As its name implies, this is a Quaker Scrapbook wherein we have collected and preserved the many souvenirs and activities that were so much a part of Salem High School during the 1947-48 school term. In later years may the book bring back these memories.

Beman G. Ludwig
Principal
To our principal, Beman G. Ludwig, we dedicate this our Quaker Scrapbook in fond appreciation for his counsel and guidance during our days at Salem High.
Supt. E. S. Kerr works to keep the Salem schools running harmoniously and at the highest efficiency possible. As executive officer for the Board of Education, he studies school procedures and keeps in touch with educational developments throughout the country.

Mr. Kerr's responsibility for keeping a modern city school system in operation through the recent World War was a heavy one. Likewise, the postwar readjustment period through which we are now passing with its scarcity of teachers, supplies, and wide-spread unrest is a trying one. Through such times as these, his fine leadership is a significant public service to the Salem community.

Mr. Kerr's fine reputation throughout the state of Ohio for his educational activities won for him the presidency of the Northeastern Ohio Teachers Association. Our superintendent is continually trying to improve the Salem schools in every way possible. As a faithful and conscientious worker for the good of our schools, he has gained the admiration, esteem, and co-operation of the teachers, students, and parents of Salem.
Five eminent men, elected for four-year terms by the citizens of Salem, make up the Board of Education. It is their duty to approve the educational policies and to plan for the welfare of the Salem schools. They approve the appointment of the best teachers available and secure good educational equipment.

Members of the Board levy taxes to finance the operation of the schools. They also hire all school employees, buy all textbooks and supplies, and keep buildings in repair and equipment up to date.

The problem of providing adequate housing facilities for the future large enrollment of students in the Salem schools is a difficult one. At present the Board is concentrating its attention toward providing additional elementary schoolrooms which will be needed from next September on for many years. When this larger number of students reaches high school, a new senior high school building will be needed.

Although the students of Salem High see little of these men, they feel the results of their planning and appreciate how important this wisely selected group is to the successful functioning of the school.

As the school year closes, one more graduating class will walk through the doors of Salem High, leaving behind many cherished memories. Yes, good old high school days have come to an end. No longer will we be able to laugh at Mr. Penner’s jokes, bring milkshakes to Mr. Jones, and delight in directing the Frosh to the soda fountain. All these relished incidents which are the life of a S. H. S. senior can happen once and only once in a lifetime.

But we were serious, too. And our members accomplished much that made our class noteworthy. The football team, composed mainly of seniors, won fame by plunging through the season with only one loss. Rudy (The Toe) Maroscher amazed all with his extra-point ability, while Bob Wank and Carl Hrovatic also displayed unusual talents in the sport. Ted Boone was named most Valuable Player and Danny Crawford received the K. of C. award.

In December we very successfully produced the hit production “January Thaw.” Then there were the Junior-Senior hop, initiation of new Hi- Tri and Thespian members, and the class meetings.

The Warren-Salem basketball game set a new record for our Alma Mater when ace Bob Pager broke the high-point record by racking up thirty-six points.

With the coming of the first sign of spring, our main thought was the Prom. When that important date arrived, we were thankful that we could take life easy and watch the juniors do all the decorating.

Our final days spent in the Alma Mater were packed full of last minute doings. We soon discovered that, in spite of the long hard struggle of four years of work, the life of a senior was really terrific—a chance of a lifetime!

Returning as juniors this year, we felt a worldly sophistication on becoming upperclassmen. However, much of this sophistication left us when we entered the routine of classroom studies and discipline.

In our pursuit of the mysteries of chemistry, we discovered many new and exciting things that left us speechless. We soon learned that our being juniors did not permit us to chatter, pass notes, and chew gum in study hall. We were sent to the office too.

We went in for sports in a big way. Walt Ehrhart, Ed Bozich, and Tom Miner led the parade. Many of our letter winners found out what it was like to be initiated into the Varsity C. Such procedure wasn't fitting for gallant heroes, they thought.

