MAY WE PRESENT

The Quaker
"More than just a yearly occurrence”.

That is the goal at which we have aimed in putting together and editing this 1936 Quaker Annual.

We have tried to combine the pleasant ease of INFORMALITY with the dignity and sincerity of PRESTIGE, in order to bring to the students of Salem High a vivid and lasting portrayal of the happiest years of our lives.

We have attempted to focus a light, as it were, on the picture which tradition has painted here in such rich colors.

Striving and accomplishing are two remote forces. To say we have succeeded is vain—to say we have tried is modest. If this book is a fraction of what we have intended it to be, our efforts are rewarded.

We have laid aside our pens, scissors, glue and have washed the ink from our hands.

Our work is finished.

—THE EDITOR
Because —

of the work he has done with the High School Band in building it from a straggling 30-piece group to a 60-piece well drilled marching unit and a fine concert band of 70 members.

—through his efforts, instrumental music in Salem High has been raised to an unprecedented standard in making Band and Orchestra a regular everyday class.

—though his persistence, the Band has finally won a four-year battle waged for new uniforms.

The Board of Education

L. to R—E. S. Dawson, James H. Wilson, Clyde R. Reich, President of Board F. P. Mullins, Secretary of Board George F. Koontz, Vice President of Board Joel H. Sharp, Superintendent of Schools Earl S. Kerr.

These six men, with Superintendent Kerr, constitute the central unit of the Salem Public Schools—the Board of Education.

Each one of these men is a different personality, each in a different part of the business world, yet all are drawn together by one main purpose—to better the educational system of the City of Salem.

The president of the Board is F. P. Mullins. Although his business is in Pittsburgh, Mr. Mullins has spent most of his life here in Salem. He is a former track star of Salem High School and of the Yale University team. A lover of sports, Mr. Mullins' favorite pastimes are hunting game and yachting.

J. H. Sharp, vice president, is a Salem attorney. Time off from work finds Mr. Sharp hunting or engaged in other outdoor activities. He is also an enthusiastic leader of the Boy Scout organization.

The newest member of the Board is E. S. Dawson. Mr. Dawson, an engineer, during business hours is found at the Deming Pump Co. True to his profession, his constant companion is a slide rule. He enjoys using tools of all types.

C. R. Reich, another life-long resident of Salem, is engaged in the restaurant business and is now manager of the Cox Highway Club. Everyone in the city is well acquainted with and loves Mr. Reich. He is interested in Salem and works hard for our welfare.

Secretary of the Salem Tool Co., is the business title of another member, J. H. Wilson. As he is a graduate of Salem High, he is interested in our schools. While at Dartmouth, as a member of the Outing Club, he gained his flair for the great open spaces.

The job of the Clerk of the Board of Education is occupied by G. F. Koontz. Mr. Koontz is a public accountant and when not busy with cash journals and ledgers, he seeks his relaxation amid the noise of a larger metropolis.
Superintendent Of Schools

After study at Ohio Wesleyan and the University of Chicago, Earl S. Kerr began a diversified career in education. He has served as teacher, principal, and superintendent in Ohio's schools. The year 1924 found him superintendent of schools at Martins Ferry, Ohio. In 1931 he became assistant superintendent at Canton, from which position he came to Salem in 1931. He is keeping in touch with developments in education by attending summer sessions at Ohio State University. Mr. Kerr's strongest hobby is conservation of plant and animal life. He gets relaxation and recreation by strolling through the fields and woods. Both training and experience have fitted him to enjoy whatever of plant and animal life he meets.

As an outlet for his interest in the outdoors, our superintendent maintains a nature preserve near Freeport, Ohio.

When asked why he is so interested in public school work, Mr. Kerr replied as follows: "School is society's attempt to surround children with conditions under which they can catch up with civilization. Modern progress sets a fast pace for those who would come abreast in two or three decades. Citizens are not made, they grow. Children must become honest in the midst of deceit; they must become strong in the midst of weakness. Otherwise, the foundations of society will crumble. America's attempt to light the lamp of knowledge in every corner of the land is the challenge of the age. Human freedom—perhaps civilization—depends on her success."

Supt. Earl S. Kerr
Boss Of The Salem Show . . .

His hobby is making personal contacts with adolescent youth. No better proof can be offered than the fact that daily in his busy routine of ministering to the needs of a large high school he is ever willing to call time and confer with a student despite the size of the student's problem. No better testimonial can be given than that of the nine hundred students in S. H. S. who daily seek his understanding and willingly rendered advice on some problem which their adolescent minds cannot solve.

Second only to the aforementioned comes Athletics as an avocation. He is recognized as one of the state's foremost authorities on Interscholastic Athletic competition. Before his appointment as principal of S. H. S., Mr. Springer was head coach and produced a bevy of championship squads during that time. One of his most outstanding achievements in athletics is the widely known Salem Night Relays of which he is the director.

He enjoys the beauty of nature and is a lover of flowers and wild life. Sunday morning he may always be found teaching his Sunday School Class of some twenty or thirty young men.

All these things play a great part in the life of Mr. Springer but I'm sure if one would ask he would confide with a proud smile that his greatest business and the thing which overshadows all his other hobbies and avocations is his gracious and charming wife and his fine family Johnny, Betsy and Billy.

In a brief message to the Graduating Class, Mr. Springer says: "Every class which graduates from Salem High School endears itself to its faculty. Much is expected of its leaders who have distinguished themselves on the gridiron, court, track, stage and in the classroom. Predictions of their continued success are made by enthusiastic faculty members. But it remains for Time alone to reveal the degree of accuracy due these predictions.

