ANNUAL

FOREWORD

In harmony with a scientifically formulaed disclosure that no two creations are alike, we, the 1935 Quaker staffs have essayed to make this same adopted truth applicable to the students of Salem High, incompiling this annual. It has been our determination to allow sufficient space to the happy-go-lucky, to the more quietly reserved, and to the one who finds recreation in solitary quiet and study, for we comprehend that this institution is versatile in its products. In closing, we sincerely hope that our ambitions are realized and that this, the 1935 Quaker Annual, will, in the years to come, infallibly recall fond memories of the most enjoyable and traditional portion of a lifetime, which found its inspirations in Salem High.

DEDICATION

In selecting an individual, utterly loyal to the institution he represents, a true friend to the learners whom he helps prepare for successful careers, conscientious of and devoted to activities in which he plays an extremely prominent role, and idealistic as a typical high school tutor in that he is versatile in possessing both amicable characteristics and supervisory abilities, to receive the highest honor in our power to bestow, we dedicate this 1935 Quaker Annual to Mr. R. W. Hilgendorf.

ADMINISTRATION

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Salem High could not exist without the Board of Education. This group of men meets every month, year in and year out to plan and discuss those things which are best for our school. These men are the human driveshafts of our educational school system. They have especially helped the high school in a number of projects which would have been impossible to achieve otherwise. For instance, the band seeks each year to raise funds for uniforms and instruments by presenting concerts and contests. This body matches every dollar so made and so doubles the amount. Beside appropriating money and backing up projects, they control the teaching force, see to repairs on the schools, take care of the bills, award various contracts, determine the length of the school year, and perform many other responsible duties. To the members of the Board of Education, we extend our sincere appreciation and gratitude.

E. S. Dawson, J. H. Wilson, C. R. Reich, F. P. Mullins, George F. Koontz, J. H. Sharp, E. S. Kerr.

SUPERINTENDENT

We strive to accomplish the task at hand with some assurance that our responsibility is being met. Among the many things we hope to do, we are compelled to choose the few we shall have time to do if we work.

Within our limits, be they wide or narrow, lie our chances to come into harmony with life. If, fortunately, we get the pitch, our melody is happiness.

E. S. Kerr

PRINCIPAL

We reach this season of the year with mixed emotions; joyful for the vacation season with its many delightful experiences; sorrowful for the loss of leadership of and daily contacts with the class of 1935. To those of you who are about to complete your high school careers, may you carry away lasting memories and ideals which may go with you to the four corners of the earth.

W. J. Springer

DEAN OF GIRLS

To the Students of Salem High School:
Best wishes for a happy and successful future.

Whether you are completing your course this June or whether it is still in the process of completion, all are striving toward the same ultimate goal, i. e., success in life. And what constitutes success in life? Doing the things one must do each day, the best one knows how.

It has been said that character and education are the requisites of a successful life. True education includes growth in character, and growth in character is attained by facing difficulties squarely and surmounting them. Thus is ultimate success achieved.

SENIORS

SENIOR HISTORY AND OFFICERS

It is really four years since the class of 1935 entered Salem High with a record breaking roll of two hundred forty-five! How eager we were to make ourselves a part of this great school life. Let's see what we've accomplished.

During the last four years the following have been faithful to varsity sports.

Football: Clifford Beck, Charles Berg, Tom Bennett, Bob Chappell, James Feiler, Fred Kaiser, Ed Lesch, Harold Ludwig, Harry McCarthy, Charles McCloskey, Walter Schell, Roland Schaffer, Carl Skowran, and Richard Wiggers.

Basketball: Clifford Beck, Ben Cope, Thirl Eckstein, Charles McCloskey, Jack Mullins, Charles Palmer, and Earl Zelle.

Tennis: Don Hammell and Jack Mullins.

Although the girls had a varsity team only the first two years, those making the team were: Hazel Anderson, Carolyn Bush, Hilda Kloos, Stella Kuniewicz, and Cora May Reich.

Playing in the High School band and orchestra during the past four years were: Aubrey Clay, Ben Cope, Thelma Filler, Helen Huber, Charlotte King, Charles Kniseley, Harold McConner, Dorothy McConnor, Christina Robinson, Walter Schell, Mary Shriver, Arnold Nye, Margaret Williams, and Galen Wilt.

At the beginning of our sophomore year we chose the following class officers: President, Harry McCarthy; Vice President, Mike Fromm; Secretary-Treasurer, Don Hammell.

That year we earned our first large sum of money by sponsoring a week of movies at the State Theater. The annual party was held in the gym with the freshmen.

Thirl Eckstein and Stewart Elder won awards in the Brooks Literary contest.

Junior officers were: President, Harry McCarthy; Vice President, Ben Cope; Secretary-Treasurer, Don Hammell.

The class presented "The Charm School," a three act comedy by Alice Duer Miller and Robert Milton. The cast included Mary Bunn, Charles Palmer, Joyce Chatfield, Harry McCarthy, Jack Mullins, Dick McConnor, Cora May Reich, Fred Roth, Helen Huber, Janet Walker, Dorothy McConnor, Mary Frances Juergens, Clara Mae Rich, Margaret Williams, and Anna Ruth Vincent.

Winning honors in the Brooks contest their junior year were: Lois Bailey, Emma Jane Lewis, Dorothy McConnor, and Mildred Woods.

Dick Harris won tenth place in the chemistry division at the state scholarship contests at Kent.

On June 1, we sponsored the annual Junior-Senior Prom. A banquet was given at the Masonic Temple followed by a dance in the high school gym. The decorative theme was modernistic.

Margaret Stewart was elected Football Girl and was privileged to wear the gold football throughout her senior year.

In the fall of 1934 we reentered school as the senior class with a roll of one hundred and sixty-eight.

The class officers were elected who are: President, Harry McCarthy; Vice President, Don Hammell; Secretary-Treasurer, Ben Cope.

The class party was a farmer's brawl. Cornshocks and pumpkins lent an atmosphere to the gym.

As a part of our farewell gift we presented an electric hotplate to be used in the refreshment stand at Reilly field.

"Skidding," a comedy in three acts, was presented in December. In the cast were: Fred Roth, Mary Finnigan, Janet Walker, Joyce Chatfield, Bob Schaeffer, Harry McCarthy, Cora May Reich, Clara Mae Rich, Mary Bunn, Robert Wonner, and Horace Schwartz.

This year three seniors tie for first honors in scholarship with a record of all A's for four years. They are: Dorothy McConnor, Harry McCarthy, and Lucyle Hilliard. Others winning honors in the order of their rating are: Helen Huber, Ruth Kinney, Emma Jane Lewis, Marye Giffin, Don Hammell, Dick Harris, Thelma Filler and Stella Kuniewicz.

The seniors chose for their commencement speakers: Harry McCarthy, Don Hammell, Mildred Woods, and Joyce Chatfield.

These and many other things have we experienced. And as we leave old Salem High we sincerely hope that we have left it richer and higher in the scholarship and activities.

CLASS

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the class of 1935, being of sound body and mind, do hereby declare this to be our last will and testament.

To our rightful heirs, the class of '36, we bequeath our intelligence, self-confidence, sense of humor, and importance.

Individually we dispose of the following:

To Archie Bricker, Lucyle Hilliard leaves her memory; Anna Ruth Vincent, Don Hammell, and Martha Schmid leave a cheer in the gym; Margaret Mounts leaves a ream of paper in Miss Bickel's wastebasket.

Alex Fratila leaves for Minerva; Ecky leaves without his date with Helen; Marg. Hannay and Flo Kleon leave together; Fred Roth wills his dramatic ability to Bill Jones; John Knepper leaves a Quaker Contest Coupon to "Toots" Davidson; Bob Wonner and Granville Woods leave their dignity to Gertie Harris; Earle Zelle gives his monopoly on Bernice to the highest bidder.

Clara Mae Rich and Dick Harris leave in the midst of an argument; Julius Hippley and Al Juhn leave Mr. Jones; "Baron" Schwartz leaves his nick-name to Jim Stieffle; Charlie McCloskey leaves the basketball team in the lurch; Olive Patterson and Helen Weber leave to join their "Russes."

Bob Chappell leaves for the Painter Road; Gwen Potts wills her famous lipstick to Marcella Judge; Mary Bunn's eyebrows go to Virginia Zellers; Dot Rakestraw leaves Ed; Art Bell and Bill Sturgeon leave in the "Bladdering Stooge." Chiz Kniseley'd leave a razor to someone—if he had a razor.

Janet Walker's red hair goes to Dorothy Leich and Sally Holroyd gives a bottle of peroxide to Sara Phillips; Dot McConnor leaves the piano to Meta; Walt Schell and Galen Wilt leave for a Turkish bath; Dick Gidley and John Vogelhuber leave regretfully; Jim Feiler just leaves; Bob Schaeffer wills his "line" to Bill Fisher; Ben Cope wills the class treasury to Vance Stewart.

