WE PRESENT

As the curtain goes up on another Quaker Annual, the members of the class of '40 are about to make their initial appearance in the greatest production of all, the drama of their adult lives, and will take their places on the greatest stage of all, the world. In the pages of this book, will be portrayed the prologue to this, the most realistic drama of all, the drama of their earning a livelihood, and their pursuit of happiness.

In this prologue, their high school careers, will be all the necessary elements of any production. Comedy—the lighter side of school, the things that go on outside the classrooms. Pathos—the heartbreaks which are a part of every student's life, the little things that make high school days unforgettable. And drama—the stuff behind the associations of some nine-hundred and seventy students as their lives are interwoven in class rooms and corridors during their stay in high school. Besides these things it must have that essential quality that makes it a school production, the restless energy and life which give it the snap and go of youth.

Tradition says a yearbook, of any kind, will not get into the hands of its readers in exactly the form it was planned. So it is with this yearbook. The readers do not see it as it first appeared in the imagination of the editor, or as the staff saw it as it began to take shape. However, this is no alibi, the staff has spent many hours of hard work on it and although it is not flawless, we take pride in presenting this, the 1940 Quaker Annual.

WE HONOR

Possibly the most enjoyable task in publishing a year-book is the choosing of the Dedicatee. It is an opportunity to repay in some measure, a faculty member, who, through years of service, has shown that she is qualified for this honor.

Because she is, first of all, an interesting teacher, making dry pages of math understandable, and making fundamentals and equations simple facts; because she has worked tirelessly as a very successful advisor of the Freshman class; and because she is, besides all these things, a true friend, we dedicate the 1940 Quaker Annual to Miss Martha M. McCready.

CONTENTS

This year's "production" is divided into six divisions or "acts." In these sections are arranged the words and pictures that make this record of the class of '40 complete.

The first seven pages contain the title pages, Presentation, Dedication, and this Table of Contents. In these pages the theme which is carried throughout the book, is presented.

The "Administration" section starts on page eight and ends on page seventeen. Here the Administration leaders, Board of Education and Faculty are pictured.

From page eighteen to page forty-three, is the "Classes" section containing pictures and descriptions of this year's graduating class as well as pictures of juniors and underclassmen.

The extra-curricular activities' part, from page forty-four to page seventy-one, shows Salem High's clubs and organizations, with pictures and a brief description of each.

Starting on page seventy-two and continuing through page eighty-two, is the Athletic section, containing a history of this season's records of Football, Basketball, Cross-Country, Track, Golf, and Tennis.

Last, from page eighty-three on, is the section devoted to advertisers, the persons who help to a considerable extent in making possible the Quaker Yearbook.

★ ADMINISTRATION

M. Maude Hart

EDUCATIONAL

Mr. H. M. Williams, completing another successful year as principal of Salem High School, is a man respected and admired by each and every student. He plans the assemblies we all enjoy, the parties, dances; in fact, everything that makes high school days the happiest times in one's life. He makes out the schedules and arranges for the clubs and other extra-curricular activities. Mr. Williams is one person without whom we could never get along.

The best friend and most willing servant of every Salem High school girl is Miss M. Maude Hart, the dean of girls. Along with her regular duties, Miss Hart finds time to contact each senior girl to help her select the proper vocation; and she is always willing to do what she can to straighten out any difficulties that may arise in the lives of any of the girls. Her friendly guidance has helped many a co-ed over some of the rough spots on the road of life.

E. S. Kerr

LEADERS

Presiding with dignity over all the Salem City schools, Mr. E. S. Kerr is a well-known person to all Salem High students. He has had much experience in the field of education, serving as a teacher, principal, and superintendent in Ohio schools. Mr. Kerr believes that the constant advancement of education is necessary for the purpose of building strong and reliable citizens. With this in mind, he has set a fast pace for advancement in Salem schools.

Mr. Lewis Smith, dean of boys, has a thorough understanding of the problems of teen-age boys and has won their lasting respect and admiration with his just treatment in dealing with their misdemeanors and his sound solutions to their problems. A well-liked member of the faculty, he has interested himself particularly in athletics and has furthered such interests as touch football and intramural basketball. A clean mind and a sound body for each growing boy is the aim of Mr. Smith.

Lewis Smith

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Behind the academic and social programs of Salem High stands a small group of citizens who have no direct contact with the student body, yet whose efforts and interest are clearly manifested in the high type of education offered here.

In the hands of this group rests the responsibility of setting the standard of education for Salem High so that it will be to the best interests of the individual student, of the local community, and of the nation.

In formulating the educational policies of the school, the Board of Education has served the youth of Salem immeasurably by providing a thorough, practical curriculum, supplemented by a very essential feature, that of extra-curricular activities which afford the student an opportunity to develop special skills.

In providing for supplies, repairs, and other material needs of the school, the Board has shown an awareness of the importance of adequate, modern equipment in high school training.

During the past year, in particular, the work of an earnest and capable organization has been especially evident. The new wing, construction of which was supervised by the Board of Education, has aided the faculty greatly in administering to the needs of their classes.

To the Board of Education, upon whose work to a marked degree depends not only the quality, but also the very existence of our high school instruction, we express our appreciation.

Standing: A. E. Beardmore, James H. Wilson, John Burns.
Seated: E. S. Kerr, F. P. Mullins, Joel H. Sharp, George F. Koontz.

★ ENGLISH ★

English plays a very important part in the curriculum of Salem High. That fact is exemplified in that all students are required to take at least three years of it during their high school careers. We have an exceptionally fine lot of highly trained, scholastically minded teachers in our English department. They not only very ably teach English but also impart knowledge on various other subjects. Miss Bodo, who is substituting for Mr. James McDonald, very capably holds the position of dramatic teacher and coach; Mr. Brautigam is the band director; and Mr. Lehman teaches journalism and acts as advisor for the Quaker editorial staff.

MATHEMATICS

Mathematics, better known as "rithmetic," has always played an important part in schools, since they were first "invented" way back when . . . It is a very popular subject in Salem High and is very ably taught by a group of mathematically minded teachers. Miss Miller, who is substituting for Miss Douglass this year, also acts as one of the Hi-Tri advisors. Mr. Brown very capably fills the position of basketball coach as well as serving as hygiene teacher for senior boys.

LANGUAGES

A very complete language curriculum may be found at Salem High, namely: German, Latin, Spanish and French. Each of these subjects except German, forms the basis of a club. Except for Latin, club members correspond with students in the countries whose languages they are studying, as well as speak and sing that language at club meetings. German is admirably taught by Miss Beardmore, who also teaches history and acts as senior class advisor. Latin is taught by Miss Harroff, who also holds the position of Hi-Tri advisor. Spanish is under the supervision of Miss Hollett, who also teaches English. French is taught by Miss Roth. She is also teacher of American history.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Social studies are becoming more and more popular among Salem High students. Through these studies, one can become familiar with problems of social living, economic problems, and problems of international relations. The student learns how to become a useful citizen, how to deal with social problems, etc. Mr. Guiler teaches American Government, International Relations, Public Speaking and acts as debate coach. Mr. Henning conducts classes in Commercial Law and American History. Mr. T. R. Jones imparts knowledge in General Science, Sociology and Economics.

★ SCIENCES ★

An exceptionally fine teaching staff may be found in the science department of our school. Mrs. Cox, one of our biology teachers, has made quite a name for herself, as well as for the school, in the field of science, with her book "Exploring Biology." Mr. Olloman, a new and thoroughly capable biology teacher, is also an expert archer and so is an advisor for the Archery Club. Mr. Clarke, general science and physics teacher, has charge of all the stage lighting for plays, etc., as well as acting as cross-country coach. Mr. Herbert Jones, Salem High's master chemist, conducts all chemistry classes.

VOCATIONS

Vocational subjects are always popular among high school students, as they give one an opportunity actually to work with, examine, or make the thing that he is studying about. More things are furnished to help the student in vocational subjects than in any other, and so should be greatly appreciated. Mr. Engelhart teaches classes in metal industries. Miss Ritt has charge of the sewing and home economics, while Miss Morgan, who came to Salem during the middle of this school year, quite ably instructs classes in cooking. Mr. Sander teaches all classes in wood working.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

A very adequate teaching staff[★] is provided for the teaching of physical education. This year, for the first time, it was necessary for seniors to take two periods of hygiene since no physical training is given the junior year due to the large freshman and sophomore classes, who are required to take it. Mr. Cope has charge of the boys' gym classes and Miss Hanna has charge of the girls'. Miss Schroeder acts as school nurse and teaches the girls' hygiene classes. Mr. Schroeder, football coach, also teaches classes in physical geography and social studies.

COMMERCIAL SUBJECTS

Commercial subjects play a very important part in Salem High curriculum. Many students take at least one commercial subject during their high school career, as they can put to practical use in any career. Typing is probably the most popular commercial study. It may be taken in many forms, personal typing, beginner's typing, and advanced typing. Miss Bickel teaches typing and shorthand. Mr. Hilgendorf teaches salesmanship, sociology, bookkeeping, general business, and is advisor for the business staff of the Quaker. Miss Talbott, a permanent substitute, teaches business English, shorthand, typing and American government.