Not wanting to let the seniors have all the praise for Thespian ability, we juniors went all-out for our class play which was given in April. As it was our first big three-act play, we were quite surprised to learn many new and interesting tactics in producing a play. Thus, under Miss Irene Week's ever humorous and understanding directions, we were successful in one of our most important endeavors of the year.

The Junior-Senior Party caused much excitement among us. Here was a chance for some of our guys to make some headway with that certain someone. They certainly did make headway too, as our class was well-represented at this 'upperclassmen' affair.

The Junior-Senior Prom was the crowning event of the year. Our girls went through the usual preparations of the prom, from hoping against hope that they would secure a date to the last minute primping on the 'big night.' Our lads broke down and bought elegant corsages for the gals, too.

On Recognition Day, with lumps in our throats, we watched the seniors, robed in their traditional caps and gowns, march stately to their seats in the auditorium. We realized that all too soon we would be marching down those aisles just as those seniors were doing. In one more year.
Who said that the sophomore year is easy? Latin, plane geometry, Spanish I, French, whew!—no matter what course we took, we certainly had to grind to pass, and to get an A or B really meant burning the midnight oil. However, there were quite a few tenth graders who were able to keep up those excellent grades as well as participate in many activities. Yes, those kids really deserve much credit!

Miss Helen Redinger, class adviser, very ably advised the officers and helped us build up the class treasury by selling pop, candy, and hot dogs at the refreshment stand for one football and one basketball game. This enabled us to buy refreshments and hire an orchestra for the Freshman-Sophomore party, an annual event. We are very appreciative of Miss Redinger’s hard work and the interest she has shown in our activities.

There were several things during the year that helped us keep up the old spirit. Watching the freshmen stumble around as we did last year, getting into activities, joining clubs, going to the White Christmas dance, and thinking about that “ole summer vacation” coming around the bend really kept us going.

Cutting up our first earthworm, the Association party, and our good old home rooms are memories that will linger for a long time. Some of our hard-working classmates received the coveted “S” reserve letter for their participation in the field of sports. Others received pins and certificates of merit for their services in school activities.

Although we have grown in stature and in wisdom, we have been only sophomores, just beginning to stand on our own two feet. Next year we will be juniors to whom the oncoming freshmen and sophomores must look up. We shall look down upon them not forgetting that they are going through the trials and tribulations we have just completed. So it is with a feeling of triumph that we move on from those difficult years to UPPERCLASSMEN.

We Frosh, green as the unripened apples on the tree, hit Salem High with a bang! Yes, with a bang — dropping books, papers, and debris at every turn. We were like all freshmen, bewildered and petrified by the actions of the upperclassmen.

Being first year students, we went through the traditional hazing and really took it like Trojans. After a few weeks we discovered that high school wasn’t as bad as it was cooked up to be.

We green ones backed up the football team with everything available to us. Some of us joined the band, and Jim Hurlburt, one of our energetic lads, got so excited at times he could hardly make his trombone give forth with even a squeak.

The rest of us, even though we sometimes lacked voices in the pep assemblies, really gave forth at the games.

When the first report cards came out there was a big surprise in store for many of us “babies.” Some of us were pleasantly surprised, but others—well, we won’t talk about that! We took what we got and settled down to wait for the next six weeks to pass.

Soon Christmas was upon us and, bless our souls, if there weren’t some brave, bold Frosh in the annual play. Carol Smith had quite a time with the “tipping” Christmas tree which certainly didn’t help her stage fright any.

With Don “Bob Pager” Abrams as center for the freshmen basketball team, the squad really rolled up the scores. The boys were under training rules again, but for a young enthusiast like Jim Callahan, who talked and liked nothing but sports, the whole affair was a thrill.

But time marched on bringing our freshman days to an end and bringing nearer our future experiences as sophomores—high and mighty sophomores! No longer would we be cooped up on the third floor, no longer would we have to climb three flights of stairs and, above all, no longer would we be called green. It would be our turn for revenge.

Gatherings onors Initiations
Two choral groups were organized at Salem High this year for the first time. The number of students who wished to add choral singing to their schedules increased so rapidly that it made the forming of a second group necessary. This increased interest among the students is especially gratifying to the school as a whole.

