STUDENT'S OF '60 WILL RECOGNIZE THIS BUILDING
Nineteen hundred and forty-four. Another year of school comes to a close, another year of a war that is yet to be won. This is a year which has launched another senior class on the road of life. It is the termination of the high school career which marks the end of one type of living and the beginning of a new.

Perhaps these two young people standing here scanning the face of the globe are symbolical of the class of '44. And perhaps through them we may be able to find the hopes and desires embedded in the thoughts of this year’s graduates.

They are looking at a world. The world of yesterday, the world of today, and what is most important, the world of tomorrow. And, as they stand here deep in thought, perhaps they are wondering if that world of tomorrow, their tomorrow, will be altered and unrecognizable.

And if they are to build a sounder, more civilized world, they should not fail. For in their hands lies the material with which to mold the pattern of the future. It is a necessity, therefore, to put to practice in later life the knowledge and experience accumulated during their school careers.

The response they showed at pep rallies, the enthusiasm with which they greeted new students, and the effort they put forth to improve their school work are only a few of the things which have helped to contribute to the fundamental character of these as they approach maturity.

The very day they entered high school, these young minds and bodies began paving that road which will soon carry them into the future. True companionship, self-reliance and honest work were to be had at will, and those who made these character building elements a part of their life will not soon be sorry.

It is these young people who are the future generation, and in them lies the destiny of the world.

WE DEDICATE THE 1944 QUAKER TO OUR GOOD FRIEND
MISS HELEN THORP

Each year it is customary to dedicate this yearbook to a person who, in our estimation, possesses those qualities generally attributed to the ideal teacher—comradship, wise counsel, understanding, knowledge, and personality.

Miss Helen Thorp, newcomer to Salem High school in 1941, fulfills all these requirements, and is able to add a few of her own.

As a teacher of sophomore English, she has enlightened many students by her thorough teaching and helpful encouragement. Members of the Hi Tri have also benefited by her services as adviser to the group.

Standing five feet four inches with dark hair and blue eyes, Miss Thorp can readily be recognized by her dignity and charm, two of her most outstanding characteristics.

It is, therefore, with great pleasure that we dedicate this edition of the Quaker Annual of 1944 to Miss Helen Thorp.
WE TAKE WITH US THOUGHTS OF HIGH SCHOOL DAYS

Alma Mater

We honor our high school,
We sing of its praise,
With courage united
Our colors high are raised.
We all love it dearly
Our Alma Mater true;
We'll cherish its memories
Our whole life through.
We'll cherish its memories
Our whole life through.

Behind the entire school system of Salem lies the Board of Education, directing the course of study and providing for the needs of the school.

This board is made up of prominent citizens of Salem, selected by the people of the city to provide for education, selected because of their recognized ability.

The students of Salem High school have seen the product of their careful planning and direction of the curriculum and of extra-curricular activities and know how valuable this wisely selected group is to the functioning of the school.

During the course of the 1943-'44 school year many worth-while things have been accomplished by this active body, including the purchase of new text books and equipment for the furthering of learning. They have obtained the best possible teaching staffs for the schools, thus making SHS recognized as a first class school.

This year Mr. A. E. Beardmore, who was vice-president last year was elevated to the presidency of the board. The board is composed of F. P. Mullins, A. E. Beardmore, G. W. Baillie, J. T. Burns, and G. P. Lozier. G. F. Koontz serves as clerk to the board.

Knowing that they are guided by efficient and reliable personages, the students of Salem High are confident of the decisions and ultimatum rendered by the Board of Education.

The students of Salem High school are very fortunate to have these in charge of the schools, and greatly appreciate their efforts.

Upon looking back on four successful years, this year’s senior class has every right to be proud of the brilliant record it is leaving behind.

As freshmen they were well represented in underclass clubs and sports. President Bob Cibula, secretary Barbara Butler and vice-president Bill Mullins capably bore the burden of directing the government and official matters of their class. The "green freshmen" of that year soon got their bearings, and in no time at all were as well acquainted and familiar as any senior.

Led by president Art Hoover, vice-president Bob Cibula and secretary Barbara Butler, these young people progressed rapidly during their sophomore year. Tentative freshman advances were soon forgotten and establishment in the history of Salem High was begun in earnest. In sports, clubs, orchestra and band they were more than outstanding. The Glee club, Debate team, orchestra, band, librarian staff, G. A. A., football, basketball and track teams all boasted of membership of at least a few of these ambitious young folk. Two highly successful projects were sponsored to raise money for the class that year. The first was the sale of booster plates that were to be attached on licenses, and the second was an assembly presented by Dr. George Roemert, noted biologist.

Getting into full swing their Junior year these able young people began to show promise of their many talents. "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court" was the first dramatic attempt launched, and a very successful one. Miss Alpha Combs, dramatic instructor, ably directed this production, starring Betty Hardy, Tom Rowlands, Bob Cibula, Ada Zerbs, Rachel Keister, John Cone, Olin King, Leanore West, Donald Whiteleather, Joanne Zimmerman, Jean Dilworth and Dick Butler.

Eight junior people were voted into the Thespian troupe in the latter part of the year, three of them to
The Hi-Tri club, more than ever conscious of the perilous fight of the nations of the world, devoted all their efforts to the successful sale of war stamps and victory activities.

Miss Winifred Ospeck, newly appointed dramatics teacher, tried her hand at producing her first play, “Don’t Take My Penny!” given by the senior class, and as a result produced a rousing success. More tickets were sold for this play than had been sold for six years. Seniors starred in the play were Betty Hardy, Terry Atkinson, Ada Zerbs, Tony Hoover, Rachel Keister, Olin King, Bob Cibula, Joan O’Hara, Jean Dilworth, Joanne Zimmerman, Dick Widmyer, John Cone, Martin Juhn, Ann Bodirnea, Elaine McGhee and Marilyn Page. Donald Whiteleather was student director.

Almost the entire Quaker editorial staff was guided by efficient seniors. Jack Rance was named editor-in-chief of both the annual and weekly editorial staff. Ada Zerbs took over the jobs of copy editor for the weekly and managing editor for the annual. June Chappell and Tony Hoover were the staff’s leading columnists. Barbara Butler and “Sis” Keyes retained their positions as proof readers.

Amidst all this fun and constant activity, the war also took its toll among students. Dick Greene, Bill Stratton, Bob Cibula, Dan Kleon and Kenneth Wagner were inducted into the armed forces. The strain of war was shown on teachers and students alike, and in every action and thought their patriotic attitude was displayed above everything else.

