To You . . .

One of the greatest pleasures in publishing a yearbook is choosing a dedicatee, a person who by hard work, cooperation and friendliness has won over the student body so completely that she is one of everybody's favorite teachers.

This year the dedication of the Quaker is to such a person, one who, through years of cooperating with Salem High students, has been placed on everyone's list of favorites. With grace, quiet charm and hard work, she has made for the school something to be really proud of—a complete, pleasant library.

Because of these many achievements, it is with great pleasure that we dedicate the 1945 Quaker Annual to our high school librarian, Miss Lois Lehman.

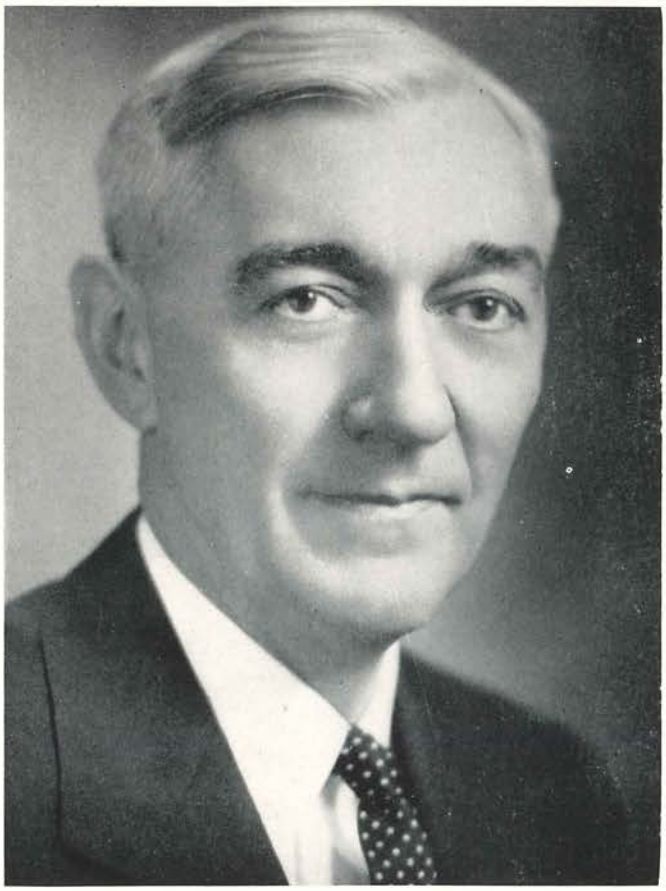
School Day Memories Remain Throughout Our Lives

The Directors . . .



E. S. Kerr

Superintendent of Schools

Planning for and coordinating the activities of the Salem public schools is the task of Superintendent E. S. Kerr. In spite of the inroads the war has made, he has kept the schools running at maximum efficiency throughout the year.

The schools' present policies as well as plans for the future are worked out under Mr. Kerr's leadership. Largely due to his unceasing work for a better school system are the new and modernized courses of study in Salem High and the progressive program put into operation in the elementary schools.

Seemingly unaware of the prodigious task already performed, Mr. Kerr is striving constantly to improve the schools in as many ways as possible. The excellence of the Salem school system stands as a high tribute to the magnificent job he has done.

With a Well Written Script

B. G. Ludwig
Principal

Behind the planning of the curriculum of Salem High School is Principal Beman G. Ludwig. It is he who plans the daily routine for high school pupils.

Aside from his duties in connection with regular school day courses, he makes provisions for assemblies, gathers material for outside organizations needing information concerning persons who have formerly attended Salem High, and cooperates in full with the students, listening carefully to their requests and giving advice to them whenever it is needed.

It is Mr. Ludwig who encourages the extra-curricular activities of the school which include, among others, the club programs and interscholastic athletics.

The job of coordinating school activities efficiently is one for which, generally speaking, little credit is given. However, because of his friendly nature and careful planning, Mr. Ludwig has helped to give Salem High School the high scholastic rating it has today. He has, along with this, gained the admiration of both teachers and students.

You Have Directed our Education

Mr. Loren D. Early, who took over the position of dean of boys this year, has been successful in obtaining positions for boys and in advising them concerning all problems they bring him.

In September, when school opened, students missed the friendly face of Miss Ala Zimmerman, dean of girls. Being unable to be here for the opening of school, she returned at the beginning of the second semester to resume her duties.

Determining the policy of the entire Salem School system is the Board of Education , a group composed of prominent citizens elected by the people of Salem. In addition to approving educational practices in operation, it is they who take care of the physical needs of the school and provide for the educational facilities available to the Salem boys and girls.

Because of the Board's work, Salem schools have well equipped classrooms, up-to-date textbooks, and the best teachers available, and a very high rating.

Serving as president of the board for this year is A. Earl Beardmore. John T. Burns is vice-president. Other members of the board are George W. Baillie, George P. Lozier and Frederick P. Mullins. George F. Koontz is clerk to the board.

Act I

A Nose for News . . .

First row: Scullion, Haessly, C. Kelley, F. Sharp, Crawford, Jensen; Second row: J. Sharp, Walken, Campbell, Schmid, Baltorinic, Juergens, J. Kelley. Third row: Yeagley, Mulford, Hoskinson, Keener, Cibula, Mr. Lehman.

Behind the headlines of the Quaker, Salem High School weekly publication, was a staff of journalistically minded students, each covering his beat and writing up his story in order to make a Quaker full of news.

Heading the staff for this year was senior Jim Kelley. He was appointed to the position of editor after serving on the staff for three years, having been managing editor his junior year. Serving as his assistant was Harvey Walken, junior, who had been on the staff two years previously.

On the staff for the year were seniors, Sally Campbell, Betty Cibula, Jackie Jensen, Pat Keener, Helen Haessly, Mollie Schmid and Gyla Stern; juniors, Ruth Baltorinic, Jo Ann Juergens, Duane Yeagley, and Walter Ibele; sophomores, Gertrude Zerbs and Donna Ward; and freshmen, Carol Kelley and Frankie Sharp. Serving as proofreaders were senior, June Hoskinson, and junior, Cathie Scullion. Typists for the staff were Inez Jones, Gertrude Hermann, Lorna Helmick, Jean Hunter, Lois Johnston and Dorothy Kekel. Staff photographers were Munson Thorpe and Duane Yeagley.

Along with putting out the weekly, the staff attended meetings of the Tri-County Journalism Association. At one meeting Jim Kelley was among a group of student editors who discussed their papers, while at a meeting where round-table discussions were held, he presided at a sports meeting.