The purposes of the chorus are: to provide musical expression and training for every pupil in accordance with his interests and capacities; to provide an opportunity for those who have talent in vocal music to express themselves in this medium; to develop a better knowledge of the great choral masterpieces; to develop ability to carry over school music training into the musical, social, and home life of the community as a vital part of its cultural, recreational, and leisure-time activities; to improve choir and congregational singing in the churches and community gatherings; and to encourage and support all worthwhile musical enterprises as desirable factors in making our country a better place in which to live.

In order to offer the students of the groups as broad an education as possible in the field of choral literature, they have studied the works of some of the best of the classic, romantic, and modern composers.

A Christmas program, which included secular and sacred numbers, was offered to the public December 17 by the advanced chorus. The beginning chorus combined with the advanced group on several numbers. The combined choruses also presented a spring concert and several assemblies for the student body. There are sixty students in the advanced chorus and fifty-two in the beginning group.

From these groups a girls' octet was formed. They presented special music for various civic programs.

The officers of the advanced chorus for the past year consisted of Marguerite Fultz, president; Miriam Bauman, vice-president; and Joe Ciricosta, secretary-treasurer. Ben Bailey was the piano accompanist.

The officers of the beginning chorus for the past year were Phyllis Floyd, president; Beverly Stowell, vice-president; and Jerry Rice, secretary-treasurer. The piano accompanist was Nancy Stamp.

Thomas E. Crothers, Music Supervisor of the Salem Public Schools, is the director in charge of both groups.
"How Complicated!" "What are all these dashes for?" "Will we ever be able to read this?"

These were only a few of the comments heard after the Slide Rule Club was organized and members had received their slide rules.

In this club members learn to use the slide rule for multiplying and dividing, finding square roots, and raising to powers, as well as other useful mathematical processes. The slide rule is a helpful device for it enables students to learn many shortcuts in mathematics and aids in solving problems more quickly.

The meetings, which were held after school on Wednesdays, were devoted to solving problems in mathematics. Due to the difficulty in obtaining slide rules, the members were unable to have regular meetings at first. Two social meetings were held at which members held contests and received prizes. The first meeting of this type was a Valentine party held in the home economics room on February 12. The second was a picnic held at the end of the year.

The club officers were Bob Coppock, president; Jerry Miller, vice-president; and Jim Litty, secretary-treasurer. Miss Martha McCready, instructor of mathematics, is the adviser.

The interests of the members of the Coin and Stamp Club extend far beyond their regular bi-monthly meetings at which the boys come prepared to exchange, buy, or sell other coins and stamps.

This year several traveled as far as Cleveland to attend a stamp auction and to visit the Garfield-Perry stamp club of that city. Others attended various meetings of the Youngstown stamp club. At various times during the year the club held local stamp and coin auctions.

Bill Solmen, Royal Schiller, Nick Zantal, and Lester Harris became members of the adult Coin and Stamp Club of Salem which furthered their outside interests.

Many of the boys had exhibits of their stamps and coins at the Salem Hobby Show at the Memorial Building last fall.

The club had an interesting display of various coins and stamps in the library case for one week.

The club’s activities this year were guided by Bill Solmen, president; Lester Harris, vice-president; and Nick Zantal, secretary-treasurer. J. O. Hagedorn is the faculty adviser.

Club membership is open to anyone who is interested in collecting United States coins and United States and foreign stamps.
Chest X-Rays For Juniors, Seniors To Be Given

Chest X-rays will be made available for all juniors and seniors Monday, October 21, when X-ray units are set up at Salem High School by the Columbiana Public Health League.

This health service, made possible by the annual sale of Christmas seals, is provided free by the league in co-operation with the board of education.

All upper-classmen are urged to participate in the program and teachers and other school personnel may also obtain chest X-rays.

Make X-ray is fast. The picture is taken in a matter of seconds and no one is required to disrobe.

The vast majority of persons to be X-rayed are expected to receive a negative report which indicates a healthy chest. Persons with a clean bill of health from the X-ray will receive notices by postal card.