Those who read these lines in 1956 will recall the marked leadership tendencies of the class's most distinguished graduate. Many of the successful men and women in 1956 from the class of 1936 will be little-remembered pupils of S. H. S. Unfortunately some of its most talented graduates may eventually become less spectacular. Your parents and teachers have left with you ideals and tools with which to work. The degree to which you achieve success lies with you. The greatest remuneration to parents and teachers lies in your successes."
ADVICE - To The Ladies
- Dean Of Girls -

Aiding young people is her hobby.

Through her guidance and careful consider­ation not a few students of Salem High School have been guided by her only-too­willing and knowing hand in choosing their life work, selecting the proper and practical College or University where conditions are best suited for each student's individual requirements. She has helped them plan their course of study for High School in the things which will aid them most in years to come. She has a pleasant and congenial way of instilling into students the fact that they must prepare their life's work even as early as a High School Freshman. She helps them realize the need for higher education.

A glance into her personal life shows us that she is very fond of travel. She likes to become better acquainted with other people in the other countries and her personal friends are legion even from the four corners of the earth. She has toured England and the Continent.

Nature and its beauties play a great part in her life for she is very fond of the great out­of­doors and she has made an extensive study of wild flowers, cultivated plants and trees. Another of her many avocations is philately or collecting stamps.

Her career in Education is an interesting and colorful one. She is a graduate of New Jersey state normal college and Columbia University.

She has taken special graduate work at Exeter, and London Universities in England where for several summers she attained a rich background in English History, art and literature in a special field course.

Miss Hart says:

"Education, as offered by the school, is not, as so many believe, merely a preparation for the future. It is rather a process of growth or development through natural daily experiences, which it is the province of the school to provide.

That institution is not primarily concerned with what the student will be thinking or doing years from now, but rather with his reaction to his present environment; that the necessary elements, including goodwill, cooperation and justice, may enable him to live a happy, efficient, constructive life."

M. MAUDE HART
They're More Than Teachers . . .

We are proud of our faculty. We present herewith as fine an array of pedagogues, as grand and versatile a teaching staff as can be found in any other secondary educational institution in the land.

They have struck a pleasing medium between the monotony and drudgery of tough assignments and the delightful and fancy-free pleasure of play and fun.

Never too austere or stern in their ways to see and laugh at a good joke regardless of the situation. Always ready to crack right back at you with a better one. They can understand the lighter side of life amid the work-a-day routine of a busy high school, for they have learned to use their spare time to useful advantage.

Some of the hobbies with which the Faculty abounds are music, pro baseball and basketball, hunting and fishing, the ministry, politics, selling insurance and authoring text books.

It is their lot to exert that prime characteristic called patience, the use of which often determines one’s success as a teacher. They have learned to understand their unsettled and sometimes problem charges, working with them in sincerity and interest.

All in all we are proud to present “a whole bundle of good sticks.”

It Was In The Fall Of 1932--

—when about 200 wide eyed kids with the scent of Junior High fresh in their neatly combed hair made their appearance in the halls of S. H. S. From all outward appearances and as far as the dignified and blase upper-classmen were concerned, this was just another crazy group of giggling greenhorns.

But it did not take this seemingly green gang long to break into the intricate routine of high school life and finally show their true colors.

Just as they learned to find their way through the labyrinth of halls, so they learned that high school held more than mere work-a-day routine.

For the first time in the history of the Freshman Class in Salem High, they organized. Jimmy Campbell was elected President, Lois Dilworth, Vice-President, and Secretary Treasurer Vance Stewart. Many chose athletics, some music, and others varied activities. Money making projects were promoted and before they knew it they found their estate of Frosh at a termination.

.. And In Parting Leave

And Then In 1933--

—We’re Sophomores, We’re Sophomores! Hooray!
This was the joyful strain which rung through the lower south hall of the old school when the doors opened after a summer of revelry.

Sophisticated Sophomores! That’s what they were. Now it was their turn to scoff at the bewildered Frosh. It was now their turn to high-tail after the scampering scamps on that fatal Hallowe’en night. Yes, this was the life. One down and three to go.

Many promising athletes blossomed out this year in football, track, and basketball. Election was held and James Campbell was re-elected to lead the destines of the class of ’36. Eddie Pukalski was elected Vice-President and Vance Stewart was again Secretary.

The Freshman-Sophomore hop was again held in the gym April 20, with great success.

Under the sincere guidance of Miss Smith, the class made this year a grand success financially, fraternally, and scholastically.
When 1934 Rolled Around --

—this same class emerged from the estate of Sophomores to the more dignified position of Juniors. High school and the novelty had completely worn off and they began thinking of the more serious side of life. This year was one filled with an abundance of activity.

Again James Campbell was elected President, Eddie Pukalski, up-and-coming athlete became Vice President, Vance Stewart was once more Sec.-Treasurer. The Junior play was the Rouverol Comedy, “Growing Pains”. The Junior Class party went off in fine style.

The great day in the life of every student came to these students as the year drew to a close. “THE PROM”. The banquet and the dance, the lovely flowing gowns and the neat summer attire of the men under the softly glowing lights and the gay decorations made a picture more colorful than any artist ever painted. The class leaders gradually assimilated the leading positions in the school and now the score was three down and one to go.

Behind Us . .

And So In The Spring Of ’36 --

Finally this same class that entered Salem High School four years ago, leave this place in which they have lived the happiest years of their lives, with a keener insight on living. They have been struck with the startling realization that they are now “on their own” and they are facing a world as a mere freshman in the school of life.