Kelley also headed the annual editorial staff, of which Pat Keener, senior, was assistant editor. Work began on the annual early in November, ending with the issue of the yearbook in May. Composing the staff were seniors, Sally Campbell, Betty Cibula, Jackie Jensen and Mollie Schmid; juniors, Ruth Baltorinic, Jo Ann Juergens, Duane Yeagley, Harvey Walken, Hermine Maroscher and Ginny Baillie; and freshman, Carol Kelley.

From the Business Angle . . .

Making the Quaker pay this season was the goal of the Quaker business staff headed by senior Chris Paparodis. Chris, who has been manager for two years, has increased the number of ads over last year, having an average of more than seventy column inches of advertisements every week.

Members of the '45 weekly staff were Fred Gaunt, Bob Musser, Rose Ciricosta, Virginia Jugastru, Enes Equize, Janet Robinson, Ted Sabona and David Messersmith. The staff for the annual, also headed by Chris, was made up of Virginia Baillie, Martha Brian, Lowell Hoprich and Bill Vignovich.

Without the business staff the Salem High School Quaker could not be published.

It is their duty to solicit Salem manufacturers and merchants and to put the Quaker on a sound financial basis.

The staff appeared at all journalism conventions of Tri-County schools during the year. These conventions, started in 1938, are for the purpose of helping school publications understand the problems of their own and other papers. Mr. Hilgendorf, business advisor of the staff, was president of the convention for the school year 1944-45.

Resolved That . . .

First row: Kupka, Zeller; Second row: Burrier, Pierce, Yeagley, Mr. Guiler.

The Salem High School Debate Squad, coached by J. C. Guiler, debating the topic "Resolved: The Legal Voting Age Should Be Reduced to 18 Years" finished a successful season.

The Salem team of this year was composed of Virginia Burrier and Irene Kupka, affirmative speakers; Marjory Zeller and Duane Yeagley, negative speakers, and Ray Pierce, alternate. Of these members Virginia Burrier and Ray Pierce were freshmen; Irene Kupka and Duane Yeagley, juniors; and Marjory Zeller, a senior. Marjory Zeller and Duane Yeagley were the only debaters returning from the 1943-44 squad.

Although the team's early season practice was somewhat curtailed by bad road and weather conditions and by lack of transportation facilities, the squad did engage the Niles and Youngstown Rayen teams in practice contests.

The team, this year, entered the Ravenna District of the Ohio State Speech League and attended the District Tournament Contest which was held at Ravenna High School on February 10. The teams which participated in the Ravenna Tournament were Salem, Ravenna, Wadsworth and Cleveland Fairview. From these teams, the winner goes directly to the State Debate Finals held in Columbus. The Salem team had not entered the League last season.

Due to the fact that the squad included only one senior, Mr. Guiler has high hopes for a successful season next year.

Mr. J. C. Guiler, coach of the squad, also is an instructor of American government and international relations at Salem High School.

Viva La France . . .

"Le Ceircle Francais" started its year with the election of officers and the appointment of committees for the year. Elected to the prexy position was Ruth Baltorinic, junior, while Jim Cope, senior, was chosen to serve as vice-president and Martha Brian, junior, as secretary-treasurer. Advisor for the group is Miss Evelyn Johnston, French teacher.

Planning the social events for the club was the social committee of which Sally Campbell, senior, was chairman. Members of the committee were seniors, Phyllis Gross and Mary Louise Mason. A party, held in May, was the main feature of the social season of the club.

Planning the programs for each meeting of the year was a program committee. For the first semester it was composed of Gertrude Wilms, junior, who served as chairman; June Hoskinson and Bill Vignovich, seniors. For the second semester the committee was made up of Frances Vaughan and Phyllis Gross, seniors; and Martha Brian, junior.

Improvement of spoken French was the main project of the club members. Improvement was attained through games played at each meeting and conversations held at the meetings. It was decided by the club to hold meetings every two weeks, instead of every week during the second semester.

During the year two new members were added to the club roster, those being Betty Gibbs, who re-entered Salem High School at the semester from New York and Frances Vaughan, who returned to Salem from Cleveland.

First row: Mason, Luffey, Driscoll, Wilms, Sechler, Gross, Campbell; Second row: Miss Johnston, Hoskinson, Vignovich, Cope, Brian, Baltorinic.

Girls in the Field of Sport . . .

Like most other clubs which hold meetings after school, the Girls' Athletic Association has fallen down in membership due mostly to the fact that many students are working after school. Those who can still play after school derive enjoyment and much-needed exercise from the seasonal sports.

Any girl may join the G. A. A. who has a C average or above in her school work, earns 100 points, and who is interested in sports. When a girl earns one thousand points, she receives her letter. By earning three hundred additional points, she receives her year numerals.

If a girl plays in two-thirds of all games played, she receives her points. Thus, if she plays in six out of nine games of volley ball, she receives fifty points. In the same way, kickball is worth fifty points; basketball, one hundred points; and baseball, one hundred points. She may also earn extra points outside of school, through hiking and skating. Hiking is worth one point per mile, and for 24½ hours of skating, a girl will earn fifty points. To retain membership in the club each year, each girl must earn 250 or more points.

Officers for the past year, who were elected at the May, 1944, meeting, were: President, Helen Louise Rinehart; vice-president, Betty Astry; secretary, Helen Cosgarea; and treasurer, June Pasco.

The sports leaders take charge of the various sports, seeing that games are scheduled and attendance checked. The sports leaders were: Kickball, Marjorie Forney; volleyball, Evelyn Heim; basketball, Betty Cosgarea; and baseball, Beverly Burkman.

Those receiving their letters this year were Helen Iagulli, Juanita Whaley, Lorna Helmick and Phyllis Safreed.

Betty Astry and Helen Rinehart received their year numerals.

The members of the G. A. A. enjoyed a covered dish dinner in November. Initiation for new members was held in February, and a picnic was given at the Country Club in May.

Music Hath Charms . . .

Under the direction of Mrs. Ellis Satterthwaite, supervisor of music in the Salem school, the Girls' Glee Club has been meeting and practicing every week in order to present good programs when they appear before the public.

During the past year the club, practicing every Monday after school in the music room, has been studying for the main part musical selections from comedies and light opera.

The club first appeared with the orchestra in an assembly where it, along with other students who volunteered to help, made up a chorus of voices and sang "America, My Wondrous Land."

Several members of the club took part in the Mount Union College Music Festival held at Alliance, Ohio, during National Music Week. In this, members were a part of a choir which sang several numbers along with the combined orchestra and band members from the district.

Graduating from high school this year are seniors, Mae Bova, Phyllis Cozad, Mary Fink, Janice Frantz, Pearl Lubert, Phyllis Safreed, Dorothy Zimmerman and Lois Zimmerman.