★ SECRETARIAL STAFF

Salem High has a very capable and attractive secretarial staff, who willingly give information to all students seeking it. Miss Bodo, secretary to the Board of Education, has as one of her many duties, the mimeographing of all material sent through the school. Miss Dilworth serves as secretary to the superintendent. Miss Weaver acts as the principal's secretary; and Mrs. Wilt, who since the completion of the new wing has moved from the principal's office to an office of her own, serves as record clerk and secretary for the school nurse and for the attendance officer.

MUSIC - LITERATURE - ART

Mrs. Satterthwaite, instructor of music for the Salem Public Schools, has formed boys' and girls' Glee clubs and is in charge of the High School orchestra. Miss Lehman, school librarian, has charge of the new, improved library which was built in the new addition to the high school. The library is now one of the best and most modern libraries in the state and is thoroughly appreciated by Salem High students. Mrs. Headrick, art instructor, has her offices in the junior high building. High school students wishing to take art go to the Art Shop in the junior high school for their classes.

CLASSES

CLASS of 1940

Margaret Stewart, Secretary-Treasurer; Dick Beck, Vice-President; Jim Schaeffer, President.

To the two hundred and five graduating seniors, the past four years have held a great number of delightful experiences. They will cherish not only the memory of pleasant social contacts which their high school years have afforded them, but also the memory of disappointments which have given them the experience needed in facing life.

The Class of 1940 has been engaged in a wide variety of activities which have developed their special abilities and given them recreation and association with others having the same interests.

Always showing exceptional ability in raising funds, the seniors finished their high school careers with a very creditable treasury. All the financial ventures of the class, from the sale of pencils in their freshman year to the management of a refreshment stand at Reilly field this year, were highly successful.

The executive leaders of the class during the last year were as follows: president, Jim Schaeffer; vice-president, Richard Beck; secretary-treasurer, Peggy Stewart. Other members of the class who have served as officers are Allen Fehr and Ed Cavanaugh.

The dramatic presentation of the Class of 1940 in their junior year was "Murder in Rehearsal," directed by James McDonald. In the senior year the class gave "Keep Off the Grass," directed by Miss Viola Bodo.

The two extra-curricular activities in which the largest percentage of the class participated were athletics and music.

Taking an active part in the athletic program of the school were a large number of senior boys participating in interscholastic sports, besides another large group of players on intramural athletic teams.

The following boys achieved membership in the Varsity S by earning a varsity letter in a major sport: in football, Dick Beck, Leonard Piersol, Joe Vender, Bob Shoe, Vito Faini, Charles Tolp, and the managers★Bob Bruderly, and Mike Nicora; in basketball, Les Knepp, Jim Kleon, Bob Shoe, and the manager Ted Ursu.

Two seniors, Dick Beck and Kenneth O'Connell, earned their track letters in their junior year, Jr. Turner, Glenn Whinnery and the manager, Mike Nicora, also won letters. The following senior musicians played in the Salem High orchestra, directed by Mrs. Satterthwaite: Dolores Jones, Katherine Frantz, Gusty Conja, Al J. Freed, and Lewis Myers.

The band claimed the following seniors: Betty England, Aden Riffle, Mary Jugastru, Helen Ward, Jack Warner, Arden Llewellyn, Frank Davis, Ralph Greenisen, Bill Merry, Ada Shriver, and Al J. Freed.

Four years ago together,
A Freshmen class we stood,
With excellent intentions
That sometimes turned to good.

We studied subjects weighty
That never grew quite clear;
We faltered by the wayside,
But now at last we're here.

Your ears were deaf to pleading;
We worked with all our might,
And to a noble purpose,
As we attest tonight.

We'll take no tearful leaving,
We'll say no sad good-byes,
For, though our hearts are heavy,
The world before us lies.

And when across our pathway
Time's cool gray shadow falls,
You'll hear our wary footsteps
Returning to your halls.

To you, oh, Alma Mater,
Our loyalty we give;
This be your pride and honor:
You taught us how to live.

CLASS ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ of 1941

Florence England, Secretary-Treasurer; Melvin Wukotich, President; Gail Stewart, Vice-President.

The opening of school in September, 1939, brought to Salem High two hundred and fifteen students who, for the first time since entering high school two years before, were upperclassmen. This was the Class of 1941.

The first official act of the class was to elect officers. To lead them in their activities they chose Melvin Wukotich, president; Gale Stewart, vice-president; and Florence England, secretary-treasurer.

On November tenth the juniors joined with the seniors in sponsoring a party for the members of the two classes. Since the party was held the night before Armistice Day, a red, white and blue color scheme in keeping with the day furnished the theme for the party. Those who attended the party had a very nice time dancing to the music of Eddie Junemann's orchestra. During the intermission a skit was presented. For those present at the party there were tables with games. As a new feature of a party the orchestra was in the center of the gym.

The class did not have any more activities until March, when they ordered their class rings, which bore the traditional Quaker head.

On March twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth the class made their first attempt in sponsoring a dramatic production. The play chosen was the famous "Little Women" by Louisa Alcott. The parts in "Little Women" were played by Lee Donofrio as Meg, Irene White as Jo, Lucia Sharp as Amy, and June Ball as Beth. Nannabel Beardmore took the part of the mother and Gloria Gibson was Hannah, the maid. The boy next door, Teddy Lawrence, was portrayed by Elliott Hansell, John Brooke by George Steffel, the professor by Karl Theiss, the father by Louis Raymond and the doctor by Walter Kinn. Besides these persons many others who never got before the footlights worked hard with the class advisor, Miss Mary Roth, and other teachers, on committees in getting together costumes and properties, and getting out tickets and programs. The play was a great success. All who worked on it deserve a great deal of credit.

As their final project of the year the juniors entertained the seniors at the annual Junior-Senior Prom on May the thirty-first. Dinner was served, followed by dancing in the high school gymnasium.

Boys of the class showed interest in the athletics around school. Thirteen boys were out for football, and five went out for basketball. Also twenty-four junior boys were out for track. Five boys received varsity letters in football and three received letters in basketball. Also, many of the boys in the class participated in intramurals.

Those members of the class who served on the Quaker editorial staff are Bob Ballatine, Gloria Gibson, Ethel Hill and Betty Mayhew. Several members of the class also served under the business manager, Louis Raymond, a junior, on the business staff of the Quaker Weekly. These are Florence Hiltbrand, Eleanor Kuhns, Earl McDevitt, Karl Theiss, Irene White and Louise Zeck. All the members of the business staff for the Quaker Annual were juniors. They are David Linn, Earl McDevitt, Walter Bolinger, Bill Fineran and Bob Schuck. Bob Ballatine was the only junior who served on the Quaker Annual editorial staff.

Many members of the junior class participated in clubs in Salem High with at least one member of the Class in almost every club.

Last Row: King, Berger, Clark, Baillie, Bowman, Benedict, Helm, Coffee, Beck, Hoberg, Lantz, Hansell, Kerr, Colian, Hagan, Broomall, Grotefend, Eckstien, Fink, Bolinger, Jaegar, Bennett, Grey, Herron. Fifth Row: Chappell, Conn, Griffith, Cetin, Greene, Atkinson, Bartchy, Boone, Antonio, Dolinar, Conkle, Britt, Balsley, Dan, Finneran, Bichel, Del Favero, F. The Salem High school band had quite a few members of the junior class among its ranks. Those who participated in the band are John Dan, Vivian Foltz, Elliott Hansell, William Kerr, Lucille Scheuring, Lea Bennett, Wade Bromall, Robert Jaeger, Earl McDevitt, Robert Schuck, Alex Simion and Tom Hagan. This year's drum majors were two juniors, Don Freed and Bill Fineran.

All in all the class of '41 was very successful in its undertakings. May it continue to have as good luck through its last year in high school.

Five junior boys participated in basketball. They are James Armeni, Robert Jaeger, Mike Thomas, Robert Umberger and George Baillie. The Junior manager was Ray Loury.

First Row: Lockhart, Mitchell, Castenhuber, Miller, Ketchum, Kille, Buehler, Berry, Balok, Alexander, Bates, Casey, Lynch, Bishop, Burford, Scioti, Ciricosta, Cosma, Clark. CLASS of 1942

After two years in Salem High School, the Sophomore Class is eagerly anticipating the 1940-41 school year when they shall be honored upperclassmen.

The officers elected were: President, Dorothy Lutsch; vice-president, William Rance; secretary-treasurer, William Dunlap.

The sophomore students made their mark in all of the major sports as well as in intramurals. Those participating in football were: Felix Di Antonio, Robert Scullion, Wayne Steffel, Phil Cozad, Bob Ruffing, Salvadore Guappone, Ed Cobbs, Jack Tinsley, John Volio, Jim Nocera, Dick Boughton, Dave Ehrhart, Ed Volpe. Sophomore managers were Bob McGhee and Paul Bloor.