TO THE SENIORS

After four years of study and fun in Salem High school you have now moved across one of the many milestones in your education and in your life. You have proved through these four years that you can hold your own in any situation, for what situation could arise that has not arisen during your freshman year? During this time you have also proved yourselves good leaders and hard workers.

Through your high school career you have gained invaluable experience by your association with both younger and older schoolmates and members of the faculty, for by attending a comparatively small school you have had the opportunity of being close acquaintances of both.

You have had the occasion to make use of two excellently equipped laboratories, one for biology and one for chemistry. You have been given the chance to use a modern library, well stocked with classics and texts as well as many "best seller" novels and thrilling literature.

You have taken advantage of the vocational courses, using to the best of your ability the facilities of the fine foods department and well equipped wood and metal industries shops.

Your leaders have been carefully selected by the Board of Education, and all constructive activities possible have been put at your disposal.

Those musically talented among you have had at their dispersal a band, orchestra, glee club and a modern music room.

The dramatists have been able to express themselves through the stage productions of the junior and senior classes and of the Thespians.

Your language department has done all in its power to prepare you for college and travel. Through the best of science and mathematics courses you have been prepared to go ahead to further accomplishments, and the social science requirements have helped to train you for better citizenship, which in turn will help you to recognize your duties as citizens.

Now you leave this portion of your education and life behind to enter into a world of strife and unhappiness. In this world you again will have to assume the leadership and direction of the events which are bound to arise after this conflict. Again you will have to be the hard workers, the merchants and factory men, the small and large business men, the rulers of the greatest nation the world has yet seen.

Your instructors have tried their utmost to train you for this colossal task. You have taken advantage of these opportunities well and so should not disappoint those who have faith in you.

Seniors, to you go our very best and sincere wishes for success in your higher education and in the remainder of your lives. Though the future at present seems to hold very little for happiness, we, the student body and faculty, feel sure that through your training and good judgment you can cope with the problems of the world to come, successfully, and so produce the ideal world in which our children are to live.
THE JUNIOR CLASS . . . INvariable Successors to

President — Lowell Hoprich
Vice-President — Charles Schaeffer
Secretary — Vivian Stowe

Returning to SHS as juniors in 1943, they selected as their president Lowell Hoprich; Charles Schaeffer became vice-president; and a “third term” was given Vivian Stowe, as secretary and treasurer.

Chris Paparodis was chosen to head both the Quaker weekly and annual business staffs, while Mollie Schmid became business manager of the weekly staff, and Jim Gibbs of the annual. Also on the staff were Juniors Ernest Ware, Lowell Hoprich, Sis Mullins, Lou Jean McDevitt, and Rose Circosta.

Jim Kelley was managing editor of the Quaker weekly, and the staff included Juniors Betty Cibula, Sally Campbell, and Gyla Stern. On the apprentice staff were Pat Keener, Helen Haessly, Mollie Schmid, and Esther Freet. On the Quaker Annual staff were Jim Kelley, Betty Cibula, Gyla Stern, and Helen Haessly.

Representing the class on the newly-organized Student Council were Sally Campbell, Carl Ferreri, Jim Kelley, Chris Paparodis, and Marjorie Zeller. Kelley was elected president of the group.

On the dramatic side, the class put over a successful three-act comedy, “Brother Goose,” by William Davidson, under the direction of Miss Winifred Ospeck and student director Mary Louise Mason. The cast was Jack Emery, Jackie Jensen, Jim Cope, Lou Jean McDevitt, Pat Keener, Dolores Poorbaugh, Joan Combs, Jeanne Walsh, Betty Cibula, Estelle Callatone, and Ernest Ware.

This class was represented in the Varsity S club by Walt Brian, Jim Appedisan, Pete Davis, Charles Franks, and Jay Leach.

Out for the football team were Steve Alek (now in the Navy), Jim Appedisan, Walt Brian, Tom Bush, Pete Davis, Carl Ferreri, Charles Franks, Ernest Kornbau, Jay Leach, Harold Pike, Jack Sekely, Bill Vignovich, and Jim Wright.

On the basketball squad were Jim Appedisan, Walt Brian, Norman Smith, Bill Stoudt, Donald Firth, and Charles Schaeffer.
THE SENIOR TITLE . . .

Two years ago these 221 sophomores meekly entered Salem High school, wondering just what they were getting into in their effort to attain a higher education. They soon found themselves and began pitching in and proving themselves excellent workers, good leaders, and diligent students.

One of the first acts performed was to elect class officers. After speeches were made by their candidates, they chose Dan Smith, president; John Sharp, vice-president; and Mary Catherine Scullion, secretary-treasurer.

These new “additions” to the school succeeded in giving a very enjoyable party, and became active in all underclass activities. Among their ranks were also many athletes, one, Louis Juliano, making the Varsity football squad.

Their first duty was again to choose class officers, re-electing Dan Smith president, selecting for vice-president John Plegge, and again naming Mary Catherine Scullion secretary-treasurer.

The Horace Greeleys of the class, serving on the Quaker editorial staff, were Ruth Baltorinic, Harvey Walken, and John Mulford.

Those serving on the Quaker business staff were Bob Musser, John Sharp, and Fred Gaunt. Munson Thorpe was staff photographer.

Student council members were Martha Brian, Walter Ibele, John Sharp, Munson Thorpe, Ansley Mitchell, Ruth Dales, Lloyd Harroff, and Frank Mangus. Thorpe was chosen vice-president of the organization.

The sophomores out for football were Wendell Beck, Robert Cain, Donald Chappell, Jack Crawford, Bob Dusenberry, Richard Reynolds, Gerald Hanna, Richard Karlis, Fred Koenreich, Francis Lanney, Louis Juliano, John Mulford, John Plegge, Bob Roessler, Dan Smith, and Gene Tullis.

Those out for basketball were Pete Cibula, Francis Lanney, Leonard Sobek, Morris Hollinger, Louis Juliano, Lowell Myers, John Pridon, Ben Bruderly, and Richard Reynolds.
THEMSELVES WITH GOODLY MERIT...

Second row—Fleischer, Davidson, Bottone, Caruana, M. Callatone, Equise, Hoffmaster, Hahn, Brian, Dales, Barker, Coppock, Drickoll, Cope, Brunetien, DeWan, Cunningham.