Returning next year to compose part of the club are juniors, Esther Jean Mayhew, Bueda McCammon, Peggy Pritchard and Mary Mae Votaw; sophomores, Doris Floyd, Nancy Lesick, and Betty Zimmerman, and freshmen, Margaret Cubbage, Jean Flick, Donna Lou Getz, Marjorie Hanna, Norma Hanna, Faye Hilliard, Lucy Huston, Patricia Keyes, Dolores Laird, Mary Jane Lesick, Donna Roessler, Vivian Safreed, Gloria Vincent, and Patricia Yingling.

Character development is the main purpose of the Hi Tri, an aim which is put forth in the motto adopted by the club Hi Tri means strength, the strength of will, of hope, of purpose, of truth, and of love. In the Hi Tri creed is expressed a pledge of Loyalty to the higher things in life.

The calendar for the year was as follows:

October 23: The intiation ceremonies were held in the gym. Thirty-seven new members were taken in, bringing the total membership to seventy. At this time two new advisors were received to aid Miss Helen Thorp. They were Miss Claribel Bickle and Mrs. Jean Singer.

November 21: A Thanksgiving play was presented to the club by a group of members. The play was written by the program committee.

December 20: The Christmas assembly was given to the student body. The Hi Tri chorus sang carols, and Betty Cibula and Sue Henning gave a playlet. Lela Abblett was Santa for the day.

January 18: A travelog was given by Miss Thorp, and colored slides of the western states were shown.

March: A book report by Miss Irene Weeks was given to the club. The girls held a style show, which featured new styles and colors.

April: With spring here the programs for the month of April had to do with sports. Another feature of April was the election of officers.

May: The annual Mother-Daughter tea was given this month by the girls for their mothers.

The officers during the past year were as follows: President, Vivian Stowe; Vice President, Shirley Mangus; Secretary, Betty Cibula; and Treasurer, Janet Crawford.

Solidatas Latina . . .

To familiarize those pupils taking courses in Latin, a club, Solidatas Latina, was organized with the Latin teacher as advisor. When the year began, this club, under the supervision of Miss Helen Redinger, included eighteen members: Loie Barnard, Carolyn Butcher, Anne Dugas, Enes Equize, Doris Floyd, Joan Hannay, Virginia Jugastru, Joyce Lowry, Florence Mawhinney, Beuda McCammon, Janet Robinson, Gene Shafer, Marilyn Schaefer, Kenneth Smith, Shirley Smith, Joey Works and Betty McBane.

Early in the school year officers were elected, Gene Shafer becoming president; Marilyn Schaefer, vice-president; and Shirley Smith, secretary-treasurer.

Near the start of the second semester all Latin pupils not already in the club who received at least "B" averages for the semester were invited to join the club. They are Betty Anderson, Miriam Bauman, Odessa Bohner, Virginia Burrier, Nancy Callahan, Joy Chessman, Pat Collins, Margaret Cubbage, Marguerite Fultz, Donna Lou Getz, Marjorie Hanna, Norma Hanna, Franklin Henderson, Sally Hurlburt, Carol Kelley, Mary Lippiatt, Ruth Mangus, Ruth Marino, Virginia Mick, Patricia Murphy, Ray Pierce, Nancy Probst, Shirley Sarbin, Royal Schiller, Frankie Sharp, Nancy Stamp, Dolores Stratton, Frank Tarr, Lee Tolerton, Nancy Trebilcock, Elizabeth Volpe, Sally Lou Zeigler and Rita Zeller.

The aim of the club is to familiarize the Latin pupils with the customs and ideals of ancient Rome. Under discussion were topics concerning the Roman senators, religion, warfare, games, and studies. The entire history of that ancient city of the seven hills beside the Tiber was reviewed during the year.

Keepers of the Books . . .

For a jollie goode Booke wheron to looke is better to me than Golde.
—John Wilson.

A quiet room, flowers on the desk, a POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, a classmate across the table—and Bill settles down for forty delightful minutes in the library. When he finishes the magazine, a helpful student librarian or Miss Lehman, who is the school librarian, helps him choose a Howard Pease mystery thriller for a book report.

Jane finds the magazines on the rack very interesting for a "blue Monday." TIME, HYGEIA, SCHOLASTIC, and many of the forty other magazines subscribed to by the library have proved to be valuable aids and supplements to her various assignments. Besides, the clothing teacher wants her to read the new teen-age magazine, SEVENTEEN.

Joe comes in for material on "Compulsory Military Training." He is surprised to find so many magazine articles listed in the READERS' GUIDE, and that the student librarian is able to show him how to use it.

Bob needs some material for a psychology assignment on an outstanding personality. CURRENT BIOGRAPHY, WHO'S WHO and WEBSTER'S BIOGRAPHICAL DICTIONARY solve his problem.

Louise and Betty settle an English class argument over the pronunciation of "secretive" when Miss Thorp points out that WEBSTER'S INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY, unabridged, is the best and latest authority.

There is little time left until the end of the period, but pupils from the foods class manage to find several games in THE BIG FUN BOOK (fine arts section)

The bell rings. Bill, Jane, Joe, Bob, Louise and Betty go to their respective classes knowing they can finish their library assignments another day soon, for they are assigned two library periods per week.

Graduating this year are Betty Cibula, Phyllis Cozad and Esther Freet.

SHS Mathematicians . . .

To start out the year, the Slide Rule Club was divided into two sections, which alternated meetings each week. Each section elected its own officers. For the first division, Ben Bruderly was elected president; Walter Ibele, vice-president; and Ruth Baltorinic, secretary-treasurer. In the second division, the election went to Frank Carloss, president; Tom Williams, vice-president; and Sammae Lockhart, secretary-treasurer.

Before many meetings were held, the members decided to have joint meetings once a month as social meetings for the two clubs.

As one of their first activities, a Christmas party was held on December 13 in the library with records and games providing entertainment. Refreshments were served.

Various committees were set up for the party. On the entertainment committe were Marty Brian, chairman; Bob Little, Betty Cibula and Don Chappell.

Frank Carloss and Danny Smith made up the refreshment committee, while Harvey Walken, chairman; Duane Yeagley, Sara Serbanta, and Joanne Butler were on the clean-up committee.

By January, the club was well enough settled, with some members dropping out, that a plan for the combining of the two clubs was formulated. When this plan came into functioning, new officers were elected, the club meeting once every week.

The new officers were president, Frank Carloss; vice-president, Walter Ibele; and secretary-treasurer, Ruth Baltorinic.

At some of the meetings, when drill on the use of the slide rule was held, Miss McCready gave prizes to members for correct answers.

A constitution was set up for the club at the beginning of the year, this set of laws governing members' actions.

Loyal Troopers . . .