School of The Air

The "American School of Air," board at 9:15 A. M. Monday through Friday over WKI Youngstown, is now in its 15th consecutive broadcast season.

As in the past, the program is divided into five subjects, Monday's broadcast is called "Outstanding Please," a forum on current political, economic, and social problems as they apply to young people.

Begins Work As New High Music Instructor

Mr. Pardee begins work as a member of the faculty of the school, giving the downbeat to our Salem High band or, as he is the new and very likable Howard Pardee, from Ashtabula Harbor. He attended the Dana Institute where he belonged to the Dana orchestra. He is a Kent State University where he received his degree in the Kent symphony orchestra.

The Soil Conservation District of the County Agricultural Service is planning to hold a study meeting in Soil Conservation District morning of Saturday, October 19th at the Farm School to help teachers get knowledge on forestry problems.

When the Columbiana County Conservation League organized and met one of the points discussed was of furnishing information to teachers who passed on to the classes sources related to the problem.

The French Club was organized this year with the intention of giving those students who were taking French a better understanding and appreciation of the French ideals and customs. The club chose every other Wednesday noon as meeting time, but this plan was discarded later in the year in favor of irregular days.

In order to raise funds for the treasury, tax stamps were collected and the club had charge of the refreshment stand on the night of the Salem-Columbiana home basketball game.

When sufficient money had been raised, the French Club bought a two-volume edition of the Heath’s New Standard French and English Dictionary and presented it to the school library.

Jo Ann Whinery, Mary Ibele, and Antoinette Tempesta were chosen as the committee whose function was to order books of stories and fables which the club would enjoy.

At the meetings these books were translated, and short little plays were acted out. Miss Evelyn Johnston, the club adviser, also read several stories written by noted French authors. The members elected Lois Ann Firestone, president; Joe Bachman, vice-president; Tom Cope, secretary; and Jo Ann Whinery, treasurer.
"Resolved: That the Federal government should require arbitration of labor disputes in all basic industries." This was the subject debated this year by high school, college, and university teams all over the country. The subject was a very timely one in the light of the many current labor disputes in industries. It required much time, research, and preparation of all members.

Before the regular season started, the team, accompanied by the coach, attended two debates. One was held at Alliance, the other at Kent State University. Kent State University sponsored a debate clinic at the same time. This enabled the debaters to obtain criticisms and advice on their debating technique. Since only Jo Ann Whinery, who had been on the squad for three years, had had previous experience, this clinic proved to be very helpful to members of the squad.

The debate team was composed of four regular members and five alternates. Virginia Burrier and Jeannene Mattix were first and second affirmative speakers, respectively. Miriam Bauman was first negative speaker, while Jo Ann Whinery held the second negative position. Affirmative alternates were Lela Graber, Nick Zantal, and Don Silver. Harriet Worman and Anna Sweeney composed the negative alternates. J. C. Guiler is the debate coach.

Service with a Smile

The monitors and aids to the Deans serve in an efficient manner throughout the year. A period a day is given up by each to give service to their school, fellow students, and faculty members.

The idea of these assistants is to lighten the heavy schedules of the deans and school secretaries. This idea has proved to be successful by the many girls selected for these positions.

The monitors carry out their duties of turning on and off the lights in the halls between periods, carrying telephone messages, assisting office secretaries, recording daily absences and do other jobs which are small, but necessary.

The aids help in alphabetizing and filing schedule cards, answering questions, working with admittance and tardy slips, and serving as guides to visitors. They are always ready and willing to assist anyone, anytime, in anyway.

Students are chosen for their qualifications of character, scholastic standing, conscientiousness, and reliability. They are taught to be helpful, efficient, and cheerful at all times. Any student, a boy as well as a girl, may qualify for a monitor or aid.
ITS BOOKS:

The book collection in the high school library consists of over 5,000 volumes, selected with the principal needs of the students in mind. There are opportunities for browsing both in fiction and non-fiction. Every pupil has access to the library eighty minutes each week plus time before school, after school, and at noon.