What they have learned here will prove indespensable to them in the widely varied fields which they have chosen. But the bulk of their knowledge in “living” must be obtained in that well known institution of highest learning, the “school of hard knocks” and under the relentless tutelage of old man experience.

Not a few tears of sorrow and regret stood in the sparkling eyes of the gaily dressed Seniors at the grand and glorious Prom when they realized that with the playing of “Home Sweet Home” by the orchestra their High School life was at a close. They have gone now and the world is open to them.

The Juniors

The class of '37 having reached the enviable position of upper classmen, and, although it distinguished itself in the first two years of high school activity, it has, true to prediction, proved itself noteworthy and successful.

The enrollment of the class is 174. The two new members who entered the class this year are: Joseph Belan, Damascus, Ohio, and Wesley Kille.

The election of officers was held the first semester and the class officers are: President, Kenneth Shears; vice president, Arthur Bahmiller, and secretary-treasurer, Reba Dilworth.

The boys of the class held their own in the field of sports. The basketball team was composed of nearly all Juniors. Those on the team are: Delmar Schaffer, Kenny Shears, Don Slagle, Henry Smith, Henry Juhn, Clay Raynes, and Art Brian.

The class was well represented on the football squad by Joseph Belan, Joe Burke, Mahlon Hippley, Bob Hostetler, Don Krauss, Robert Lora, Howard Kerr, Clay Raynes, Henry Smith, Wilmer Shepard, Howard Tibbs, Dale Thompson, and Charles Yeager. Joe Burke was the Junior manager.

Outstanding among the track enthusiasts are: Paul Roelen, star mile runner; Archie Bricker, Bill Rice, Howard Tibbs, Tom Tilley, and Charles Yeager. Fred Cooper, Dean Glass, Ray Entriken, Mahlon Hippley, Joe King, Kenny Shears, and Wade McGhee were also out for track. Paul Roelen was also a member of the cross-country team.

There are two girls in the class who evidently wished to become master of the English language and to train themselves in the art of expressing one's opinion before an audience. They are Jean McCarthy and Jean Kingsley, the former a member of the negative, the latter a member of the affirmative varsity debate team.

Among the members there are also five girls who like to work with books and to help students find necessary material for reports and the like. They belong to the library staff, under supervision of Miss Lehman, and they are: Miriam Dow, Betty Fifer, Jean Kingsley, Jean McCarthy, and Betty Martin. Two of these girls, Betty Martin and Jean McCarthy, have been on the staff three years.

Along with the other school activities came the thrill of giving a class play. Miss Lanpher chose her cast from a large number of prospects. There then followed several months of tedious practice and on the nights of April 23 and 24, by permission of Samuel French, the Junior class presented "Smilin' Through," a drama in three acts, written by Allan Martin. The members of the cast who deserve much credit for their untiring efforts are: Kenneth Leipper, Betty Martin, the heroine; Wade McGhee, the hero; Robert Battin, Gertrude Harris, Arthur Bahmiller, Reba
The play, taken from the screen play of the same title, was well received by an appreciative audience.

Quite a number of Juniors play in the High School band. These are: Paul Bailey, Bob Battin, Dean Glass, Bob Hostetler, Jean Kingsley, Gilson Koenreich, Howard Kerr, Wade McGhee, Marge Simon, Robert Schwartz, Kenny Shears, Bill Rice, and Glenn Swaney.

In spite of the fact that there are thirteen Juniors in the band, they are in no way bad luck to it. In fact, three of them, Kenny Shears, Bob Hostetler, and Glenn Swaney, are quite essential to the band; for Kenny plays the only piccolo; Glenn, the only bass tuba, and Bob, the only French horn, in the band.

In addition to some of the band members who are also in the orchestra, there are several others, namely, Mimiam Dow, Louise Theiss, and Evelyn Hoch.

The class can boast of an exceptionally brilliant lad. He is Kenneth Leipper, and he is graduating this year with the class of '36, thus completing his High School course in three years.

Quite a group of the class have contributed important material published in The Quaker Weekly throughout the year. Theda Jane Loschinsky is responsible for the popular column known as “Patter.” Jean McCarthy’s column, “News Views,” informed the student body of world-wide news. Jane Metzger is assistant editor. She is the first girl to hold this position, all other assistant editors having been boys. When Jane was selected as assistant, she shared the honors with Katey Jo Zimmers. Jane was to take charge of printing The Quaker Annual, while Katey Jo was to be assistant editor of The Quaker Weekly. But Katey Jo returned to Wooster, from whence she had come but a year before, and Jane became assistant of both branches of The Quaker. She will step up to the position of editor next year.

The reporters for The Quaker are: Jean McCarthy, Dean Glass, Nanee Gibbs, Wade McGhee, and Betty Martin. The feature writers are: Kenneth Leipper, Justine Stamp, Betty Fifer, Jeanne Layden, Jane Woods, Bob Hostetler, and Robert Schwartz.

And on The Quaker business staff is Bob Battin, who is assistant business manager and who will become business manager next year.

The class played its part in social activities, also. Not being superstitious, the Juniors held their class party on Friday, Dec. 13, in the High School gymnasium. The gym was decorated in blue and white, the class colors. Music was furnished by George Harris' orchestra. The feature of the evening was a grand march, at the end of which Santa Claus (Bob Battin) passed out candy canes. This was the first year the Juniors had held their class party alone, their Freshman and Sophomore parties being combined affairs. During intermission the guests were entertained by pupils of Bettie Lee Kenneweg.