When President Ernest Ware called the first Thespian meeting of Troupe 358 to order early this September, he found nine senior members, Vice-president Mary Lou Mason; Secretary-treasurer Jackie Jensen; Sally Campbell, Betty Cibula, Joan Combs, Jimmy Cope, Pat Keener and Dolores Poorbaugh — facing him. Although the membership of the club was small, a vigorous and extensive program was planned. The club decided once more to supervise a series of four one-act plays to be enacted by non-Thespians and to present an all-Thespian cast play in order to further high school interest in dramatics. Each of the members was assigned a subject, dealing with a phase of dramatic work, that he was to present to the club in a report. In order to observe acting techniques the club decided to attend stage show performances starring professional actors.

The senior class play was started in October and of a cast of 13, six were senior Thespians.

In December, Mary Lou Mason and Jimmy Cope began casting their one-act play, "Christmas Trimmings." This featured junior and senior students. Its first performance was at the annual Christmas assembly, December 21.

In January the first intiation was held bringing in as members nine seniors and one junior. The new members were Estelle Callatone, Lowell Hoprich, Inez Jones, Jim Kelley, Lou Jean McDevitt, Bill Vignovich, Jeanne Walsh, Juanita Whaley, Ray Wilson and junior, Mary Catherine Scullion.

Early in February, casting for "Murders of Miriam," directed by Betty Cibula and Jackie Jensen, was held. This play featured senior, junior and sophomore students.

In March, Joan Combs, Ernest Ware and Dolores Poorbaugh held try-outs for "The Wallflower Cuts In,"

In April Pat Keener and Sally Campbell cast their play, "The Early Worm."

Also in April was the all-Thespian play, "The Bracelet of Doom."

First row: Campbell, Poorbaugh, Mason, Combs, Miss Ospeck. Second row: Ware, Cibula, Keener, Cope.

The Best In Athletics . . .

This year marks the ninth year of existence of the Salem High School Varsity S Club. This club, whose goals are to liven school spirit, develop keen sportsmanship, and provide recreation for its members, is one of the most active honorary organizations in the high school.

Membership in the club may be attained only after a Varsity letter has been won. Although the membership is rather small, all who belong are the best in their field of sports.

Early in the year officers were elected, Jay Leach, senior, being chosen president. Charlie Franks, senior, held the post of vice-president, while Francis Lanney, junior, was treasurer, and Charles Schaeffer, senior, served as secretary.

Letter winners of last year's track team and of the 1944 football squad underwent the traditional initiation late in November. The seventeen new members this year were Dick Gottschling, Dick Falk, Dan Smith, George Vavrek, Lowell Myers, Don Chappell, Ernest Kornbau, Dick Baughman, Dan Sanor, Bill Ward, Bob Boone, Chet Lucas, Bill Vignovich, Jack Crawford, Earl Helman, Morris Hollinger and Don Raymond.

During the year, five lettermen were lost to the United States armed forces, all of whom entered the Navy; they are president, Jay Leach; vice-president, Charles Franks; Don Raymond, Dan Sanor and John Pozniko.

Furnishing S. H. S. With

Sixty-eight pieces composed the band, which began a year of hard work in the summer of 1944. Weekly practices were held during June and July; and in the middle of August, marching rehearsals with drill practices for the seven home football games were begun at Reilly Field.

A new theme and an entirely different performance was planned for each home game, the flourescent lights being used for all these performances. The band attended no out of town football games this year because of transportation problems.

Drum major for the year was Tom Williams, junior, who was supported by five drum majorettes. Three of the four majorettes who are sophomores have been with the band for two years. They are Barbara Lane, Jean Redinger and Billie Ann Finley. Mary Lou Haessly, also a sophomore, put in her first appearances this year. The only freshman was Joy Chessman.

Band officers for the year were Jay Hanna, president; Bob Ellyson, vice-president; Grace Pales, secretary-treasurer; Inez Jones and Gloria Hannay, librarians. Jay Hanna and Tom Williams were Student Director and Assistant Student Director, respectively.

Several band members left during the school year, Jay Hanna going to Mount Union College, and Lowell Hoprich, Russell Graber and Bob Ellyson going into the armed forces.

Seniors who graduated this year were

A High Morale . . .

Lela Abblett, Donna Beiling, Calvin Critchfield, Bob Ellyson, Russell Graber, Fred Groner, Phyllis Gross, Jay Hanna, Louise Hanna, Lowell Hoprich, Inez Jones, Marilyn Laird, Virginia Mick, Jeanne Moore, Ruth Swaney, Grace Pales, Gladys Reeder, Marjorie Reeves, Jeanne Walsh, and Marjorie Zeller.

Several band members were chosen to represent Salem High in the annual Mount Union Music Festival, held April 27.

The annual Spring Band Concert officially opened National Music Week festivities in Salem. The concert featured a chorus of eighty voices which joined with the band in presenting as a grand finale, "America, My Wondrous Land" and "Voice of Freedom."

During the year, the Band Mothers organization sponsored a drive to raise money for new band uniforms. Among their projects was a dance given by them assisted by the Polo Club, the proceeds of which went to the uniform fund. Local business and manufacturing concerns were contacted in an effort to reach a set goal of $3,900. The goal was surpassed by $300. Several uniform manufacturers were contacted by local dealers, but in most cases material for new uniforms would not be available until late spring due to government freezing of cloth production for civilian use.

The band, one of the most active of the Salem High organizations, is a great credit to the school and something of which the students can be truly proud.

Music Masters . . .

First row: D. Laird, Crawford, Regal, Clark, Mason, Getz Walsh. Second row: Helm, Cocca, M. Laird, Moore, R. Zeller, M. Zeller, Cope, Messersmith; Third row: Abblett, Swaney, Groner, Ellyson, Cope, Hanna, Bingham, Mr. Brautigam.

Furnishing strains of music for Salem High is the orchestra composed of twenty-four high school musicians. This organization, directed by Chester M. Brautigam, is rather small due to the difficulty of arranging schedules, but despite this it was capably trained and played well throughout the year.

Seniors who will not be supporting the orchestra next year are Lela Abblett, Lucy Cocca, Jim Cope, Bob Ellyson, Fred Groner, Louise Hanna, Stella Kot, Marilyn Laird, Mary Lou Mason, Jeanne Moore, Ruth Swaney, Jeanne Walsh, Marjorie Reeves and Marjorie Zeller.

The other members were juniors, Zada Clarke, Margaret Cope, Maurice Crawford, Ann Helm and Donna Regal; sophomore, Louise Bingham; and freshmen, Robert Bingham, Donna Lou Getz and Dolores Laird.

The orchestra has been furnishing musical interludes for assemblies, as well as playing between acts for the class plays. It also played at the baccalaureate service and at commencement exercises. The orchestra also offered a musical assembly February 21, at which time it presented along with several other orchestrations "America, My Wondrous Land", in which it was assisted by a chorus of 57 voices made up of the Glee Club and others who volunteered to help in the chorus.

This group has done well during the year, and has made Salem High School students view it with pride.