This class was not left out of the basketball scheme either. Bob Ritchie and Phil Cozad received reserve letters; and Ray McGaffie, John Volio, Salvadore Guappone, Bob Buchman, Walter Miller, Carl Capel, and Bob Ruffing, all saw action. Bill Rance and Bill Dunlap were sophomore managers.

Several sophomore boys were outstanding on the track team. The class contributed the assistance of the following boys to Mr. Cope: Joe Wagner, Robert Scullion, John Volio, Jim Nocera, Ed Banaar, Gail Stewart, Joe Plegge, Phil Cozad, Bob Bcoth, Ed Cobb, Bruce Krepps, Bob Ward, Felix Di Antonio, Bob Ruffing, and Jack Tinsley.

Mr. Brautigam found that several members of the class were qualified for the Salem High School band. Those participating are: Homer Asmus, John Botu, Catherine Buehler, Dick Burcaw, Alvin Cocos, Ray Corrigan, Bill Dunlap, Dick Ehrhart, Bob Entriken, Lois Field, Maybelle Huston, Bob Irey, Margaret Ann Jones, Esther Lewis, Charles Lind, Lois Myers, Bill Rance, Glen Whitacre, and June Wolford.

Miss Lehman chose Marie Kastenhuber, Rita Pottorf, Alyse Kuniewicz, and Dorothy Lutsch to be on the library staff.

The sophomores were permitted to enter the various clubs and enjoyed many social functions. They attended the annual freshman-sophomore hop and the association party.

With the new courses open to them and the new extra-curricular activities to hold their interest, it was a busy and profitable year for the sophomore class. The class and advisor, Mrs. Cox, are looking forward to even better years ahead.

Charles Lind, President; Bill Rance, Vice-President; Bill Dunlap, Secretary-Treasurer.

First Row: Haessly, Weichman, Votaw, Robbins, Irene Oana, Regina Hilditch, Shrimp, Helen Schimdt, Irene Schimdt, Eleanor Schuster, Riggs, Pauline, Hopson, Holk, Henrietta Hilliard. CLASS of 1943 . . .

Looking back on their first year of school in Salem High the class of '43 might well be proud of the reputation they have established for themselves as an enthusiastic, dependable, and cooperative class.

To represent them in the various activities of the school and to lead them in their enterprises, they chose the following officers: President, Herbert Hansell; vice-president, Virginia Snyder; and secretary-treasurer, Marion Davidson. These officers very admirably fulfilled their tasks in the offices to which they were chosen.

They introduced to Salem High a new and very novel way of electing officers. A leader was nominated from each home room to run for each office, following which an assembly was held and candidates for each office gave a speech. The election was then held and the three officers selected.

As their first money making scheme to swell their class treasury, they sold 2,000 pencils with the football and basketball schedule on them.

The freshmen boys who went out for football are Dick Culberson, John Hart, Anton Hrvantin, Charles Jackson, Albert Kenst, Bill Rance, William Shasteen, Frank Snyder, Duane Thomas, Glenn Weigand, and Forrest Rich.

The boys who went out for basketball are: Dick Culberson, Larry Frost, and Edward Fisher. Freshmen basketball managers were Dick Kautz and Stephen Hart.

Herbert Hansell was the only member of the freshmen class who took an active interest in debate.

A large number of freshmen boys turned out at the beginning of the track season, and Mr. Cope and Mr. Clark, track coaches, predict many of them will be stars.

The freshmen girls who added to the list of librarians in Salem High are Debora Gross, Louise Hanna, Gene McArtor, and Sally Strank.

Freshmen who took an active interest in newspaper work are Elizabeth Benneditti, Mary Byers, Stephen Hart, Herbert Hansell, Dorothy Haldi and Judith Trisler, all of whom served as apprentices on the Quaker Editorial Staff.

Charles Gibbs, Clara Kirkbride and Emma Bauman ably assisted the Business Manager throughout the year.

As is the custom, the freshmen held a joint party with the sophomores. The event was held on May 3. The gym was decorated with the traditional freshmen colors, green and white, combined with the sophomore colors. A program was presented in the auditorium before the dance. The latter part of the evening was spent informally with games and dancing. During intermission, refreshments were served.

Miss Martha McCready, class advisor, states that the class of 1943 ranks high in cooperation, class spirit, and outstanding talent.

Virginia Snyder, Vice-President; Herbert Hansell, President; Marion Davidson, Secretary-Treasurer.

ACTIVITIES

When high school days are just a pleasant memory in the lives of Salem High's care-free students, perhaps the hours recalled most fondly will be those spent in extra-curricular activities. Music, sports, dramatics, clubs, assemblies — these and many others make a great contribution to the education of a high school student.

“Book-learning” is essential in providing the student with the necessary information to succeed in life, but the social development and the strong test of personality and character in extra-curricular activities are just as important for a well-balanced attitude toward life.

Perhaps the most popular outside activity in the school is athletics. An opportunity to participate in some sport is open to both boys and girls, to both the expert and the beginner. Participation in football, track, and basketball in competition with other high schools provides entertainment for the student body as well as for the townspeople, in addition to giving the more talented athletes of the school a chance to develop their ability.

The intramural games provide recreation for those boys who take an interest in sports but who do not belong to a Varsity or reserve squad. Girls who like to spend their leisure time in sports take advantage of the Girls' Athletic Association, which carries out a very extensive program of girls' athletics.

Membership in the school band or orchestra gives the musicians of the school an opportunity to express their talents. Other organizations devoted to the study and appreciation of music are the Boys' Glee club, and the Girls' Glee Club, which make various appearances throughout the community.

Not to be ignored in considering the important activities are the Class parties, the Association party, the Prom, and various other dances sponsored by clubs. At these gatherings the students forget their math and French classes and participate with carefree abandon, enjoying an occasion which will be recalled to mind many times in the future.

Some of these events are formal dances, such as the Junior-Senior Prom, the Band Dance, and the Varsity S Dance, while others, including the Association Party and the Upperclass Party, are merely informal parties.

One of the most educational extra-curricular activities for those participating is the clubs in Salem High school. Organized for the study of such subjects as language, dramatics, mathematics, and sports, these clubs offer an opportunity to learn more about subjects of interest to each individual student and to exchange ideas with classmates who share the same interests.

Various other organizations, such as the library and Quaker staffs, debates, and the annual class plays are included in the extensive and well-balanced extra-curricular program of Salem High.

Salem High's Greeleys

The Quaker editorial staff of nineteen members worked hard the past year to put out thirty-two issues of the Quaker weekly.

As part of the editorial staff this year there was an apprentice staff composed of six freshmen who were interested and showed talent in journalistic work.

Several members of the staff went to Columbus early in the school year to the annual High School Journalism Convention. There they attended round table discussions on journalism and school newspaper work, a banquet, dance and a football game.

Representatives from the staff attended the monthly meetings of the Tri-County Journalism Association, where prominent newspaper people addressed them on various subjects interesting to high school journalists. Also, they attended the district journalism meeting held at Kent State University in April, where they participated in round tables and enjoyed a banquet and dance.

Allen Fehr, editor of both the weekly and the annual, worked hard during the year directing the staff members in their work.

The editor chose a special staff for the Quaker Annual. This was composed of Bob Ballantine, Bob Dixon, Esther Fowler, Kenneth Juhn, Solbert Matz, Peggy Stewart, Jane Tinsley, Sarah Wonner and James Yuhasz. Art work for the Annual was done by Kenneth Juhn.

Quaker Businessmen

With Louis Raymond as business manager, the Quaker business staff of thirteen members worked faithfully during the year to sell advertising space in the weekly and make the Quaker successful financially.

The duties of the business staff are to visit local manufacturers and merchants each week and solicit ads.

Several members of the staff also were in the group which attended the convention at Columbus and took part in the activities which the editorial staff enjoyed. Business staff members were present at the monthly meetings of the Tri-County Journalism Association and at the spring meeting in Kent in April.

With no experienced students on his staff at the beginning of the school year Louis Raymond developed a very efficient and dependable staff.

A special staff, made up of five persons not on the staff of the weekly, was chosen for the annual. This staff is composed of Earl McDevitt, Walter Bolinger, David Linn, Bob Schuck and Bill Fineran. Earl McDevitt is the only member of the staff who served on the weekly staff, also. John Dan, Patsy Bolen, Ruth Martin, Jean Lantz and Dorothy Brobander were replaced during the year by Bill Dunlap, Charles Lind and Earl McDevitt.

Strength of Will, of Hope . . .

Seated: Jones, Stoudt, Fowler, Stewart, Knepper, Butler, Wonner, Beardmore, Ball, Sharp, Shriver. Second Row: England, Fidoe, Yurchak, B. England, Williams, Stone, Eberwein, MacDonald, Harroff, Klyne, Bichsel, Potts, Hart. Third Row: Wagner, Reader, Hestor, Ketch, Percival, Foltz, Johns, Schultz, Stiffler, Lance, Holmes, Miss Harroff. Fourth Row: Herman, Roose, Szymczyk, Snipes, Huffer, Catlos, Mayhew, Rufer, Hill, Fisher, Brunner, Koch, Miss Miller. Fifth Row: McArtor, Fronius, Hiltbrand, Fratilla, West, Detko, Vincent, Santee, Ward, Bruder, Emery, Di Reinzo, Mingroni.