Bill Lowry and Ralph Hillis leave an eraser to the general cause; John Trombitas leaves a foot to Jim Campbell; Alice and Aleen Hertz leave together; Betty Hoffman gives a raspberry lollypop to Cidy Mullins; Dick McConnor leaves Jane, much to her relief.

Joyce Chatfield leaves the Quaker staff; Gail Herron leaves Helen; Harry McCarthy leaves several vacant offices to be filled by the next best man; Glenn Detrow leaves automotives; John Sabotka, William Weigand, and Mike Spack leave empty lockers; Hilda Kloos leaves looking for an argument; Charles Palmer leaves for Chicago; Eileen Griffiths gives her nail polish to Marg. Simon; Betty Ernst, Gladys Edgerton, and Kate Cope leave a nickle to the "Home for Abused Guinea Pigs."

"Tip" Althouse wills a Studebaker to George Gibson; Ruth Balsley leaves her "Hamlet" to Jane Hoperich; Grace Roessler, Mary Pottorf, and Anna Tatu leave quietly; Thelma Filler leaves studying; Tom Bennett leaves for the drug store; Cliff Beck leaves a sigh in the hearts of "The Girls With the Red Hair Ribbons."

Margie Stewart gives her gold football to next year's football girl; Paul Layden leaves limping; Margaret Alesi leaves a Spanish accent to Eugene, and Harold Ludwig leaves a song to Miss

Helen Huber leaves the library door open; Olive Tolson leaves her shoes in Journalism class; Carolyn Bush and Letty Fisher leave with Mary Gottschling; Lois Bailey leaves Miss Lehman to dust 207; Olive Christopher leaves a plate of fudge to Doug Englehart; Bob Layden leaves 202 at last; Fred Kaiser leaves a measuring cup to the cooking classes; Ash Derienzo leaves the latest dance steps to Lionel Difford; Art Fleischer leaves his journalism book to Betty Martin; Mary Shriver leaves a bookmark to the library.

Rose Zocolo leaves her black curls to Nanee Gibbs; Carl Wiegand wills his dignity to Bill Crouch; Christina Robinson leaves to become an artist's model; Dick Carns leaves again. Margie Hart wills her Southern accent to Ethel French; Ruth Kinney bequeaths her remarkable vocabulary to Carl Skowron; Charles Berg leaves Mr. Brown in peace.

Mary Finigan leaves the "Editor" to write his editorials; Jean Gallatin leaves to join Pickles, and Marye Giffin leaves to be with Jimmy Dick; Arnella Campf leaves a smile to a lonely freshman; Mary Leasure leaves a sunny spot in 206; Minnie Linder leaves Gym class; Ruth Kyser gladly leaves her typewriter; Bronko Drakulich leaves one worn out stick of licorice gum to Jean McCarthy; Mary Ellen Holwick leaves a rubber band for Jane Cope to use as she sees fit.

Elsie Dougher and Kitty Carns leave together, setting an example of perfect friendship; Emily Ohl leaves her address to Jack Harroff; Nevin Halverstadt leaves Spanish club; Mildred Woods wills Kenny Leipper a debate speech. Dick Scullion, Merle Ewing, Ray Simonds, and George Suilea leave Mr. Henning a bottle of red ink; Harris Trewetz leaves Betty; Stella Kuniewicz leaves Miss Bickel; Paul Cleland gives a Hershey bar to Mr. Clark; Aubrey Clay leaves the girls alone.

Charlotte King gives her tap shoes to Aggie Grimes; Dick Wiggers leaves Ethel; Nita Callahan and Flo Kleon leave to become typists; Marg. Williams wills a cookbook to Mrs. Koontz; Vincent Malloy leaves to become a fireman; Bob Johnson leaves the fountain running; Dominic Panetzotta leaves Jean Layden to spell his name correctly.

Bill Goodchild leaves for the O. K., Mary Charlton leaves a slave bracelet to Les Turner.

The rest of us leave with sighs of regret or relief.

We do sign this and delegate Joe Jubin to be our legal executor. If there is any unaccounted expense in carrying out our wishes, the school board will gladly take care of it. (We hope).

Thereby we do set our sign and seal.

THE CLASS OF '35

CLASS PROPHECY OF 1935

It was about six years ago in 1945 that I was waiting in the Grand Central station in New York, for a train that was due in an hour.

I sauntered up to the ticket window and was greeted by the smiling face of "Popeye" Safreed on the other side of the window. Well, you are imagine my surprise and of course we started talking at once about some of our old classmates of the class of '35.

I at once inquired as to the whereabouts of his old pals, Billy Lowry and Jim Feiler, who it seems are the sole owners of the famous restaurant chain of Feiler and Lowry, Fine Foods and Lower Lunches.

Well, we "gabbed" awhile and finally, feeling the pangs of hunger gnawing at my belt I started for the Ritzy Main Dining Salon.

While making my way through the revolving doors a portly gentleman became stuck in the door. After I managed to squeeze him through I thought he looked familiar and the person I had most nobly aided was none other than Baron Schwartz, looking very prosperous with a 50 cent cigar in his mouth. Well, the Baron asked me to join him in dinner, which I did. I found that he was the Eastern and Oriental Representative of that well known International Advertising concern, F. H. S. Enterprises Inc.

We checked our hats and discovered that the pretty check girls were Margaret Alesi, Williams, Mounts, and Hannay and Charlotte King and Ruth Kinney. We were greeted by the polite patron, Frederick, who had discarded his last name, Roth, for professional reasons. He called over three waiters who escorted us to our tables. Sensing a familiarity, we looked again and found they were our old chums, Dick McConnor, Aiken, and Scullion.

Well, we ordered a la carte and while we were waiting the orchestra struck up a lively tune. On inquiring we found out this band was Ben Cope and his Gasa Goma Orchestra. We looked closer and saw that some of the members of the band were, Galen Wilt, Hal McConnor, Aubrey Clay, Walter Schell, Ed Lesch, Fred Kaiser, Bob Layden, and Carl Skowron.

We started to eat our dinner when the floor show began. The first feature was the Hertz twins in a Ballet Duo which received much applause. Next on the program was the girls dancing chorus.

As we gazed down the rows of pulchritude we were surprised to find the chorus made up of all our old classmates of '35.

As we gazed down the rows of pulchritude we were surprised to find the chorus made up of all our old classmates of '35.

There were Mary Bunn, Gottschling, Leasure, and Dorothy Hilliard, Rakestraw, Rogers, Stiver, and McConnor, Marget Stratton, Sara Holroyd, Emily Ohl, E. J. Lewis, and Juanita Callahan, er—that was all. The final act was "Woods and Woods", formerly Woods and Weaver Famous Adagio team, whom we encored and encored.

It was getting near train time and the Baron happened to be boarding the same train as mine. As we went out we looked behind the grillbar and saw none other than Thomas Bennett, bartender DeLuxe, aided by the Carns brothers and Nevin Halverstadt, who were industriously mixing three Martinis a la Chatfield, the famous aviatrix, after whom this concoction had been named. As we passed through the foyer of the station a loud voice called, "Check Your Bags!" and as we turned around we stared into the cavernous crowd of Gabby Guappone.

We boarded the Limited Flyer on the Schaeffer, Schuster and Shallenberg Railroad Company and when we learned that Harris Trewetz was engineer, we immediately looked up our Insurance Agent, Granville Woods, and took an extra million dollars on our policies.

Well, we started on our journey and as we snapped the radio on and tuned in on the news bulletin we were greeted by the Head and Feet of the world, the Woozy Wanderer, Bob Wonner who told us that President McCarthy had just vetoed the Berg-Bell Booze Bill, limiting the uses of liquor to cooking only. These two gentlemen were opposed by Senator "Huey Althouse" and "Father" Allen who stood for free set-ups three times daily on the government. Our radio correspondent also told us that Florence Matta Hari, internationally known woman spy was being interviewed by two prominent Journalists, Olive Christopher and Elsie Dougher. Well so much for the news reports. As we passed through the little city of Zilchburg we saw that the town was littered with posters reading like this: "Here's your last chance to vote for "Honest John Knepper," the people's choice. He has been running for mayor for 17 years and this is, as usual, the last time he will run."

The train stopped for a short time and a young gent came riding through the train on a bicycle. It was Glenn Detrow, selling the latest edition of the Zilchburg Courier-Post-Tribune Times-Gazette Republican-Democrat Star News, and still collecting for the ads of the 1935 annual. We bought a paper and glanced that the masthead. There before our eyes was the name Alex Fratila, Editor in chief, compositor printer, advertiser, printer's devil and chief carrier.