Approximately thirty-one girls are members of the Hi-Tri club. In previous years a girl was given membership in the club by a popular vote. This year, however, to become a member each girl must have had a “C” average.

Also, there is a large group of girls interested in sports, and these are members of G. A. A.

May the class of ’37 be as successful in all the undertakings of next year as it has been successful in the past. Juniors, may the best of luck be yours in this following year, when you shall be the Senior class of Salem High.

The Sophomores - 1938

President, Charles Wentz       Vice-president, Harold Hoprich
Secretary-Treasurer, Stella Fidoe

For two years the class of 1938 have been in these halls of Salem High. During those two years they have worked hard and well to make a name for themselves in the history of Salem High, and in two more years they will have accomplished this perhaps better than it has ever been done before.

In the fall of 1934, the class of '38 entered the high school as just another unusually large Freshman class. As freshmen, they were teased, derided, "kidded" until Hallowe'en. "Taking their medicine" on that memorable night, the "green" freshmen suddenly became an individual class, distinguishing itself among the other three superior ones.

Students began to take part in the activities and sports until the class was well represented in almost all of them.

Following the custom used by the two previous classes, the "thirty-eighthers" organized and elected the officers: Charles Wentz, president; Ward Eckstein, vice-president, and Stella Fidoe, secretary-treasurer.

During that year, to make money for the class the treasury, students sold pencils with the school calendar printed on them. Then with a good record behind them for one school year, the class of '38 embarked upon their Sophomore year.

Here, in this role of Sophomores, is where the Salem High students of the year 1935-36 learned to honor and respect the class of '38.

In basketball and football seasons, the class raised money by selling red and black megaphones and arm-bands.

Seemingly a sport-minded class, '38 athletes were found in every phase of Salem High sport life.

Football season found numerous and promising candidates from the Sophomore class. Some were varsity members, others reserve players, but all practiced earnestly in an attempt to make the football season a successful one. Those representing the Sophomores in football were: Edward Bush, Vaughn Cauffield, Robert Hinton, Robert Kirchgessner, William Malloy, Robert Minamyer, Mike Oana, Julius Nestor, Charles Wentz, Edward Zilavy, and Mike Zimmerman.

With this good turnout for football, little was expected in the other sports from the class of '38. But when basketball began, a large number were found on the varsity and reserve teams. On the varsity team were: Gilbert Everhart, Oliver Olexa, a new member of the class this last year, and Max Lutsch, a regular starter in the games and the varsity center. William Brooks, Robert Minamyer, Mike Cerbu, and Mike Oana, were the reserve basketball stars from the '38 class.
To prove further their skill in athletics, the Sophomore class surprised everyone by placing second in the interclass track meet, defeating the "superior" Seniors. Those who aided in this upset and who also participated in the inter-city track meets throughout the season are: Harold Culler, Richard Jones, Max Lutsch, Roger Maitland, Julius Nestor, John Shea, Ralston Smith, James Steffil, Nick Tatu, and Oliver Olexa.

To boost the spirit of the fans, all the year 'round, cheerleaders were selected at the first of this last year. Because of graduation, the veterans had all been lost and new ones were needed.

Accordingly the cheerleaders were selected and four were from the Sophomore class. Because of his outstanding ability to arouse the spirit of the fans and to lead cheers exceptionally well, John Shea, '38, was selected captain of the cheerleaders. Richard Cavanaugh became an active cheerleader also. Betty Albright and Wilda Bricker were alternates.

Some of the more musically inclined persons took an active part in the band and orchestra. Only thirteen members of the Sophomore class were in the band, but these thirteen are well worth the places they hold. These are: Roland Cooper, Lowell Edgerton, Charles Everstine, Keith Frost, Harold Hoprich, Robert Kaminsky, Betty Ketterer, Leah Leipper, Charles Wentz, Martin Whitman, Anna Simion, Margaret Simon, and Marguerite Vincent.

At the District Music Contest, the Sophomore class was represented by Harold Hoprich, who played the piano, and Charles Wentz, who played the clarinet.

Several girls from the class of '38 were interested in library work and so became a part of Miss Lehman's staff of high school girls. They are: Elsie Hunter, Elizabeth Elder, Stella Fidoe, Priscilla Mullins, and Betty Morris.

As is the usual custom, upon becoming Sophomores, that class chooses its class colors to be used for decorating at all parties and other occasions. So it was that the class of '38 choose red and gray to be its colors for the remainder of its high school career.

The two Freshman-Sophomore parties, one held when they were Freshman, and the other when they were Sophomores, were both successful.

This last spring on the night of April 17, the classes of '38 and '39 mingled together for this dance. At first, a musical program was given in the auditorium, after which the classes went to a gaily decorated gym to dance. The gym was dominated by the colors of the two classes, green and white, red and gray. Refreshments were served and another successful Frosh-Soph Party was completed.

With these two years behind them the class of '38 is beginning to lift the cloud from the picture which will unveil the future for them. For two years they have waited, anticipated the time when they too would be upperclassmen and enjoy the privileges of that group. And now the time has come! Next year the class of '38 will present a new, different, and successful Junior class play. Next year the class of '38 will be hosts to the Seniors at a bigger and better Junior-Senior Prom.

There will be successes and failures, mistakes and corrections, but all will make of them better men and women for that supreme time in the life of every high school student—his graduation.

A toast to the Class of '38!

This year an eager group of former eighth graders came through the portals of Salem High to form one of the finest freshman classes in recent years.

The fourth freshman class to organize, it showed splendid choice in its election.