Third row—Forney, Ballou, Raffel, Alek, Fink, Ellis, Albert, Hughes, P. Anderson, Butler, Fortune, Doyle, Kennedy, Hinchliffe, Coffey, Hippoly, Helm, Jewell Bergman, Abe, Bates.

Fourth row—Hepker, Z. Clark, A. Clark, Johnston, Helmick, Hendricks, Bruderly, Swete, Julian, Fox, Collan, Covert, Duenberry, Crawford, Edgerton, Gordon, Harroff, Bele, Cuberson.

Fifth row—Reynolds, Soll, Tullis, B. Roessler, Ritchie, Ware, Thorpe, D. Smith, Krauss, Myers, Little, Peter, B. Briden, H. Mitchell, Lance, Stotin, Moffett, Stidinger.

Wondering eyes, trembling hands, and knocking knees greeted the "old regulars" of Salem High last September when questioning glances were thrown their way by these 256 freshmen.

Their first duty was to select their leaders. After choosing nominees for the offices, and after hearing many a quaking and tremulous voice proclaim his speech from the auditorium stage, Dick Gottschling was elected president. Don Coppock took over the vice-presidency and Bob Hodge was selected secretary-treasurer.

The boys in the class began to get into the swing of things by going out for football and making a good showing. Those boys were Charles Alexander, Robert Bingham, Robert Boone, Fred Crowgey, George Enders, Marian Faini, Arnold Flick, Richard Gottschling, Bob Hodge, Tom Holzbach, Frank Hoopes, Robert Lantz, James Laughlin, Scott McCorkhill, Bill McKee, John Oana, Andrew Parlow, Ray Snyder, Bob Sproat, Bob Tyson, Earl Ware and Donald Wright.

The freshman basketball team was composed of Jack Beatty, Robert Bush, Robert Dressel, Richard Hahn, James Laughlin, Tony Martinelli, John Oana, Andy Parlow, Martin Roth, Ray Snyder and Richard Todd. They were coached by Mr. Paul Dodez.

Gertrude Zerbs served on the apprentice staff for the Quaker weekly editorial staff, and Donald Wright was on the weekly business staff.

A number of girls joined the Girls' Athletic association in which they learned to play many games and enjoyed contests. Those girls were Donna Lopeman, Marilyn Mellinger, Marion Simonds, Erla McGuire, Audrey Munsell, Dawn Helmick, Evelyn Heim, Marjorie Fineran, Betty Cosgarea, Donna Knisely, Therese Iagulli, June Pasco, Joyce Waite, Betty Zimmerman, Betty Polder, Beverly Buchanan, Eva Brookshire, Evadine Ward, and Loie Barnard.

On the student council were Jack Beatty, Joe Ferreri, Gene Shafer, Edwin Mosher, Eileen Guiler, Margaret Johnstone, John Ursu, and Bill McKee.
BUT NOT FOREVER . . .
• And These Are
The Things We Do
THEY SET IT DOWN . . .

Competently heading this year's weekly and annual editorial staffs, was Jack Rance, editor-in-chief. Assisting him were Jim Kelley, managing editor, and Ada Zerbs, copy editor.

Handicapped at the beginning of the year by a rather depleted staff, due to the graduation of former staff members, and being comparatively inexperienced himself, Rance nevertheless, managed to set together an efficient staff. Comprising the staff were June Chappell, Tony Hoover, Gyla Stern, Betty Cibula, Sally Campbell, Harvey Walken, John Mulford, and Ruth Baltorinic.

In selecting an apprentice staff, six newcomers were chosen. They were Mollie Schmid, Helen Haesley, Gertrude Zerbs, Esther Freet, Pat Keener and Donna Ward.

Covering the newsfront mainly were Ada Zerbs, Ruth Baltorinic, Harvey Walken and Gyla Stern. Jim Kelley was the main editorial writer, and features were done by practically all members of the staff. Column writers were June Chappell, Tony Hoover, Betty Cibula and Sally Campbell.

As a novelty, and also used as an incentive to get students to read the ads, unidentified baby pictures were printed in several issues, with the person's name printed somewhere in the ads. The idea was popular and worked out very well. All in all, 31 issues were put out by the staff this year.

Due to a paper shortage, and also the unusual amount of work taken on by printers, it was necessary that the annual work be completed February 20.

This unusually early deadline presented many hardships. Film for pictures was almost unobtainable, and photographers were also scarce. However, Rance, with the assistance of Ada Zerbs, executive editor, and excellent cooperation of the annual staff was able to complete the work before the deadline.

Mr. H. C. Lehman was adviser to both the weekly and annual staffs.
They Make It Pay...

Under the able leadership of Chris Paparodis, business manager, and Mollie Schmid, assistant business manager, the Quaker Business staff has worked faithfully to make the Quaker weekly successful.

Chris, who is one of the few juniors ever elected for business manager, is also manager of the Quaker annual. His assistant in this position is Jim Gibbs, a junior.

This year, the system of having an assistant to help the manager was tried. The assistant gives greatly needed aid to the manager; therefore, this practice will probably be followed in coming years because it has proved very successful.

The staff members visit local merchants and manufacturers at regular intervals to solicit ads. Although no member of the business staff does any actual writing for the school publication, they are just as important to the paper as those who write copy.

Due to the conditions of war, it has been a little more difficult to secure ads and find the material for the Quaker annual, but our annual has been and will be a credit to any school.

The members of the business staff are Lowell Hoperick, Ernest Ware, Fred Gaunt, Bob Musser, “Sis” Mullins, Lou Jean McDevitt, Rose Cirocosta, and Don Wright. Fred Gaunt does not appear in the picture but he is a very energetic member and a credit to any staff.

Starting the year with a great many inexperienced members, Chris Paparodis and Mr. Hilgendorf, faculty adviser, have turned out an experienced and efficient group of workers. Mr. Hilgendorf has been faculty adviser for a number of years and has proved himself to be worthy of the position. Before the annual was published, Mr. Hilgendorf visited the various printing companies to receive bids for the printing of the book.

Eight hundred dollars worth of advertisements was set as the goal for the annual.

As the result of a lot of hard work and cooperation, the business staff has kept going a paper which any student should be proud to call his own.
The Slide Rule club, the only mathematics club in Salem High, has the reputation of being one of the few clubs in high school where the students get knowledge which is not available in ordinary classroom work.