The train thundered on. A new conductor had clambered aboard at the last station, and looking closely we saw it was our old friend, Ralph Phillis. He shouted, "Next stop, Chicago". It was our parting place. The train slowed down and the Baron and I stepped off the platform. We were greeted by a rousing cheer from a small crowd gathered about the platform. It was a group of the class of '35 who now lived in Chicago.

Among them were Al DeRienzo, Merle Ewing, Nevin Halverstadt, Robert Johnson, Chiz Knisely, Paul Layden, Vincent Malloy, Harry Smith, and Carl Weigand. Richard Gidley was the spokesman for the committee.

The girls in the reception line were Eleanor Binsley, Kathryn Cope, Margie Hart, Mary Ellen Holwick, Ruth Kyser, Mary Pottorff, Kathleen Seese, Olive Tolson, Helen Weber, and Hazel Wolford.

The Baron felt extremely generous and set the whole crowd up to dinner at the Silver Fox Night Club, Chicago's hot spot, now managed by the firm of S. S. W. and W.—Smith, Solomon, Wiegand, and Woods. After supper the Baron boarded his train for San Francisco from whence he was going to Japan to promote a big deal. I sadly went back to my desk in an office of the Chicago Tribune thinking what a grand adventure it all was.

THE CLASS OF 1936

President—James Campbell

Vice president—Eddie Pukalski

Secretary-treasurer—Vance Stewart

Always known as an exceedingly active body, the class of '36 has forged ahead this year as usual. In its freshman year, the class of '36 established a precedent by electing class officers, something which had not been done previously, and since that time it has endeavored to live up to its reputation for being wide awake.

In the fertile field of high school dramatics, the juniors distinguished themselves, as is their habit. An amusing and entertaining comedy of adolescence in three acts, "Growing Pains," by Aurania Rouverol, was very skillfully presented on the evenings of March 28 and 29, through special arrangements with Samuel French, in the high school auditorium. The play was the cleverly related story of the terrible trials and tribulations of growing boys and girls of high school age. The play was produced under the direction of Miss Mary Lanpher, well known for her always excellent direction of class plays, as well as plays for special occasions.

The characters of the large cast were handled as follows:—George McIntyre, Dick Wernet; Terry McIntyre, Lois Pidgeon; Mrs. McIntyre, Marion Theiss; Professor McIntyre, Charles Freed; Sophie, Agnes Baltorinic; Mrs. Patterson, Avon Sheen; Elsie Patterson, Helen Thompson; Traffic Officer, Douglas Englehart; "Dutch," Charles Davidson; Brian, Jack Harroff; Omar, Bill Crouch; Hal, David Carey; Pete, Joe Pales; Prudence, Marjorie Eckstein; Patty, Zoa Slutz; Jane, Bernice Matthews; Miriam, Lois Dilworth; Vivian, Jane Hoperich. Extra boys and girls were:—Betty Ruth Lewis, Jeanette Astry, Jeannette Flick, Ruth Anna White, Stewart Painter, Ronald Whipkey, and Ray Nusbaum.

Unfortunately a rather important member of the play cast, Avon Sheen, became ill after the performance of the first night. Her place in the play, however, was very ably filled by Mary Baxter, a fellow member of the Junior class, who deserved great credit for stepping into the difficult part with so little notice.

The play was a huge success in both performances, especially, if the fact is considered that it was the first separate dramatic attempt of the juniors.

Preceding the junior play, however, was the costume operetta, in which the members of the music classes consisting of students of all four years participated. The title of the operetta, which was very capably directed by Miss Martha Krauss, was, "In Old St. Louis." It was a swashbuckling and interesting romance of the good old days—back in the very early part of the nineteenth century—with terrible pirates and handsome heroes and beautiful damsels in distress. In addition to the other classes in the cast, there were many juniors; in fact, the leads were filled by Rita McNichol and Joe Pales and were handled very well indeed.

The juniors did not satisfy themselves with dramatics only. In debating they were well represented, too. Zoa Slutz was a member of the affirmative team, and Helen Thompson was a member of the negative team.

In cheer-leading the juniors refused to take a back seat, but proceeded to demonstrate their ability, with Joanna Adams representing the fair sex, and Ray Nusbaum sticking up for the masculine element.

Refusing to be outdone in the social whirl, the juniors held their class party on November 22, in the high school gym. Dancing and games were the diversions of the party. The extra entertainment of the evening was provided by students of Betty Lee Kenneweg's dancing classes. This was the first separate party of the class of '36, as in both their freshman and sophomore years the parties were combined affairs. "A good time was had by all."

Athletics, always supremely interesting to high school students, claimed much of the attention of many junior boys.

In football the juniors came through with flying colors, Eddie Pukalski and Paul Williamson providing excellent material for the gridiron.

Basketball, too, had its day and its place in the hearts and the minds of the juniors. In addition to Eddie Pukalski and Paul Williamson, John Lutsch participated in basketball. The basketball team was particularly good this year, partly due, perhaps, to the help of the representatives of the junior class.

In track, too, the juniors came through for old Salem High. They won the interclass track meet, even beating the seniors. Their means of winning was centered in Dick Eakin, Dick Wernet, and Lewis Catlos. All year these three boys labored hard at track and deserve a pat on the back for their loyalty to old Salem—loyalty that can make you run all year is some loyalty!

In music, too, the juniors showed considerable interest, as indicated by the large number of them who were in the music classes, the band, and the orchestra.

Then in the high school band the following juniors made themselves heard:—Ruth Cornwall, Charles Freed, Jack Harroff, Jean Auld, Frances Mae Vincent, Verna Brown, Joe Pales, and James Hilgendorf.

On our own Quaker editorial staff were many juniors:—Charles Freed, who is assistant editor and becomes editor-in-chief next year, Joe Pales, Bill Crouch, and Ralph Hixenbaugh—quite a good representation.

And on the business staff is Charles Davidson, assistant business manager, who next year steps up to the position of business manager; other members are Harry Bichsel and James Bruce.

With this fine record of varied achievements behind them, members of class of '36 are well qualified to be the seniors of next year, and let's hope their record continues to be as good when they do occupy that honored position in high school.

THE CLASS OF 1937

President, Kenneth Shears;
Vice President, Arthur Brian;
Secretary-Treasurer, Arthur Bahmiller.

Because of their worthy aspirations, the members of the class of '37 has established for themselves an enviable reputation in both scholastic and athletic activities.

The 203 members re-elected their freshmen class officers the first semester for the identical offices they held last year.

Those who ably represented the class on the football squad are: George Gibson, Howard Tibbs, Charles Yeager, Robert Hertz, Robert Battin, Fred Brannntch, Walter Hanzlick, George Catlin, Mahlon Hippley, Howard Kerr, Joseph King, Donald Krauss, Clay Raynes, John Rich, Henry Smith, Ralph Snyder, Billy DeRienzo and Ralph Zimmerman. The first seven of these have been out for football both years. Joe Burke is the sophomore football manager.

The sophomore class can also boast of some promising basketball stars, namely: Wade McGhee, Clay Raynes, Delmar Schaffer, Donald Slagle, Henry Smith, Kenneth Shears, and Arthur Whipkey.

Many sophomore enthusiasts went out for cross country and track. Among them are: Archie Bricker, Joseph King, John Rich, Paul Roelen, Howard Tibbs, Thomas Tilley, Charles Yeager, (these seven are promising veterans from last year) Billy Rice, Dean Glass, and Bruce Whitcomb. The sophomore manager for track is Fred Brannntch. The class has the honor of possessing a track man who is the outstanding star in the mile run—Paul Roelen. He placed second in the district meet and sixth in that of the state. He also has equal ability in cross country.

The band has sixteen sophomore musicians who have faithfully served during their first two years in Salem High School. They are: Glenn Swaney, Robert Battin, Paul Bailey, Robert Donahey, Dean Glass, Evelyn Hoch, Robert Hostetler, Howard Kerr, Jean Kingsley, Gilson Koenreich, Wade McGhee, Billy Rice, Robert Schwartz, Kenneth Shears, Marge Simon, and Jane Woods. Those who represent the sophomore class in the orchestra are: Robert Donahey, Miriam Dow, Dean Glass, Evelyn Hoch, Robert Hostetler, Jean Kingsley, Kenneth Shears, Carl Sabotka and Louise Theiss.

The five following sophomore girls are valuable members of the library staff: Miriam Dow, Betty Fifer, Jean Kingsley, Betty Martin, and Jean McCarthy, who has been a member for two years.

Jane Metzger, the poetess, Jean McCarthy, and Jeanne Layden, feature writers, have enriched the Quaker editorial staff with their brilliant ideas, while Robert Battin and Gertrude Harris have diligently worked on the business staff.

Two sophomore girls, Jane Metzger and Theda Jane Loschinsky, participated in the unit for poetry of the Brooks contest in 1934.