The number of freshmen out for track exceeds that of the seniors, and according to Mr. Cope, these boys will bring honor to Salem High in their next three years: Charles Huddleston, Eugene Williams, Roger Maitland, Russell Sinsley, Stuart Wise, Cliff Lowry, Harold Fitz Simmons, John Hanzlick, Richard Terry, Herbert Porter, Le Roy Moss, Joe Morris, and Keneth McConnor.

Freshman boys turned out for basketball in hordes, but, as it is possible to keep only a certain number, Mr. Brown, basketball coach, kept only the most promising of these. They are: Cliff Lowry, Mike Guappone, Bill Schaeffer, Burton Sutter, Bob Vickers, Harry Halverstadt, and Jim Dickey.

Besides basketball and track, freshmen boys showed skill in football this year. These boys look good and in a few years Salem High School should have a fine, fast team representing it.

Not to be outdone, the girls proved themselves worthy of recognition by their work on the library staff and their interests in the G. A. A.

Miss Lehman's invaluable assistance learned a surprising amount concerning library work this year and are ready to take the places left vacant by those graduating. They are Marjorie Layden, Ethel Hine, and Ruth Schmidt.

In G. A. A. the girls, under supervision of Miss Hanna, are becoming real athletes. The following have a C average and one hundred points: Polly Silvers, Dorothy Milligan, Helen Moga, Theresa Hoff, Frances Simone, Helen Lowry, Helen Adams, Janet Greeneisen, Mary Jane Lora, Viola McGaffick, Kathryn Sturgeon, Lena Colian, Alice Zatko, Avonell Bard, Evelyn Tilly, Janice Yeager, Ruth Kelly, Blanche Yeager, Helen Pitigar, Janice Greene, Pearl Anderson, Gay Rich, Olgo Heidrich, Gertrude Faulkner, Louise Ceisel, Gussie Hart, Nita Lantz, Elizabeth Julian, Mildred Cleland.

More freshmen than usual were in the ranks of the band this year.
and they turned in fine performance at the several band concerts given in the auditorium. Many of these were also in the Community band. The first-year students in the band were: Mary Jane Britt, Nick Chitiea, Louis Colian, Joe Cooper, Eloise Dunn, John Evans, Joseph Fischer,
George Hanson, Bob Haushman, Warren Hixenbaugh, Charles Huddleston, Wallace Luce, Kenneth McConnor, Joe Morris, Le Roy Moss, Henry
Pauline, Earl Taflin, Bob Vickers, Billy Wark, Frances Webster, and Jack Wright.

Although not so many as the band, the orchestra had a large number of freshman students in it. They must be congratulated for their work, along with the rest of the orchestra, at the Junior and Senior Class plays.
The members are: Nick Chitiea, Joe Cooper, Mary Louise Emery, Betty Jean Gibbons, Bob Harshman, Robert Hiveley, Marjorie Layden, Joseph Loutzenheimer, Richard Lozier, Le Roy Moss, Dorothy Nye, and Robert Umstead.

On April 17 the members of both the freshman and Sophomore Classes held their annual party together. Before the dance an entertainment was presented in auditorium by members of both classes.

The Program consisted of a duet by John Evans and Wallace Luce on cornet and baritone, respectively; a trombone solo by Joe Morris, and a song and tap dance by Betty Albright and Lucile Holroyd.

The gym was beautifully decorated in the colors of the two classes—green and white for freshmen and red and grey for sophomores. The favors were clever replicas of different animals.

Due to the hard work of the committees and the spirit in the classes the party was a huge success.

To provide money for their class treasury the freshman students sold a total of one thousand pencils; five hundred of them imprinted football schedules and the other five hundred with imprinted basketball schedules. These were a great success and the willing workers had little difficulty in selling them.

The fine cooperative spirit which reigns in this class of 1939 was shown when they lent so much assistance to the band during the carnival.
Each of six homerooms sponsored a stand.

The freshman honor roll was kept well supplied with names during the whole year as it is a class of outstanding scholarship.

The freshman class was represented on the debate team by Mary Fisher and Constance Clark who may later be the main stays of the team.

Several first-year students were represented at Kent State Normal School in the annual Kent exams this year.

May these students be as progressive and successful their next three years as they have been in their first.

Pulling
Along Together
September of 1935 found Charles Davidson, Jr., business manager, confronted with the task of building a new staff. The Quaker Business Staff was immediately put into action with several new members in its personnel.

A few weeks after the beginning of the year, Bob Battin, a Junior with previous experience, was appointed as assistant business manager to Davidson and business manager next year.

Again this year, as before, The Quaker sent a delegation to the convention of the Journalism Association of Ohio High Schools at Columbus, Ohio. The business department was represented there by Business Manager Charles Davidson, Jr., and Ward Eckstein, Jr., who at that time was circulation manager. Neither Mr. Hilgendorf nor Bob Battin was able to attend.

The staff was successful in adopting several new policies concerning its activities. Our success can best be judged by this yearbook.
This year the Quaker Staff cooperated to produce a weekly newspaper both aggressive and progressive. Aggressive, because several "scoops"—the dream of all good journalists—were made; and progressive, because flush, newsy headlines and modern make up styles were introduced.

Charles Freed was at the helm as editor, while Jane Metzger, and Katharine Zimmer assumed the duties of assistant editors in October. But in January, "Katey Jo" moved to Wooster, and Jane carried on the associate-editorial duties by herself.

A six-page issue of the Quaker was put out at Christmas, and the traditional "crazy issue", on April Fool's Day. The theme of the crazy issue this year was "The Gay Nineties".