This year was the first time since 1939 that the Slide Rule club was organized. In the intervening years, Miss McCready, mathematics teacher and supervisor of this club, was Junior Class adviser. Therefore, it was impossible for her to manage the organization. But this year, much to the desires of the math students, she has resumed her position as head of the club.

Students in junior and senior mathematics classes are eligible for membership. Since too many wished to enter the Slide Rule club, a plan different from any used previously was applied. The seniors were permitted to take part during the first semester and the juniors participated the second semester. To handle the business of the senior organization, the members chose as their officers Jim Primm, president; Vera Janicky, vice-president; and Ruth Umberger, secretary-treasurer. The juniors selected for their officers Lowell Hoperich, president; Bill Buehler, secretary and treasurer.

The study of the slide rule is very helpful in all fields. Now, especially, it is valuable because of the Armed Forces. It aids men in the Army and Navy. The senior boys will be really grateful for its aid when they graduate because graduation for them will mean entering the armed forces. Not only is the slide rule helpful in this branch; it is also an aid in business and shop work. Summed up, it is a very practical and useful instrument.

Because of the shortage of time, the social life of the club was limited. But a party was held in the home economics room at the end of the first semester.

It can be truthfully stated that the Slide Rule club has had a very successful year and that it has proved an asset to each and every one of its members.
In 1937, the Varsity "S" club was organized under the auspices of basketball coach, Herbert Brown. The main objectives of the club then, as they are now, were to liven the school spirit, develop keen sportmanship, and to provide recreation for its members. This is the club's eighth year of organization, and it has been very active again this year.

Ray Wise, John Plegge and Frank Entriken were president, secretary and treasurer, respectively. Herbert Brown again consented to be the club's adviser.

Two initiations were held during the course of the year. The initial one was staged late in November in order to take in all football players that had earned their Varsity awards. The final initiation was held later in the school year to admit the basketball players that were eligible.

A pep rally under the sponsorship of the club was held the night preceding the Salem-Leetonia gridiron classic. It was a huge success with a large representative student body—the Band, the entire team, and the cheerleaders. Besides the immense bonfire Coach Barrett, Donald Beatty and William Stratton gave short speeches pertaining to school spirit.

Donald DeJ ane, a high school youth who was forced to spend the remainder of the school year in a hospital in Youngstown, was honored by the Varsity "S" when they purchased him a class ring. It was the only gift that DeJane really wanted, and he thought it a sincerely kind gesture on the behalf of the club.

Richard Greene and William Stratton were both lost to the club when they went to the armed forces in November. Richard, vice-president, went to the Army, while Bill chose the Marines. Gifts were purchased from a collection taken up among the club members.

Dale Wykoff also dropped from the membership list at the semester when he withdrew from Salem High school to enter as a cadet in the Virginia Military Institute.
Under the direction of Miss Evelyn Johnston, the French club was reorganized this year after a lapse of three years of inactivity.

Plans to organize the club were first suggested in class, and officers were immediately elected. They were Sis Mullins, president; Bill Vignovich, vice-president; and June Hoskinson, secretary-treasurer. Following this, a standing program committee was selected by the officers, composed of Martha Brian and Ada Zerbs.

It was decided to pay dues each semester, with the price set at $.25 a member.

Meetings were to be held every other Friday during class period. Later this was changed, and meetings were held during the noon-hour recess.

During these meetings, conversations were carried on in French, and French games were played. One game, originated by Miss Evelyn Johnston, adviser to the club, and also teacher of French, was entitled “Lingo”.

Closely related to the popular “Bingo” this game was played in the same manner, except that the cards bore French words and phrases instead of the usual numbers to be found on the “Bingo” cards. French readings and recitations were also popular during club meetings.

Later in the year it was suggested that membership be restricted to “A” and “B” French students, in order to bring about better co-operation and further progress of the club. Original members were Ruth Baltorinic, Martha Brian, Sally Campbell, Lillian Carmelo, Jim Cope, Mary Davis, Martha Driscoll, Betty Gibbs, Phyliss Gross, June Hoskinson, Regina Luffy, Richard Jordan, Mary Lou Mason, Sis Mullins, Frances Sechler, Jeanne Sharp, John Tompkinson, Bill Vignovich, Jean Walsh, Gertrude Wilms, and Ada Zerbs.
CONTINUALLY STRIVING FOR PERFECTION . . .

With a past record of action and enthusiasm that has earned it a reputation of being one of the most worthwhile clubs in Salem High school, the Hi Tri club this year carried out a very full program and maintained this reputation very well.

At the beginning of the year the members of the club elected the following officers: Vera Janicky, president; Marilyn Page, vice-president; Betty Jane Nicklason, treasurer; Deryl Stowe, secretary. The faculty advisers of the group are Miss Thorpe and Miss Zimmerman.

There were many committees formed. Their chairmen are as follows: service committee, J. Dilworth; program committee, M. Page; social committee, I. Getz; publicity committee, A. Zerbs.

The most important service project of the group was selling war bonds and stamps. Up to February 14, the total sales were $11,792.40. Several sales promotion contests were held, such as jeep contests, homeroom contests, class contests for the ‘E’ Banner, Pearl Harbor Day (sales for this day were over $1,800) and War Stamp Queen election.

Plans were made for a skating party, a Mothers’ Day tea, and a spring picnic.
Composed of only eight members at the beginning of the year, this group of young dramatic artists made rapid progress in their particular field.

Evidence of their unusual activity was first seen when six of the eight club members appeared in the senior class play early in the year. They were Ada Zerbs, Betty Hardy, Dick Butler, Bob Cibula, John Cone, and Olin King.

Anxious to accomplish something that would make the whole school conscious of dramatic work, they set about to give several one-act plays which were to star non-Thespians, in order that these people might earn sufficient credits to be eligible for Thespian membership.

The first of this series was an old-fashioned melodrama entitled "She Was Only a Farmer's Daughter," directed by Thespians Ada Zerbs and Bob Cibula.

The next one-act play was given in honor of National Thespian Week, and this time only Thespians were permitted to portray characters. It was a drama entitled "Which Is the Way to Boston?" starring Rachel Keister, Ada Zerbs, Donald Whiteleather, and Dick Butler, and directed by Bob Cibula.

During these various activities, members found time to hold two initiations, enlarging the troupe to about three times its original size.