One purpose of the Hi-Tri is character development, an aim which is represented in the motto which has been adopted by the club: Hi-Tri means strength, the strength of will, of hope, of purpose, of truth, and of love. In the Hi-Tri creed is expressed a pledge of loyalty to the higher things in life.

Expression of each girl's personality and her special talent is accomplished in the presentation of short programs given at the meetings for the enjoyment of the club members. Included on these programs are dramatic and musical presentations, and reports on subjects of interest to girls of high school age.

One of the goals considered in mapping out the club's activities is the improvement of the members, their school, and their community.

Among the projects of the club are included an annual Mothers' Tea, Penny Dances, and the distribution of baskets among needy families.

Each year one assembly is planned and presented by the Hi-Tri Club. For the last couple of years, the members have presented their assembly at the Christmas season.

Officers during the past year were as follows: President, Peggy Stewart; vice-president, Jane Butler; secretary, Esther Fowler; and treasurer, Helen Knepper.

Clean Speech, Clean Sports . . .

"To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community, the high ideals of Christian character," is the purpose of the Hi-Y club, which under the supervision of Mr. Herbert Jones, completed a year of many activities and projects.

Among the speakers who addressed the group at its regular weekly meetings are: Patrolman James White, who spoke on traffic regulations and causes of accidents; Attorney Peters, who spoke about his experiences in the F. B. I.; Dean of Boys, Lewis Smith, who spoke on his experiences as a government inspector; Coach Herb Brown, who gave the story of his experience in the "Big Ten" basketball conference; Coach Schroeder, who spoke about football; and Mr. George Baillie, who explained trap and skeet shooting.

The club was privileged to hear a talk by Gerald Goldner, minister who was kidnapped by Arabs a couple of years before.

A basketball team organized in the club enjoyed a very successful season, playing teams of several Hi-Y clubs in neighboring towns.

As officers, the club elected the following:

Ted Ursu, president; Jack Warner, vice-president; and Tom Houlette, secretary-treasurer.

"Keep Off the Grass"

"Keep Off the Grass" was a delightful comedy portraying the hectic life of the Shellys, a typical modern family. It was written by Charles George and was very capably directed by Miss Violo Bodo. This was the first play to be directed by Miss Bodo in Salem High school.

The cast of characters was: Mr. Shelly, Edward Cavanaugh; Mrs. Shelly, Ann Skorupski; Joan Shelly, Sarah Wonner; Eleanor Shelly, Elizabeth Hart; Paul Webster, Al J. Freed; Fred Williston, James Schaeffer; Mrs. Jane Robinson, Ruth West; Magnolia Washington, Virginia Nan. Other members of the cast were Helen Knepper, Robert Neale, Betty Bichsel, Eugene McCready, Margaret Stewart, and Frank Davis.

The plot centered around the lives of the two younger members of the Shelly family. All the trouble commenced when Paul Webster, a young author, came to live at the Shelly home. Eleanor immediately falls in love with him. Joan, who is the fiancée of Fred Williston, turns Fred down and becomes engaged to Paul, but all ends happily when Fred inherits a million dollars and he and Joan elope, leaving Paul and Eleanor to discover their love for each other.

Standing: Knepper, McCready, Bichsel, Schaeffer, Nan, Neale, Freed, Stewart, Davis. Seated: Miss Bodo (director), Wonner, Cavanaugh, Skorupski, Hart, West.

"Little Women"

Standing: Sarah Wonner, Irene White, Karl Theiss, Walter Kinn, Gloria Gibson, George Steffel, Elliot Hansell, Lucia Sharp, Miss Viola Bodo. Seated: June Ball, Nannabelle Beardmore, Louis Raymond, Florence Hiltbrand, Lee Donofrio.

"Little Women," the first classic to be presented in recent years on the Salem High school stage was presented by the junior class on March 28 and 29. All the costumes and furniture used in the production were authentic of the 1850 period.

The action of the play takes place over a period of five years and traces the growth of the four March girls from teen-age girls to young womanhood. The first act is entitled "Youth;" the second, "Growing Up;" and the third, "Maturity."

The cast for this play was as follows: Marmee, Nan Beardmore; Rev. March, Louis Raymond; Beth, June Ball; Meg, Lee Donofrio; Jo, Irene White; Amy, Lucia Sharp; Aunt March, Florence Hiltbrand; John Brooke, George Steffel; Theodore Lawrence, Elliott Hansell; Professor Bhaer, Karl Theiss; Hannah, Gloria Gibson; the doctor, Walter Kinn.

The play was adapted for the stage by Pauline Phelps from the book of the same name written by Louisa May Alcott. The production was directed by Miss Viola Bodo assisted by Miss Sarah Wonner.

The hard work and constant effort of the cast, the directors, the committees and everyone connected with the play, made it unforgettable to Salem audiences.

To be a member of the National Thespian Dramatic Honor Society is the aim of every high school actor, actress, and back-stage worker. At the beginning of the school year, the following officers took charge: Stage Manager, Ruth West; Promptor, Ada Shriver; and Secretary, Lucia Sharp.

For the first time, the Thespians of Salem High School won first place in the National Thespian Drama Festival at Kent State University. "The Gypsy" by Parker Hord was the play presented. The cast included Ruth West, Joyce Malloy, James Benedict, Edward Cavanaugh. Sarah Wonner was the stage manager.

Ruth West was chosen first in the all-regional cast composed of six cast members from the 17 schools attending.

Miss Viola Bodo was the troupe advisor, replacing Mr. James McDonald who founded the local troupe.

Many new members were taken into the club, three initiation ceremonies being held during the year. In order to become a member of the National Thespians, a student must work in dramatics and receive either two major or four minor credits. These credits are earned by acting in plays, back-stage work and committee work. At the end of each year, the club gives a pin to the best actor, best actress, and best back-stage worker.

The Show Must Go On . . .

The Buskins club, which was organized last year, had a very successful season for its second year. This club, which is devoted to the study of dramatics and to further dramatic interest around the school, is open only to members of the freshman and sophomore classes. The club members chose as their officers for the year: Regina Hilditch, president; Stephen Hart, vice-president; Jean Carey, secretary; Lois Hoover, treasurer; and Rose Marie Bates, sergeant-at-arms. Miss Viola Bodo, dramatic instructor, is advisor for the club.

The members met every other Monday after school. At their meetings they held discussions on stagecraft and other work connected with dramatics. During the year club members worked on several plays which were presented at meetings of the club. Club emblems were purchased by the club members during the year.

In January twenty students were initiated into the Buskins. Those who became members are Deborah Beery, John Botu, Jacqueline Brown, Andy Chitea, Mary Byers, Dick Ehrhart, Elinore Eschliman, Irene Fratila, Marjorie Fredericks, Charles Gibbs, Herbert Hansell, Stephen Hart, Carol Jaeger, Nada Kreppes, Charles Lind, Robert Moore, Ruth Sinsley, Christine Schell, Walter Vansickle, Jean Warner, Janet Taylor and Carl Capel.

Crashing Cymbals

Completion of the new music room in Salem High added much to the ease of developing the band in rehearsals. It now has the opportunity to rehearse every day, uninterrupted. In the old set-up the band had to give up many rehearsals so that some program, play, etc. might be put on the stage.

In connection with the music room, two storage rooms were added, one for music, the other for instruments, which also proved advantageous to band members, as they no longer had to keep their instruments in lockers, etc.

The officers for the band this year were as follows: Al J. Freed, president; Jack Warner, vice-president; Vivian Foltz, secretary-treasurer; Betty England, librarian.

During the Christmas holidays the band gave its eighth annual band dance, and on April 2, the tenth annual spring concert.

The band will lose eleven of its members through graduation. They are: Frank Davis, French Horn; Betty England, Clarinet; Al J. Freed, Trombone; Ralph Greenisen, Trumpet; Mary Jugastru, Trumpet; Arden Llwellyn, Tuba; William Merry, Cornet; Aden Riffle, Saxaphone and Clarinet; Ada Shriver, Clarinet; Helen Ward, French Horn; and Jack Warner, Saxaphone.

The band, under the able direction of Mr. C. M. Brautigam, grows larger and finer each year.

Salem High is proud of its twenty-three piece orchestra directed by Mrs. Satterthwaite. Each year it has grown larger and finer until now it is a fully balanced organization.

The new music room, which was made available to the orchestra this year, had added much to the ease of holding rehearsals.

Besides playing for the junior and senior plays, the orchestra gave a concert on May 8, during National Music Week.

They also played for Baccalaureate and Commencement services.

As is the custom, practices were held the fourth period on Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday, and a fourth of a credit is given for participation.