ITS ROOM:

The library room, located in the north wing of the high school building, has many facilities for serving the needs of the students. The main reading room seats sixty persons. Those who wish may do reference work at a special table near the reference shelves; others, who want material on vocations, find the Career Corner very helpful.

ITS STAFF:

The Salem High School library is administered by a full-time trained librarian, Miss Lois Lehman, a part-time assistant, Miss Helen Thorp, and twelve student librarians.

High school pupils who become members of the staff receive special training in the use of library tools and resources. They are chosen for their desire to do library work and for their ability.

The Student Council consists of representatives from every home room. Its purpose is to consider all things pertaining to student welfare and to suggest and initiate programs for school improvement.

Several things have become traditional with the Student Council. Among them is Students' Day. This was held on February 4 when all the teaching, administrative, and secretarial positions were filled by students. The School Board, made up of Council members, chose student teachers after considering applications which had been filed with the Board.

The Student Council also sponsored a student and a safety assembly. The noon recreation program consisted of movies, dancing, and several one-act plays presented by the dramatics classes.

The handbook, which was first published last year, was revised and sent to press for the 1948 freshmen and new pupils. A new book was presented to the library in honor of the president, Jerry Miller. This, too, is a precedent.

As a new project this year the Student Council centered its interest on safety. Pamphlets and textbooks on driving were reviewed by a safety committee. Posters and Quaker Weekly articles were utilized to bring safety to the attention of all.

Council officers were Jerry Miller, president; Dick Jones, vice-president; Carol King, secretary-treasurer; Danny Crawford, parliamentarian. Miss Helen Thorp is the Council adviser.
Behind the Footlights

Thespian Troupe 358 is a unit of a national organization for those Salem High School students who have earned twelve points in dramatic work and have at least a C average.

These points are earned by working on various committees, by taking part in the Junior or Senior play, by acting in the various one-act plays put on during the year, and by seeing special dramatic performances or musical hits on other stages. Fourteen students earned sufficient points during the year to receive Thespian recognition. They are not pictured.

Thespian activities during the year included three one-act plays given in assembly. "Christmas Trees for Sale," a comedy, was given in the Christmas assembly. "The Tiger's Claw," a mystery, was presented as an all-Thespian play in February. The third play was given in the spring.

Thespians also supervised the Christmas tableau in connection with the Christmas concert presented by the Salem High chorus.

The officers for the year were Lee Ward, president; Carol Kelley, vice-president; Martha Flickinger, secretary-treasurer; Jack Wilson, clerk. Miss Irene Weeks is the adviser.

The goal of the Hi-Tri, an organization of junior and senior girls with a scholastic average of "B" or better, is "strength of will, of hope, of purpose, of truth, and of love." In the creed of the Hi-Tri is expressed a pledge of loyalty to the higher ideals in life.

The most important service project of the club this year was the giving of food, clothing, and other necessities to a needy family at Christmas time. Money was taken from the treasury for a Christmas tree and Christmas dinner for them.

Other activities the Hi-Tri engaged in included initiation of thirty-five new members by candlelight on November 19, taking charge of a basketball and a football refreshment stand, and sharing the production of a Christmas assembly with the Thespians. In May the annual Mother-Daughter Tea was held for all Hi-Tri mothers with the members serving and providing the entertainment.

The elected officers of this year were Mary Lippiatt, president; Miriam Bauman, vice-president; Dolores Stratton, secretary; Sally Lou Zeigler, treasurer.

This year the Salem High School orchestra was under the supervision of a new director, H. O. Pardee. Mr. Pardee also directs the Salem High School band and the Junior High orchestra and band.

The orchestra was composed of ten regular members, but for special occasions, such as assemblies, extras were added. In the assemblies the orchestra proved to be an important factor, adding enthusiasm to each gathering.

At the annual commencement and baccalaureate exercises, the orchestra plays inspiring music to salute the departing seniors. The orchestra customarily provides the opening and intermission music for the Junior and Senior plays.

One of Mr. Pardee's aims as the orchestra leader is to build up this group by beginning in the fifth grade to teach strings to the children. This is necessary because the size of any orchestra is governed by the amount of stringed instruments available.