One in particular, the drowned fisherman, Simon Gore. Ginger pooh poohs the idea! She put the ad in the paper to procure someone to imitate a zombie so as to fool Professor DeVallan, mystic, and cure Granny Kate of her voodoo beliefs. Professor and his mysterious assistant, Madame Zolga, arrive to hunt zombies and "fat spiders in slimy caves."

Professor and Madame are the F. B. I. agents. Hatcher tries to escape and is captured by Hugo and Sheriff Bradshaw who is found in the tunnel. The Coast Guard arrives and all is well.

Six Wins, Three Losses . . .

First row: Bush, Juliano, Plegge, Vavrek, Appedisan, Mulford, Brian; Second row: Leach; Third row: Kelly, Franks, Lanney.

Salem High's 1944 football team experienced a successful season of six victories and three defeats. Quaker players saw their first action in the opening game with Sebring. The locals outclassed the Trojans and won the contest 24 to 2. Francis Lanney led the victors in scoring two touchdowns, one of which was made on a 40-yard dash.

Traveling to Ravenna, the Red and Black met a deceptive T formation and a dangerous passing attack. Salem tallied twice in the second quarter and again in the third to come out on top 20 to 6.

Salem chalked up victory number three by downing the East Palestine Bulldogs 20 to 6 in a hard-fought contest. Charles Franks set the Quaker pace with 165 yards gained in 21 ball-carrying attempts.

Inspired Leetonians trimmed the over-confident Salem High footballers 7 to 6 before approximately 7,500 spectators. The home team made twice as many first downs as the Bears and gained almost 60 more yards, but failed to make enough points.

After failing to score for more than three quarters, the Quakers broke into the lead and defeated Wellsville 12 to 6.

Struthers upset the Salemites 6 to 2 in the wettest game of the season. Both teams had several breaks during he game, but the Quaker Red and Black couldn't make good use of its opportunities.

Sparked by Jay Leach, the Barrettmen trampled Girard 20 to 6 at Girard. The Redskins scored early in the first period, but Salem High came back to score on its first offensive play. They added two more six-pointers in the next two periods to win the fray.

A Successful Season . . .

The largest crowd of the season saw East Liverpool outplay the Red and Black to the tune of 20 to 0. The Potters made all 20 points in the second quarter, but failed to get the ball across to score in the last half.

Final touches were put on the Quaker High football season when the locals won over the spirited Lisbonites 20 to 7.

Most of the scores during the season were comparatively low. Salem averaged 13 points per game compared to the opponents' 7 point average.

The locals averaged 12 first downs and 221 yards gained against the opponents' 7 first downs and 137 yards gained per game. Passing was the only field in which the Salemites fell slightly behind. On passes completed they gained 274 yards which averages 12 yards per throw, while the opponents garnered 336 yards at an average of 12½ yards per pass. The Red and Black completed 26 percent and the opposition made good 27 per cent.

Left halfback Francis Lanney and full back Jay Leach led in the scoring honors with 33 and 32 points, respectively. Walt Brian, captain of the 1944 team, was third among the high scorers with a 20-point total.

Four Salem players won berths on the mythical All-County Team for their outstanding performances during the season. John Plegge, dependable right guard, and Louis Juliano, charging right tackle, took places on the first eleven. Jim Appedisan and Walt Brian made the second team at right guard and left end respectively.

Recognition also should be given to Coach Ben Barrett and Assistant Coach Joe Kelley for their untiring effort to train Salem High football players.

Salem Roundballers . . .

Salem Varsity basketball had one of the best seasons in many years during the 1944-45 campaign. The Quakers won 15 of 18 scheduled games and reached the semi-finals of the Northeastern Ohio District tournament.

In the regular contests Salem High scored 910 points for an average of 50 points a game. They limited their opponents to 612 markers, which is equal to 34 tallies per encounter. Dumping in 165 free throws out of 310, the Red and Black had a good foul average of 53%.

Opening the 18-game schedule, the Quakers defeated the scrappy Ravenna Ravens, 46 to 22. After three quarters of close ball play, Salem arched in 22 markers for a substantial lead. Columbiana, the state class "B" runner-up, downed the home team 40 to 39 in one of the closest fought battles of the season.

From here the Millermen went on a six-game winning spree. First they took Minerva and Lisbon 55 to 21 and 38 to 20 respectively. Canton Lehman was Salem's next victim to the tune of 61 to 47 and then the High School Alumni 37 to 25. The highly spirited Alliance Aviators failed to stop Salem from winning 37 to 28. The Quaker basketeers reached the peak of their winning streak as they overran the East Liverpool Potters 37 to 30.

Fast and Sure

Meeting Warren Harding on an off night, the locals suffered their worst defeat by the score of 43 to 28.

Youngstown Rayen bowed to the Salem Varsity 54 to 40 before very few fans at Rayen. Back on the winning road, Salem High trimmed Akron Kenmore 68 to 58 in the highest scoring game of the year. Walt Brian led the Quakers to their second victory over Alliance, 68 to 21, as he garnered 34 markers for a new Salem High record.

Coming from behind in the third quarter, East Liverpool managed to get revenge for their earlier loss by overcoming the Red and Black 42 to 40. The deciding goal went through the cords with only 20 seconds of playing time remaining.

Triumph number eleven came when the Millerites trampled Girard 54 to 43. Improving their style, Salem swamped Canton Lincoln 57 to 29 and then traveled to Wellsville to conquer the Bengals 53 to 27.

A twenty-seven point blast in the third period made possible the Quakers' 64 to 33 conquest over Struthers. A 48 to 39 defeat of Sebring put the final to the 1944-45 schedule.

In the tournament play at the Youngstown South Field House, Salem High outscored Struthers in the first round 50 to 28 and smothered Girard 57 to 22. In the second round Boardman ruined the Quakers' chances for a trip to Kent, as they displayed uncanny shooting ability to come out in front 53 to 49.

Walt Brian took high scoring honors with 127 field goals and 62 gift throws for a total of 316 markers. For his scoring ability, his fine ball handling and defensive work Walt Brian received a berth on the All-State third team at guard position.