The orchestra is composed of the following students: Debora Beery, George Bodirnea, Joyce Burke, Gusty Conja, Paul Evans, Lois Field, Bill Finneran, Katherine Frantz, Al J. Freed, Donna Haessely, Virginia Hanna, Robert Jaeger, Doris Lantz, Dolores Jones, Margaret Ann Jones, Bob King, Doris Laughlin, Lois Myers, Louis Myers, Betty Percival, Cleo Santee, Eleanor Stewart, Dick Stone.

The orchestra is one of the outstanding organizations in the school and should be given much credit for its work throughout the city.

Mellow Notes

Standing: Stamp, Rice, Myers, Bartchy, Fink, Mrs. Satterthwaite. Seated: Carr, Cavanaugh, Davis, Strank, Simion, Grell.

The Boys' Glee Club has finished a very successful year of music. This club, also under the direction of Mrs. Ellis Satterthwaite, has proved its value in the music department of Salem High. The boys, with the gracious aid of their director, have tried hard to make a great success of the club and have striven to make it a definite and important factor in the growth and development of the music department in this school.

Music is one of the higher pleasures of the mind and spirit and, therefore, it seems especially interesting to note the widespread desire of the members of this club to acquire knowledge in this field. It is of course fitting that the members of the club should receive some special recognition for all their good work and so they have. Several ensembles from the club have sung at various prominent clubs and on special music programs.

To make this year one of the most successful, each one of the boys has contributed his individual share to the club in forms of solos, lectures on musicians, and interesting and educational talks on music in general.

The members of the club are very proud of the part they have played in giving Salem High the excellent rating it has acquired during the past year in the field of music.

The Song's the Thing

★ ★ The Girls' Glee Club has just completed a very full and successful year. Under the able supervision of Mrs. Ellis Satterthwaite the members of the club sang at several programs. One of the high-lights of the year was their part in the Music Week Concert.

★ ★ Because of the cooperation of every member of the club and of the boundless energy and ambition of their supervisor, the Girls' Glee Club has reached the level of being among those clubs which are considered a permanent part of the extra-curricular activities of the school.

★ ★ Music is a definite part of the training and development of good character, whether people merely listen or actually enter into it in one form or another. For this reason the members of the club are particularly proud that they were able to play even a small part in the great field of music.

★ ★ Several of the girls who have exceptionally fine talent have received special recognition in musical contests that were held throughout the year.

★ ★ The fact that all the members, in addition to working hard, are fond of singing all types of music means that this club is truly a musical one and one that assists in making the background of Salem High a very good one.

Last Row: Carr, Cope, Carey, Leslie, Colian, West, Walton. Third Row: Wagner, Cosgera, Hill, Mitchell, Merry, Everstein, Donofrio. A Toast to Health

Offering the girls of Salem High the enjoyment of participation in athletics, the Girls' Athletic Association has established a widely varied program of recreation, including such sports as kickball, volleyball, basketball, and baseball.

Membership in the G. A. A. also provides girls with the chance of earning a Salem High letter in athletics. A certain number of points are awarded for participation in each sport and when each member has earned the required 1000 points, she is awarded a letter. Anyone who has acquired her letter may obtain a numeral by earning 300 points more.

The scheduled games in the G. A. A. program include the following sports: kickball, volleyball, basketball, and baseball.

Credit is also given for participation in certain sports outside of school including hiking, bicycling, skating, and tennis.

A number of representatives of the G. A. A. competed with six nearby schools at a Basketball Playday in Lisbon on March 16 and a Volleyball Playday in Columbiana on March 30. The schools represented were the following: Sebring, East Palestine, Leetonia, Columbiana, Salem and Lisbon.

The club, supervised by Miss Sarah Hanna, chose as officers this year the following: president, Ellen Catlos; vice-president, Theda Greenawalt; secretary, Jean Munsell; and treasurer, Mary McClosky.

Mints, Commemoratives

Philately makes up the hobby of many students and teachers in Salem High. Statistics show that boys are more interested in philately than girls. This is evident here because there is only one female member in the Stamp Club of Salem High.

Mr. Williams, principal; Mr. Sander, Stamp Club advisor; and Mr. Henning, history teacher, are some of the more ardent philatic fans in Salem High. Some of their stamps, as well as those of other Stamp club members, have appeared from time to time during the year in the show case beside the library.

For officers this year the club chose as president, Benjamin Ware; vice-president, Paul Evans; and secretary-treasurer, Margaret Ann Jones, the sole girl member.

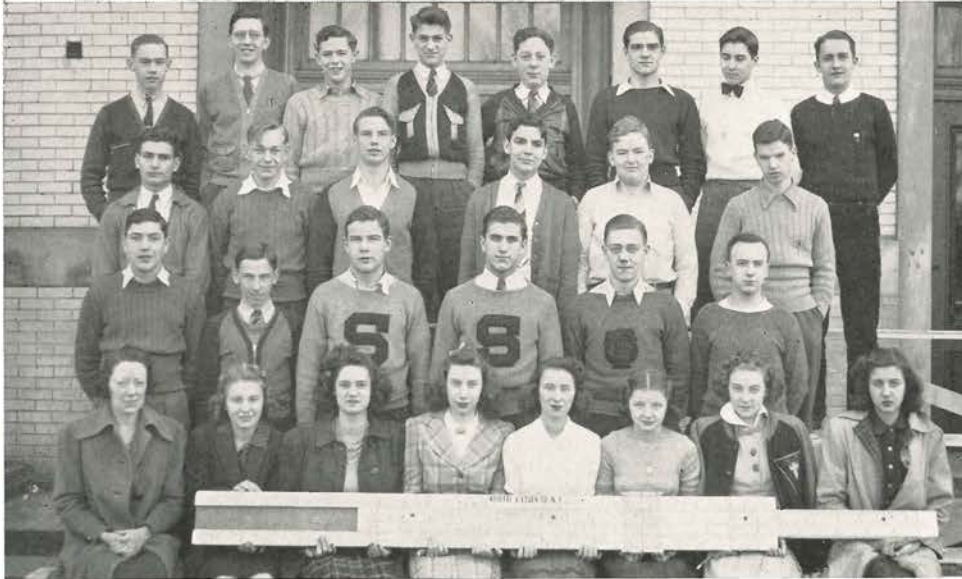

The Stamp club is the only luncheon club in Salem High. Meetings take place every Monday noon, each member bringing his lunch.

One of the high-lights of the year was the entertainment of the Junior Stamp club, with Mrs. Roth as advisor. Approximately thirty-five members attended the meeting. Displays were shown and prizes given.

Increase of collections is brought about through the trading of stamps among fellow members.

Mr. Sander stated that this was one of the most active and enthusiastic groups he had ever had. Approximately 100 per cent attendance was maintained at each meeting throughout the year.

The only mathematics club in Salem High school is the Slide Rule club which is under the able direction of Miss Martha McCready, instructor in mathematics. In this club, to which only members of the junior and senior mathematics classes are eligible, the members learn to use the slide rule in doing problems in multiplication, division and square root.

The officers of the club elected by the twenty-nine members are: John Tary, president; Ray Lowry, vice-president; and Elliott Hansell, secretary-treasurer.

Meetings were held every Tuesday after school. Three meetings a month were given over to instruction in the use of the slide rule. However, the fourth meeting was a social meeting. At the social meetings contests were held and games played with prizes going to the winners. Also, pins were purchased by the club members.

At the end of the year a picnic was enjoyed.

Those who belonged to the club during the past year are: Jack Atkinson, George Baillie, June Ball, Bob Ballantine, Nan Beardmore, Thomas Berger, Marjorie Brian, Mary Lou Brian, John Dan, Bill Fineran, Francis Fink, Margaret Fronius, Elliott Hansell, Jack Kells, James Linton, Ray Lowry, Bill Martin, Val Moga, Virgil Niederhiser, Harold Paxson, Betty Percival, Philip Ressler, Lucia Sharp, George Steffel, Peggy Stewart, John Tary, Bill Theiss and Karl Theiss.

Resolved: The Government . . .

Resolved: That the federal government should own and operate the railroads.

Salem High debaters argued this question affirmatively and negatively through a better than average season. The team got off to a rather bad start with the negative speakers losing to Youngstown Chaney and to East Palestine successively. The affirmative speakers then finished the regular season with wins over Leetonia and Massillon debaters.

The Salem debaters also participated in National Forensic League tournament which was held at Struthers High School. The Salem squad tied for third place in this event.

Before the start of the regular season, four of the debaters, accompanied by Mr. J. C. Guiler, attended the annual debate clinic at Columbus.

Regular speakers on the team are:

Alta McNabb, first negative; Herbert Hansell, first affirmative; Dolores Jones, second negative; and Kenneth Juhn, second affirmative. Nancy Roose and Margaret Fronius were alternates.

The East Palestine-Salem debate and the Leetonia-Salem debate were held at Salem. The Youngstown Chaney-Salem debate and the Massillon-Salem debate were held at the opposing schools.

Fact and Fiction

Last year the Salem High School Library was small and crowded. This year it is modern, spacious and attractive.