Officers elected for this year were Donna Lou Getz, president; Roy Gibson, vice-president; Pat Kroner, secretary-treasurer. These officers are all seniors who leave the orchestra this year.
Sport Kings

The Salem High Varsity S is a club for boys who have won a letter in athletics. To earn this letter a boy must have played in at least half the games of any one of the sports—football, basketball, or track. He must also maintain a passing scholastic average.

The club's goals are to enliven school spirit, to develop keen sportsmanship, and to provide good clean recreation for its members.

To compete for any award or trophy given in basketball or football, the boys must have a senior varsity letter. The Knights of Columbus trophy and the Most Valuable Player awards are included in these honors. The Knights of Columbus trophy is given to the boy with the highest scholastic average. Danny Crawford received that award this year, and Ted Boone was given the Most Valuable Player medal.

Since 1934 the G. A. A. has been a popular club for the girls of Salem High School. The club is open to any girl who is interested in athletics. The aim of the G. A. A. is “A sport for every girl, and a girl for every sport.”

The main purpose of the G. A. A. is not only to give a girl a chance to play at the game she likes, but also to give her a chance to win a letter. A girl must have eight hundred points for a letter, one thousand for a pin, and one thousand three hundred for numerals. Points are given to girls who participate in the following: bowling, hiking, roller skating, ice skating, horseback riding, basketball, kickball, tennis, badminton, and volleyball.

During the fall, volleyball was a favorite sport. Four teams were organized and games were scheduled four nights a week. The girls organized and played basketball in a similar manner. Several hikes were also taken. During the winter the girls bowled every Wednesday after school. They also had several play days with girls from other schools.

G. A. A. enrollment included seventeen girls who are not pictured. The officers were Mary Jane Bergman, president; Shirley Bell, vice-president; Audrey Anderson, secretary; Carma Arbanitis, treasurer. Miss Edith Cope is the adviser.

Salem High’s mighty Quaker gridders this year completed one of the most outstanding and successful seasons ever experienced by a local team.

Playing a ten-game schedule, with six frays at Reilly Stadium, Coach Ben Barrett’s spirited crew came through with nine smashing victories and dropped only one hard-fought battle by a slight margin.

The proficient Quaker eleven earned the fine reputation of being one of the ten highest ranked teams in the state of Ohio. This is the most significant honor that has been given a local athletic squad in many years. The amazing season marked Coach Barrett’s fifth year at the helm of the Salem grid squad and further proved the successful system which he has been using to develop new talent for future varsity competition.

The 1947 Quaker team was composed of eighty-five energetic boys who worked hard for three months to make their team one of the most powerful and feared elevens ever to represent the Quaker school. Although the Red and Black lacked weight, they made up this deficiency through terrific speed, deceptiveness, and a deep interest in the great game of football. Combining these qualities, the powerful Salemites were able to drive strong opposition into submission for nine consecutive tussles.

Salem opened the campaign against a highly regarded Cleveland John Marshall outfit and scored a thrilling victory over the heavier opposition. They then marched to a sterling triumph over the Ravenna Ravens but had a difficult time in downing a fighting East Palestine aggregation on the Bulldog's gridiron. The Barrettsmen returned home and continued their great offensive maneuvers as they trampled a hapless Leetonia Bear team. Next came Wellsville and Struthers who were supposedly strong opponents. The Quakers racked up convincing victories over both of these foes. The Salem lads then scored an impressive win in their encounter with the Girard Indians for their thirteenth consecutive victory over a two-year period.

The next week the Red and Black trekked to East Liverpool to meet the Potters in what was supposed to be another stiff test for the locals. The mighty Quaker boys completely out-classed the Blue and White and came home with the second victory over East Liverpool in thirteen years. The locals then throttled a much feared Canton Timken passing attack to gain their ninth win of the season. The final game of the schedule was played against an undefeated Lisbon Blue Devil eleven on the opponents' muddy turf. The Quakers fought valiantly but lost the hotly contested tilt in a manner of true competitive sportmanship.