The members of the Staff also displayed their literary talents by contributing to the Quaker Annual.

Mr. H. C. Lehman, journalism instructor acted as sponsor for the Quaker Staff again this year.

Organized in 1933, the Girl's Athletic Association had this year an active membership of eighty girl athletes. All sport-minded girls with a C average are eligible for membership. The club advisor is Miss Hanna and its officers are: Betty Walker, president; Helen Thompson, vice-president; Jane Woods, secretary; and Ruth Cornwall, treasurer.

This organization offers the only opportunity in high school for girls to earn athletic letters. To obtain one, a member must have 1000 points. However, because this year's seniors only had three years to work for their letters, they were required to have just 850 points.

These awards are earned through participation in such sports as: tennis, volleyball, basketball, track, hiking, skating, bicycling, kickball, and baseball.

Athletic awards were presented to the following senior girls: Ruth Cornwall, Betty McGhee, Mary Shafer, Harriet Vansickle, Betty Walker, and Margaret Zilavy.

Activity and accomplishment—those were the distinguishing factors of this year's work in Hi-Tri. Ably supervised by Miss Horwell and Miss McCready, the members chose as their student leaders: Lois Dilworth, president; Betty Lewis, vice-president; Marian Theiss, secretary, and Evelyn Crawford, treasurer.

The enrollment was considerably enlarged this year because all senior and junior girls with a B average were invited to join.

Among the activities of the club were penny dances, one of which was a President's Ball. As a result of the latter, $10 was given to the president's fund for crippled children.

In May, a minstrel was presented before the student assembly. Later, a Mother's Day Program was given for the mothers of the members.

One of the outstanding features of the year was knitting. Those girls who had not mastered the art were instructed by Harriet Percival, and now have a sweater to show for their efforts.
The World Is

In adding to the rosters of dramatic presentations of Salem High School, the Junior Class presented as their class play a delightful comedy drama entitled "Smilin' Through," written by Allan Langdon Martin and very capably directed by Mrs. Mary Lampher Harris. Very unique lighting effects were used.

It deals with a tragedy fifty years back, when a rejected suitor shoots the woman he loves on the night of her wedding. As the years pass a boy and a girl of the younger generation of these families fall in love.

How the spirit of the slain girl comes "Smilin' Through" to help the young lovers, makes up the main theme of this drama which holds in it all the romance and fantasy of a powerful love drama.

The characters were as follows: John Carteret, Kenneth Leipper; Dr. Owen Harding, Robert Battin, Ellen, Gertrude Harris; Kathleen Dunganon, Betty Martin; Willie Ainley, Art Bahmiller; Kenneth Wayne and Jeremiah Wayne, Wade McGhee; Mary Clare, Reba Dilworth; Moonyeen Clare, Jane Metzger.

Others in the cast were: Louise Theiss, Bob Schwartz, Gladys Rich, Jean McCarthy, Henry Smith, Lester Turner.
The Senior class presented "The Thirteenth Chair" by Bayard Veiller for the annual senior class production on December 5 and 6 under the direction of Mary Lanpher Harris.

This play was a thrilling, baffling mystery that dealt with a strange and sinister knife killing. The blame for the murder is shifted throughout the course of the play, which becomes rather complicated, until the true murderer is brought forth.

"The Thirteenth Chair" was the first murder mystery that had been presented on a Salem High stage in several years. The cast was composed of Bernice Matthews, Robert Donahey, Jeanette Flick, Jack Harroff, David Carey, Helen Thompson, Jeanette Astry, Joe Pales, Charles Freed, Charles Davidson, Bill Crouch, Lois Dilworth, Ruth Cornwall, Ray Nusbaum, Zoa Slutz, Douglas Englehart, and Ralph Hixenbaugh.

The mixed chorus, established by Miss Martha Krauss last year, completed a successful season with the presentation of various numbers at the commencement and baccalaureate services. This group also performed for the Christmas program, Kiwanis Club, and presented a group of numbers for the musical assembly during the first week of May, in observance of National Music Week.

The chorus offers one fourth credit a year to its members, and this year, had forty names on its register. An outstanding trio which has sung many numbers for various community organizations consists of Stewart Montgomery Painter, Robert Donahey and James Kenneth Leipper.

The chorus has been under the able direction of Mrs. Janice Satterthwaite, who is substituting for Miss Krauss, while she recuperates from her recent illness. Miss Meta McCave rendered the accompaniment.

. . Power To Quell The
Due to the lack of proper instrumentation, the orchestra played for few major activities. The Junior and Senior plays, commencement and baccalaureate being the only engagements played by this group.

The orchestra was also handicapped by the inexperience of half the members. Out of seventeen, Jeanne Auld, Bob Boughton, Ruth Cornwall, Miriam Dow, Hazel Farmer, Martha Farmer, Dean Glass, Evelyn Hoch, Stella Halofka, Betty Ketterer, Jean Kingsley, Barbara Morey, Joe Pales, Kenneth Shears, Carl Sabatka, Louise Theiss, and Frances Vincent are holdovers from last year's orchestra. In spite of all this the orchestra made steady progress throughout the year and in its last two engagements performed quite credibly.

The orchestra practices, the fourth period on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, under the direction of Chester Brautigam, who is also director of the band.
The wish which had been in the hearts of every band member, every loyal follower of the Salem High School band, was finally realized this year when more than fifty flashy new uniforms arrived.

It was only fifteen minutes before game time when the marchers opened the crisp wrappings and donned the new regalia for the first time.