The new library is well-equipped and has adequate provision for the future growth of the school. The furniture, of early American design, is made of oak with a warm, maple finish, which blends softly with the ivory walls. The acoustical ceiling and cork floor help to create a quiet atmosphere.

Electric eyes regulate the lights automatically and Venetian blinds shut out the glaring sun.

There is ample room in the new library for special displays. The large display case located in the hall outside the library is equipped with fluorescent lighting and glass shelves. Here pupils find interesting and varied displays.

A large charging desk, a book truck, and an adjustable magazine rack add greatly to the facilities of the new library. An adjoining workroom provides extra storage space and also a room where books can be repaired.

A larger seating capacity allows more pupils to come to the library. Records show an increased attendance. Last year the number of pupils averaged one hundred and twenty-five a day. This year between two and three hundred pupils came to the library each day.

One of the newest and most active clubs in the school is the Three Feathers Club, devoted to the practice of archery.

Upon organizing the club last fall, the advisors, Miss Hanna, Mr. Olloman, and Mr. Sander, found student interest so strong that membership had to be limited to twenty-five.

The activities of the club include not only instruction in the use of a bow and arrow, but the study of the history and the terminology of this ancient sport.

Most of the archery practices this year were held in the gym, where a four-foot target was used. Whenever weather conditions permitted, the club practiced at Reilly Field. Each member bought his own set of equipment.

Officers chosen by the members were as follows: President, Sidney Simon; vice-president, Ray Corrigan; secretary, Joyce Sommerville; and treasurer, Margaret Ann Jones.

In addition to the regular weekly practice meetings, a brief business meeting was held each Wednesday night after school. At several of these meetings motion pictures on the subject of archery were shown.

In the spring, the members enjoyed several roving hikes. Targets were set up at various points along the course, where the members interrupted their hike for archery practice.

Plans of the club include a tournament with archery clubs from other schools.

A knowledge and understanding of nature's great outdoors, and acquaintance with bird and animal life, and a program of aid to all creatures—these are the aims of the Outdoor Sportsmen's Club.

In recent years, and especially this year, the sportsmen have been very active. Included in their activities for the year 1939-40 was the building and distribution of bird shelters around Salem. The boys also released numerous wild rabbits and pheasants in neighboring wooded sections.

Following the idea that in order to know and appreciate nature, one must come into contact with it, Mr. E. A. Engelhart, club advisor, took the boys on a very interesting and educational camping trip into the Pennsylvania mountains. While on this trip, the young outdoorsmen had an opportunity to learn the habits of many animals by actually observing them.

At a meeting of the club, held early in the year, the following officers were elected: Joe Vendor, president; Earl McDevitt, vice-president; Phillip Hurray, secretary; and Charles Lantz, treasurer.

Under the guidance of Mr. Engelhart, the club has proven itself to be one of the most popular and educational in Salem High.

The Outdoor Sportsmen's Club is a medium through which every boy who has the call of nature coursing through his veins may express his innermost feelings toward the great outdoors.

Retorts, Beakers

A new club in Salem High school this year is the Chemistry club, which is known as the Bunsen Burner club. The club is under the direction of Herbert Jones, chemistry instructor.

The club was organized by a group of chemistry students near the end of the first semester. It was organized so that the members could do experiments which it is not possible for the regular chemistry student to do in the classroom. Also, the students learned how to use the delicate chemistry balances which could not be used in the regular laboratory work.

During the year the club members made trips to several manufacturing concerns in Salem to study some of the chemical processes in use. Some of the places visited were the enameling room at the Mullins Manufacturing Corporation, the Salem Pottery and the Martin Tire Company.

The Bunsen Burners held their meeting every other Monday after school. The officers elected by the club members were: Jack Kells, president; Eugene Myers, vice-president; and Margaret Hannay, secretary-treasurer.

Athletes All

With Mr. Herbert Brown as advisor, the Varsity S Club had a very successful year of 1939-40.

Back in May of 1939, Bob Clark, versatile athlete, had been elected president of the club. However, he transferred to Culver Military Academy and left the office vacant. At a new election, Richard Beck was named president. The other officers were: Ted Ursu, secretary; Mike Nicora, treasurer; and Joe Vendor, sergeant-at-arms.

Only boys who have earned letters in football, basketball, track, or cross-country are eligible for membership in the club.

The club held its third annual dance in the school gym, April 9. This dance, which has become an outstanding spring attraction, was provided with music by Dale Shears and his orchestra. The students attending the dance acclaimed it a great success.

One of the interesting and popular features in the club's activities is the initiations. These are carried out with much ceremony and hilarity. Their popularity, however, is not shared by those being initiated.

It can easily be seen that this comparatively new club is one of the foremost in the school.

The Spanish Club, under the supervision of Miss Mildred Hollett, has just completed an unusually busy year.

There are fifteen members in the club, each member has participated in some way at the meetings during the past year. The club met every two weeks and each session was especially planned to be of particular interest to the Spanish students.

Spanish games, songs and puzzles were enjoyed at these meetings and Spanish was used in talking as much as possible. The club also presented a series of one-act Spanish plays. The annual "yerba mate" or Paraguayan tea party was held and enjoyed by the members.

To be eligible for membership in the club, each person must have completed the first year of Spanish with a grade of C or above and be enrolled in the second year of the language.

By consent of all the members of the club this year, the name of the club has been changed from "Los Castelanos" to "Los Hidalgos."

A new pin was selected with the words "El club Espanol" and the pin is typical Spanish with a design of a sombrero, a guitar, a tambourine, and a serape on the face of it.

The officers of the club are as follows:

Jean Stone, president; Alta McNabb, vice-president; Jeanne Hutcheson, treasurer.

Organized for the purpose of studying Latin life and customs, the Latin Club includes many projects in its program, among which are found both educational and social activities.

The following students served as officers for the club during the past year: president, Charles Lind; vice-president, Ray Corrigan; secretary, Eleanor Labriola; treasurer, Wayne Steffel. Miss Dorothy Harroff was advisor.

One of the various social events held by the club was an initiation party in February for new members, which they attended dressed as Roman boys and girls. Prizes for the best Roman costumes worn to the party were awarded to Jean Reeves and Walter Vansickle.

Two Latin newspapers, Res Gestae and Acta Diurna, containing current events translated into the Latin language, are studied by the club members. These publications also contain Latin crossword puzzles, contests, and popular songs.

Two plays, "Somnium" and Medicus, were presented this year by members of the club.

The characters in "Somnium" were played by the following: Stephen Hart, Raymond Corrigan, Maybelle Huston, Mabel Hostetler, Charles Lind, and Jo Mounts. Lois Field and Mary Byers directed this play.

With Virginia Hilditch and Virginia Mayhew as directors, the following members presented "Medicus." Dick Chessman, Miriam Seeman, Edward Fisher, Paul Evans, and Herbert Hansell.

Swing a la S. H. S.

The dance band club, composed of seventeen boys and girls who are interested in music in the dance band field, is a newly organized club recognized fully as a definite part of the extra-curricular activities of the school.

Mr. C. M. Brautigam is the faculty advisor and conductor. Under his able supervision the club has had a thoroughly successful year.

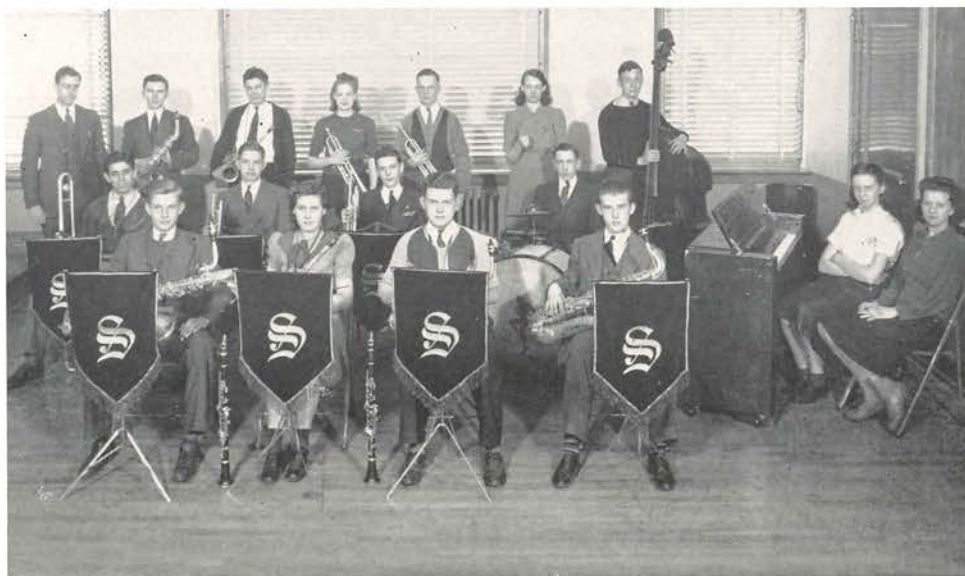

The school has long desired a band of its own which could be called upon to play at various school functions throughout the year. So with the support of the school behind it, the dance band was organized and it has lived up to the goal set by the club.