Throughout the season the gridders played hard and gained respect, honor, and all-important experience in working together for a common good.

Salem High's renowned Quakers compiled a most impressive scholastic basketball record by notching fourteen vital victories and dropping only two hard-fought battles into the loss column in one of the most successful seasons ever completed by a Red and Black cage quintet.

This marked Coach Bob Miller's fourth year as Salem High's basketball mentor. During this time his outfits have made some remarkable showings, winning sixty-five contests and losing only seventeen. His squad this year was named the third best team from a field of twenty-nine entered in the difficult N.E.O. tournament.

Leading scorer and by far the most important factor in Quaker success was Captain Bob Pager, who not only broke all existing scoring records, but also established the reputation of being the finest cager ever to represent Salem High School on the hardwoods. He was an outstanding choice for All-Ohio honors. Pager tallied 36 points in the Warren tilt to shatter the record of 34 formerly held by Walt Brian. He came back to break his own record by hooping a wonderful 37 point total in the Steubenville tussle. Besides that, Bob reached an amazing 350 mark during the regular campaign for the greatest effort ever shown by a Quaker basketball player.

Virgil Kelly ranked second in the scoring column with 102 points, followed by Tom Miner and Pete Cain. Carl Ciccozzi, Eddie Bozich, and Wilford Faulkner did well during the season.

The Salem passers scored 798 points during the season for an average of 47 per game, as compared to their opponents who managed 538 with an average of 37\(\frac{1}{2}\) points in each tilt. Their shooting average was a better than average 28 per cent, while they maintained a 46 per cent in foul tries.

The Quakers opened the season by swamping the Lisbon Blue Devils in fine fashion. They then dusted off Wellsville and Columbiana with decisive victories. The locals triumphed over a stubborn Toledo-Macomber five, but lost out to the powerful Alumni outfit in an interesting game.

They got back into the winning ways by dropping a determined Dayton Fairview quintet. At Liverpool the Red and Black outclassed the Potter dribblers to win handily. Salem then thumped a bewildered Ravenna crew and subdued the Warren High Presidents the following week. The Quakers met Youngstown Rayen at South Field House and fought hard before gaining victory. The Millermen captured their tenth consecutive scholastic win by overcoming a stiff Girard defense. This string was snapped, however, in a nerve tingling return engagement with the Potters.

Following this upset, the local hoopsters dumped the East Palestine crew but found trouble in Youngstown Chaney, losing a thrilling tussle to the highly regarded squad. The Salemites rounded out the regular schedule with impressive wins over Struthers, Sebring, and Steubenville's "Big Red" machine. In the Steubenville game the Quakers gave their finest performance of the year.

Row 1—George Tarr, Joe Nocera, Bob Kridler, Norman Boals, Nick Cosma, Bill Scott, Leo Kline.

The Salem High School Reserves finished the basketball season with six victories and nine losses. This team was noted for its unwillingness to give up. With this spirit, the Reserves proved that they have potential ability for future years.

George Reash and "Lige" Alexander led scoring honors, respectively. Reash scored 126 points and Alexander 98 points for the season. Coach Miller made frequent substitutions, but Joe Nocera, Nick Cosma, George Tarr, George Reash and "Lige" Alexander usually were the starting quintet.

Losing the first game of the season to Lisbon, the Quaker team next defeated the Wellsville "Bengals." Taking another defeat from Columbiana, the Quaker aggregation rallied and made The Squire Shop and Salem Men and Boys bow to them. Losing to East Liverpool, the quintet revived and defeated Ravenna. On the following Friday a superior Warren team outclassed Salem but the Reserves returned by defeating Girard, East Liverpool, East Palestine, and Youngstown Chaney proved themselves superior to the Red and Black.

Coming back to life the junior Quakers spoiled the Struthers reserve squad record by handing them their second defeat in fifteen games. In the last two games of the 1947-48 season the Reserves were defeated by Sebring and Steubenville.
Gathering momentum and showing steady improvement with each game played, Salem High’s Freshman basketball squad wound up the regular season with an astounding record of ten victories and only two reverses. Coach Frank Tarr started working with the first-year lads late in November, and the boys continued in their winning ways throughout the entire season to become one of the most potent Frosh outfits in the district.