Officers for the year were Olin King, president; Bob Cibula, vice-president; and Ada Zerbs, secretary-treasurer. Miss Winifred Ospeck served as adviser and counselor for the troupe.
“A sport for every girl and a girl in every sport,” is the aim of the Girls’ Athletic Association.

Offering the girls of Salem High School the enjoyment of participation in athletics, the G. A. A. has established a widely varied program of recreation, including such sports as kickball, volleyball, basketball and baseball.

Membership in the G. A. A. also provides girls with the chance of earning a Salem High school letter in athletics. A certain number of points are awarded for participation in each sport, and when each member has earned the required 1,000 points, she is awarded a letter. Anyone who has acquired her letter may obtain her year numerals by earning 300 additional points.

The members elected Doris Holroyd, president; Dolores Rose, vice-president; Helen Louise Rinehart, secretary; and Esther Hagerty, treasurer. Sport leaders for the year have been Betty Astry, volleyball and kickball; Betty Young, basketball; Helen Cosgarea, baseball.

The girls sponsored six penny dances during the school year and held a covered dish dinner in January. Twenty-two new members were initiated in February. The club has taken several hikes in the fall and spring. (The girls receive one point a mile.) A picnic in May concluded the school year.

Our library is one of the most pleasant rooms in the high school. Modern and well-equipped, it serves both teachers and students and is an excellent source of material for scholastic and extra-curricular activities. Proper lighting and an atmosphere of quiet make it an ideal place in which to read and study. It is open at noon and each period during the day. A large number of books are taken out after school for overnight use.

The number of books in the library now total about forty-six hundred. This year more than two hundred books were added, including war stories and books on post-war problems. There was demand for material of interest to those about to enter military service. Also, many best-sellers of the past and present can be found in the library. Numerous pamphlets and magazines are available, including new ones on world events and aviation. Special displays in the lighted showcase, located in the hall outside the library, attracted much attention when seasonal and departmental exhibits were shown throughout the year.

The system of assigning each student to the library two periods a week proved to be satisfactory and was continued this year. A new fine system was also instituted. The amount is cut in half if the fine is paid when the book is returned. As a result, the number of fines owed by students has been reduced surprisingly.

Student librarians are chosen from the honor roll by Miss Lois Lehman, librarian. Among other duties, they assist students, check material, and repair books and magazines. Eleven librarians graduate this year: Dominic Alessi, June Chappell, Dorothy Galchick, Ina Mae Getz, Betty Jane Gray, Josephine Hart, Vera Janicky, Rachel Keister, Mary Beth King, Olin King and Betty Lutsch.
ARGUMENTS ... FOR AND AGAINST ...

Working on the topic, “Resolved: That the United States should join a reconstituted League of Nations”, the debate team, under the direction of Mr. J. C. Guiler, had a comparatively successful season.

Since the team consisted of only six young people (sophomores and juniors), and none of them with previous experience, Mr. Guiler spent the main part of the year in training them for interscholastic debates, and also in preparation for next year’s season.

After school, practice debates were held frequently, in order that the team might become familiar with the methods of argumentation, use of evidence, reasoning, delivering of speech, etc. Because of a late start in organizing the group, and also practice debates, the group did not have a chance to participate in many outside debates. They did, however, meet with Niles, Youngstown East, Youngstown Chaney and East Palestine.

This year’s team, that consisted of Sally Joy, Joe Kupka, Duane Yeagley, Marjorie Zeller, Margaret Johnston and Harvey Walken, showed good promise and ability. Although they did not have any actual debating experience previous to this year, each of the members did have public speaking, which, Mr. Guiler believed, helped them in innumerable ways with their debating, and also offered them a little of the experience which they lacked.

Considering all these points, Mr. Guiler is sure that he will have a successful season next year.

A formal initiation for new members was held the first week of March, and was in charge of Ruth Baltorinic.

The requirement for entry into the club is at least a B average in Latin.

For entry each new member was given a famous Roman name, such as Caesar, Antony, Brutus, Cassius, and Scipio Africanus. The name assigned was then used by the person as the subject of an essay telling of that person's life and works. Mary Louise Vincent was in charge of the distribution of names.

The Latin club's purpose is to help the Latin student with his work, enabling him to understand the background and origin of this basic language.

Good knowledge of Latin is, too, an extremely important help in English, for through Latin comes invaluable experience with grammar and the parts of speech, tenses, and cases of words.

Also through the Latin club an historical background is given the student which will be very important in the study of history later on. Miss Helen Redinger, club adviser, has done well in helping the boys and girls lay this firm basic foundation.

The second year members of the club were Harvey Walken, Bill Ward, John Mulford, Ansley Mitchell, Gertrude Wilms, Esther Mayhew, Ruth Baltorinic, Mary Louise Vincent, Jenell Jewell, Dolores Ferko, Lois Johnston, Sammae Lockhart, Joanne Butler, Tom Williams, Evelyn Hahn, Barbara Sanders, Martha Brian, Velma O'Neil, Ruth Dales, and Margaret Redinger.

“Solidatas Latina” was adopted as the name of the Latin club this year.

Beginning by electing officers—Harvey Walken, president; Tom Williams, vice-president; Lois Johnston, secretary; and Gertrude Wilms, treasurer—these second year Latin students started the study of early Roman life, a report of which was given by Harvey Walken.
VOCAL UNISON . . .

Contributing to the musical aspect of the school is the Glee club, composed of freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors, and directed by Mrs. Ellis Satterthwaite, music director for Salem schools.

The Glee club has given this group of twenty-four girls a chance to express themselves through music.

The club held practices every Monday and Wednesday evening after school in the high school music room. Grace Pales, a junior, served as piano accompanist for the group.

The club has learned a great variety of numbers—patriotic, popular, classic, and folk music. Among the favorites were the patriotic numbers: "I Hear America Singing" (Peter de Rose), and "Let's Bring New Glory to Old Glory" (Harry Warren). Two favorite marches were "I Love a Parade" (Arlen) and "Cadets on Parade" (Herbert Lowe). A folk song popular among them was "Kentucky Babe" (Adam Geibel).

Helping the club out when it gave performances were eight freshman choir members: Doris Floyd, Loie Barnard, Margaret Cubbage, June Kelly, Janice Sell, Gertrude Zerbs, Marian Simonds, and Pat Cosgrove.

When deeper voices were needed they called upon Tom Williams, sophomore; Lee Sproat and Jack Dusenberry, freshmen; and John Cone, senior. These boys sang with them at most of their public appearances.