The orchestrations of the band were kept up-to-date as much as possible and the band endeavored to have the music for almost all the current numbers which were featured on the hit parade.

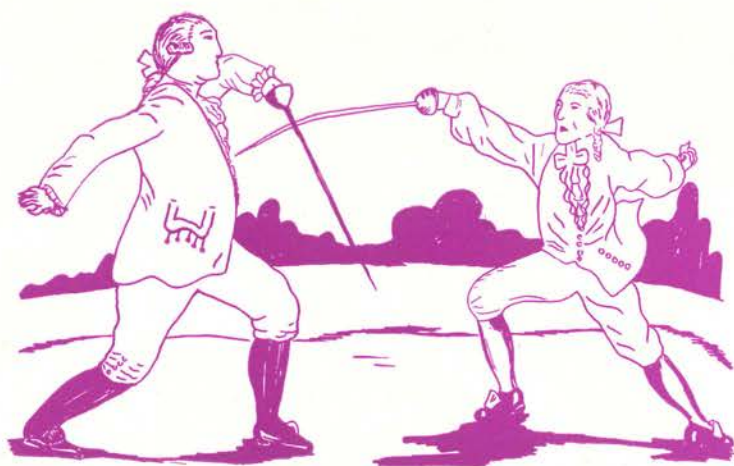

A band such as this one is particularly valuable because it gives the members the experience which they will need if they try for a position in a dance orchestra. Also the experience they gain through being a member of this band will give them an advantage when competing with other musicians after they leave school.

The officers are as follows:

Manager, Aden Riffle; assistant manager, Robert Schuck; secretary-treasurer, Betty England; librarian, Lois Myers.

Standing: Mr. Brautigam, Coy, Whitacre, Brobander, Corrigan, Snyder, Stone—at piano, Myers, Burke.

ATHLETICS

Mighty Gridders

Salem High's football season was not so successful as that of the previous year, but it was far from a failure. It marked Coach Schroeder's fourth year here and further proved the system which he has been using to develop new talent to be a successful venture.

Playing a ten-game schedule, with seven of them at Reilly Stadium, the Quakers emerged victorious in five contests. Two games ended in ties, while three were marked down in the records as defeats.

The team was sparked by the stellar play of Marvin and Melvin Wukotich, Joe Vendor and Bob Shoe. All four of these boys were chosen on the All-County team.

Both Vendor, a tackle, and Shoe, an end, are seniors and will be graduated in June. Both will be missed next season. Other boys who will be lost through graduation are Richard Beck, who played four years as a varsity tackle; Charles Tolp, Leonard Piersol, both linemen; and Vito Faini, reserve back.

The Wukotich twins, both juniors, played their second year of varsity football. Melvin, playing center, was a bulwark on defense and his passing was faultless. Marvin, playing fullback and calling signals, was the spark plug and leading scorer on the team.

"Buster" tallied 54 points during the course of the season.

Fine punting by Don West helped the Quakers out of many tight spots while Carroll Greene's aggressive play at guard left nothing to be desired.

Felix Di Antonio, chunky sophomore, started the season at center but was forced out for the year when he injured a leg. He will be available next year.

The Red and Black had a rather low scoring team this year, scoring but 87 points in 10 games. However they held their opponents to 83, and more than half of this total was attributed to one team.

Salem started the season with a decisive victory over Sebring 26-0. Perhaps the outstanding feature of the game was Marvin Wukotich's 60 yard touch-down run on the first play of the game.

After this came Ravenna and the Quakers went into the game with a cocky air. However they found themselves up against a tough combine and could not score. Finally a Raven back stepped out of the end zone and Salem was awarded a two point safety. There was no further scoring.

The following week the team traveled to East Liverpool for one of the most important games of the year. Playing their best game of the season, the Salem lads fought to a six-six tie before a capacity crowd.

Failure to convert an extra point cost Salem a defeat at the hands of a fighting Struthers team, seven to six.

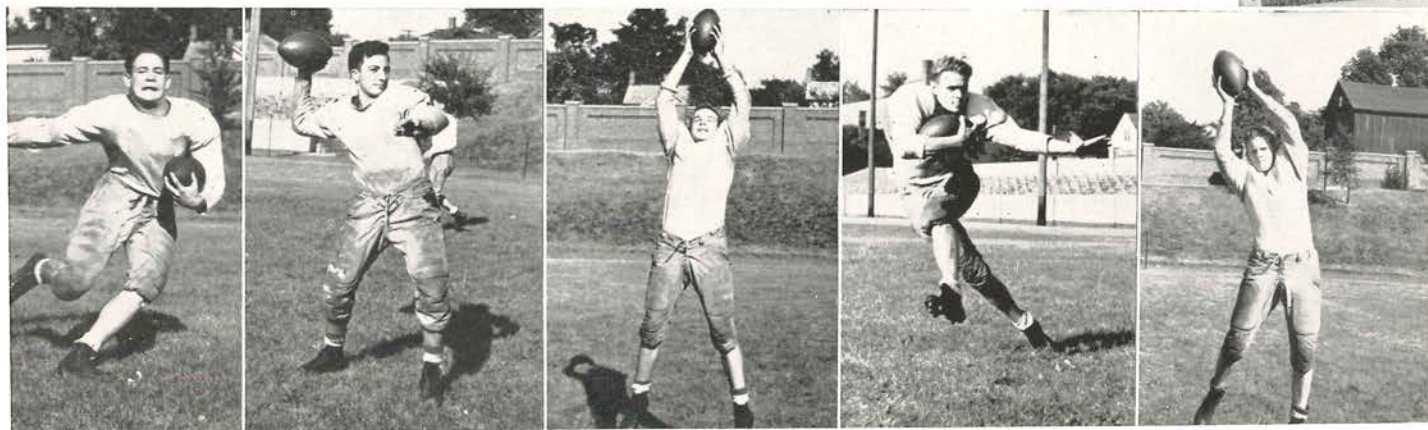

Then came three consecutive victories over Wells-ville, 13-12; Lisbon, 21-6; and Dover, 7-0. Bob Shoe won the Dover game on a sparkling end-around run for a touchdown.

A tough Barberton team held Salem to a scoreless tie and Youngstown South beat the Quakers 13-6.

Then came the big game with Alliance. Led by Hillis Hume, the Aviators outclassed Salem and beat them soundly, 49-0.

So ended the 1939 pigskin parade.

Side, Top to Bottom: Mel Wukotich, Tolp, Beck, Mar Wukotich, Vendor, Malloy, Greene, Piersol. Bottom: West, Volio, Baillie, Scullion, Shoe.

Crafty Cagers

From the standpoint of seasonal records, Salem High's basketball season was a disappointment. This was due to the fact that for the first time in Coach Herb Brown's era at S. H. S. the Red and Black lost more games than it won. The final standings showed eight victories and nine defeats.

Starting the season with but two lettermen, Brown juggled his team in an effort to find a winning combination. The loss of Glen "Dinty" McLaughlin in February injured the team greatly. He became 20 years of age at that time and, consequently, was declared ineligible. Until that time he was the big cog in the Salem machine.

Leading scorer for the team was Les Knepp, who rang up 114 points during the year. "Hank" was also a mainstay on defense.

Phil Cozad, a sophomore, who was brought up from the reserves in mid-season, proved to be a valuable pivot man.

Bob Shoe, senior, who scored 90 points, was a regular at one of the guard positions. His loss will be felt next year.

Jim Kleon played the other guard position most of the time. His clever ball handling proved to be a big asset to the team.

Mike Thomas and Bob Jaeger saw much action during the year. Both will be back next season.

One of the most promising players to come up from the reserves was Bob Ritchie. During the latter part of the season "Jake" proved his worth to the team when he was called on to play when games were close. In the last few games he was given a starting berth. Only a sophomore, Ritchie is expected to combine with Cozad, Thomas and Jaeger for the nucleus of next year's team.

And while we are handing out bouquets, let's not overlook manager "Dude" Ursu. Ted worked for the team four long years and he too deserves recognition. None of the Salem players will ever forget his romantic figure.

Salem started the season with a bang as they swamped an easy Lisbon team 43-15. However, their joy was short-lived for the next three games were lost to Ravenna, Alumni and Dover.

The Alumni tilt was probably the most exciting game played all the year. The varsity led all the way until the fourth quarter when the ex-highs put on a terrific spurt and tied the game up at 22 all. Then Max Lutsch, star center of the 1937-38 team, dropped in a basket in the overtime period. It was a thriller all the way through.

After losing their third straight to Dover, Salem came back to defeat a weak Chaney team. The score was 41-24.

Then came a trip to Alliance and again came defeat. After 25 minutes of close rough basketball the Aviators put on a rally and won, 32-26.

Following this defeat came three thrilling games which Salem won. Rayen, East Palestine, and Youngstown South were the victims. Eight points was the total margin of victory in the three games. In the South game Les Knepp hit the hoop for 17 points which was the top in individual performance of the year.