Jane Metzger won eighth place in Latin I in the District scholarship examination offered at Kent, Ohio on May 5, 1934, and Catherine Zimmer was the only sophomore who took a solo part in the operetta, "In Old St. Louis," which was presented this year.

Meta McCave and Robert Donahey participated in the contest of the Ohio State Federation of Music Clubs held at Cleveland on April 13, 1934. Meta was entered in the division for pianists, while Bob was in that for baritones.

A number of sophomore girls belong to the Girls' Athletic Association and are participating in the various sports to earn the required number of points to merit a letter.

Some thirty-five sophomores were members of the Junior Science Club last year. This was the only freshmen club in high school. It was not reorganized this year.

Kenneth Leipper was on the debate team both years, and Arthur Brian in his freshman year.

The new sophomores who entered Salem High this year from various schools are as follows: Harold Butler, Sebring, Ohio; Dale Thompson, Newark, Ohio; William Westfall, Scio, Ohio; Clarence Wooley, New Brighton, Pennsylvania; LeRuth Foust, Warren, Pennsylvania; Marjorie McGhee, Steubenville, Ohio. Those who came in late in the 1934-35 school year were Forrest Smith, Lisbon, Ohio; Fred Brannth; Marcella Justice, Leetonia, Ohio; Ruth Smith, Lakewood, Ohio; Justine Stamp, Cleveland, Ohio; Catherine Zimmer, Wooster, Ohio.

The class during their freshmen year composed, directed, and presented an entertaining assembly program in which a one act play entitled "Wieners on Wednesday" was given. Those comprising the cast were: Jane Metzger and Henry Smith, the parents; Jean McCarthy and Wade McGhee, their children, and Theda Jane Loschinsky, the foreign opera star. This program was enthusiastically received by the student body. Jean McCarthy also took part in the Christmas play, "Tidings of Joy."

The class did exceedingly well in its first venture to create a class fund, having sold, when freshmen, approximately 750 "magic slates." Kenneth Leipper and Jean McCarthy deserve honor for being the star salesmen.

Their traditional party with the freshmen was a lively affair of May 17. In their freshmen year they likewise enjoyed a gay spring party on April 20. The best of the year, the class party, is saved 'till the last.

The faculty advisor for the sophomore class is Miss Shoop, who this year replaced Miss Smith as the class supervisor.

May this noteworthy class be as confident of success the latter half of their high school career as they have proved themselves successful the first half.

Room 106

First Row—Martha Barckhoff, Irene Faltorinic, Geraldine Breault, Evalyne Benedict, Helen Booty, Mary Bailey, Fae Andre, Betty Bruder, Thelma Burger, Letha Bowker.

THE CLASS OF 1938

President, Charles Wentz
 Vice President, Ward Eckstein
 Secretary-Treasurer, Stella Fidoe

The group that entered Salem High this year as the class of '38 inaugurated the third year of the organization of a freshmen class. Previous to the last three freshmen groups, classes were never organized until they were sophomores.

As class elections were not held until the second semester they had only the last term in which to plan a way of raising revenue for their treasury. Their method was to sell pencils which had imprinted on them schedules of the last six weeks of school.

The annual Freshman-Sophomore party which was held May 17 in the gym had as its color scheme the green and white of the freshmen and the blue and white of the sophomores. It was a huge success and is greatly looked forward to next year.

The freshmen were well represented in the various school activities.

According to Mr. Cope, the track coach, he made some finds among the athletic members of the class. Some of the most outstanding are: Conrad Raymond of whom much is expected in the 220 and the 440 before his high school career is finished; Bob Hinton and Joe Kornbau, both low hurdlers; Max Lutsch and Frank Julian in the weights; Julius Nestor in high jumping; Bill Lutz and Bill Dickinson, half-mile and mile respectively; and Ralston Smith and John Shea, both participants of the dash events.

The girls are not to be outdone in that they have members as future librarians. Under the tutelage of Miss Lehman, Elsie Hunter, Elizabeth Elder, Betty Morris and Priscilla Mullins are being coached to take the places of those graduating from year to year.

Several outstanding students were competitors in the district scholarship examinations which were held May 4 at Kent State Normal School.

The freshmen were also represented in basketball by several members including Max Lutsch, Gilbert Everhart, Bob Minamy, Ralph Moffett, and Bill Brookes. These boys will be expected to carry on the basketball traditions of Salem High during the next few years and will be expected to come through with many victories for the school.

Besides basketball these first year students showed some skill along football lines. As Mr. Smith says, if the weight and speed of those who participated in football is increased, a heavy skillful team will soon be representing the school. The class president, Charles Wentz, is declared as being a promising fullback while Conrad Raymond, small but fast, shows some qualities necessary to football players. Other promising material consists of:— Robert Minamy, Robert Kirchgessner, Vaughn Cauffield, Ralph Moffett, Robert Boughton, Robert Kaminsky, Hugh West, Carl Keiser, Edward Zilavy, John Panuska, and Kenneth Dunn.

There is an average number of freshmen in the band. In other years there have been at times more and at times fewer members than those who turned out this year. Those who suc-

Two members of the orchestra, Hazel and Martha Farmer, gave guitar and vocal duets during the intermission of the Band Concert that was held April 24 in the High school auditorium.

Although the freshmen were not so well represented in the orchestra as in the band, the following were members of that organization: Robert Boughton, Betty Jane Combs, Hazel Farmer, Martha Farmer, and Ralph Taylor.

A musical assembly was presented to the student body in May. The special numbers consisted of a Hill Billy Band under the direction of the class president, Charles Wentz; a vocal solo by Ethel French, an illustrious member who took first prize for her vocalizing at the contest sponsored by the Ohio Federation of Music Clubs in Cleveland; violin solos by Junior Taylor, another musician; guitar duets by Hazel and Martha Farmer; and piano renditions by Harold Hoperich.

The freshmen not only made history in high school but also in seventh and eighth grades. They went out for the Association plan in a big way. Then each class was allowed to have two parties at any time during the year. They usually chose a Christmas party, then a picnic in the spring.

As is always the case they were greatly looked down upon by the eighth grades and were glad to become seniors in Junior High.

At the first of their eighth grade year a play was presented and directed by a student, the title of which play was "Murder Will Out".

A library staff consisting mostly of eighth grade girls was organized by Miss Smith. During the Christmas season the Dramatic Club presented a play entitled "Why the Church Bells Rang." The majority of this cast was composed of the boys and girls of our freshmen class.

About the end of the school year the Dramatic Club sponsored a contest which was mainly devoted to impersonations, dancing, and singing. To top off the whole performance a "melodramer" entitled "Archibald, My Hero" was given. The grand prize was a battered tin drinking cup which was given to the cast of the play.

Another event of this year was the Quakerette Staff picnic, which was held at Mill Creek Park in Youngstown.

Then, the Dramatic Club again came into the limelight by presenting an entirely new idea—puppet shows—this one being "The Fairy's Wish."

Then came Commencement, the supreme highlight of all the elementary years. At the Commencement exercises a puppet show was given. There were also two prizes given to the two persons showing the most progress in English; the winners were Keith Frost who received fifteen dollars as first prize and Courtney Miller who received a second prize of ten dollars.

These satisfied, future freshmen, having successfully completed their grammar school days, proudly strutted out of the building leaving behind them memories of individual value and looking forward to others far surpassing those which remained.

OUR FACULTY

The Faculty—those patient, long enduring souls
Who guide our steps and set before us goals
To which we may aspire, who take away the stumbling blocks
That trip us up; who smooth away the knocks
And bumps that make our school days hard.
Who hand down precedents for us to guard
And keep. Who show us wherein true worth lies
So we may see it with uncovered eyes.

Not this alone, but countless other things.

They shout the joy that true friendship brings.

The pleasure found in books and wholesome sports.

And happiness of different sorts.

The Faculty must strive to give

Us rules that teach us how to live

Good, helpful, earnest lives, and then

Co-operation with our fellow men.

The Faculty—those learned teachers old and wise
Who try to give us knowledge, in disguise
Like sugar coated pills. We do not like the taste
Of plain, ungarnished knowledge. Yet sometimes in our haste
To shun it, we absorb it quite unconsciously
Unknowing that it's education decked out pleasantly.

And so the faculty must find

A way to cram into each mind

A little math, some Latin prose

A bit of this, a bit of those

And harder than to cram it in

Far harder is to keep it in.

This, too, then becomes the business of the faculty;

Maintaining at all times the proper dignity;

Which their positions and great learning

Makes necessary even though within they're yearning

To be laughing with the students, they must frown

Suppressing any mirth they feel—they must squelch it down.

The faculty—those blessed, cranky, cross old, dears;
Although they sometimes irk us now,—in later years
We'll realize how hard they tried to teach
Us things we did not want to learn. Should any reach
Success's heights: they, then, must turn and say
Unto those teachers whom they knew. "All that I am today,
All that I'll ever be, I owe to you, the faculty;
Though others helped me up, you were the first to be
A factor in my education. Now I see
How much your efforts have meant to me."

