallies seem to be quite the old thing, but unfortunately they are not effective enough, as shown when Alliance nosed Salem out of the running tonight!

Jan. 13—S. H. S. band presented two concerts today, a matinee and an evening performance. Day by day in every way the band seems to be improving.
Our Vocalizing Visitors

Jan. 16—Salem forges to the front again by walloping New Philly 27-12. Girls defeat Fairfield to win first game of season.

Jan. 22—Salem bows to Liverpool for the second time this season. Salem lassies nose out the Potter veterans 30-28.

Jan. 27-28-29—Semester exams! A heart breaking affair for all concerned. Boys, girls, and reserves all give E. Palestine a good drubbing. It should be properly squelched!

Jan. 30—The Dover basketeers have such taking ways—snatched a victory right out from under our noses.

Feb. 1—Second semester begins.

Feb. 4—Unusual assembly—Chief Greyearth, a Sioux Indian, disclosed the true state of Indian affairs.

Feb. 5—Debate team opens season with a tongue lashing to New Philly.

Feb. 6—The Salemites won a 36-21 decision over the visiting Warren team tonight.

Feb. 13—Exciting game, this basketball. Quakers again resort to last minute rally in downing Niles quintet 15-14. 13-10 is the score the reserves piled up in an over-time quarter.

Feb. 17—The sophomore class is making a name for itself already. Sponsored a concert given by the Mt. Union Glee Club. Great success, not only in quality but also in quantity!

Feb. 19—Washington Bi-centennial assembly today featured an interesting speech by Mr. McCarthy. Varsity and reserves both lose to Alliance. Salem lassies also defeated by Girard.

Feb. 22—Holiday. Sorry George Washington didn't have more birthdays.

Feb. 26—Salemites trounce Struthers 42-20 in the last scheduled game of this basketball season.

Mar. 2, 3, 4, 5—The big event of the cage season—tournament! We take over Brookfield, Girard, Warren, and Y. Rayen; and when everything seems rosy, we are quietly nosed out by Akron East in a heartrending game, 26-25.

Mar. 10—A break for the assembly. Mr. Aughinbaugh, noted traveler, gave lecture and slides on “Ohio.”

Mar. 11—’Nother feather in the association’s cap—the second association party. Real shin-dig, toe-smasher, or what have you?

Excuse My Dust!
Mar. 25 - April 5—Spring vacation—but it seems we all came back more tired than we left.

April 6—Mr. George, magician, baffles assembly for about an hour.

April 7-8—First venture for class of '33, the junior play "It Won't Be Long Now"—good acting, good setting, good directing, good play in fact.

April 20—Second high school band concert. A fine example of hard work and cooperation.

April 22—The freshman-sophomore party. Fine beginning for underclassmen's social career. S. H. S. golfers defeated 14-2 by McKinley. Seems to be a hoo-dooded day for our athletes—tennis team lost to Alliance 6-1.

April 22—Track team shows strength by capturing third honors in the Mansfield relays.

April 29—Tennis team not yet recuperated from first defeat, lost to Canton 4-2.

April 30—Golf squad downed Canton for first victory of the season.

May 5—Fore! Please stand by for the golf results! Salem 3, Warren 9.

May 6—As usual the third time's the charm. The tennis team whitewashes Warren 6-0.

May 13—Our aspiring young orators and novelists are given a chance to "strut their stuff" in Brooks' contest.

May 14—County track meet—another record-breaking affair.

May 17—The prom, the event of the year for upper classmen. We are just beginning to realize that it is the beginning of the end.

May 22—Senior class sermon. A parting message before we start out into the cold, cruel world.

May 24—Senior farewell—the occasion is the keyword to the spirit of the evening.

May 25—Recognition assembly. To the victor belongs the spoils.

May 26—Commencement—the most solemn affair of them all.

May 27—The alumni banquet is the curtain which falls on our school careers. We are out on the stage of life to be actors—or merely stage-hands.

Father: (Calling his son rather late in the morning and finding him still in bed): “Are you not ashamed of being caught in bed at such an hour?”

Son: “Yes, father, but I’d rather be ashamed than get up.”

“Heavens! When does he study?”

“He doesn’t, he runs an elevator.”

Man is but a worm, he comes along, wriggles a bit then some chicken gets him.

“Going to the lecture on Buddhism?”

“No, I don’t care for flowers.”

A haughty lady had just purchased a stamp at a sub-station.

“Must I stick it on, myself?” she asked.

“Positively not, madam,” replied the postal clerk. “It will accomplish more if you stick it on the letter.”