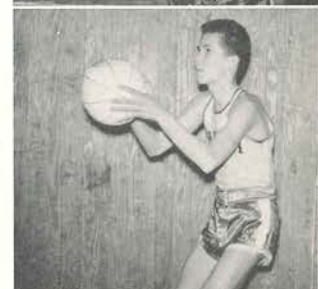

The Warren game was also a nerve tingling battle. Salem, lost out in the overtime, 28-26.

Then followed a win over Pittsburgh Peabody and a defeat at the hands of East Liverpool. The Potters won the game 34-33 on a much-disputed foul on Bob Jaeger.

The Quakers then lost to Akron West, won over Wellsville and Boardman and closed the regular season with a loss to Struthers.

The first game at the Youngstown tournament was lost to Youngstown East, 39-33. Thus ended the 1939-40 basketball season.

Tomorrow's Cage Stars

Coach Ted Jones' Reserve basketball team this year had a rather mediocre season, winning seven games and losing nine. However, the team accomplished its purpose of seasoning inexperienced players for future varsity teams, and that is its primary purpose.

More than fifteen players saw action on the reserves this year as Brown and Jones searched for promising talent. Some were dropped, and others were moved up to the varsity as they showed exceptional talent. Among those promoted to the varsity were Bob Jaeger and Phil Cozad, and "Shorty" McGaffie, Walt Miller, and Jim Armeni were dressed for the varsity games several times.

McGaffie led the team in the scoring department by virtue of his "dead eye" on long shots. Armeni played a steady game at guard, while Buchman showed promise at a forward post. John Volio also played a good game.

Salem played its best game against East Palestine's Bulldogs. Trailing the entire game, Salem went into the fourth quarter behind, 15-7. Sparked by four long goals by McGaffie, the Quaker understudies went on to pile up 14 points while holding Palestine to five. The game ended 21-20, Salem.

All in all, it looks as though Coach Herb Brown has some very promising material in line for the varsity.

First Row: Hart (Mgr.), Miller, McGaffie, Volio, Culberson, Capel, Rance (Mgr.)

On Your Mark

As usual Salem High had one of the fullest and most complete track seasons of any school in the state. Although our team did not measure up to some of the past teams, it was far from a failure. Coach Frederick E. Cope once more piloted the squad through the season.

Salem won three small meets in starting the season. The victories came over Rayen and Louisville in dual meets and over Boardman and Lisbon in a triangular meet.

The Eleventh Annual Salem Night Relays were held on May 4 and proved to be the outstanding feature of the season. The performance of the great Cleveland East Tech squad was the feature of the meet. The N. E. O. district meet was also held in Salem.

Some of Cope's outstanding performers were Elliot Hansell, junior dash man, who contributed many points to the Salem cause; Dick Beck, senior weight man; Bob Shoe, who competed in several events; Glenn Whinnery, 440 man; Tom Rhodes, pole vaulter; and Art Horning, miler.

An outstanding freshman squad gives promise of future triumphs for the Quakers.

Several improvements were made at the Reilly stadium to insure the better handling of the larger meets. Fifty new hurdles, constructed by the school's manual training class, met with full approval.

Over Hill and Dale

Seated: Gale Bartchy, Ken O'Connel, Bob Entricken, Arthur Horning. Standing: Ted Ursu, mgr., Lee Boone, Alex Simion, Coach Clarke.

For the tenth consecutive year, R. B. Clarke was at the helm of Salem High's cross-country team. For all of these ten years Salem has been on the top of the state's cross-country teams. Although they have not won the title every year they have been a name to be reckoned with. Clarke has turned out many champions. In 1930 and in 1931 his teams won the state championship. In both of these years and again in 1936, one of his runners took first place in the state meet. Surely this is a wonderful record.

The year of 1939 was not so successful as some of those in the past, but in going through the season Clarke had in mind a future team.

The 1939 Quakers won but one meet, that from Warren, while losing two. The losses were suffered at the hands of Akron East and East Palestine. In the district meet Salem placed eighth in a field of eleven. None of the runners qualified for the state meet.

Outstanding runners for the Red and Black were Kenny "The Flash" O'Connel, the only senior on the squad; Lee Boone, Alec Simion, Art Horning, Gale Bartchy, and Bob Entricken. Manager for the team was Ted "Dude" Ursu.

Pars, Birdies, Eagles

★ Replacing Mr. A. V. Henning this year at the helm of the golf team was Mr. Ted Jones. Jones, an ardent golfer himself, took an active interest in the sport throughout the season. Most of the playing was done on the Salem Golf Club course through the courtesy of the Club.

★ A new plan was put into effect this year concerning golf. The plan was intramural golf. It was designed by Mr. Jones to give more boys a chance to learn the game. Special arrangements were made, and the boys were allowed to work out some of their green fees. Many of them bought new or second-hand clubs, but many were content to play with borrowed sticks.

★ It was the first time any program of this sort had been attempted in Salem High. However, golf is becoming a major sport in high schools all over the country and Salem will be no exception.

★ About thirty-five boys turned out for the initial meeting, and all saw action during the year.

★ This year there was no regular team picked and no matches were played with other schools. But it is felt that the boys got to play more and at the same time were building a team for the future that might have more chance against their more seasoned opponents.

Smashing Serves

Replacing Mr. Herb Jones as coach of the Salem High tennis squad this year was Mr. Loren Early. Because of other activities Mr. Jones decided to give up the position and so Mr. Early was nominated as coach of the team. He performed a splendid job in his first year as instructor.

The team was selected in a new manner this year. A tournament was held and the five boys coming out on top made up the varsity players. The tournament was run on a ladder with each player challenging the one above him. The tournament was completed before the regular season began.

During the season Salem competed with teams from five different schools, Sebring, Lisbon, Alliance, Struthers and Youngstown South.

The team had only one letterman returning from last year's squad. He was Captain Lee Willman. Lee had played four years on the squad and, naturally was the mainstay of the team.

All games in Salem were played on the Centennial Park courts. The team played at Millcreek Park in Youngstown on several occasions.

Among the candidates for the team were Walt Bolinger, George Baillie, Bob Ritchie, Ed Zatko, Carl Capel and Captain Willman.

Our advertisers have played a very important part in making this yearbook possible. They may be compared to the prop committee, or stage crew of a production, the persons who, although their names do not appear in lights, are just as important as the leading characters.

These are the men and women of businesses and professions in Salem who stand behind the high school and what it stands for. It is these persons who furnish the financial backing which is essential to the publishing of a book of this kind.

For their cooperation and backing, which have made this annual possible, we, the yearbook staff, wish to express our appreciation and to extend our gratitude to the "silent partner" of the 1940 Quaker Annual—Our Advertisers.

He who holds his head too high cannot watch his step.

Two bandits walked into a bank and emptied the till of about $100,000. As they were about to dash out the cashier spoke, "Say, boys, do me a favor." "What is it?" growled the first robber. "This will only take a minute," replied the cashier, "outside the bank is a sign reading—'Assets $2,000,000.' Would you mind changing it to $1,900,000?"

A broken character doesn't knit quickly.

He had never been outside the U. S. and neither had she but both were telling of their experiences abroad. "And Asia, wonderful Asia! Never shall I forget Turkey, India, Japan, all of them. Most of all China. How I loved it." She held her ground. "And the pagodas," he continued, "did you see them?" "Did I see them?" She powdered her nose. "My dear, I had dinner with them."

Anger is a gun that bursts at the breach and kills the holder.

ENDS THE QUEST FOR THE BEST

One sees very few people nowadays bent with honest toil, but a lot that have become crooked trying to avoid it.

The taxi driver was unfortunate enough to run his car into a house where a woman stood ironing. Not knowing just what to say, he blurted out, "Can you tell me the way to Pittsburgh?" "Yes," replied the woman, "straight past the closet and to the left past the piano."

To sneer at another man is the special privilege of little minds.

The small town police sergeant was lecturing a constable. "You've been on the force for 10 months and never made an arrest. I'll give you one more chance. Squire Daly has phoned that someone is stealing his apples. Go up there and get the thief." About midnight, the waiting constable saw a man walking along with a sack on his shoulder. He pounced on him, opened the sack and found a quantity of valuable silverware. "My mistake," he murmured, "but you can thank your lucky stars it wasn't apples."

You don't need bank references in order to borrow trouble.

Bob Neale: Skiing.

Lucia: What happened?

Bob: I couldn't decide which side of the

He: Dearest, do you think you could be happy with a man like me?

She: Well perhaps . . . if he wasn't too much like you.

Sol Matz: How did you knock this pedestrian down?

Bob Lieder: I didn't knock him down. I just pulled up to him, stopped my car and waited to let him pass. He fainted.

27 Steps In The Production of Quality Printing

There are between Fifteen and Twenty-seven reasons why a printer cannot take down a job from the shelf as the grocer does a can of corn. Some of the many operations performed in a modern printing plant are listed above, and only a printing shop completely equipped to do all of them is entitled to the name "MODERN."

Ours is qualified for the term. It is equipped and manned to do all kinds of printing, quickly, satisfactorily and economically.