A dazzling sight at the North gate of Reilly Stadium met the eyes of the surprised spectators in the stands as each trim row took its place, pivoted and swung into a quick cadence down the gridiron to the strains of "Across the Field" as they counter-marched back on the field, every spectator stood up and cheered these musicians in their Scarlet Military duds with the black trimmings and Black Sam Brownes.

The marching bank, was a great sensation at all the games with their Snappy Marching and beautiful drill work; An Orchid to Brautigam.

The Concert band included the marching band with about twenty additional members.

As has always been the case in Salem High School, the Concert band suffered because of lack of proper instrumentations to make a well-balanced concert organization. Despite these adverse conditions, changes were made and the available instrumentation was juggled to partly fill up the gap left by the lack of French Horns, Bassoon, and other wanting Woodwinds.

The Repertoire was greatly increased and several fine selections were added to the library.

Two concerts were presented with great success, musically. At the final concert “The Universal Judgement,” the required number for National band competition was played along with Henry Hadley’s “Youth Triumphant.”

Conductor Brautigan looks forward next year to a great musical season and the addition of the necessary instruments which so hampered the band’s progress and kept it from entering competition.

Dave Carey, was President of the club, Ruth Cornwall was Secretary and Charles Davidson was treasurer this year.

The Salemasquers Club was organized in 1926 under the leadership of Miss Hilda Rose Stahl. Since 1931 it has been under the direction of Miss Mary Lanpher (Harris). The purpose of the club is to promote an interest in dramatics and to develop further the dramatic ability of the student.

To become a member of Salemasquers the applicant must give a reading which is to be judged by the members.

Several plays were enacted this term and preparations were made to present "Copy", a two-act script. Four male club members presented "The Message of Khufu" before the student body and before several community clubs.

New officers were chosen for the 36-37 term. They are: President, Art Brian; Secretary, Bob Battin; Treasurer, Reba Dilworth.

The Salemasquers club consists of members. The meetings are held every other Wednesday. One of the final meetings was held with the Blue Dominoes, and Alliance Dramatic club, April, 1936.

. . Boosting Is

The Boosters Club, after several years of silence, was reorganized this year by Mr. Springer and Mrs. James Grieg, a former Salem High cheerleader.

The officers elected are the cheerleaders; John Shea, president; Genevieve Henry, vice president, and Richard Cavanaugh, secretary.

The purpose of the club is to create a more unified cheering section at the various sports events of the High School. The club, with the aid of the other students, formed a single cheering section when they journeyed to Youngstown to attend the District Basketball Tournament. They also formed in one section at the home games so as to get a more centralized and cooperative cheering section.

The membership of the club is approximately forty-five members and they made a much better cheering section for all the High School sports. Miss Hanna was faculty advisor on all out-of-town trips.
Resolved: "That the several states should enact legislation, providing for a system of complete medical service available to all citizens at public expense."

Thusly the Salem High Debate Team argued negatively and affirmatively throughout a fairly successful season. This year's varsity squad was composed of: First affirmative, Jean Kingsley; second affirmative, Zoa Slutz; first negative, Helen Thompson; and second negative, Jean McCarthy.

The affirmative team lost their first two debates to East Palestine and Warren negative teams, but in their last contest they defeated Lisbon High.

The negative lost their first debate to Warren High, but then returned to defeat the affirmative teams of Newton Falls and Struthers.

Mr. J. C. Guiler, debate coach, finds one of the most encouraging phases of the past season to be the renewed interest showed by the students and the public in general. The crowds who attended were the largest in recent years.
The high school library seeks to be a definite part of the school program. It is indispensable as a source of material to aid students in their various scholastic activities. It supplements classwork and also provides for interests outside the daily curriculum of study.

The library has now over 3,300 volumes and subscribes to a variety of periodicals, both weekly and monthly. This year there were 150 new books added, including a new 24 volume set of Britannica Encyclopedia, which is the latest edition to be published.

An attractive new booklist, which includes titles and authors of new books and contains notes describing each fiction book, was printed this year. Miss Lehman compiled all the material in the booklist.

There is a student staff of fourteen girls who assist students, repair books, and help keep the library in order.

Slide Rule Club is an organization wherein opportunity is offered for math students to learn a different and interesting phase of higher mathematics. Members of the club are instructed in multiplication and division by the use of the slide rule with the help of the instructor, Miss McCready.

This group, although only organized for the last semester of the year, has made fine progress in the study of the slide rule. Because of the lack of time, club members were allowed only one excused absence before being rejected from the roll.

At the first meeting, the following officers were elected: President, Jean Kingsley, vice-president, Bob Battin, and secretary-treasurer, Louise Theiss.

Meetings were held every Friday in 304. To add variety to the regular meetings, on April 10, a social was held. Trick mathematical problems were submitted to the students to work and prizes were offered for the correct answers.

. . . Parlez Vous
The French Club was reorganized this year under the capable supervision of Miss Lawn.

Last year the club was not formed but at the insistence of the French students Mr. Springer agreed to permit the organizing of what turned out to be a very successful club of about 30 members.

The club met every odd Tuesday. Some of the students corresponded with French pupils and these letters together with games, songs, and French sketches were the main features of the meetings.

In the middle of the year, the first year students were welcomed in by a covered dish supper.

The annual party was a very successful picnic.

The officers are: President, Jean Kingsley, Vice President, Grace Guapone, Sec't-Treas. Mary Elizabeth Sharkey.