So, faculty, we may not realize

Your worth to us; but save your sighs

Some day, we'll think of you with pride,

Appreciate you—when you've died.

QUAKER BUSINESS STAFF

• WORDS • WORDS • WORDS •

This year, the Quaker editorial staff became pioneers in that they introduced the first five-column weekly publication and changed over from the light face headline type to the modern, bold face news headline, which gave the Quaker the appearance of a very newsy publication.

This idea was introduced by Alex Fratila, Jr., who wielded the rod of Editorship.

Mr. H. C. Lehman, journalism and English instructor, was again the editorial staff advisor and counsellor.

Not long after the first of the year, Charles Freed was chosen for the position of assistant editor and in turn will become the editor-in-chief next year.

As is the usual custom, six delegates attended the annual High School Journalism Convention at Columbus. They were Alex Fratila, editor; John Knepper, business mgr.; Charles Freed, assistant editor, and Charles Davidson, assistant business mgr.; Mr. Lehman, editorial advisor, and Mr. Hilgendorf, business staff advisor.

The typists on the editorial staff this year were Laura Monks and Eileen Griffiths, who deserve a great deal of credit for their fast and accurate work in typing the copy for both the weekly and the annual.

The '35 business staff was truly a pioneer in that it established several records and made possible a five column Quaker Weekly. A new mark of 137 inches of ads for one weekly issue, far above the old record of 110 inches, was established by this staff.

After a contest for assistant business manager was over, Charles Davidson Jr. was appointed to that capacity and to serve as business manager in 1935-36. Another record was here attained. Charles turned in 56 inches of ads for one weekly issue, eclipsing the previous record of 37 inches, held by John Knepper.

A contest for the student body with cash prizes was sponsored by the business staff, under the direction of the business manager, John Knepper. A play was presented in assembly to inaugurate the contest.

John Knepper, the business manager; Charles Davidson Jr. assistant manager, and Mr. Hilgendorf, the advisor, represented this division of the Quaker at the annual State Journalism Convention in Columbus.

The staff proved itself to be energetic by the splendid advance in the results of their untiring efforts. A very great responsibility rested on this staff, but its dependability never wavered, nor was it doubtful.

The measure of success attained by the staff is best exemplified by the advertising section of this year book. The staff has faithfully executed its duties and respectfully offers the burden to the '35-'36 staff with best wishes for a year of success.

OUTDOOR CLUB

SHAWLS AND CASTANETS

Los Castellanos has had a very active year. The club held its bi-monthly meetings under the capable supervision of their faculty advisor, Miss Mildred Hollett.

The first social function of the year was a Spanish tea party, during which time the new members were introduced to the traditional Spanish Mate.

There were 30 Castellanianians this year. The officers were:—President, Nevin Halverstadt; Vice president, Virginia Koenreich; Secretary, Fred Roth; Treasurer, Roland Shaffer; Pianist, Laura Monks; Song Leader, John Knepper.

The club exchanged letters with Spanish students of English in Mexico. The reading of these letters, games, and Spanish sketches and songs constituted the programs for the meetings.

Because one of the Spanish Classes studied the authentic Spanish novel "Jose", the board of education kindly made it possible for the entire club to see the motion picture of the story.

At the end of the year the club members enjoyed a very successful picnic.

The seniors who leave the club this year hope that the members of next year will not forget them and will keep up the idea of furthering interest in Spain.

The Outdoor Sportsman Club, under the supervision of Mr. Edward Englehart, is the newest addition to the list of clubs of Salem High. This club, which was organized about mid-year, has already proved itself a worthy organization.

The officers of the Outdoor Sportsman Club are: President, Alfred Rich; Vice President, Bill Rogers; Secretary-Treasurer, Nevin Halverstadt.

The purpose of this club is to further the interest of those interested in the out-of-doors, to study and assist in conservation, and to obey and enforce game and fish laws.

The club holds meetings every other Tuesday. At these meetings a program of interest to every outdoor sportsman is presented. There are assignments and discussions on outdoor subjects such as would pertain to the habits of fish and game, methods used in pursuing the sports, appreciation of fish and game laws, and methods in hiking and camping. Besides meetings, plans are made for outdoor hikes and camping.

Although cold weather prevented several outdoor week-end camping trips, some of the members enjoyed a week-end trip into the mountains of Pennsylvania.

SLIDE RULE CLUB

HERE ARE OUR LEADERS

The Hi-Y club climaxed its successful season by giving its annual dance. It was held on May 3 and was a semi-formal affair. The dance was well attended and was enjoyed by all.

The officers of the club for this year were: Don Hammell, President; Lowell Shallenberg, Secretary, and Harris Trewitz, Treasurer.

The club changed from last year's custom of having a Torch club. They invited the juniors into the club with the seniors. There were about thirty members in the club.

This year the members who wished ordered jackets or sweaters, colored scarlet and gray, the Hi-Y colors. Also, a number of emblems were ordered.

The club had many interesting discussions on the different topics that all Hi-Y clubs study. The purpose of the club is to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character. The slogan of the Hi-Y is, "Clean living, clean speech, clean athletics, clean scholarship, and contagious Christian character."

The Hi-Y club joined in helping the Hi-Tri in giving a benefit dance on the President's birthday. The proceeds were used to help crippled children.

A few of the junior members plan to go to the Hi-Y camp at Brickhaven, Ohio, where they will take a course to train them to be next year's officers.

The Slide Rule club is a new club in Salem High this year. It was organized by Miss Martha McCready at the beginning of the second semester. When started, it was to include only students who had taken mathematics for four years, but later three-year students with a B average were admitted.

The purpose of the club is to learn the fundamentals of the slide rule. Miss McCready has a slide rule fifteen feet long and with this and the smaller ones each member has, the students work various problems pertaining to this system.

Once a month there is a social meeting where the members participate in mathematical games and conundrums. Usually committees previously chosen serve a lunch.

Eighteen members compose the club and have as their President, Donald Hammell; Vice President, Emma Jane Lewis, and Secretary-Treasurer, James Campbell. Miss McCready hopes the club will be carried on in the future and will be more active.

BAND

THEY'VE GOTTA BOOK

The school library has acquired some new equipment during this past year. In January the Board of Education presented the library with an attractive globe of the world. This globe is accurate and up-to-date, thus very valuable for reference work. In April a new file of eight drawers was installed for catalogues and pamphlets of various kinds.

All the Literary Digests, from 1925 complete to date, were bound into book form. As these magazines are popular reference sources it is considered valuable to keep them in a book form.

A new twenty volume encyclopedia entitled, "The World Book Encyclopedia," was added to the collection of reference material at the beginning of the term.

As is customary new assistants were added to those already on the staff. Several of these staff members helped to organize a library in the automobiles shop, according to the methods used in a regular library.

Miss Lois Lehman, the librarian, held classes after school for several weeks, instructing assistant librarians and other students in the art of mending books. Several of the staff members are planning to take up library work for their vocations as a result of helping in the school library. Five of the assistants graduated this year, thus leaving vacancies to be filled by the on-coming students.

According to the statistics presented by Miss Lehman, one hundred twenty-five new books were catalogued this year. Some of these books were gifts, while others were bought by the school.

Salem's High's sixty five piece band, under the direction of Mr. Chester Brautigam, has proved itself both an active and an efficient organization in its work during the past year.

The officers of the band are: President, J. Ben Cope; Treasurer, Kenneth Shears, and Librarian, Jean Auld. Jack Harroff and Tom Bennett serve as student directors and Charles Freed is the drum major.

During the year the band enlarged its library with the purchase of several new concert pieces and marches.

The band played at all home football and basketball games, Armistice Day parade, American Legion festival parade, and the Memorial Day parade. Instead of sponsoring two free concerts, the band charged an admission of twenty cents for its first concert given in the latter part of April. Besides this concert the band sponsored its second annual "Band Dance" during Christmas Vacation.

During the year the band attempted to raise money for badly needed uniforms. Although the funds at present are insufficient, it is hoped that the Board of Education will assist so that the band will be completely outfitted in new uniforms next fall.

Although this year was not a big financial success for the band, it was a success musically.

SPECIAL CHORUS

WEBSTERS OF MERIT

Despite the fact that all the members were inexperienced, this year's debate team had a fairly successful season, winning four out of six debates.

The affirmative team was composed of: Zoa Slutz, first speaker; Helen Thompson, second speaker, and Mildred Woods, third speaker. Ray Simonds acted as alternate.

On the negative team were: Helen Thompson, first speaker; Kenneth Leipper, second speaker, and Mary Finnigan, third speaker. Lionel Difford was the negative alternate.