Those girls composing the club were Rose Cricosta, Mary Fink, Billie Ann Finley, Joan Hardy, Mary Lou Haessly, Helen Haessly, Pat Cricosta, Margaret Hollinger, Mary Lou Horning, Pat Loutzenhiser, Evelyn Nicholson, Connie Petrucci, Peggy Pritchard, Mary Mae Votaw, Lois Zimmerman, Phyllis Cozad, Janice Frantz, Ina Mae Getz, Marian Messersmith, Joan O'Hara, Mary Catherine Welsh, Lorraine McAfee, Elaine McGhee, and Dorothy Zimmerman.

Through this extra-curricular activity much training and help has been given to the members, and much enjoyment has been given to the student body and faculty.

The summer of 1943 was the first that the band was officially in session during the vacation months. For two weeks before school began, the band held marching rehearsals each evening in preparation for the 1943 football season.

In tryouts for majorettes, held May 5, 1943, five majorettes were chosen, four of whom were freshmen: Billie Ann Finley, Barbara Lane, Jean Redinger, and Joanne Wise; and one junior, Mary Mullins.

Featured by the sixty-five-piece band, at each of the five home games, was the use of florescent lighting, adding more attraction than ever to the always excellent band programs.

Several band members were chosen to represent Salem High in the annual Mount Union Music Festival, held April 28.

Band officers during the year were Dale Wykoff, president, who discontinued his band activities at the mid-year; Bill Hannay, vice-president; Doris Holroyd, secretary; and Inez Jones, librarian.

Thirteen band members graduated in the class of '44. They were Jeanne Bricker, Barbara Butler, Jack Fineran, Ray Greenisen, Kenneth Groner, Bill Hannay, Eugene Hively, Doris Holroyd, Mary Beth King, Mary Jane Sproat, Elizabeth Stewart, and August Juliano, who ended his band activities at the mid-year.

The band finished a brilliant year with the annual Spring concert, held during National Music Week.
The difficulty in arranging schedules for the necessary periods that it requires, and the inability to get many instruments have largely been the causes for many students not being able to participate in the orchestra during the past year.

Even though there has been a drop in its members, the orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Chester M. Brautigam, was able to form a strong nucleus for the music presented at the Junior and Senior Plays, Baccalaureate and Commencement.

The orchestra is composed of the following ten members: Seniors: Martin Juhn, piano; Juniors: Jim Cope, alternates on cello and base; Sophomores: Zada Clark, violin; Ann Helm, piano; Leslie Holloway, Viola; Donna Regal, viola; Freshmen: Louise Bingham, violin; Don Coppock, trumpet; Maurice Crawford, violin.

Lyre-shaped pins are given at the end of each year denoting the number of years’ credit in orchestra. The one-year pin is brass; two-year, silver; three-year, gold; and the fourth year is gold plus a chain and guard.

A few of the members were chosen to represent Salem High school at the annual music festival held at Mount Union College, Alliance, Ohio, April 28.

Mr. Chester M. Brautigam, director of the orchestra, is also director of the band, and teaches English.
TO THESE WE OWE OUR THANKS . . .

Miss Ada Hanna, teaching her first year at Salem High school, took over the directing of cheerleaders during the year. Before coming here she was a gym instructor at Leetonia High school where she also had charge of cheerleaders. Miss Hanna is also the mechanical drawing teacher here.

Since all the last year’s cheerleaders graduated, a new group was chosen. They were Helen Oana, senior; Dolores Poorbaugh, junior, David Linton and Pat Cosgrove, freshmen. Tony Hoover and Paul Englert, seniors, were cheerleaders during football season, after which they discontinued their activities as cheerleaders.

The cheerleaders practiced twice a week and introduced about eight new yells during the year.

Miss Hanna said, "The cheerleaders are primarily to lead the crowd and the crowd can make or break cheerleaders. Co-operation between cheerleaders and the crowd will get needed results. The best cheering results were obtained at the Liverpool pep assembly and Liverpool basketball game because of 'co-operation'."

Officers of the Salem High School Association this year were: Gene Howell, president; Martha Jean Keyes, secretary; Herbert McCave, vice-president; and Jean Dilworth, treasurer.

President Gene Howell reported that in the High school seven hundred persons, or approximately 82% of the student body, purchased association tickets. Three hundred twenty-five tickets were sold in the Junior High school, or 83% of the students.

The association sponsored two assemblies for association members. In the first assembly C. E. Jones talked on the subject of "Tops," demonstrating the workings of the gyroscope. At the second, held March 14, Robert Friers, a foreign correspondent, who writes for the Booth Newspapers, spoke about the North American Continent.
SPORTS IN SALEM HIGH SCHOOL
SEVEN VICTORIES . . . ONE DEFEAT . . .

A RECORD TO BE PROUD OF ...

Ben Barrett, new Salem High football mentor, assisted by Joe Kelley, coached the Salem Quakers to their most successful football season in 10 years. The Quakers rolled up seven impressive victories and suffered only one defeat.

Dick "Knobby" Greene, now in the United States Army, was captain of the team. Greene played outstanding football both offensively and defensively.

Statistics show much better than do the scores that Salem was a very strong team offensively. The Quakers averaged 18 points per game to their opponents' 8. They more than doubled the yards made by their opponents in passing and in rushing.

The Salem Red and Black swamped Sebring 45 to 6 in the opening game of the season.

In the next game, Ravenna got the jump on Salem and scored two touchdowns in the first half. The Quakers came back in the second half and scored 14 points to win the game. Captain Knobby Greene scored the two touchdowns—one on a 52-yard run—and both of the extra points.

The Quakers downed the East Palestine Bull Dogs 19 to 6 in the third game of the season.

Leetonia held Salem to the scoreless tie in the first half, but again the Quakers came back in the second half and won the game, 13 to 0. Frank "Flick" Entriken intercepted a pass and ran 80 yards for one of the touchdowns. This was the longest run of Salem's season.

THREE MONTHS OF PRACTICE . . .

The power of the Quaker squad was shown in the Wellsville game, which was played on the very muddy Wellsville field in the rain. Although the game ended 6 to 2 the Quakers made 11 first downs and held Wellsville to one first down.

Johnny Plegge proved his ability in this game as he stopped a touchdown threat almost single handed.