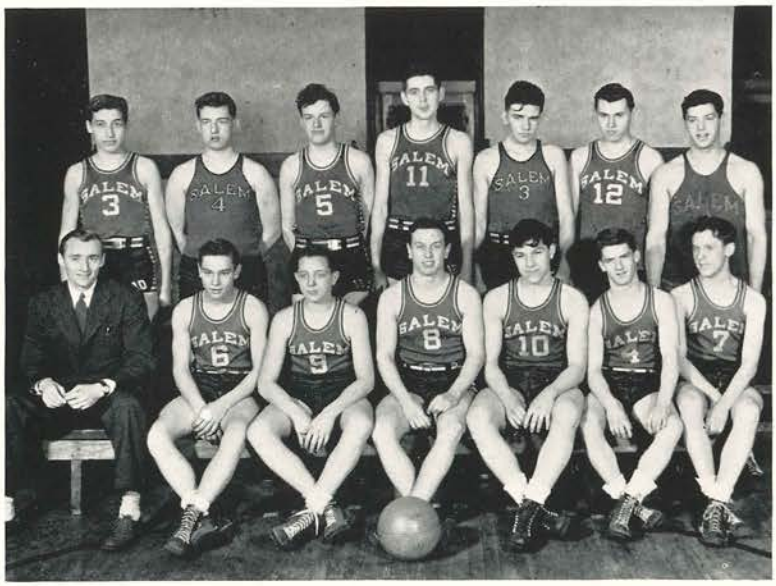
They Back Up the Team . . .



First row: Coach Robert Miller, Laughlin, Ware, Oana, Martinelli, Roth, Hahn; Second row: Pridon, Bush, Myers, Pager, Dressel, Sobek, Juliano.

Like the Salem High varsity, the Quaker Reserves also experienced a highly successful basketball campaign by winning eleven times in seventeen encounters.

The Reserves, coached by Mr. Robert Miller, featured the fast break as the main part of their offense during the year and on defense attempted to stymie opponents with either a zone or man-to-man defense.

The "Little" Quakers, captained by junior John Pridon, began the current season with a 26-14 victory over the Ravenna Ravens, but were swamped in their next outing by Columbiana 41-14.

Displaying an uncertain attack, the local Reserves were hard pressed to defeat Minerva 29-27 and then lapsed into a two-game losing streak by dropping set-to's to Lisbon 24-15 and Canton Lehman 42-35 before resuming their winning ways by tripping the Salem freshmen 37-32 an Alliance 34-22.

Even though they lost their next two games, 49-22 to East Liverpool and 38-23 to Warren, the Reservists showed signs of improvement.

In their next encounter, the lineup of Martinelli and Roth, guards; Oana and Laughlin, forwards; and Pager, the lone freshman on the squad at center, made its appearance and at once the change toward the better was evident. Youngstown Rayen was the next victim of the Reserve onslaught in that game 43-21. In their next time out the Reserves, hitting from every angle on the floor, trampled the Alliance Aviators for the second time 53-22, for their highest offensive display of the year.

After dropping a 41-21 decision to East Liverpool's mighty aggregation in a game which they led 18-17 at the half, the Miller-coached lads swept through the remainder of their schedule, riding the crest of a five-game winning streak.

In their last five tussels the Reserves laced Girard 37-28, Canton Lincoln 33-30, Wellsville 33-19, Struthers 47-34 and the Sebring Reserves 40-13.

The first team of Tony Martinelli, "Butch" Roth, Jim Laughlin, John Oana and Bob Pager was aided considerably by such talented substitutes as Bob Dressel, Lowell Myers, Leonard Sobek, John Pridon, Bob Bush, Dick Hahn and Earl Ware.

The Reserves' 1944-45 performance gives promise of great future Quaker cage teams when their fine record, achieved after a slow start, is considered. Doubtless many of this year's squad will be advanced to the Varsity next season,

The 1944-45 Reserve team really deserves hearty congratulations for the fine record and the aggressive attitude which they displayed throughout the year.

Up and Coming Stars . . .

Gathering momentum and improving with each game played, the Freshman basketball squad wound up the 1944-45 roundball campaign with a record of eight wins and four reverses.

The Frosh team, coached by Mr. Frank J. Tarr, was made up mostly of the potent Junior High All-Star team of last year. The loss of Bob Pager to the Reserve squad was a serious blow to the team, but they came through with a successful season as their record indicates.

First row: Ciccozzi, Tarr, Borton, Bosu, Herron, Alek; Second row: Crawford, Falk, Cain, Kelly, Mercer, Ciotti, Armeni.

The starting five was comprised of Boone, Ciccozzi, Cain, Kelly and Mercer. while the remaining member saw considerable action during the course of the season.

Pete Cain led the team in scoring from his center post, followed by Virgil Kelly. The other members of the starting five were bunched closely behind Kelly. Cain's twenty-seven points in the second Columbiana encounter proved to be the greatest Frosh offensive splurge.

The Yearlings pried the lid off their season when they tripped the Columbiana Frosh 48-39. They gained their second straight victory at the hands of the Canton Lehman Frosh 37-28 before falling before a strong Salem Reserve team 37-32. In that game Pager, Reserve regular pivot man, played for the Freshmen and tallied 10 points against his former teammates but a late Reserve rally ended the Frosh threat.

In their next encounter the Tarr-coached five defeated Sebring's first year men 28-20, but were nipped in their next outing by the Alliance State Street Freshmen 36--34.

Showing vast improvement, the little Quakers copped their next three games by beating the Jr. High All Stars 32-26, and the Goshen Reserves twice, 47-27 and 44-23.

Alliance State Street Freshmen again took the measure of the Salem yearlings, this time 42-41 but the Salemites bounced right back in their next two battles to whip the Columbiana Frosh again 44-42, after coming from far behind in the first half, and the Sebring Freshmen 35-29.

The campaign ended when the Frosh lost to a speedy Akron Smith outfit 27-18 in the first round of the State Freshman Tournament at Massillon.

The Salem first year men tallied a total of 440 points during the year, averaging 36.6 points per game as compared to their opponents' 37.6 markers and 31.4 point average per game.

Considering everything, the 1944-45 Freshman team gave an excellent account of themselves and deserves praise for a fine season, and if their performance of this year is any indication, future varsity squads will have some exceptionally good and well-coached material.

Track Team of '44 . . .

The Salem High track and field squad of 1944 will go down in the school history as one of the best all-around track squads ever developed here. Paced by several outstanding stars, the team was composed of good tracksters in every event.

Several track observers claimed that it was the best dual meet team in the state, outside of Cleveland East Tech. To get a better perspective of the team, here is a glance at the schedule:

Salem 78 — Louisville 40, at Louisville, Friday, April 21. In this meet the Salem tracksters were doped to win, but not by the large margin of points that they scored. Dunlap snared 4 firsts and 20 points, whereas Flick Entriken got 10¼ points and Ed Ferko got 10. The Quakers won 10 events and placed in the remaining 4.

Next was the Salem victory over Boardman 73½ to 44½ at Salem on Tuesday, April 25. Dunlap again got four firsts, in the 100, 220, high jump and broad jump. Salem again won 10 events and placed in the remaining four.

At the Uhrichsville Interscholastic meet at Uhrichsville on Saturday, April 29, Salem won over eleven other schools piling up 65 5-6 points to Boardman's 46 7-12, our nearest rival. Dunlap scored 15½ points, while Entriken scored 14. The meet showed Salem's versatility again when the team scored in all 16 events. Salem won only four firsts, but scored six second places, and five third places.