Opening the 1935 debate season, the Salem negative team met Canton McKinley in the Canton McKinley auditorium. The decision was given to the latter team.

In the second debate, held in the Salem High School auditorium, our affirmative team met and defeated the negative team of Minerva.

The second defeat came when the negative team met the strong Newton Falls affirmative team, who won the championship of this district.

The affirmative team traveled to Warren for their second debate, where they defeated the Warren negative team in the Warren Harding High School auditorium.

At Youngstown, in their last debate of the season, the Salem negative team defeated the Youngstown East affirmative team.

Our affirmative team was victorious in the last debate of the season with East Palestine, thus winning three out of three debates.

Three members of the team: Mary Finnigan, Ray Simonds, and Mildred Woods, graduate this year, leaving Elsie Hunter, who was unable to take her place on the team because of illness; Helen Thompson, Zoa Slutz, and Lionel Difford as candidates for the 1936 debate team.

The Special Chorus, a vocal ensemble of thirty-five mixed voices, was organized this year under the direction of Miss Martha Krauss, and it was from this group of singers that the leading characters of the operetta, "In Old St. Louis," were selected.

The chorus met each Monday and Tuesday after school and successfully mastered a number of musical selections, among which were five "a capella" numbers. The latter were done so satisfactorily that Miss Krauss stated that next year the Special Chorus will probably sing all a capella numbers.

The chorus entertained the high school student body in several assemblies throughout the year and sang at Baccalaureate services and at Commencement exercises.

Barbara Morey, a junior, was the general manager this year and took care of all the business of the chorus.

Although several members of the chorus will be graduated this year, judging from the number of good voices suitable for choral work among the underclassmen and judging from the great interest shown in the success of the chorus, it will probably be larger next year than it was this year.

UNPARALLELED SONG BIRDS

IDEALS FOR REALISTS

Under the supervision of Miss Horwell and Miss McCready the Hi-Tri met every Thursday evening in 204. Miss McCready was newly chosen this year to act as assistant advisor in the place of Miss Peterson.

The officers of the organization were: Emma Jane Lewis, president; Olive Tolson, Vice President; Margaret Stewart, Secretary, and Marye Giffin, Treasurer.

As "hobbies" was the theme this year, many interesting speakers were secured who spoke on their individual hobbies. Among these were: Mr. Livingston, an artist; Mr. William Baker of the Jr. High faculty, and Mr. Harold Williams, Principal of Jr. High.

Penny dances and a bake sale were held for the purpose of raising money. The Hi-Tri and Hi-Y jointly sponsored a President Roosevelt's Birthday dance, the proceeds of which were proportioned according to the nation wide plan.

Three parties, one at Christmas, one on Valentine's day, and one on St. Patrick's day, were the outstanding social events of the year.

A new system of planning meetings was inaugurated. A central committee under Miss McCready's direction planned a calendar consisting of committees and program subjects for the entire year.

An assembly presented to the students in May concluded the year's activities.

The Salemasquers opened the school year with "The First Dress Suit," a radio play, which was presented in the auditorium after school for all who were interested in becoming members.

Tryouts were held in the auditorium. From more than sixty prospective members, thirty were picked, which with the thirty old members made a total membership of sixty. Those trying out were graded on voice, stage presence, and expression.

A Hallowe'en party was held for the new members in 307 after school. Following initiation and games and contests, refreshments were served. A good time was had by all.

The next important productions were: "Turkey Red", a Thanksgiving play, and "The Christmas Party," both of which were presented before the high school assembly at the appropriate occasions. "The Messenger from Khufu," a weird drama, was also given.

On April 16, the Salemasquers enjoyed a party with the Blue Domino Dramatic Club of Alliance High school at Twee-Crest Inn. Both organizations presented programs of a dramatic nature, followed by dancing and refreshments.

The officers for this year are: President, Dorothy McConnor; Secretary, Mary Bunn; Treasurer, Charles Palmer.

SALEM ASQUERS

CLASSICS OF INTEREST

The choral classes presented on Feb. 20, "In Old St. Louis," an operetta in three acts, and thus added a third large dramatic production to the customary two, the Junior and Senior plays.

Under the capable direction of Miss Martha Krauss, school music supervisor, the performance was enthusiastically received.

This presentation, based on historical facts, is a tale of the civilized frontier and of the conflicting difficulties between the French and American settlers in and about St. Louis.

The picturesque plot is one of humor, romantic adventures, excitement, and educational entertainment.

With but the exception of a few characters and the dancing choruses the entire cast is comprised of members from the music classes: The character roles are as follows: Manuel DaLiza, Harold Ludwig; Charles Sanquinet, Ralston Smith; Petrie, Wade McGhee; Pierre Chonteau, Lionel Difford; Donna DaLiza, Rita McNicol; Captain George Rogers Clark, Joe Pales; Doctor Sangrain, Robert Schaeffer; Lucinda, Belinda and Malinda, Ruth Kinney, Ethel French and Dorothy McCandless; Elsie Marie Sangrain, Katey Jo Zimmer; Lieutenant James Kennerly, Richard McConnor; Callote, Fred Roth; Mimi, Mary Frances Juergens; LeDiable, Jack Harroff; a Sentry, Charles Trotter; Jean, William Crouch; Daniel Boone, James Bruce; Captain Merriweather Lewis, Charles Davidson; Captain William Clark, Harold McConnor.

The Junior class, as its contribution to the dramatics of Salem High, presented a comedy of adolescence in three acts, "Growing Pains." This play, written by Aurania Rouverol, was given in the high school auditorium on the evenings of March 28 and 29.

The cast was, as follows: George McIntyre, Richard Wernet; Terry McIntyre, Lois Pidgeon; Mrs. McIntyre, Marion Theiss; Professor McIntyre, Charles Freed; Sophie, Agnes Baltorinic; Mrs. Patterson, Avon Sheen; Elsie Patterson, Helen Thompson; Traffic Officer, Douglas Englehart; Dutch, Charles Davidson; Brian, Jack Harroff; Omar, Bill Crouch; Hal, David Carey; Pete, Joe Pales; Prudence, Marjorie Eckstein; Patty, Zoa Slutz; Jane, Bernice Matthews; Miriam, Lois Dilworth; Vivian, Jane Hoperich. Extra boys and girls were: Betty Ruth Lewis, Jeanette Astry, Jeanette Flick, Ruth Anna White, Stewart Painter, Ronald Whipkey, and Ray Nusbaum.

The play was the charmingly told and well enacted story of typical youth with all the troubles involved in growing up.

The net profit, approximately $225, enabled the juniors to give the seniors their prom, as is the usual custom.

A SWELL SHOW

Contributing to the dramatic life of Salem High School, the senior class presented, on the evenings of December 6 and 7 "Skidding," written by Aurania Rouverol. The play was produced under the direction of Miss Mary Lampher.

The cast was taken care of in the following manner:—Aunt Milly, Cora Mae Reich; Andy, Harry McCarthy; Mrs. Hardy, Janet Walker; Judge James Hardy, Fred Roth; Grandpa Hardy, Robert Wonner; Estelle Hardy Campbell, Clara Mae Rich; Marion Hardy, Joyce Chatfield; Wayne Trenton III, Robert Shaeffer; Mr. Etubins, Horace Schwartz; Myra Hardy Wilcon, Mary Bunn.

The story was the problem of a career or marriage for a woman, and Marion Hardy had to decide which to choose. In favor of marriage was Aunt Milly, who was very cynical over the fact that she was an old maid. But Marion's sisters, Estelle and Myra, came home to mother when their marriages turned out unhappily. However, Marion finally decides, and her decision is satisfactory to all, especially to Wayne Trenton III, who supplies her heart interest.

Due to illness, Janet Walker was unable to participate in the second performance of the play, but her part was ably filled by Mary Finnigan.

The net profit from the play, $222, was added to the Senior class treasury, which paid for the senior gift and the farewell party, as well as the annual scholarship.

The High School orchestra was originated in 1920 by Miss Grace Orr and was under her direction for three years until it was taken over by Mr. Walter Regal who directed it for ten years, when it was taken over by Mr. Chester Brautigam, director of the High School Band.

Under Mr. Bautigam's direction the orchestra added the first string bass and cello, and rehearses during the fourth period, three times a week. The rehearsals were formerly held after school once a week.

For the first time since 1922 the orchestra played for a High School operetta "In Old St. Louis," under the personal direction of Miss Martha Krauss, the public school's music teacher.

After this brilliant production the orchestra played for the Senior class play "Skidding," and the Junior class play "Growing Pains" under the direction of Mr. Brautigam.

The seniors leave a large gap in the orchestra but are confident the under classmen will fill in as successfully as they did.

B R A W N Y A R M S

The Girls' Athletic Association was first organized last year for the benefit of all the girls in Salem High school who are interested in athletics.