Over-confidence after the Wellsville game almost cost Salem a defeat when they played Struthers the following week. Struthers scored two touchdowns in the first half but failed to make either conversion. The Red and Black of Salem finally won the game 13 to 12. This was the third game in which the Quakers had remained scoreless during the first half and had come back in the second half to win the game.

Overwhelmed by weight and speed, the Salem Quakers suffered their only defeat of the season at the hands of East Liverpool. The score was tied 6 to 6 in the first quarter, but the Potters pushed across three more touchdowns and made an extra point. The game ended with Salem trailing 25 to 6.

The Quakers completed their successful season by conquering Lisbon 31 to 0 in a one-sided ball game.

Captain “Knobby” Greene and “Flick” led the individual scoring honors with 42 points each. Ray Wise was close behind by scoring six touchdowns for 36 points. Francis Lanney, right end, Fred Cain, left guard, and Louis Juliano, right tackle, received honorable mention on the All-County team.

Nine seniors on the 1943 Salem High football team will be missing from next year’s squad. They are Dick Greene, Frank Entriken, Ray Wise, Ben Kupka, Bob Shea, Fred Cain, “Pete” Davis, Bob Schuster and Tom Ryan. These players will be greatly missed when next year’s football comes along.

Ten lettermen are remaining for next year’s squad. They are Bob Dusenberry, Francis Lanney, Dick Karlis, Walt Brian, Jay Leach, Johnny Plegge, John Mulford, Louis Juliano, Charles Franks and Jim Appedison.

The following words of Coach Ben Barrett give an idea of what may be expected of next year’s Salem High football team: “We will take up next season just where we left off this season and we will do better and better. We will be out to take Liverpool next year right along with the rest of them.”
FOR EIGHT GAMES . . .

NIMBLE FEET AND NIMBLE MINDS . . .

The Quakers did exceptionally well this season, considering the fact that they lost two of their mainstays, Harry Lodge and Dick Greene to the Armed Forces. In 18 contests, the locals won 12 and dropped only six.

Salem was downed in its first tilt at the hands of Ravenna by half a dozen points. The Brownmen then had a three game winning streak by subduing Columbiana, Lisbon, and Minerva respectively. The Alumni proved to be a better team than the Varsity and thus the Salemites lost their second game, and their third loss occurred when they were set back decisively by Canton Lehman. Salem, the following Tuesday, narrowly edged Alliance 36 to 34, only to fall before an aggressive Liverpool quintet, and then again to the Warren Presidents, and once more to a lucky Canton Lincoln five 35-43. Rayen and Alliance proved to be the next two victims of the Quaker machine. The Potters from Liverpool hung another defeat on the Salem passers and the Brownmen went on through the remainder of the schedule by defeating Girard, Canton Lincoln, Wellsville, Struthers and Columbiana. This latter was a benefit game, and all the proceeds went to Donald DeJane. Columbiana had a 14-game winning streak and desired to get back at Salem for the loss they suffered at our hands early in the season.

Lanky Walt Brian proved throughout the entire season, his value to the team by his fine defensive work and his excellent deception in ball handling. Walter led the squad in scoring 210 points in 18 engagements.

Frank Entriken proved his worth to the Red and Black by parting the meshes for 134 markers. Frank was a little late in getting started this year, but in the middle of the season he found his place on the floor and from then on plunked in long shots at random from the quarter marker.

Sophomore Francis Lanney displayed his worth at his guard post and gained a total of 86 points for the season. Lanney has two more years in which he may participate in basketball, and if this year was any indication he will be an outstanding athlete in future years.

Charles Schaeffer, Bill Stoudt, Jim Appedison, and Norm Smith contributed greatly to the Quakers' success as did Louis Juliano, Ben Bruderly and Don Firth, all reserve specialists.
OF THESE WE ARE PROUD . . .

COURTMEN OF TOMORROW . . .

The Quaker reserves this year had a none too impressive season. In 18 starts the underclassmen won eight tilts and lost 10.

Probably the outstanding players were Don Firth, Ben Bruderly, Morris Hollinger, Louie Juliano, and Lowell Myers. It was Firth in the high point department, netting himself 94 points, with Ben Bruderly in the runner-up position, garnering 81 markers.

The Reserves beat Ravenna in the initial tilt 21-14. Columbiana and Lisbon both scored victories at our expense. The next game was undoubtedly the most exciting reserve game of the year. The locals battled the Minervaites in three overtime periods and finally Ben Bruderly sunk a one-handed push shot from well out on the floor. The Freshmen were the next losers at Salem’s hands. Lehman, Alliance and Liverpool all handed the juniors defeats, but the locals came back with an upset, dumping Warren 25-24.

Salem then proceeded on the winning way by subduing Lincoln 24-17. Things then went the wrong way and the Red and Black yielded to Rayen by a one-point margin. Alliance also was victorious the following Tuesday by outplaying the Quakers 29-23. Liverpool then followed suit by overwhelming the locals 37-11. It was a different tune in Girard when the Salem five beat Girard 30-24, and also when they won from Lincoln a week later in their second encounter 38-33.

Hollinger, Myers, Bruderly, Reynolds, Juliano, and Pridon were all stalwart freshman contestants last year. Don Firth rejoined the squad this year after a year’s absence, and his services were very noticeable.

As for the future of the coming reserve squads, the outlook is very bright. The Freshman five this year lost but four games and were defeated by a highly superior All-Star Junior high team, which indicates superior talent on its way to Salem High in 44-45. Good reserve teams indicate good future varsities.
FLYING FEET AND CINDERS . . .

Salem High’s 1943 track team, coached by Ray Overturf, experienced a mediocre season, failing to measure up to the standards of past seasons.

The Quaker squad participated in four dual meets, the annual county meet, and the North Eastern Ohio District meet. Salem won three dual meets and placed second in the county meet.

Salem’s Freshmen-Sophomores competed with the Poland Varsity in a dual meet that ended 72 to 45 in favor of Poland. Although the Quaker Reserves lost their only meet of the season, the experience will be of great help to them in future meets.

The Quaker Varsity opened the season by defeating Louisville 62 1/2 to 55 1/2. The meet was close all the way, but Salem garnered the extra points that were necessary to win the meet. Dunlap and Ferko led the scoring for the Quakers.

The tough Boardman team downed the Salem tracksters 77 to 41. Bob Shea, Charles Dunlap and Duane Thomas won first places in the pole vault, the broad jump and the shot put respectively for Salem.

Winning 12 out of 14 events the Quaker track team swamped Struthers by a score of 81 to 37 in the third game of the season.