The Seniors of the club leave their good wishes to the coming French students who will be in this club.
The result of the 1935 football season of the Quaker team may be termed as good. Inspired by square-jawed, Lew Smith, the Quaker aggregation won 5, lost 3, and tied 2.

The spirit of the team was somewhat more cooperative this year than last.

Possibly the most outstanding players of the year were “Tunney” Snyder, “Virge” Battin, “Buzz” West, Les Julian, and Paul Williamson.

The squad will lose by graduation the following seniors: Moffet, Patterson, DeRienzo, Julian, West, Stewart, Pukalski, Dolansky, Minth, Walker, and McArtor.

The squad team coach and school will feel the loss of these boys but without a doubt the following “fighting fools” will bolster up the spirit and will be back next year. Wentz, Raynes, Snyder, Battin, Nestor, Zimmermann, Oana, Sheaffer, Yeager, Tibbs, Hanzlick, Thompson, Kerr and King.

And, let’s not forget that loyal support and service rendered by “Smilin Joe” Herbert and his assistant, “Romance” Joe Birke. We also lose “Smilin Joe” through graduation.
The Salem High football team had one of the most successful season's in recent years, winning 5 games and losing but 3. Two games ended in scoreless ties. The Salem squad averaged 170 pounds but the weight was centered around one man, "Toar" Julian who weighed approximately 270 lbs.

The opening game with Sebring ended in a 0-0 tie but on the following week-end the Quakers defeated Struthers 20-7.

The Quakers were defeated by Youngstown East and East Palestine but bounced into the win column with five straight victories.

The annual Thanksgiving struggle with Alliance ended in a scoreless tie.

Thirteen valuable gridders will be lost through graduation. They are: Bill Derienzo, Lester Julian, Dick McAtor, Harry Moffet, Leland Patterson, Ed Pukalski, Joe Dolansky, Willmer Shepard, Ralph Snyder, Vance Stewart, Alden West, Ralph Walker and Paul Williamson.

VARSITY RECORD

WON 9  LOST 7

Lost First Game of Sectional Tournament to Youngstown South

At the start of the season lack of height and inexperience were obstacles confronting the Salem squad... started season with three consecutive victories over Boardman, Lisbon, and Wellsville... strong Youngstown Chaney team defeated Quakers during Christmas vacation...

... East Liverpool and Barberton were too much for one week-end...

Alliance was defeated 22 to 20 in last thirty seconds of play...

Brown-men then lost to East Palestine and Massillon... Warren fell before an inspired Salem squad in the season’s outstanding game... after losing to Akron St. Vincent the Quakers defeated Rayen and then held the powerful Dover Crimsons to a close victory... ended season the same as they started it by winning three straight games over Alliance, Niles, and Struthers... finished third place in Big Six league and County standings...

... lost one player, Eddie Pukalski, by graduation... five letter-men and four varsity men will return to form next year’s squad...

. . . Hercules’ Of The
The reserve squad was composed of one Junior, five Sophomores, and seven Freshmen.

The reserves won over Boardman, Lisbon, Wellsville, East Palestine, the Trojans, Niles and Struthers.

The secondaries were defeated by Youngstown Chaney and Rayen, East Liverpool, Barberton, Alliance, twice, Massillon and Warren.

Some of the most consistent reserve players were John, Schaeffer, Dickey, Brooks and Lowry.

Due to the fact that only one varsity player will be lost through graduation, these players will have another year to play together and to gain experience.

The reserve squad consisted of twelve players—two more than are usually carried all season.

The following were members of the reserve squad:

Henry Juhn, Bill Brooks, Bob Minameyer, Mike Oana, Mike Cerbu, Cliff Lowry, Bill Schaeffer, Henry Halverstadt, Burton Sutter, Mike Guappon, Bob Vickers, and Jim Dickey.

Oliver Olexa joined the reserve early in the season but because of his splendid all around playing, he was moved up to the varsity.

The "36" track season was inaugurated, with the holding of the Interclass Meet.
In this the Juniors won, Sophomores placed second, Seniors third, and Freshman fourth.
April 18 the team traveled to Mansfield, to enter the Mansfield Relays.
Here they placed 16th. Competing with over 60 schools from Ohio, West Virginia and Penn.
On May 2 the seventh Annual Night Relays were held here. Toledo Scott winning the meet.
Salem made a fine showing, by placing fifth and defeating her old time rival East Palestine by 2-3 of a point.
May 9, the 33rd Annual Columbiana County Meet was held here.
Salem showed her balanced power by placing in every event. Again defeating her favored rival East Palestine. This time by 18½ points.
At this writing, the District Meet, dual meet with Warren and the State Meet, have not yet been held, but Salem is expected to make a good showing in each.
This has been the most successful season in the past 3 years, and the prospects for next year look even brighter.

Baxter: I caught my boy friend flirting.
Adams: I got mine that way too.

Joe: Why isn’t Ted back to school?
Jim: He was to a party in Venice last summer and fell in the gutter coming home.

Ed: See that fellow, he’s going through College caring for babies.
Ex-Coed: He’s lucky, I got kicked out for that very same reason.

Mike: Did her father give the bride away?
Ike: No. He is going to let the groom find out for himself.

Hart: Suppose the company goes bankrupt?
Gabby: We’ll divide the profit equally.

How Many Lessons In An Education?

You do not worry about the 12,000 lessons you will have learned before you complete your high school education.

Do not worry, either about how many deposits are going to be needed to reach “a fortune.” Just keep saving a little bit at a time, persistently, and financial independence will be yours early in life, instead of late . . . or never.

Judge: Ten years.