Since the girls' basketball team has been abolished, the only way for a girl in high school to earn a letter in athletics is to participate in the activities of this club.

One thousand points must be earned by a member of the club by the time she is a senior in order to receive a letter. However, because the G. A. A. was organized only last year, the senior members need have only six hundred and fifty points, while the juniors must have eight hundred and fifty.

The points are earned by participation in such sports as hiking, skating, swimming, basketball, baseball, volleyball, and tennis.

Eight seniors this year have earned six hundred and fifty points or more and have been awarded letters.

The officers for this year are: Margaret Stewart, President; Hazel Anderson, Vice President; Betty Fifer, Secretary, and Ruth Cornwall, Treasurer.

The officers of the club hold office for one school year and are elected the latter part of the previous year. The president must always be a member of the senior class.

The officers recently elected to hold office next year are as follows: Betty Walker, President; Helen Thompson, Vice President; Jane Woods, Secretary, and Ruth Cornwall, Treasurer.

After several years of the monitors system in Salem High School, last year was the first year for a club of this kind to be organized.

Principal W. J. Springer supervises the club and although there are not regular meetings he calls a special meeting when there are particular directions or rules to be given to the members.

This club was started for the purpose of directing students who act as monitors to understand and learn their duty in maintaining order in the halls and giving the necessary information to students or visitors.

At the beginning of the school year study hall teachers choose trustworthy persons to act as monitors. These students are approved by the principal.

At each period of the day on each floor there are two monitors. On the third floor an association officer, called the head monitor, acts as a leader over the others, inspects the books, and sees that everything goes correctly, including quietness in the halls and order if there is a fire drill. In case of an absence the head monitor takes his place.

The club did not have an entertainment, party or elect officers this year, but it is hoped that in the future it will be more completely organized.

FOOTBALL

GRANGES AND GRANGES

Salem High's football team had another mediocre season this year, but the number of lettermen returning seems to give promise of a better than average team next year.

The Salem gridders' record for this fall was three wins, two ties, and six losses.

Salem played host to Sebring under the flood lights in the opening game, and the home eleven showed real power and deception in turning back the Sebring lads 30-0.

In the next few games the Quakers gave spasmodic performances, losing to Struthers 21-0, Warren 38-6, then coming back temporarily to triumph over East Liverpool 14-6.

Although favored to win at Youngstown South, the Salem boys were defeated 26-0. They played the Wellsville eleven the following week in a veritable sea of mud, and the game ended in a 6-6 tie.

In the following three games the Quakers defeated Niles 25-12, lost to Lisbon 7-0, and were crushed by New Philly 39-0.

The annual "Turkey Day" classic between Salem and their traditional rivals, Alliance, turned out to be a rout in the first half with Alliance scoring three touchdowns and three extra points to lead 21-0. The third quarter witnessed another touchdown by Alliance to make the score 27-0, but the local gridders then found themselves, rolling up 21 points and just falling short of a victory in the next two quarters.

When graduation time comes around, Salem High will lose twelve of the finest lads ever to play on its gridiron. Members of a light team, their fighting spirits pulled the team up to victory several times.

A fine example of spirit was shown in the Youngstown South game when Bob Chappell played in the game with four dislocated vertebrae and two "charley horses." Bob was indirectly responsible for the one touchdown scored by the Quakers in that contest.

Cliff Beck, who captained the Red and Black, deserves a big hand for his cool thinking and his ability in the "pinches." Cliff's all around football won him a place as center on the all county team. Cliff has been a letterman for three years.

Playing at tackle were Fred Kaiser, Walter Schell, Carl Skowran, Charles Berg, and Tom Bennett. All of these boys fought hard and deserve the praise of the entire student body.

The half back positions were capably covered by Roland Schaffer, Al Rich, and Harry McCarthy.

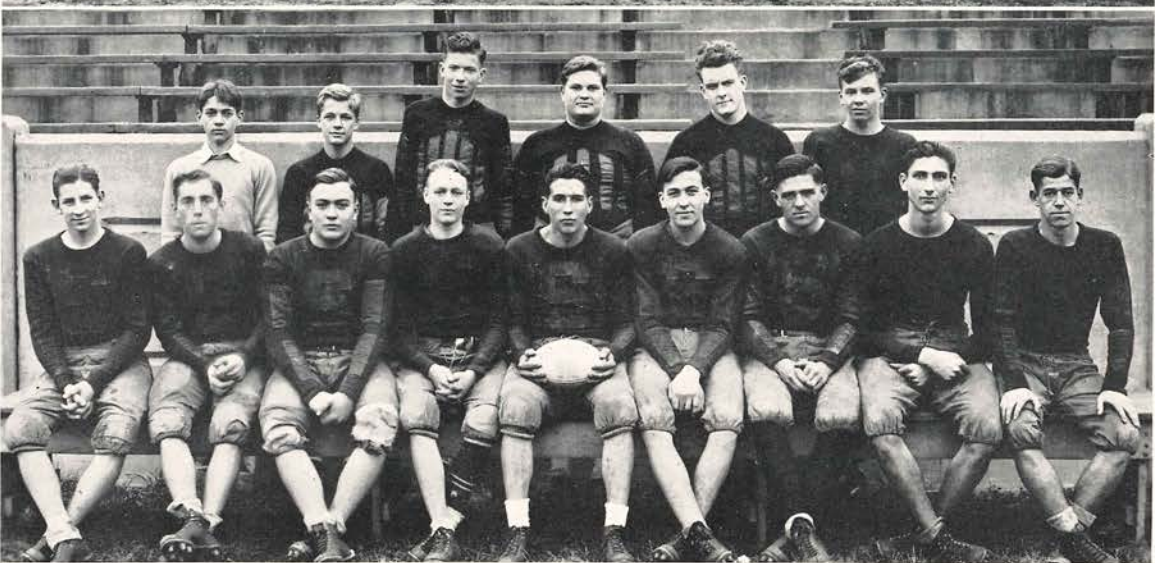

The two lanky senior lads who stretched for those passes were John Trombitas and Dick Wiggers. Their thrilling catches kept the crowd in a state of continual excitement.

The fighting spirit of these boys was typical of Salem High. It is an honor to dedicate this page of the 1935 Quaker Annual to these senior lads.

RESERVE BASKETBALL

COURTMEN OF FAME

The Salem High cagers, coached by Herb Brown, went through the 1934-35 playing season winning sixteen games and having only two setbacks. They then won three games at the District Tournament at Youngstown, losing to an inspired Chaney quintet in the finals. They were unable to shake off the jinx, and they lost their first game at Akron to the strong Canton McKinley Bulldogs.

The Brownmen proved victorious in their first six contests. They ran into a tarter at Dover, however, and dropped a 24 to 22 decision to the Crimson.

The following week the Quakers were edged by an inspired Alliance team on the latter's court, but the Quaker City lads won the next ten games to end the season without any further defeats.

The Salemites captured several important titles last season. They won the Big Six League Championship, the Columbiana County Championship, were runners up in the District Tournament, and were undefeated on their own floor.

Although six members of the squad will be lost through graduation this June, Coach Brown will have four varsity men and several promising reserve players with which to build his next year's team.

The Salem High Reserves won only five out of eighteen encounters last season. Many of these games, however, were lost by small margins. The squad, while lacking in height, proved itself a scrappy combine that didn't stop fighting until the final blast of the gun.

The team was composed entirely of freshmen and sophomores with the exception of Paul Williamson, a junior, who played with the reserves in some of their tougher games, so there are several promising players for next year's varsity squad.

Don Slagle, Delmar (Peanut) Schaffer, Max Lutsch, Clay Raynes, Henry Smith, and Gilbert Everhart were the most consistent players for the reserves.

Ralph Moffet, freshman member of the squad, was forced to leave the team in the early part of the season when he underwent an appendicitis operation.

It is expected that Moffet will return to the squad next season.

RUNNING UP RECORDS

Although Salem High could acclaim only a mediocre track season for the year of '35, the number of promising young underclassmen that were present on the team makes the outlook for the '36 season exceedingly bright.

The first interscholastic competition of the year for Salem was at the Mansfield Relays, where some of the strongest teams in the state were gathered. Salem won twenty-first place in the meet with two points, which were scored when Paul Roelen won fourth place in the mile. Toledo Scott, last year's winner of the state meet, led the field with eighty-five points.

At the Ohio Wesleyan Relays the Salem tracksters fared slightly better by taking fourteenth place.

In a triangular meet with Boardman and Lisbon High schools, Salem easily won first place with seventy-one and one-half points. Boardman copped second with forty-nine points, while Lisbon finished last with twenty-nine points.

Good pole vaulters and weight men seem to be lacking for next season, but Tibbs and Anderson look good in the hundred, Roelen, Wagoner and Kamasky in the half-mile and mile, J. Rich in the broad jump, Bruce and Harroff in the high jump, and Lutsch and Dolansky in the javelin.