In preparation for the county meet the Quakers conquered the Wellsville tracksters 106 1/2 to 11 1/2, May 12.

East Palestine won the annual county track meet May 15, with a total score of 71 2-3 points. The Quakers placed second by scoring 54 2-3 points.

John Hart, Art Hoover, Frank Entriken and Charles Dunlap did the scoring for Salem in the district meet.

Frank Entriken, Ed Ferko, John Hart, Art Hoover, John Taflan, Fred Krauss, Charles Dunlap, Bob Shea, Dick Greene, Duane Thomas, Walter Krauss, Dan Kleon, Walt Brian, Gerald Bingham and Francis Lanney were the mainstays on the 1943 Salem High track team.
Coach Paul Dodez’s Salem High Freshmen basketball squad finished the season with a successful record of 9 wins and 4 defeats.

The Quakers conquered the Beloit, Alliance and Boardman freshmen teams two times during the season in home-to-home series. Lisbon, East Palestine and Sebring split victories with the Salem freshmen in home-to-home series by winning one game and losing the other.

John Oana led the team scoring with 28 field goals and 8 fouls making a total of 64 points for the season. “Tony” Martinelli finished the season with 103 points to his credit.

Although they suffered defeats in every game, the Salem High Junior Varsity, coached by Paul Dodez, completed a successful season since they gained valuable playing experience.

The Quaker Junior Varsity lost to the Alliance Junior Varsity by a score of 24 to 0. In a return game with Alliance the Jay Vees were again defeated 6 to 0 in a much closer battle. Scrimmages were held with East Palestine, and the Salem Buckeyes, since transportation difficulties made it almost impossible for the Quakers to do much traveling.

With the turning of leaves in the fall of '43, students of Salem High school started anew another year of studies.

Gradually they accustomed themselves to the regularity and order of a school day, and soon the rooms and corridors of Salem High school were humming with activity. Preparations were being made for a successful football season. Coach Ben Barrett, newcomer to Salem High school, trained his boys well, and daily practice became a part of their regular routine. Dick Greene, a senior (now serving in the armed forces) captured these boys, and found it a position he could well handle.

The familiar Friday night scene at Reilly stadium is one long to be remembered by alumni of Salem High school.

As the season wore on, Halloween, that Freshman reckoning day, came 'round. Woebegone looks and slight limps labeled the initiants. Hayrides and weiner roasts were popular these crisp autumn nights.

Preceding the Thanksgiving holiday, the seniors presented their class play to record-breaking crowds. The constant rehearsal, loss of sleep and taut nerves (which are the lot of a play cast) were all put into the background and forgotten on the memorable opening night.

On into December, the time flew. The Junior-Senior party was held on December 3, followed by the underclass party a week later.

As the Christmas holiday drew near, a slight "flu" epidemic was in progress, necessitating an earlier closing of school for the holidays. The Christmas spirit was also infectious bestowing gaiety and good cheer.

The annual Band Dance, Christmas Party and New Year’s Eve contributed items to many a memory book.

February, following closely on the heels of the first semester, saw the close of a highly successful basketball season. The nimble feet and minds of our team were major factors in our victorious sessions. Coach Herb Brown, torn between his duties as geometry teacher and basketball coach, did a fine job of both.

Another holiday was called, February 21 and 22, honoring the birthday of George Washington. By then, seniors were ordering commencement announcements and juniors had put in bids for their class rings.

March 30-31 the juniors presented their first production "Brother Goose," which was well-worth their efforts. Miss Winifred Ospeck, new to dramatics at Salem High school this year, had charge of this play as she did the senior play.

Spring vacation and another breathing space. Over too soon for some, not quickly enough for others. Several more senior boys in the armed services, depleting again the already fast-dwindling stock of males.

At last the fateful day arrived. With the close of school many left its portals for the last time, sallying forth into a new world. Yet it was not with regret that they looked back on their high school days, but rather with pride and affection for old friends.

When a man undertakes his 94th year the reporters are apt to be doing something about it. When a commercial business, in the hands of one family for 93 years, is at work on the 94th, that, too, means something. In the year 1850 Joel MacMillan opened a book shop on the spot where generations of students in the Salem schools have since purchased their textbooks and supplies. We give you our thanks for pleasant relations past...pledge you our best service for the days ahead.

Capital should recognize labor. Even when the latter is dressed in expensive clothes while riding in a luxurious limousine, behind an ex-millionaire chauffeur.

Imagine the satisfaction a man feels after receiving a magnificent check for a day’s work. But imagine the thrill when the bank tells him it’s good.

No man has the right to complain if he goes through life half asleep. He shouldn’t expect something for nodding.

Never for one minute question your boss’ judgment. Don’t forget that it was he who decided to hire you.

An internationally famous screen actress says she has found love. If owner will call and identify, he may claim both.

A great stage mimic was just granted a splendid radio contract. His sponsor, the gum manufacturer, stipulates that he is to provide his own sound effects.

Too bad that hate and greed cannot be matched to engage in a death struggle. If the worst one lost, we would be rid of both.

The average boy would like nothing better than to jump into his father's shoes. Providing they would then automatically lace themselves.

A dairyman used a tooth brush on his cow's teeth and she gave dental cream.

Fleas always know their children will go to the dogs.

A customer at a Greek restaurant said he could not eat this ox-tail soup for the tail was still wagging. The Greek said: "Our ox-tails come from contented oxen."

Two Irishmen sleeping together had their heads covered up to keep the mosquitoes away. One peeped out and saw a lightning bug, and said: "Pat, theres no use, these mosquitoes are looking for us with a lantern."

A Jew was praying to God to send him a million dollars. A friend of Ikie came along and heard him praying and said: “Get up from there! God is not going to send you a million dollars.” Ikie said: “Well, why don’t he make me a proposition?”

A man walking down the street had a medal. A friend met him and said: “What are you doing with that medal on?” He replied: “I am a hero, I saved a girl.” “How did you save a girl?” “Last night I had two girls and saved one of them for tonight.”

Thousands of boys and girls, young men and women are graduating in schools all over the country. Some look forward to more education—some will take up tools—others start careers and professions. Each is turning a page of the Book of Life... what will be written on the page?

May you be a living tribute to your Alma Mater by perpetuating her aims and with confidence in the future, with faith in our destiny, let us “keep ‘em flying” to preserve the rich heritage that is ours.