Don Abrams led the team in scoring at his center position, followed by Bob Theiss, Fritz Roth, and Jim Callahan. The greatest individual scoring effort was credited to Abrams who swished the nets for an amazing 28 points in a tournament affair.

The Yearlings opened the season by downing the Lisbon Frosh 36 to 29 on the home court. Impressive triumphs over the Alliance Freshmen, Rayen Freshmen, and the second conquest of the Lisbon youngsters added to their victory string. The Tarrmen then lost to Alliance State Street, but easily polished off East Palestine, twice, Columbiana, and the Alliance Frosh for the second time. They then met a powerful Hayes Junior High quintet and won out in a thrilling tussle. The “Little Quakers” again met their match in Alliance State Street, but bounced back to whip a stubborn Columbiana five. The local Frosh performed exceptionally well in tournament competition, going clear to the finals.
When assistant track coach Troy Penner sent out a call for Quaker two-milers last fall, sixteen boys, many inexperienced, reported.

In all, Mr. Penner had four meets scheduled for the team: a dual meet with East Liverpool and Struthers; a quadrangular meet with East Liverpool, Boardman, and Warren; a meet with Boardman; and the district meet at Akron.

In the dual meet with East Liverpool and Struthers, held at Salem, Salem lost to Struthers, 27 to 28.

In the quadrangular meet with East Liverpool, Warren, and Boardman, Salem placed third. Salem romped over Boardman at the Salem Golf Course with a score of 18 to 37. Kamasky came through with first place again with a good time of 10:56.6. Bailey came in second to be followed by Gene Dean in fourth place, Jerry Jeffries in fifth, and Bob Coffee in sixth.

The Salem Quakers placed ninth in the district meet, held at the Akron Municipal Golf Course, with a score of 228.

Varsity letters were awarded to Kamasky and Bailey. Reserve letters were awarded to Jeffries, Berger, Pastier, Dean, Zantal, and B. Coffee. Numerical awards went to D. Coffee, Carlariello, Lake, and Stamp. Wilmer Palmer received a manager's letter.
The Salem High 1947 track season opened with a win for the Quakers over Louisville, 70 1/3 to 47 2/3, with Salem taking nine first places.

Salem got the nineteenth position in the Mansfield Relays in which ninety-eight schools were entered. Thorne ran third in the mile run.

Another loss came to the Salem team with Boardman winning over the Quakers, 64 1/2 to 53 1/2. Glen Thorne took first in both mile and half-mile runs.

Salem placed seventh in the Uhrichsville Relays, but won over Niles and Canton McKinley in a triangular meet held at Reilly Stadium a week later.

Salem's third win of the season was a 75 to 63 victory over Struthers. Soon after, however, the Quakers lost to Warren, 61 1/3 to 56 2/3, in a close and interesting meet.

The highlight of the '47 track season came when the Salem boys hit pay dirt by coping the Columbiana County track title for the twenty-eighth time in forty-five years.

A week later Salem placed eleventh in the race for the Northeastern Ohio track championship.

Glen Thorne set a record for the mile for Salem in the All-Star Boardman meet.

The Best Ice Cream In Town

In the year 1850 Joel MacMillan opened a book shop on the spot where generations of students in the schools of Salem have since purchased textbooks and supplies.

When a commercial business, in the hands of one family for so many years, invites your continued patronage, that must mean good service given in the past.

School days over—we wish our friends to continue to come—for books, stationery, pictures and picture framing, gifts of distinction, for wallpaper and window shades.

Which Would You Choose?

If an Orchid is called for, a Potted Leaf Plant will not do. And likewise, when a most favorable impression is sought, there is small profit in slovenly dressing. The "dressing" and production of good printing as done at Salem Label Company brings a sense of achievement in attention and favorable impression. Whatever your printing needs may be from Stationery, Office Forms and Labels to Advertising Matter and Elaborate Brochures, we are equipped to do the work effectively and economically.