The McKinley relays were held at Canton McKinley High School on Saturday, May 6. Salem here ran into the tough Akron competition and garnered two first places, two second places, one third, two fourths, and a pair of fifth places. Flick Entriken netted 11 points with Dunlap getting 7½. It was a good test for the Salem team since it was to meet East Palestine in the county meet on Friday night, May 12.

In a triangular meet Salem was again victorious, this time over Struthers and Warren. The meet was held at Salem on Tuesday, May 2. Salem scored more points than Struthers and Warren combined, running up a total of 80¾ points, to 38½ for Warren and 32¾ for Struthers. Dunlap grabbed 17½ points and Entriken 14. Salem snared 10 firsts and placed in all 14 events.

Fleet and Able . . .

The Columbiana County meet, held Friday, May 12, again found Salem victorious. Salem in scoring 83 1-3 points to 50 1-4 for East Palestine, made way for the largest difference in points between the winner and runner-up in the 46-year history of the meet. Columbiana finished third with 11 points, and East Liverpool last with 8 1-6 points. Dunlop got 18 points and received the high point trophy, while Flick Entriken took 13 points, and Hoover bagged 10. Salem won both relay trophies and the winner of the meet trophy. Again Salem placed in every event.

In the district meet, held in Salem on Saturday, May 20, Salem made the poorest showing of the season. Of the 22 schools which competed, Akron North won easily. However, Salem qualified more men for the State meet than did any other school which competed here. The boys who qualified were Charles Dunlop, Arthur Hoover, Frank Entriken, Bob Shea, Francis Lanney, Bill Stoudt, Don Raymond and Dick Gottschling.

At the State meet held at Columbus on Saturday, May 27, Salem placed one man in one event, a second place good for four points and 17th place in the state. The one Salemite to place was Arthur "Tony" Hoover, who ran the fastest mile of his career—4 minutes and 31 seconds —to outrun all the milers in the state except Stewart of Toledo Waite, a veteran of four years' competition at State meets. Tony set a new school record, the previous record having been 4 minutes and 32 seconds.

Mr. Frederick E. Cope, coach of the team, attributed his success to the boys and the hard work they did. Of 79 boys out for track, only one failed to finish the season. Many of the stars of the season graduated leaving somewhat dim hopes for the future. Army inductions also took many candidates.

Act III

They Entered High School

Charles Ward, secretary-treasurer; Richard Theiss, president; Keith Krepps, vice-president.

Strange faces, strange voices and strange green little people were seen wandering aimlessly around the portals of SHS last September. Yes, the freshmen of another year had arrived to resume their study in a slightly higher institution of learning. These timid creatures, numbering 256, were at a complete loss, but soon recovering from their stupor, they became a mainstay of the school, invaluable helpers on committees and determined sportsmen.

Near the beginning of their first year in "Gee, high school!" they chose candidates for class officers, each home room nominating one boy or girl for president, and one boy or girl for secretary-treasurer. After the nominees had become well acquainted with the class, final elections were held. Richard Theiss was chosen president; Keith Krepps, vice-president; and Charles Ward ,secretary-treasurer.

The class immediately dived into all the activities open to them. Football season was on, and Robert Bingham, Walter Burger, Aubrey Cain, Ronnie Hannay, Keith Krepps, Fred Lippiatt, James Litty, Rudolph Maroscher, Ray Mercer, Raymond Metzger, Jim Smith, Donald Stapleton, Edward Stefane, Lee Ward, Frank Tarr, James Taylor, Thomas Theill, Ray Whitacre and Jack Wilson were on the Junior Varsity squad.

Carol Kelley and Frankie Sharp became members of the Quaker apprentice editorial staff, while David Messersmith served on the business staff.

Gayle Greenisen was the only freshman to serve as a librarian this year.

During the football season, committees from the class, along with Miss Sarah

Pencils were sold as usual this season, with prizes going to those who sold the most of these "Freshman pencils" with the football schedule on them.

Then during the early part of December came the greatest event of the freshman year, the freshman - sophomore party!

Basketball season came next. The boys were as enthusiastic about that sport as they were about everything else they had undertaken. Bob Pager, 6 ft. 4 in. freshman lad, played with the Reserve cagers all season, ending his first year of basketball by playing varsity ball in the district tournament at Youngstown.

Johnny Plegge, vice-president; Velma O'Neil, secretary-treasurer; Danny Smith, president.

Completing three years of hard but interesting work, the class of '46 has now reached the stage of the play where the final curtain is at last in sight. The classmen were considered in the upperclass of the school this year, but next season will be the "professional" actors of this play of life.

The juniors, ably guided by President Dan Smith, vice-president Johnny Plegge and secretary Velma O'Neil, and advised by A. V. Henning, came to be known as a class of trustworthy and honorable students, active in sports, dramatics, and all other clubs of the high school for which they were eligible.

To begin the year, the refreshment stand for the Wellsville game was handled by the juniors in the October football season, while a stand at the Canton Lehman basketball game was also run by these hard-working class members.

In November, the main event was the choosing of a class ring design. A committee to choose this pattern was appointed by the president made up of Ruth Dales, Pat Loutzenhiser, Velma O'Neil, Danny Smith, Johnny Plegge and Duane Yeagley.

To expand their treasury, these ambitious boys and girls got busy and won the twenty-dollar prize offered by the band to the class that sold the most Band Benefit Dance tickets, a project for raising money for band uniforms. The social event for the first semester, the Junior-Senior party, was held late in November.

Harvey Walken was appointed assistant editor of the Quaker weekly, while serving on the staff were Ruth Baltorinic, Jo Ann Juergens, Walter Ibele, John Mulford and Duane Yeagley. Fred Gaunt and Robert Musser were members of the Quaker weekly business staff. Serving Seniors...the Class of '45...

Cookie and Bobby Lou; Class Solons: Charles Schaeffer, president. Vivian Stowe, secretary-treasurer; Robert Ellyson, vice-president; Janet and Viv.

A back glance over the four years of high school life of the class of '45 shows what this class has accomplished and what they have done to be truly proud of.

As freshmen they were well represented in underclass clubs and sports. As the officers for the year they elected Ernest Ware, president; Chris Paparodis, vice-president; and Vivian Stowe, secretary. It did not take this class long to get into the swing of things, and before too many days had passed they were out selling freshman pencils.

Led by President Charles Schaeffer, vice-president Ernie Ware, and secretary Vivian Stowe, these young people showed even more their sophomore year. The elevator joke was no longer pulled on this class who by now had members in the glee club, the orchestra, the library staff, the G. A. A. and had several outstanding members on the football, basketball and track teams. The class also put several members on the debate team and many in the band.