Salem lost several outstanding performers through graduation in McConnor, McCarthy, Lesch, Trombitas, A. Rich, Eakin, and Herron.

With four lettermen back this year to jaunt over the two-mile course, Coach R. B. Clarke developed a team which had a fairly successful season.

Two dual contests were easy meat for the local thinclads in spite of the fact that both were run on foreign courses.

At Akron East high the "miniature marathoners" of Salem defeated the State champs of last year to the tune of 26 to 31.

The winning streak kept up, Salem defeating Barberton 17 to 47. Then at the District Meet, which was held this year at Akron instead of Cleveland, Akron East came back for blood and won the meet with 36 points, while Salem came in with 45.

This was the first time Salem has ever lost a district meet. Coach R. B. Clarke has developed three district winners and two state championship teams.

Three Salem lads qualified for the State Meet which was held in Columbus. They were George Brantingham, Lew Catlos, and Paul Roelen. These boys came through to win medals by taking 19th, 16th and 6th places, respectively.

Eight letters were presented to team members this year. Four lettermen will be back next year, around which a good team should develop.

Only five or six squad members were graduated this year—George Brantingham, Arnold Nye, Bronko Drakulich, Harold Ludwig, Paul Cleland, and Gail Herron.

A sum total of nine medals were won this year. Four of them were gold and five were silver.

A RECORD OF THE YEAR

- Sept. 10—School opens on schedule with the probabilities that we can continue a full term.
- Sept. 14—Salem won their first football game by beating Sebring High.
- Sept. 21—Salem High "gridders" had their first taste of defeat this season at the hands of Struthers, 21-0.
Interclass cross-country meet was held between halves of the Struthers-Salem football game. The Juniors won followed second by the Freshmen.
- Sept. 28—Cheerleader tryouts were held at an assembly. Anna Ruth Vincent, Martha Schmid, Joanna Adams, Ray Nusbaum and Don Hammell were chosen.
- Oct. 5 — Salem loses to a weighty Warren team, 38-6. The Smith men showed they had the stuff.
Salem cross-country team defeated Akron East, state champions of last season, 25-31, in a dual meet held at Akron.
- Oct. 12—Quakers beat heavy East Liverpool team 14-6. They have started off fine for the county championship.
- Oct. 19—Tonight the seniors will don their old clothes and come to the gym for a Barn Party. Freed's orchestra will furnish the music.
- Oct. 20—South High gridsters turned back Salem eleven 26-0 in a loosely-fought game at South Field, Youngstown.
- Oct. 26-27—Teachers trail off to the N. E. O. Teachers Convention at Cleveland.
- Oct. 27—In driving rain, wind and cold, and mud, in which the pigskin was right at home, the rival elevens of Salem and Wellsville battled to a 6-6 tie on Nicholson Field.
Three Salem harriers qualified for the state meet in the district meet at Akron. The three boys are: Paul Roelen, Goerge Brantingham, and Lewis Catlos.
- Nov. 2 — Many parents came to see their children in class rooms. All in all we had a fine day of it.
The Quakers spanked Niles 12-0 in the best game of the season.
- Nov. 10—Paul Roelen, Lewis Catlos and George Brantingham won sixth, sixteenth and nineteenth places, respectively at the State C. C. Meet.
The rival elevens of Salem and Lisbon battled fiercely during four full quarters for the winner would probably be county champion. The hard-fought game went to Lisbon 7-0.
- Nov. 16—Zellnar, an actor, artist and craftsman, put on an interesting program in assembly.
- Nov. 17—The New Philadelphia gridiron machine rolled to triumph over Salem 39-0 at New Philly.
- Nov. 23—Mr. Bailey gave the student body some good advice about life in an assembly program.

- Nov. 28—Members of the association had a winter party, which was the first party of the year.
- Nov. 29-30—Thanksgiving vacation.
- Nov. 29—Although the Quakers put up a good fight in the last half, they lost to the Alliance gridders, 27-21.
- Dec. 6-7—The Seniors showed they had the stuff when they put across their play "Skidding".
- Dec. 14—The Quakers began their county basketball championship campaign by walloping the Wellsville quintet, 25-13.
- Dec. 15—The Red and Black won their first game on their own floor from Sebring, 27-18.
- Dec. 18—The Salem Quakers won over the Lisbon quintet, 44-11 in a snappy game played at home.
- Dec. 22—Christmas vacation begins.
The Herb Brown boys over-run the Alumni in a fast game played at the gym.
- Dec. 28—Again the Salem High School Band, as an attempt to reach its goal for new suits, sponsored a Christmas Dance with Pat Conway furnishing the music.
- Jan. 5 — The Salem cagers traveled to Youngstown Chaney to give them a good beating.
- Jan. 7 — School resumes.

- Jan. 11 — Salem High varsity basketballers defeated a stubborn East Liverpool High quintet 28-22.
- Jan. 12 — Coach Herb Brown's battling Quakers went down to their first defeat of the season 24-22 at the hands of an inspired Dover High quintet in an exciting game played at Dover.
- Jan. 18 — A sensational Alliance High quintet subdued the faltering Salem High cagers 21-20 in a closely-fought battle at Alliance.
- Jan. 25 — Semester ends.
The Brown cagers staged a comeback by defeating East Palestine to the tune of 36-19.
- Jan. 26 — Staving off a desperate third period rally, Salem High's varsity quintet subdued the powerful Massillon High Tigers 21-17 in a thrilling over-time fray played at Massillon.
- Jan. 28 — Semester begins.
Mr. Guiler's affirmative debate team won over Warren debaters here.
- Jan. 30 — Hi-Y and Hi-Tri sponsored a dance given in the President's honor. They made $20.00 which will go to help children with infantile paralysis.
- Feb. 1 — Although handicapped, a scrappy Salem High varsity quintet edged the battling Harding High cagers 28-25.
- Feb. 4 — In their final debate of the season, the Salem Negative Debate team defeated the Youngstown East Affirmative team at Youngstown.
- Feb. 5 — A scrappy Salem High team beat the Rayen cagers 25-21 in a hard-fought battle.
- Feb. 8 — Staging a sensational fourth-period rally, Herb Brown's Varsity quintet upset the strong Akron St. Vincent five 28-24 in a thrilling game played in the Salem High gym.
- Feb. 9 — A basket by Mullins, Quaker forward, scored in the closing seconds of play, decided the Salem-Barberton contest, played on the latter's court.
- Feb. 15 — Displaying a powerful attack, Salem High's varsity quintet defeated the invading Aviators 36-16 in an important N. E. O. Big Six contest.
- Feb. 16 — Only after a fourth period rally were the Salem High Quakers able to defeat Scienceville five 22-13 in a game played on the latter's floor.
- Feb. 18 — Sir Stanley Brooks, renowned authority on Dickens, portrayed some of Charles Dickens immortal characters in an assembly program.
- Feb. 20 — Miss Martha Krauss, school music supervisor, presented an operetta entitled "In Old St. Louis", to a filled house.
- Feb. 22 — Washington's Birthday (holiday).
- Feb. 23 — Coach Herb Brown's varsity quintet won its 15th victory in 17 starts, as they completely humiliated the invading Niles combine 34-10 in a one-sided game played in the Quaker gym.
- Mar. 1 — Overcoming an early lead, the Salem High Quakers defeated an inspired Struthers quintet 32-27 in a closely-fought game played in Salem High gym.

Teacher—"Correct. Now can you name a city in Alaska?"

Willie—"No'm."

Teacher—"Fine. For once you were prepared."

Bridegroom—"This egg is cooked too hard, my dear."

Bride—"I'm sure I can't imagine why. I timed it just as I always do, by the traffic light at the corner—two reds and two greens."

Customer—"Do you have frog's legs?"

PROGRESS

There are few fields where the necessity for progress—the demand for new ideas, is as pronounced as in the production of School Annuals. ✧ Here in Canton we take pride in not only keeping pace, but in setting the pace for innovations and changes in this highly progressive field. ✧ When you work with Canton you are hand in hand with experienced people, constantly on the alert to sense the wants of Annual publishers, and quick to change from the old order, and offer new and unusual ideas to progressive editors.

Little Mary was in the bathtub. Her mother called her as the family had company. Mary answered, "I just can't come, Muvver. I got on plenty to stay where I am at, but I ain't got on a stitch to go where I ain't."

The orator spoke until all but one person had left the platform. Turning to the lone survivor the orator said, "Thank you for listening to so long a speech."

"Not at all," replied the other, "I'm the second speaker."

The Colonel's wife sent the following invitation to Captain Barry. "Colonel and Mrs. Beth request the pleasure of Captain Barry's company at dinner on the twentieth."

The reply shocked Mrs. Beth. "With the exception of four men on leave and two sick, Captain Barry's company will be pleased to accept your invitation."