In their junior year this class went before the public with its first play, "Brother Goose," by William Davidson, under the direction of Miss Winifred Ospeck and student director Mary Louise Mason. The cast included Jack Emery, Jackie Jensen, Jim Cope, Lou Jean McDevitt, Pat Keener, Dolores Poorbaugh, Joan Combs, Jeanne Walsh, Betty Cibula, Estelle Callatone and Ernest Ware.

Jim Kelley was made managing editor of the Quaker weekly, the staff including Sally Campbell, Betty Cibula and Gyla Stern. On the apprentice staff were Esther Freet, Pat Keener, Helen Haessly and Mollie Schmid.

Chris Paparodis was chosen to head both the Quaker weekly and annual business staff. On this staff were Ernest Ware, Lowell Hoprich, Lou Jane McDevitt, Rose Ciricosta and Mollie Schmid.

Eight juniors were voted into the Thespian Troupe in the latter part of the year, three of them becoming officers—Ernest Ware, president; Mary Louise Mason, vice-president; and Jackie Jensen, secretary-treasurer.

Forty junior girls were admitted into the Hi Tri their junior year. Toward the latter part of the year Vivian Stowe, Shirley Mangus, Betty Cibula and Janet Crawford were chosen as officers of the club.

The class officers for the year 1944-45 were President Charles Schaeffer, vice-president Robert Ellyson, and secretary-treasurer, Vivian Stowe.

In the fall of 1944 these students returned to S. H. S. as seniors and took over the title with pride and even more enthusiasm.

Walt Brian, Jim Appedisan, Jay Leach, Ernest Kornbau, Tom Bush, George Vavrek, Bill Vignovich, Walt Andres, Bill Stoudt, Lowell Hoprich and Chet Lucas proved to be the spark plugs of this year's Salem football team. When basketball season came around, we found such seniors as Charles Schaeffer, Don Firth, Norm Smith, Bill Stoudt, Walt Brian and Jim Appedisan were all members of the varsity squad.

The seniors gave "Ghost Wanted" as their class dramatic production. Miss Ospeck again was director, aided by Inez Jones. Seniors starring in the play were Lowell Hoprich, Mary Louise Mason, Pat Keener, James Cope, Jackie Jensen, Jim Kelley, Ernest Ware, Estelle Callatone, Gyla Stern, Jay Hanna, Betty Cibula and Joseph Kupka.

Jim Kelley was named editor-in-chief of both the Quaker weekly and annual. The seniors on the staff were Betty Cibula, Sally Campbell, Pat Keener, Gyla Stern and Mollie Schmid, while June Hoskinson served as proofreader.

Chris Paparodis was re-appointed to head the business staff for both the weekly and the annual.

She is a good maid in thought, word and deed.

Your Goal --- Success!

Like soldiers on distant and far-flung battlefronts, your time has at last come. The time to rise to new heights and conquer; to conquer the world with all its trials and tribulations. To make a peace for you and your children in a war-torn universe, split asunder by the greatest havoc mankind has ever known.

You, like soldiers, are ready to meet your foes. Some of you may actually be engulfed in this mortal combat which will eventually enslave the earth's populace. Many of you will never see the battlefields; the war may be completed by that time, but if it is not, you will be ready either to take your place beside the American soldier or the American civilian.

Before leaving the beloved halls of your Alma Mater, think of what it has done for you in the four years in which you attended. Salem High School has offered everything possible in the way of education. Not a stone has been left unturned in the efforts of the school board and faculty to equip you scholastically for your part in the future.

A school and all its training and advantages are utterly useless unless you take advantage of them. Your splendid record of past achievements has spoken for you. You have made the most of every chance afforded you and have compiled a brilliant record in every endeavor undertaken by your class.

In the basic high school requirements meritorious ability was shown. Since freshman days your home room honor rolls have been frequented by the numerous names of those who attained A's and B's. In science you have displayed fine talent. In the fields of English, mathematics, social studies and languages your enviable record proves the mettle of your class. In commercial subjects and industrial arts your record is just as high. But from the base, spring forth roots. Those roots appeared in the form of extra-curricular activities.

Being members of a reasonably small school has never weakened your achievements, for in a smaller school you have gained invaluable experience from your associations and friendships with all your schoolmates, young and old. And from this acquaintance, we, the student body, are proud to call you our friends. You have shown yourselves more than the equal of other schools and other students. In all fields of competition, music, sports, journalism, oratorical, etc., you have compiled a remarkable and noticeable record.

We congratulate and repeat that we are proud to be your acquaintances and friends, for in the class of '45 everyone graduated with honors, the honors that go with a job well done.

Four years of study and fun at Salem High School have been your basic training. The teachers have been your superior officers. Your books, studies and recreation have been your drill fields. The problems in school and outside have been your field maneuvers. But now the basic training is over. Boot camp, nurse's preliminary training or ground school are past. You are at the moment ready to emerge into a new world with harder problems, more complex and intricate matters to test you.

Nevertheless you will be ready for anything and perhaps everything that may chance to come your way. Why does everyone have this abounding faith in you, the class of '45? The reason is both obvious and simple.

The answer lies in your "basic" training. The greatest "boot" camp in the world: the American high school, the element that fashioned, molded and established the base, background and characters of countless millions of American citizens.

Into this new web of life you now adjourn to make your livelihood as others before have done. Your efforts cannot help but be as fruitful as those of your predecessors.

In the year 1850 Joel MacMillan opened a book shop on the spot where generations of students in the schools of Salem have since purchased textbooks and supplies When a commercial business, in the hands of one family for so many years, invites your continued patronage, that must mean good service given in the past. School days over — we wish our friends to continue to come — for books, stationery, pictures and picture framing, gifts of distinction, for wallpaper and window shades.

The Army cook has just whipped up orders of fried eggs for a hungry mob of soldiers. Wearied by his efforts ,he sat down and wrote a letter to his family.

"Dear Folks," he began, "for the past three hours shells have been bursting all around me.

A girl was speaking to her escort of the many bearded American sailors. "It's the most amazing thing I ever saw," she said. "Only the other evening I saw three of them —and very young, too—all with full beards."

"Probably back from overseas service," explained her escort. "Were they wearing ribbons?"

"Oh, no," she said, "They just let them flow loose."

A soldier was being given a blood test by an inexperienced nurse who jabbed half a dozen times before completing the job. When the operation was over, the soldier made no move to go.

"Well, what are you waiting for?" demanded the nurse impatiently.

"The Purple Heart," replied the soldier.

Said one pelican to another: "I'll be all right in a moment —just got a frog in my throat."

The private was late for inspection. "Well, it's so nice to see you, soldier," said the sergeant with a snarl. "We were afraid you had signed a separate peace."
